SHELTON ALLEGES FRAMEUP IN PLEA FOR PARTICULARS

Says Government Intends to Offer Evidence on Acts Other Than Collinsville Mail Robbery.

ACCUSES BIRGER AND ART NEWMAN

Federal Judge FitzHenry Moves Trial of Gangsters From Springfield, Ill., to Quincy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 29.—Carl Shelton, Williamson County gangster, in an affidavit filed in United States District Court here today, declares that the Federal indictment of himself and his two brothers, Earl and Bernie, for the $15,000 Collinsville mail robbery of Jan. 27, 1925, is the result of a frameup by Charlie Birger, rival gang leader, and Art Newman, an associate of Birger.

The affidavit accompanied a motion for a bill of particulars on which Judge FitzHenry will be asked to rule when the mail robbery case is called for trial at Quincy Monday.

In the motion, the attorney for the Sheltons charges that he has been kept in the dark as to the details of the Government's case and that he is entitled to know more of it than is in the indictment, so that an adequate defense may be prepared.

Hidden Purposes Alleged.

Carl Shelton is informed, according to his affidavit, that, although he and his brothers are charged with a specific act, namely, the mail robbery, "the prosecution may attempt to convict them by proof of pretended facts and circumstances of which they have no knowledge whatever, and of which no notice or information can be had from the indictment."

The affidavit further says that "one Charles Birger and one Art Newman, a friend and associate of the said Birger, are instigators and promoters of this prosecution against them, and that the said Birger and Newman have repeatedly and publicly expressed themselves as willing to do anything to 'get' the Sheltons."

Incorporated in the affidavit is a newspaper item in which Birger is quoted as saying he would "kill Carl Shelton by midnight and collect a $500 bet."

While postoffice inspectors and their chief witnesses, Birger and Newman, have declined to divulge the nature of the testimony in the case, it is known that the Government relies mainly on Newman and Birger, former friends of the Sheltons, and that postoffice inspectors have under subpena about 25 other witnesses to offer details confirming the testimony of Newman and Birger.

Trial Moved to Quincy.

Originally the case had been set for trial at Springfield, but Judge FitzHenry decided that "in the furtherance of public justice," the case should be tried at Quincy.

The reason for the move is strategic. There is a possibility that some attempt may be made on the lives of the chief witnesses and they can be guarded more easily at Quincy than at Springfield, chiefly because the Federal Building at Quincy has only one stairway and is easily guarded, while the Springfield building has two stairways and an elevator. In addition, Springfield is admirably located for an escape should there be disorder. Quincy is harder to leave, particularly by automobile.

Every precaution will be taken to preserve order at Quincy during the trial. Besides 12 deputy United States Marshals, and half a dozen postoffice inspectors there will be three detectives from St. Louis to assist in guarding the Federal building.

The public will be barred from the courtroom and witnesses and newspaper correspondents must submit to search for weapons before they will be allowed to enter.

FIRE AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 30. (Sunday)—Fire which started at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, early this morning had destroyed the Pierik-Conkling Building, housing the Armour and Co. packing plant, and the auditing department of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and was threatening adjacent buildings. The loss is now estimated at $300,000.

The fire, which originated in the basement of the packing plant, was thought to have been under control until an ammonia tank near the two refrigerators of the plant exploded and ignited the second and third floors of the structure.

HUNGARIANS REVIVE OLD ASSEMBLY AND MOURN LOST LANDS

Count Apponyi Refuses to Recognize House of Magnates Not Convoked by King.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 29.—The newly revived Hungarian House of Magnates was inaugurated today with its flag at half mast and its members wearing crepe arm bands as a token of mourning for the territory and population which Hungary lost under the treaty of Versailles.

Most of the members of the House appeared in court dress. Admiral Horthy was in full uniform and Archdukes Josef and Frederik wore the uniforms of Field Marshals.

Count Albert Apponyi refused to preside at the session, stating that he would accept the new Parliament only if ordered by a legitimate King.

WOULD COURTMARTIAL CHIEF ARMY ENGINEER

Congressman James Assails Jadwin for Using Private Funds in River Work.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—An attempt by Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Chief of Army Engineers, to uphold a subordinate accused of soliciting funds for surveying the Tennessee River, from private interests seeking water power leases, brought a threat of court-martial proceedings today from acting Chairman James of the House Military Committee.

The committee met to continue hearings on bids for Muscle Shoals but immediate business under consideration was jostled aside when James subjected Jadwin to four hours of cross-examination.

The subordinate, Maj. Harold C. Fiske, was charged with having suggested, while district engineer at Chattanooga, to H. O. Leighton, president of the Electric Bond & Share Co., New York, that he advance $20,000 for survey work because Congress had appropriated insufficiently.

Leighton declined, James declared, because he considered the arrangement illegal. James announced he would pursue court-martial proceedings against the major, now stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Jadwin contended acceptance of money from private interests for survey work was specifically provided by law but James and other members of the committee contended the law applied only to individuals interested in river navigation.

"I think," James declared, "that if you condone Maj. Fiske's actions, the courtmartial proceedings I shall seek against him should be extended to you."

Gen. Jadwin flushed but remained silent while James added:

"I don't think you are a fit man to be Chief of Engineers."

James indicated he would seek to have the Federal Power Commission reject bids for power sites from companies solicited by Fiske, and he received assurances from O. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the Commission, that no action would be taken without proper safeguards for the Government.

ARMED 12 YEARS AWAITING ROBBER, GROCER KILLS ONE

Sam Zawack, 44, of 348 North Whittier Street, Fatally Wounds George Creed Jr., 19, in Holdup.

SON ALSO FIRES AT FLEEING COMPANION

Slain Thief Was Nephew of Brothers Who Killed Policeman in 1920—Bullet Strikes Woman Passerby.

For 12 years Sam Zawack, 44 years old, grocer at 348 North Whittier street, carried a revolver in his righthand trousers pocket against the day he would need to use it on a robber. Last night he fatally wounded one of two masked men who held him up in his store.

Zawack's son, Nathan, 24, who had adopted his father's habit of being constantly armed, exchanged shots with the second robber outside the store. A stray bullet hit Mrs. Edith McGuerty, 26, of 4206 Westminster place, who was walking with her 3-year-old son. She suffered a slight wound in the left shoulder.

The robber, who collapsed in the store with a bullet near the heart, was George Creed Jr., 19, who had a record of four arrests, a nephew of Thomas and Robert Creed, brothers, sent to prison for killing Patrolman George E. Geisler here in 1920. He died at midnight on an operating ~~table at City Hos~~pital.

The second robber escaped in an automobile with a few dollars in change.

Wear Handkerchief Masks.

Zawack was scraping his meat block at 6:30 o'clock, his wife was standing behind the counter, and his son and a clerk, Sam Moritz, were talking in the center of the store, when the robbers entered. Each wore a handkerchief mask and each appeared to be flourishing a revolver, though Creed's weapon proved later to be a nickeled wrench.

"Come on boys," one of the robbers shouted. "Move back there and don't say anything. We want all you've got."

Prodding their victims with the weapons, the robbers herded the four persons behind the meat counter into a rather dark corner. One man guarded them while the other, said to be Creed, went to the register. He scooped up the paper money, shoved it in his pockets and then changed places with his companion, who started taking the change from the register.

"I had my hands raised and he was right up against me, jabbing the weapon into my left side," Zawack related last night. "I thought it was a revolver and I held my hands up high until I saw a chance when he glanced over at the other fellow.

Reached His Revolver.

"Then I dropped my right hand and grabbed my pistol. He dropped his wrench and started back. I pulled the trigger twice and he tumbled over in a heap."

Younk Zawack was quick to draw after his father acted. He began shooting at the other robber, who had dropped behind a counter and was making toward the door. One shot smashed a pickle jar and another splintered the bread case. The man dashed out, with young Zawack close behind.

Outside the robber fired four or five shots at Zawack, who fired five in return as the man clambered into a coupe and drove off. Across the street Mrs. McGuerty was walking with her three-year-old son, Richard.

"Before I knew what had happened," she said, "I saw a man in a white apron shooting at another man, who was getting into an automobile. Something burned my shoulder and I knew I was shot. I ran into a house, where I asked the people to call a doctor."

Sent to City Hospital.

A neighborhood physician treated Mrs. McGuerty's wound and sent her to the city hospital. She is a stenographer, the wife of Peter McGuerty, an osteopath at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Police found Creed unconscious in the grocery, with $52 in his pockets. Zawack said the money was his, relating that he had other money in his pockets and concealed about the store which the robbers did not know of. At the hospital, Creed revived enough to say he lived at 2951 Gamble street. Police records showed that young Creed was arrested last October, charged with stripping

MINERS TO EXPEL ALL COMMUNISTS FROM THE UNION

United Mine Workers' Convention at Indianapolis Votes, 1485 to 15, to Debar Them.

INCREASE PAY OF CHIEF OFFICERS

To Present Demands on Wages and Conditions to Owners at Miami, Fla., Feb. 14.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—In keeping with the policy of president John L. Lewis of strict adherence of conservative principles of trade unionism, the United Mine Workers in convention today prepared for the general expulsion from its ranks of adherents to the doctrine of communism.

After a short but lively debate, they adopted an amendment to the union's constitution providing for debarring of members of the communist party. Only 15 of the 1500 delegates voted against the amendment. Under its provisions either local, district or national organization can upon conviction that an accused member is a communist expel him from the union.

Further expression of confidence in the Lewis administration was voiced when the convention approved a change in the constitution granting the president $12,000 instead of $8000 a year salary and the vice president and secretary-treasurer $9000 instead of $7000. The Brophy faction opposed the salary increases saying the money should be used in strike relief and non-union field organization.

The decks were cleared for a discussion of demands for improved wages and conditions, out of which will develop a policy to be followed by a central competitive field scale committee in the forthcoming contract negotiations at Miami, Fla., Feb. 14 with bituminous operators of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and western Pennsylvania.

The discussion of the communist amendment provoked a persistent heckling of speakers for and against the proposal.

"Back to Russia" shouted several delegates when a speaker opposed the amendment.

Another delegate asked why members of the Fascisti were not denied membership.

"There is no evidence of Fascist influence in the mine workers," Van A. Bittner, secretary of the constitutional committee, replied.

Asked to explain the union's investigation of communistic activity, President Lewis asserted the communist party was both political and social.

"We have found the communists have sought to destroy unionism and we have encountered their work in several districts," he said.

EX-CONGRESSMAN AND SIX ATTORNEYS GUILTY OF FRAUD

Chandler of Tulsa, former Oklahoma congressman, and six attorneys of Eufaula, Ok., were convicted by a jury in Federal Court here late today on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the divorce of Exie Fife Tolleson, wealthy Indian. She testified she had signed away her rights to $50,000 held in trust by the government of which she was a ward, in order to obtain a divorce from Berlin Jackson, a white man.

DECISION ON SMITH ARGUMENTS TO BE GIVEN WEDNESDAY

Senate Committee Defers Action on Plea for Immediate Favorable Report on Illinoisan.

MAJORITY IS SAID TO APPROVE COURSE

But Whatever the Recommendation, Full Chamber Is Not Likely to Accept Appointee.

Post-Dispatch Bureau
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections today refused to give attorneys for Frank L. Smith, Senator-designate from Illinois, an an immediate answer to their demand for an immediate partial report to the Senate recommending that Smith be allowed to take his seat in the Senate pending further investigation by the Committee.

Smith was represented at the hearing today by James M. Beck, former Solicitor-General of the United States; Oscar Carlstrom, Attorney-General for the State of Illinois; and C. J. Doyle of Chicago, his personal attorney.

Each emphasized the point that the Senate resolution referring the case to the committee raised two questions: (1) the validity of the credentials issued by Gov. Small of Illinois, appointing Smith to serve out the unexpired term of the late Senator William B. McKinley, and (2) the ultimate right of Smith to a seat in the Senate in view of the findings of the Senate's special campaign fund investigating committee, headed by Senator Reed of Missouri.

Urge Ruling on First Point.

Each attorney insisted that the Committee should pass on the first question before taking up the second, contending that the decision on the first point would determine any subsequent procedure.

After a brief closed session, the committee decided that the next meeting would be at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at which time the chairman, Senator Ernst (Rep.) of Kentucky, would announce the decision.

It is probable, but by no means certain, that the committee will make the partial report recommending that the oath of office be administered. Smith supporters claim that they have eight votes on the committee for such a recommendation. These members, they claim, are the Ernst, Watson, Shortridge, Greene, Deneen and Edge, Republicans, and King and Smith of South Carolina, Democrats.

Senator Goff, (Rep.) voted to deny Smith the oath and he may be one of a minority of five.

In the Senate vote King, ranking Democrat on the committee, was paired in favor of giving Smith the oath. Therefore, he is expected to join the claimed majority. The other minority members, besides Goff, are George Neely, Stephens and Caraway, according to the Smith supporters.

Beck Makes Principal Plea.

Beck made the principal speech of the day consuming all of the morning session and half of the time in the afternoon. His main argument was that no matter the size or the source of the campaign fund used on behalf of Smith and no matter what the moral character of Smith, the Senate under the Constitution had no right to deprive him of a seat in the Senate.

Carlstrom declared that he was speaking "freely and voluntarily" in his capacity of Attorney-General of Illinois, seeking to protect the sovereign rights of his State.

As Beck had done before him, Carlstrom stressed the point that the Reed committee report made no charges against Smith but merely recited facts concerning the campaign contributions Smith received from public utilities interests while still chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

He pointed out that during Smith's chairmanship, the commission had issued more than 9000 orders relating to public utilities questions and that not one challenge had been made that these orders had been tainted with corruption.

Doyle Pleads "Mandate of People"

Doyle, in a brief statement, pointed out that Illinois was being deprived of representation while the Senate investigated Smith's credentials and his right to a seat. He asserted that the Senate had no right to refuse to recognize the cer-

Grace Van Studdiford, Former St. Louis Opera Singer, Dies at Ft. Wayne, Ind., After Operation

Won Fame With "Bostonians" — Married in 1897 After Ardent Courtship—Got Country Home by Jumping Into Lake—Ended Days as Music Teacher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 29.—Grace Van Studdiford, opera singer and actress, one-time St. Louisan and former wife of the late Charles Van Studdiford, man-about-town in St. Louis, died at her home here this afternoon, following an operation and an illness of several months. She was nationally known as a stage star.

The career of Grace Van Studdiford, who was well known here 20 years ago and to an earlier generation, was bathed in the glamor of the footlights and events of her life were dramatic, but like many other stars, her latter years were spent quietly. Many older St. Louisans remember her.

She was born Gracia Quive in North Manchester, Ind., about 1869, so that she was about 58 years old, but it appears her age was not generally known. It is recalled she said she was 35 in 1904. After discovering her pleasing lyric soprano voice in church choir work in her home town, at the age of 16, she took operatic lessons in Chicago and then became one of the principals of the cast of the Bostonians, a once noted touring light opera company. As a pupil of Mary Garden's teacher, Madame Duff, she became a lifelong friend of Garden.

Van Studdiford's Courtship.

Van Studdiford, a sportsman and scion of considerable wealth, better known as "Charlie Van," saw the singer in the late '90s, when the Bostonians made an annual visit here, and became enamoured. He followed the troupe around the country and occupied a box whenever she sang, sending flowers across the footlights to her every time and sometimes, it was said, placing jewelry in the bouquets. They were married in Chicago when the season ended, in 1897, and returned to St. Louis.

At their home on Maryland avenue they entertained lavishly. Her retirement from the stage was announced and thereafter she sang only at charity concerts and in the choir of the old Lindell Avenue Methodist Church. But "Charley Van's" ill luck at the race tracks reduced his patrimony and he and his wife had to move to a flat.

Returned to Stage in 1904.

Their fortunes continued to dwindle and in 1904 the wife returned to the stage under the name of Grace Van Studdiford, which she made famous. She sang leading roles at Uhrig's Cave (on the site of the Coliseum) and at the old Exposition Music Hall, and toured with Jefferson d'Angelis and other stars. Her best remembered prima donna roles in road productions were in "Maid Marian," "The Golden Butterfly" and "Red Feather," which was written especially for her and produced by Flo Ziegfeld. At intervals she sang noted roles of grand opera, but light opera was her forte.

Continuing on the stage, Miss Van Studdiford, as she was known, separated from her husband in 1908, although they remained friendly and corresponded for years afterwards, and the next year she obtained a divorce. She charged desertion and nonsupport. At that time she was starring in the summer light opera productions at old Delmar Garden, where she appeared for several years.

Profitable Jump Into a Lake.

She was making her home then at "Atlasta Place," on Lackland road, St. Louis County, which she was renting, but which once had been hers. She had obtained the site of several acres from Henry D. Laughlin, now of Chicago, who had dared her to jump into a little lake in the vicinity, fully clothed, with the land as a reward. She jumped and he gave her the property. In 1902 she started erecting the home, of English country design, inspired by her surroundings in the production of "Maid Marian," and when it was done she exclaimed, "At last, a place!" Hence the name.

After her divorce she had varying success on the stage, and in 1910 she went into bankruptcy in New York City, placing her liabilities at $20,901 and her cash at $10. The debts, contracted in the seven preceding years, included $16,000 owed to the late John W. Thompson, wealthy St. Louis railroad contractor, secured by a mortgage on "Atlasta." He had lent her money for her theatrical ventures. She owed the lawyer who got her divorce $853, and owed Reginald de Koven and Harry B. Smith $850 each for royalties on "The Golden Butterfly."

COOLIDGE PLEDGES PREPAREDNESS IN WARNING AGAINST MILITARISTIC ACTS

Avoids Direct Mention of Cruiser Fight in Congress in Address at Government Business Meeting.

SAYS NATION IS AT PROSPERITY'S HEIGHT

Withholds Promise of an Early Tax Reduction Pending Study of New Revenue Law Results.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — An assurance of "adequate military preparedness" was coupled tonight by President Coolidge with a warning against militaristic gestures or acts leading to competition in armaments.

Speaking before the semi-annual business meeting of the Government, the President also reported a prosperous condition of the Treasury, but again withheld promise of early tax reduction pending a study of the producing ability of the new revenue law.

Mr. Coolidge made no direct reference to the struggle in Congress to override his stand against immediate construction of three new cruisers, or to the proposal to increase the budget figure for the Army, but took occasion to remind Congress that the question of national defense is always given "the most serious thought in my recommendations to the Congress in the budget message."

His Responsibility Emphatic.

"What we need, and all that we need for national protection is adequate preparedness," he said. "I am for adequate military preparedness. As Commander in Chief of the Army and of the Navy, the Chief Executive of this nation has an emphatic responsibility for this phase of our welfare.

"As a nation we are advocates of peace. Not only should we refrain from any act which might be construed as calling for competition in armament, but rather should we bend our every effort to eliminate forever any such competition. We cannot and should not divorce our own interests in this direction from the interests of all the nations. Surely the best interests of all are found in directing the channels of public welfare moneys which would otherwise be spent without reproductive results."

Pointing out that the Government had reduced its public debt below the $19,000,000,000 mark and now is more than $2,000,000,000 ahead of the debt retirement schedule, the President declared the nation was probably in the most fortunate financial condition of all the great nations of the world.

But, from a financial standpoint alone, he insisted, the United States must refrain "from any gesture which could possibly be construed as militaristic."

Both Extremes Dangerous.

"There are in this Nation people who advocate policies which would place us in a militaristic attitude," he said. "There are others who beguile themselves with a feeling of absolute safety and preach a doctrine of extreme pacifism. Both of these are dangerous to our continued peace and prosperity."

Mr. Coolidge lauded Congress for its "unwavering support" of the budget principles. He promised a "substantial surplus" for this year and "every hope for a surplus the next year."

"It is too early to forecast whether there can be a further permanent reduction in taxes in the near future," he added. "We are waiting a test of the producing ability of the revenue act of 1926. But what we can, should, and must do today is to keep a firm grasp on our expenditure program."

The Executive said that in the last six years the costs of Government had been cut nearly $2,000,000,000 and the total taxes had been sliced by about $1,500,000,000 annually, or a saving of $5,000,000 for each working day. The cost of the Government for the next fiscal year he estimated at $3,572,000,000 compared with $3,643,000,000 for this year.

Contributed to Prosperity.

"This readjustment of the finances of the Government has been a large contributing factor in the prosperity which the country has

GREAT BRITAIN READY TO GRANT CHINA'S DEMANDS

Austen Chamberlain Announces Policy on Extra-territoriality, Tariff and Concessions.

WON'T RECOGNIZE WARRING FACTIONS

No Unified Rule of All China Yet and Until Government Is Established Treaty Is Impossible.

By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Jan. 29.—Coming authoritatively from Sir Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Great Britain's proposals looking toward a settlement of the Chinese problem were outlined to the public tonight.

In a long speech devoted entirely to Chinese relations, he declared Great Britain was prepared for a change on all points desired by China—extra-territoriality, the tariff and the quasi-independent status of the concessions. On all these points, the present system, he contended, was antiquated, unsuited to modern conditions and no longer afforded protection to British merchants.

The proposals Charge O'Malley presented to the Cantonese foreign minister at Hankow, Chamberlain said, included recognition of modern Chinese law courts without the attendance of British officials as courts competent to handle suits brought by British complainants. The British Government, he added, was ready to apply to British courts in China existing modern Chinese civil and commercial codes and duly enacted subordinate legislation.

Large Concessions.

"We will go further than this," the Secretary continued. "As soon as all the Chinese codes and judicial administration are ready, we are prepared to make British subjects liable to pay the regular Chinese taxation not involving discrimination against British subjects or goods.

"This would include taxation levied under a national tariff when such a law is promulgated, and so far as we alone can effect such an object, this removes the last obstacle to full tariff autonomy.

"As regards the concessions, we are prepared to enter into local arrangements according to the particular circumstances of each port, either for the amalgamation of the administration with that of adjacent areas under Chinese control, or for some other method of handing over the administration to the Chinese, while securing to the British community some voice in municipal matters.

"These proposals can be put into force by the unilateral action of the British Government. For the moment there can be no new treaty, for a treaty can only be signed with a recognized government, and we cannot yet recognize any government as the government of the whole of China."

Cannot Recognize Canton.

Insisting on the need of maintaining strict impartiality toward the contending Chinese armies, he said: "We cannot recognize the claim of Canton to be the government of the whole of China, for Canton controls hardly a third of China. The Chinese themselves must decide the question and foreign recognition must conform to the realities of the situation."

The seizure of the British concession at Hankow he declared to be outrageous and a demonstration that there was no guarantee of safety for British lives under the authority of the Cantonese government in the present revolutionary state of affairs.

Emphasizing that the British defense force was nonaggressive, he added:

"I hope no occasion will arise for its use. There is no intention on our part to hold Shanghai if we can obtain satisfactory assurances that what has happened at Hankow will not be repeated at Shanghai."

London Crowds Cheer Soldiers Departing for China.

LONDON, Jan. 29. — London took on a wartime appearance today when the second batalion of the Coldstream guards, of which King George is Colonel-in-Chief, marched through cheering crowds from Wellington barracks to Waterloo station, bound for China.

As in the days of the Great War, wives, sweethearts, fathers and mothers, marched with the soldiers to the tunes of "Tipperary," "Shanghai," and "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Reds distributed "Stop the War" pamphlets but the Tommies' relatives themselves silenced the demonstrators.

Three U. S. Cruisers Ordered to Honolulu.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Despite "reasonable hopeful" prospects of treaty negotiations with China seen by Secretary Kellogg, three additional American warships were dispatched to Honolulu today on stand-by orders. They will be held at call of Admiral Williams commanding the Asiatic fleet and in personal charge at Shanghai.

They will be available to supplement the naval forces on the Chinese coast, to rush marines from the Philippines to China or to take aboard Americans should evacuation of the international settlement become necessary. Each ship could land about 150 men from its own crew.

The vessels are the light cruisers Cincinnati, Marblehead and Richmond, all of high speed of the 7500 ton class with long cruising radius on oil fuel. The first two are now with Admiral Latimer's fleet in Nicaragua. The Richmond is at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Rear Admiral John R. Y. Blakely will take command at Honolulu and will await orders from Washington for further movements.

Admiral Blakely has received his instructions in person at the Navy Department. He left Washington tonight for San Francisco and will sail Feb. 5 for Honolulu.

It was reiterated at the State Department that the Washington Government is ready at any moment to enter negotiations with a Chinese treaty commission upon which the nationalist Government at Hankow and the Pekin Government dominated by Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian military dictator, can agree but that no official intimation has been received that those two factions were contemplating such an agreement.

There was some suggestion of resentment at the State Department over the action last night of Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister, in demanding a more explicit and simplified declaration of American purposes.

Zawack, a native of Poland, said last night it was the first time he had been held up. "I bought this revolver in 1914, the day I opened this store," he declared, "and I have had it in the same pocket every day since. The only time I ever fire it is on the Fourth of July. ST. LOUIS PRIESTS SAFE IN CHINA, CABLEGRAM SAYS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Anxiety concerning the safety of American priests and nuns at Jaochow, Yukiang, China, where anti-foreign demonstrations have occurred, was dispelled today with the receipt of a cablegram from the Very Rev. William P. Barr, of St. Louis, provincial superior of the Vincentian Fathers.

The message, sent to the Very Rev. Thomas F. Levan, president of De Paul University, stated Father Barr and his companion, the Rev. William H. Musson, provincial procurator, also of St. Louis, returned to Shanghai Friday, but the others remained at their missions. Other priests in the district include Fathers Edward Sheehan of Streator, Ill., and Leo Moore, of Perryville, Mo.

The nuns are sisters of Charity, the majority from Convent Station, N. J.

The two St. Louis priests, whose headquarters are at St. Vincent de Paul's church, left St. Louis on Thanksgiving day to visit the Vincentian Fathers' Oriental missions. They were going to Jaochow, where all the missionaries of the group were assembling. Father Sheehan formerly was a student at Kenrick Seminary, near Webster Groves.

ANDREWS LIKENS DRY ENFORCEMENT TO WAR CAMPAIGN

Lacking "Under Cover" Men, "It Will Be Handicapped Almost to the Point of Failure."

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today in transmitting a supplemental report to the Senate from David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, called attention to a serious condition that confronts dry agents, and presented an argument for the use of undercover agents. He pointed out that another case, similar to the four covered by their report of Jan. 25 has been discovered, and he cannot give the details of it lest it jeopardize the success of prosecutions. Under it he said 20 persons engaged in the illegal diversion of industrial alcohol would shortly be brought to trial.

The report says: "Unlike other criminal laws, violations (of the national prohibition laws) are not limited to individual cases where only at most the small group is concerned. The country is faced with numerous, vast and continuing conspiracies. Violations are nation-wide in their occurrence and almost without number. To meet this condition the Federal Government must concentrate its efforts upon the large, well organized illegal operations that develop and maintain the sources of supply and the wholesale distribution.

Menace to Society.

"Illegal traffic of this character carried on on such a scale is a menace to the stability of well ordered society and to the common welfare. The men engaged in this illegal work have practically unlimited financial resources from the tremendous profits their trade offers, they are therefore able to supply skilled assistants, both legal and chemical, and to practice corruption of public officials where corruptible officials can be found. They employ criminals who often do not hesitate at murder to assure the success of their operations.

"No parallel of this situation exists in normal times. It is similar rather to war. We are in particular need of a highly developed department of intelligence to keep the forces of society informed as to the personnel and methods used by the law-breakers. Even more important is the existence of a public opinion which will sustain the morale of the Government agents.

Under-Cover Methods Needed.

"It is neither necessary nor desirable that these agents engage in any illegal practices or entice others to do so, but it is necessary that agents be employed who are qualified and do act as spies with the opposing forces. No one likes the idea, but it is assential here as it is in war in order to gain necessary intelligence.

"Secret service methods and under-cover are absolutely necessary if the prohibition laws is to be enforced. This is a face which the public and their representatives must face. The alternative is lax and inefficient enforcement of the law.

"Without the employment of under-cover methods and the willingness of Government servants to become identified with the law violators in order to unearth their secrets, prohibition enforcement will be handicapped almost to the point of failure."

DECISION ON SMITH ARGUMENTS TO BE GIVEN WEDNESDAY

tificate of appointment issued by Gov. Small and would have no right to ignore the credentials Smith would bring to the Senate at next session as "a mandate from the people of Illinois."

"Next year, if Col. Smith lives, he will present his credentials again to the Senate," Doyle said. "Suppose, then, the Senate refuses to allow him to take the oath. He can present those same credentials at each session for the next six years. During that time the people of Illinois will be represented by only one Senator. There is no way to vacate the office unless Col. Smith resigns."

At the afternoon session, Beck continued his technical argument for Smith, citing precedents and speeches in the British House of Commons and the American colonial assembles. He again recited the facts about the expulsion of John Wilkes from the House of Commons and corrected his morning statement that the American Constitutional Convention was not aware that Wilkes had been allowed to take his seat as a member from Middlesex. He stated that during the luncheon recess he had looked up the facts and found that Wilkes had been allowed his seat in 1782.

Sure to Be Shut Out.

Whatever the committee may decide, it is a foregone conclusion, from the vote by which Smith was waved aside in the Senate, that he will be rejected.

PAN-AMERICAN GOOD-WILL FLYERS LAND IN COLOMBIA

St. Louis Forced to Return to Panama When Engine Trouble Develops.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Pan-American flyers, enroute to South America, arrived at Buenaventura, Colombia, at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon, according to a cable received here. They had taken off from France Field, Panama, at 9:50 o'clock this morning.

By the Associated Press.

PANAMA, Jan. 29.—The Pan-American flight squadron appears to be having anything but good luck on its "good will" tour of the Americas. On various occasions since the airmen took off from San Antonio, Tex., they have been brought to a stop by accidents. Leaving here this morning for Buenaventura, Columbia, the St. Louis developed engine trouble when about an hour out from France field. Accompanied by the Detroit, the crippled plane returned to the field for repairs. A landing wire also snapped on the St. Louis.

The rear guard of the expedition expects to resume the flight tomorrow morning.

400 MORE MARINES ORDERED TO INTERIOR OF NICARAGUA

All U. S. Vessels on Pacific Coast Also Placed on Patrol Duty.

By the Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 29.—Four hundred marines aboard the submarine tender Argonne will be landed at Corinto Monday and will be sent to various parts of the interior, some probably coming to Managua to replace temporary detachments of American forces now on duty in Nicaragua.

Rear Admiral Latimer, in command of American forces in Nicaraguan waters, has ordered all United States vessels on the Pacific Coast of Nicaragua on patrol duty.

So far as known here nothing has been done toward possible peace negotiations between the Conservative Government of President Diaz and the Liberal Government set up at Puerta Cabezas by Dr. Sacasa.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Jan. 29.—Communication with the interior has been interrupted and it was reported that a strong body of Liberal cavalry has gathering two miles from here.

enjoyed," he said in conclusion. "Out of our surplus earnings we have paid off nearly a quarter of our national debt and furnished billions of dollars to stabilize and refinance other parts of the world. Measured by its productive capacity and by its distribution in wages and its results in the general raising of the standards of living, it is far in excess of anything ever enjoyed before by any people anywhere at any time. If we had the courage to adopt this policy when its beneficial results appeared to be far in the future, now that we are in the midst of their enjoyment, we ought to have the courage and the self-control to continue it.

"There is not a home anywhere within the broad confines of this Republic which is not better off because of the services which you have rendered and the sacrifices which you have made. These results are unprecedented in the financial history of the world. They have placed America at the pinnacle of success and prosperity. It is our business to do our part to keep it there."

Director Lord Talks on Debt.

Public debt retirement of $1,000,000,000 this fiscal year is in prospect, Director Lord of the Budget Bureau informed the meeting. President Coolidge remained to hear Lord's speech.

Gen. Lord reiterated that the apparent surplus for this fiscal year was $383,079,095, while the margin for next year appeared to be $200,703,863.

Relating the results of the budget, the director said that in the six budgets so far submitted to Congress the estimates totaled $22,741,682,205, which was $1,492,458,996 less than was asked for by the executive departments.

"In that billion and a half overestimate," he said, "are buried proposals that never should have been seriously considered. Generous contributions to that vast total were made by executives newly identified with the Government service."

Employes Are Reduced.

Gen. Lord reported progress in the Two Per Cent Personnel Club, made up of bureau chiefs, who effect an annual reduction of 2 per cent in the number of employes.

The budget chief urged Government heads to cut down on their correspondence. There is too much dictation and too much typewriting, he said.

"Stenographers and typewriters," he said, "are alluring temptations to verbosity, loquacity, garrulity and prolixity. Those who can't write out their message in longhand and make it readable can dictate to an intelligent stenographer, who can make a fairly presentable production out of a jumble of bad grammar and a halting vocabulary, and thus make possible correspondence that otherwise would never have troubled the mails and otherwise would never have been missed."

TESTIFY GUS EHLERS ACCUSED BROTHERS

Widow and Neighbor Say Kansas City Banker Said They Poisoned Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 29.—Two witnesses testified at a Coroner's inquest today that Gus Ehlers, former president of the Roanoke State Bank who died on Dec. 30 under mysterious circumstances, on his death-bed accused two of his brothers, Fred Ehlers and Charles C. Ehlers, of having administered poison to him.

In addition to the widow, Mrs. Kathryn Ehlers, Mrs. John Eames, a neighbor, testified to the deathbed accusation.

"On Dec. 26," said Mrs. Eames, "I was called to the Ehlers home and went into Mr. Ehlers bedroom.

"They've got me," Mr. Ehlers said."

"Who do you mean?" I asked him."

"Won't shield them any longer," he replied. "They're my brothers. They got me. They wanted me to commit suicide, but I wouldn't. They got me, anyway. I know I soon shall meet my Maker, and they did it."

Brother Committed Suicide.

Fred Ehlers committed suicide Jan. 13. Charles C. Ehlers was in the Coroner's courtroom today.

Mrs. Kathryn Ehlers, who had preceded Mrs. Eames on the stand, had gone more into details as to her husband's deathbed statement

"On Dec. 23" (the day Gus Ehlers became ill), said Mrs. Ehlers, "my husband came home and showed me bicholoride of mercury tablets. He told me his brothers had tried to get him to commit suicide and I asked him if he had taken any of the tablets.

"'No,' he replied. "Fred got them and we had them at the bank. Fred divided them up and Charlie broke the bottle with an icepick. I didn't take any, honey. I told you I wouldn't."

Mrs. Ehlers later said her husband described more in detail the happenings at the bank.

"He told me Fred gave him a headache tablet about noon and that he had asked for water. Instead of water, Fred handed him a drink of kimmel. He told me it tasted bitter."

Mrs. Ehlers said that last summer she asked her husband concerning the condition of the bank and he told her it was in fine shape. When the trouble came upon the bank, which caused it to close, her husband admitted its condition.

"Charlie has milked it slow," Mrs. Ehlers said her husband confided to her, "but Fred milked it fast."

Fred Ehlers came to the institution last May to help out Gus Ehlers when the bank's affairs became tangled.

The Coroner also produced a witness who gave information for the first time of the financial difficulties between the three brothers. He was Attorney T. D. Judy, retained by Gus Ehlers last July to draw his will.

"Many weeks before his death, or before the closing of the bank," said Judy, "Ehlers told me his brothers had designs on his life for business reasons. He told me they wanted to gain control of his business."

FLOOD WATERS CAUSE DISTRESS IN INDIANA

Appeal Made to Red Cross for Fuel, Food and Medicine.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—Flood waters of the Ohio and other rivers today were causing distress and in some instances peril along the southern border of Indiana.

With the Ohio at a 44.7 foot stage at Evansville, the nearby community of Shawneetown was being guarded as the turbulent waters threatened to tear away levees protecting the town from inundation.

The crest of the flood, however, is thought to have been reached at Evansville as the water had risen little more than an inch during the last 12 hours. River navigation was almost suspended as steamers were unable to make ports down the river because of high waters.

Appeals have been made to the New Albany Red Cross chapter by flood sufferers in need of food, fuel and medicine. In many instances nine persons were housed in one room, and illness was reported among children due to exposure.

Leavenworth, Ind., in Crawford County, was experiencing the worst flood since 1921. Most of the principal streets are under several inches of water.

Backwater From Ohio River Floods Lowlands Near Harrisburg, Ill.

HARRISBURG, Ill., Jan. 29.—All lowlands in Saline County tonight east of Harrisburg are fast filling up with backwater from the Ohio River. In some places between this city and Shawneetown it is believed the water will overflow the Shawneetown-Harrisburg state road. At Shawneetown at 6 p. m. today the water had reached 47.8 feet, a rise of an inch an hour during the day and still rising.

REED AGAIN ATTACKS 18TH AMENDMENT

Missourian, at Philadelphia, Shares Honors With Tris Speaker and Eddie Collins.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Substitution of statutory enactmnet for moral principles, such as the Eighteenth amendment, is a grave mistake, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, declared here tonight at the annual dinner of the veteran athletes of Philadelphia.

More than 1000 persons, including champions in the world of sport, past and present, heard Reed attack centralization of government. He declared the states should be sovereign, except in the few particulars where power had been granted to the Federal Government.

The intention behind the Constitution, he said, was to limit the Federal Government to a few simple powers which would not be properly exercised by the several states.

Reed criticised the Eighteenth amendment as an illustration of the tendency toward supplanting the influence of the church, the school and the home by legislation.

"Until the Eighteenth amendment was passed," said the Senator, "this country was aflame with an agitation against the use of intoxicating liquors. Temperance, sobriety and self-control were dinned into our ears almost every hour. For these teachings we have substituted a law.

"The present intolerable condition is largely due to the fact we have taken the wrong course. We departed from our original course when we adopted the Eighteenth amendment."

He urged that the ballot box be kept free from contamination. "I would rather catch a ballot box thief than a bootlegger," he exclaimed.

Among noted athletes at the dinner none was accorded more attention than Tris Speaker, hailed as "America's greatest outfielder," and Eddie Collins, recently back in the Athletics' fold, who was introduced as "America's greatest second baseman."

Speaker followed the former White Sox star and made a brief speech.

Illinois Woman Ends Life in South.

MAN WHO DISAPPEARED IN DRAFT WRITES HOME

Mother in St. Louis Receives First Word From Son "Legally Dead."

Charles Williamson, son of Mrs. Mollie Williamson of 5880 Lansdowne avenue, who disappeared at the time he was drafted for the army in the World War in 1917 and was declared legally dead in 1924, wrote his mother three weeks ago from California, where he is living with his wife and family, but he offered no explanation of his long silence and absence. This was the first word his mother had received from him in 10 years and she did not know he was married.

Williamson addressed a letter containing a photograph of himself and his wife and two boys to his father at Chester, not knowing that the latter had died. The letter was forwarded to his mother here.

He was a traveling salesman. His draft notice was forwarded to his headquarters at Topeka, Kan., but he failed to appear and was posted as a deserter. His parents, who then lived at Chester, Ill., heard from him at Wichita, Kan., about that time, and several months later their last word from him, in a letter from Philadelphia, was that he had joined the navy. However, they could not trace him through navy records.

His father died in 1922 and two years later his mother had him declared legally dead, which enabled her to clear title to a house at Chester in his father's small estate and to collect his $300 life insurance. Mrs. Williamson now lives with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gorsuch. She has another son and daughter here.

FERGUSON-BAGGOT DEFENSE OPENED WITH A DEMURRER

Counsel for Ferguson and Baggo will argue, in the absence of th jury, that the Government ha failed to make a case. The tw defendants have separate lawyers and Baggot's counsel is particularly hopeful of getting the demurrer sustained as to him. Much less definite testimony has bee given regarding Baggot than regarding Ferguson.

"Baggot was just a messenge boy," said Patrick H. Cullen, hi lawyer, in yesterday's cross-questioning. "He carried a message t Garcia."

Plan of the Defense.

"Garcia" was the late Murra Carleton, treasurer and financia backer of Ferguson-McKinney an head of the allied Carleton Dry Goods Co. The defense has sough to show that Carleton, whose las illness was well advanced when th crash came, was solely responsibl for the misrepresentations mad to obtain credit, in the company' financial statement of Feb. 2 1925.

If the demurrers are overrule making it necessary for the defense to present its case to th jury, Ferguson and Baggot wi take the witness stand, thei lawyers said yesterday; or eithe one, if left as sole defendant, wil do so.

The defense will argue, as indicated in questions yesterday, tha if Carleton had not bee nhelpless ill when the crisis of Ferguson McKinney came, he would hav saved the concern, to which h would have been able to give a his attention, having disposed o the Carleton Dry Goods Co. H would have given his attention the hold, not only to the fin the company, but to its buying an merchandising methods. With th help in prospect early in 1925, will be argued that Ferguson an Baggot followed Carleton blindl and were not guilty of criminal intent in the irregularities committed.

Argument of Government.

The Government, arguing again the demurrers, is expected to ci testimony of three St. Louis bank ers, Edward B. Pryor, given ye terday, and Richard S. Hawes a Harold M. As the morning is to be occupi with arguments on the demurre the jury has been notified to r port at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Pryor, president of the Sta National Bank, was the Government's final witness. Eugene Angert, receiver of Ferguson-M Kinney, and counsel for one of interested banks, the National, was expected to witness yesterday, but was called, and may be used in rebutt testimony.

Pryor, who has said he was golf companion of Carleton, w questioned with especial closene about Carleton's parts in th affairs of Ferguson-McKinney.

Testimony of Pryor.

He said that at the conferenc of banker creditors, held at th First National Bank Oct. 30, 192 he asked Ferguson about th "kiting" of money from the Ca leton Dry Goods Co., to bolste up the Ferguson-McKinney asset Ferguson replied, he said, th the transfers had been going o for a number of years, and adde "The situation is very bad. will take expert accountants t straighten it out."

The defense asked Pryor if th shifting of funds was not a common practice among corporation closely inter-related, as were F guson-McKinney and Carlet Dry Goods. "It was the first ca of the kind I ever heard of," Pr or answered.

Pryor told of talking with Ba got later, and said Baggot admi ted having known that the co pany's financial statement was i correct, and further admitted ha ing assisted in making false i ventories, saying he did so Carleton's direction. When ask by Attorney Cullen if Baggot "

FERGUSON-BAGGOT DEFENSE OPENED WITH A DEMURRER

Arguments on Plea for Dismissal of Pair to Be Heard by Federal Judge Davis Tomorrow.

JURY EXCUSED UNTIL AFTERNOON

Both Defendants in Mail Fraud Conspiracy Charge to Testify if Trial Proceeds.

Pleas for the discharge of Forrest Ferguson and Alfred F. Baggot, on trial before Federal Judge Davis for the past week on charges of using the mails to defraud and conspiracy, will be argued tomorrow morning. The Government yesterday closed its case against the president and secretary of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., which failed in October, 1925, with a loss of $1,500,000 to creditor banks. Demurrers were offered by the defense.

Counsel for Ferguson and Baggot will argue, in the absence of the jury, that the Government has failed to make a case. The two defendants have separate lawyers, and Baggot's counsel is particularly hopeful of getting the demurrer sustained as to him. Much less definite testimony has been given regarding Baggot than regarding Ferguson.

"Baggot was just a messenger boy," said Patrick H. Cullen, his lawyer, in yesterday's cross-questioning. "He carried a message to Garcia."

Plan of the Defense.

"Garcia" was the late Murray Carleton, treasurer and financial backer of Ferguson-McKinney and head of the allied Carleton Dry Goods Co. The defense has sought to show that Carleton, whose last illness was well advanced when the crash came, was solely responsible for the misrepresentations made to obtain credit, in the company's financial statement of Feb. 28, 1925.

If the demurrers are overruled, making it necessary for the defense to present its case to the jury, Ferguson and Baggot will take the witness stand, their lawyers said yesterday; or either one, if left as sole defendant, will do so.

The defense will argue, as indicated in questions yesterday, that if Carleton had not bee nhelplessly ill when the crisis of Ferguson-McKinney came, he would have saved the concern, to which he would have been able to give all his attention, having disposed of the Carleton Dry Goods Co. He would have given his attention they hold, not only to the finances of the company, but to its buying and merchandising methods. With this help in prospect early in 1925, it will be argued that Ferguson and Baggot followed Carleton blindly, and were not guilty of criminal intent in the irregularities committed.

Argument of Government.

The Government, arguing against the demurrers, is expected to cite testimony of three St. Louis bankers, Edward B. Pryor, given yesterday, and Richard S. Hawes and Harold M. Bixby, Friday, to the effect that Ferguson made admissions of guilt, and that Baggot explained to the bankers details of the fraudulent methods used.

As the morning is to be occupied with arguments on the demurrer, the jury has been notified to report at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Pryor, president of the State National Bank, was the Government's final witness. Eugene H. Angert, receiver of Ferguson-McKinney, and counsel for one of the interested banks, the First National, was expected to be a witness yesterday, but was not called, and may be used in rebuttal testimony.

Pryor, who has said he was a golf companion of Carleton, was questioned with especial closeness about Carleton's parts in the affairs of Ferguson-McKinney.

Testimony of Pryor.

He said that at the conference of banker creditors, held at the First National Bank Oct. 26, 1925, he asked Ferguson about the "kiting" of money from the Carleton Dry Goods Co. to bolster up the Ferguson-McKinney assets. Ferguson replied, he said, that the transfers had been going on for a number of years, and added, "The situation is very bad. It will take expert accountants to straighten it out."

The defense asked Pryor if the shifting of funds was not a common practice among corporations closely inter-related, as were Ferguson-McKinney and Carleton Dry Goods. "It was the first case of the kind I ever heard of," Pryor answered.

Pryor told of talking with Baggot later, and said Baggot admitted having known that the company's financial statement was incorrect, and further admitted having assisted in making false inventories, saying he did so at Carleton's direction. When asked by Attorney Cullen if Baggot "cut any 'figure'" in the bankers' conferences, Pryor said he did not.

Gist of Cross-Examination.

Former Judge Henry S. Priest, representing Ferguson, sought to show that "the bankers used small creditors as a catspaw," in bringing about the receivership. The witness did not admit this. When asked as to the part of "good will" in the loan, he said, "We don't regard good will in making loans."

Pryor denied that, as suggested by Priest, the attorney of "the bank least concerned," meaning Angert as counsel for the First National, which had a smaller balance due it than the other large banks, took the chief part in the questioning of Ferguson. Pryor said all the bankers took part in the questioning.

BILL POSTED IN 1885 FINALLY COMES BACK

Sender's Son Receives Unclaimed Letter Found in Deserted Log Postoffice.

An undelivered bill sent 42 years ago from this city on the river packet "St. Genevieve" to a small settlement on the Missouri River, was returned yesterday through an unusual set of circumstances to H. B. Spencer, 4915 Argyle place, son of the sender, who is now dead. Since 1885 it had lain on the shelf of a log cabin postoffice at Red Landing, Mo.

H. M. Edmunds, president of the Edmunds Building Co., 14 North Seventh street, and a friend of Spencer, was on a hunting trip in the vicinity of what had once been Red Rock Landing. While tramping through the woods last week, he unexpectedly walked into a clearing in which there were six decaying and deserted log cabins. One was a postoffice, its dust-laden letter compartments containing undelivered letters, yellow with age. In one of them he found the bill sent by the father of his friend.

The bill, enclosed in a red envelope, smacks of a bygone age. In flowing hand writing, it is addressed to C. F. De Lassus, Esq. It asked for payment of $34 for 16 sacks of wheat, shipped by Harlow, Spencer & Co., of St. Louis. It had been made out by the father of the man who received it yesterday. The company was founded in 1869 and was in existence until 1900.

WANTS WEDDING ENJOINED

Former Husband Sues to Stop Ex-Wife's Remarriage.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—An injunction to prevent a marriage, said to be the first ever attempted here, was asked in Superior Court today by Simon Steinberg, proprietor of an ice plant, who sought to restrain his divorced wife from marrying Jacob Schaeffer, composer and orchestra director living in the Bronx, New York.

They were to have been married today but Mrs. Lena Steinberg, the divorced wife, is under arrest here on a statutory charge filed by her husband en route to New York for the wedding. Steinberg said that in 1925 Schaeffer went to live with the Steinberg's in Milwaukee as a lodger. Schaeffer and his wife fell in love, the petition said and in September, 1925, his wife left him and sued for divorce, but the suit was dismissed. Steinberg said he refused a cash offer from Schaeffer of $3000. Mrs. Steinberg then obtained a divorce in Mexico.

His father decided that would be sufficient punishment for neglecting the birds while entertaining company during the absence of his parents.

ENDS LIFE WITH PISTOL IN FATHER'S OFFICE

Raymond Nuell, 22, Had Been Melancholy—Body Found by Policeman.

Raymond Nuell, 22 years old, of 4124W Kossuth avenue, shot and killed himself last night in the office of Henry Nuell & Son, commission house at 1119 North Third street, conducted by his father and brother.

A policeman, trying the door at 10 o'clock, found it unlocked and walked in. In a chair was young Nuell's body with a bullet wound in the abdomen, and on a desk nearby was an automatic pistol with one cartridge discharged.

The elder Nuell said his son was a draftsman employed by the Scullin Steel Co. He had been melancholy for about six months. He suffered a nervous breakdown recently and fearing he would take his life, his father had removed his pistol from the home. Last night the son left home at about 8:30 o'clock, secretly taking his brother's office keys and found the pistol in his father's desk.

About 150 long distance telephone lines in England and seven of the 18 Paris lines were down. Although a torrential rain fell in London, Scotland and Northern England had a regular blizzard. The storm had abated today, but it still continued gusty and weather forecasts warned of another depression from the Atlantic which would bring more storms.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29.—An unsigned note, bearing a message of love for some unidentified person was the only clew police have in the shooting here today of Mrs. James C. Oakley, 16 years old, a bride of four months, by her mother, Mrs. Hattie Fry, aged 35, who took poison. Both women are semi-conscious in a hospital and cannot be questioned.

Oakley, 19 years old, who was at work in a department store at the time of the shooting said he could not explain it.

GRACE VAN STUDDIFORD, ONCE ST. LOUIS OPERA SINGER, DIES IN FT. WAYNE

Previously she had been sued in Detroit for a $528 jewelry bill.

It used to be customary when Grace Van Studdiford appeared in downtown theaters here to raise the prices as high as $2.50 a seat—high for the days before the World War—but in 1914 she was engaged for four nights at a South Grand boulevard movie theater, where the management said her fee was $1000 and the highest priced seat was 35 cents. In 1916 she appeared at the old Columbia vaudeville theater with a repertoire of songs, one of the last if not the last of her professional appearances in St. Louis.

Retiring from the stage, Miss Van Studdiford opened a vocal school in Fort Wayne in 1917 and built an English colonial home, which she called "The Shelter," on an old Indian reservation south of that city.

Her former husband died in St. Louis in 1924, aged 59. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Robert E. Quive, who resides on the old homestead at North Manchester, two sisters, Mrs. Harry B. Gregory of Fresno, Cal., and Miss Maude Quive of North Manchester, and two brothers, Claude E. Quive of Los Angeles and Ralph Quive of Lynn, Mass. The funeral will be at North Manchester Monday, with burial in the family lot of a cemetery there.

ALTON POSTOFFICE ROBBERS EACH GET TEN-YEAR TERMS

Seven Men Convicted of Stealing $35,000 in Stamps, Also Fined $6000 and Costs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 29.—Seven men convicted last week of robbing the Alton postoffice of $35,000 in stamps in May, 1924, were sentenced in Federal Court here today to 10 years each in the Leavenworth Penitentiary and to pay fines of $6000 each.

Sentence was passed by Judge FitzHenry an hour and a half after he had denied motions for a new trial. The men sentenced were Joseph Melling of Springfield; Ray Larrison, John Adams, Joseph Marine, Robert Dooling, Joseph Meyer and Benjamin Simon, all of Alton.

All were sentenced to five years on the first, fourth and fifth of five counts against them, but the court provided that the terms for counts four and five run concurrently, making a total of 10 years. The fines were $1000 and costs on the first count and $5000 and costs on the fifth.

Former Jury Disagreed.

Convictions of the seven were obtained largely on the confession of George Merrill, a participant in the robbery, who escaped prosecution by aiding the prosecution. The trial last week was the second. An earlier trial, held last October, resulted in a jury disagreement with a vote of six to six. The defense in both trials consisted largely of alibis. Postoffice inspectors who investigated the crime were among the Government witnesses.

After the passing of sentence today attorneys for the defendants said the case probably would be taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Vault Blown Open.

The robbery occurred on the night of Sunday, May 12, 1924. The outer and two inner doors of the postoffice vault were blown open and packages of postage stamps worth $35,000 were carried away, the robbers escaping without having been seen or heard. They also took about $15 in loose change from the drawers at the stamp windows. Before leaving they piled neatly near the vault, the tools they had used in breaking into the building and vault. These were an oxy-acetylene torch and tank, three picks and a claw bar such as is used for prying spikes from railroad ties. They had pried the postoffice side door open with a pick.

According to the confession of Merrill the robbers had expected to get a $90,000 payroll, but there was nothing of great value in the postoffice that night except the stamps.

One Sentence in Another Case.

Melling, who is 27 years old, and was employed as an automobile salesman in Springfield, was also sentenced to 25 years in Leavenworth today for participation in the robbery of a Government mail clerk at the Chicago & Alton Railway station here on April 1, 1923.

Melling is the eleventh man to receive sentence for this robbery. Eight of those previously sentenced received 25 years and two received two years in the penitentiary.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF SISTERS ENDS TERM FOR FRAUD

Victor E. Innes Completes 5-Year Sentence at Atlanta but Must Serve Out $1000 Fine.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 29.—Victor E. Innes, central figure in the disappearance 13 years ago in San Antonio, Tex., of Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis and her sister, Miss Beatrice Nelms, completed a five-year sentence in Atlanta Federal penitentiary today. He was not freed, however, as he was unable to pay a $1000 fine imposed in the same case and must serve 30 days additional after taking a pauper's oath.

Innes, who came from Oregon, was accused of having lured the two young women from Atlanta to Texas on a plea of investing their money and then murdered them. Attempts to try him for murder in Texas were blocked, as the bodies could not be found.

He later was convicted of using the mails to defraud the women.

Prior to entering the Federal penitentiary, Innis has served seven years in Georgia State prison on conviction of larceny after trust in the Nelms case. His wife served two years in State prison on the same charges and has a Federal charge pending against her. Her counsel claimed that her health was wrecked while serving in State prison.

Unfruitful Search.

Disappearance of the Nelms sisters, daughter of the late Sheriff John W. Nelms of Fulton County, was followed by a search through Texas and into Mexico. They had been engaged in business here and had accumulated a few thousand dollars prior to meeting Innes.

Members of the Nelms family said that on Innes' plea that a fortune could be made by investments in Texas, the sisters sold out and met him in San Antonio. When the family failed to hear from them, search was instituted that extended over several years and almost exhausted the aged Sheriff's funds.

In San Antonio a meat grinder and corrosives were introduced before the grand jury in an effort to prove that Innes and his wife had slain the sisters and destroyed their bodies. Texas law, however, requires production of the corpus delicti and as no trace of the bodies could be found, the murder charges could not be pressed, although they were indicted.

Then the Nelms family succeeded in having Mr. and Mrs. Innes indicted in Georgia on the fraud charges. Both Mr. and Mrs. Innes denied all the charges.

The tragedy of the Nelms sisters, Eloise and Beatrice, daughters of the late Sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia, began when Eloise went to Nevada to secure a quick divorce from her husband. There she met Innes, at one time Assistant District Attorney of Nevada. He was posing as a single man, and Eloise fell in love with him. Later charges against him for larceny and misuse of the mails proved that he induced her to turn over to him large sums of money, presumably to invest in Salt Lake City and in Montana.

After securing her divorce Eloise Nelms announced to her family in Atlanta that she was going to marry Innes and later she went to San Antonio for this purpose. She was accompanied by her sister, eBatrice, who was suspicious of Innes and wanted a showdown regarding money that had been turned over to him by Eloise. Innes was then living in a small cottage on the outskirts of San Antonio with his wife, who posed as his aunt.

Believed Still Alive.

Witnesses testified that they saw the Nelms sisters on the train going from New Orleans to San Antonio and others claimed to have seen them on the porch of the cottage the night of their arrival. Since that time, no trace of them has been found.

The theory that the Nelms girls are still alive is held to this day by many Atlanta people.

BABYLONIAN VENUS WITH BOBBED HAIR SOUGHT AT MIZPAH

American Archeologists Find One but Can't Keep It, So Must Unearth Another.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Archeologists of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Cal., are now in Berlin on their way back to the Holy Land in quest of the bobbed-haired Venus of Babylon. Excavations will be resumed shortly at the site of the ancient city of Mizpah, under the direction of Dr. William Bade and Maj. William Gotshall.

These men found one specimen a year ago, a well-modeled terra cotta head of Astarte, the Babylonian goddess of love. Her coiffure resembles the modern style of hair dressing, even to bangs. She has very large eyes, a prominent forehead and scientists assume that the head represents a style of about 750 B. C. Dr. Bade thinks the statuette was originally a child's doll.

The authorities of Palestine, however, refused to permit the Americans to remove their find, except temporarily. It now is at Berkeley, but must be returned. It is a fine example of what the Prophet Jeremiah called "The Queen of Heaven."

Dr. Bade feels sure that another head, or complete statuette, will be found. If he finds a second one he may be allowed to keep it.

THINKS DAUGHTER AND PRIEST ELOPED

Marceline, Mo., Woman Offers Explanation for Disappearance of Father Downey.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARCELINE, Mo., Jan. 29.—A search throughout the Middle West was begun today for the Rev. D. V. Downey, Catholic priest who disappeared a week ago from his parish here. He checked his trunk to Chicago, and authorities there have been asked to hunt for him. He left no word as to where he was going.

A girl here also disappeared the same night that Father Downey left. The girl's mother thinks her daughter and the priest were married in Chicago. However, members of the church believe Father Downey suffered a lapse of memory and is in a hospital somewhere receiving treatment. The priest's father is very ill in a nearby Missouri town.

SMITH-M'ADOO FEUD FLARES UP ON SENATE FLOOR

Ex-Secretary's Toledo Speech on Dry Law Enforcement Starts Row Among the Democrats.

BRUCE CALLS IT "MERE CLAPTRAP"

Copeland Supports Marylander Against King, Glass and Caraway—Edwards Silent.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Echoes of the Smith-McAdoo fight in the last Democratic National Convention were heard in the Senate today when a group of Democrats, starting out on a discussion of prohibition, got into spirited argument about the New York Governor and the former Secretary of the Treasury: Republicans looked on with amusement, taking practically no part in the exchanges.

The flare-up coincided with the arrival here of William G. McAdoo for a week-end visit vith a daughter, and it apparently was touched off by his speech in Toledo last night in which he discussed prohibition enforcement. An Anti-Saloon League statement issued here today said that his address would "make constitutional government and law enforcement the line of cleavage in the next election both inside and outside the Democratic party."

Mere Claptrap, Says Bruce.

Senator Bruce of Maryland, who precipitated the Senate argument, declared that McAdoo had insulted his State and New York by charging that they "were in a state of rebellion against the United States" because they had not passed State prohibition enforcement laws.

"That is nothing but mere claptrap," Bruce said, "and another illustration of 'McAdoo'll do.' It shows that some people are dead and do not even know they are dead."

Senator King of Utah came to the defense of McAdoo and he was joined by Senators Glass of Virginia and Caraway of Arkansas, who pointed to McAdoo's record as Secretary of the Treasury as proving his judgment and worth.

Senator Copeland of New York, coming to the support of Bruce, asserted that New York favored the eighteenth amendment, but wanted the Volstead act amended, this representing the views of the State and its Governor.

Borah Asks a Question.

"Do I understand the Senator as saying that Al Smith favors the Volstead act?" inquired Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho.

"Gov. Smith believes in enforcing the Volstead act as long as it is on the statute books," retorted Copeland.

After paying tribute to McAdoo, Caraway summed up the argument of the Smith proponents as meaning "they wanted to modify the Volstead act so that a person can get drunk without violating the law." He urged the Senate to stop prohibition discussion as it was "encouraging violations of the law and had led many people to jail."

While not participating in the altercation, Senator Edwards (Dem.) of New Jersey declared in a statement later that the Democratic discussions of prohibition and the Mexican question was contributing to the re-election of President Coolidge and was making it hopeless for a Democratic victory in 1928.

NEW COMET DISCOVERED

It Is of Eighth Magnitude and Is Named "Reid's."

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 29.—Discovery of a supposedly new comet of the eighth magnitude is announced in a cablegram received at the Harvard Observatory from the Astronomical Clearing House in Copenhagen. It is to be called Reid's comet.

The discoverer was named in the cablegram simply at Reid. It is assumed here that he is Dr. William Reid, an amateur astronomer connected with the Good Hope Observatory in South America, who already has the discovery of seven comets to his credit. The new comet is not visible in the Northern hemisphere. Its position is given as right ascension 22 hours 30 minutes 40 seconds, declination south 57 degrees 49 minutes.

Princess-Granddaughter Inspects Grant's Log Cabin

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

PRINCESS CANTACUZENE (extreme right, talking to August A. Busch) and some of the committee at "Hardscrabble." Below, a closeup of the visitor.

Committee of Prominent St. Louisans Escorts Former Julia Dent Grant Through Historic Rooms of Old "Hardscrabble."

Accompanied by a committee of distinguished St. Louisans, Princess Cantacuzene yesterday visited the log cabin which her grandfather, Ulysses S. Grant, built of his own toil in his obscure years in St. Louis and sometimes called "Hardscrabble."

The Princess, who is said to have spurned the suit of a King at Newport, as Miss Julia Dent Grant, before she accepted Prince Michael Cantacuzene of Russia, was in St. Louis to open the Women's Exposition at the Coliseum. With 20 men and women of social prominence, she was the guest at luncheon of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch, on whose estate, Grant's farm, her grandfather built his own cabin and split wood, to sell at $4 a cord.

It was in bitterness that Grant called his home "Hardscrabble," but when re revisited it as a hero returning from the Civil War he said, "I moistened the ground around these stumps with many a drop of sweat but they were happy days after all."

Old Fireplace Aglow.

A fire crackled brightly and merrily in the fireplace when Princess Cantacuzene arrived and was greeted by Busch and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Hager Jr. Her father, the late Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, had pointed out that fireplace in visiting the cabin on the World's Fair grounds in 1904 and waxed reminiscent of its friendly glow on winter evenings.

Princess Cantacuzene said she was thrilled, and looked it. Animatedly she glanced around at the crossed swords and stacked rifles, the curious mahogany bellows with which Busch had completed the fireplace, the Grant photos, portraits and manuscripts with which he had covered the plain walls, and eagerly she crossed over to a group photograph, showing her father, grandfather and others with several children.

"We were just wondering," Busch remarked, "which one of those girls you were."

"This one," she replied, indicating a little girl in the quaint dress of the 'Eighties, sitting on the steps when my grandfather died. It was taken at Mount MacGregor, (where Gen. U. S. Grant died in July, 1885, a few days after he arrived there) and another was taken the same day. Both have been very widely copied."

She glanced about the north room, with an admiring word for the Navajo rugs with which Busch had dressed up the floor, and a surprised comment when he told her that while the cabin was open to the public at all times and guarded by no caretaker, nothing ever had been taken. Then she climbed the steps to the two rooms upstairs, in the north one of which her father had said he and his little brothers slept.

Parting from the cabin, she and her party drove on up the hill for luncheon in a dining room where, apparently the cabin of her grandfather might have been bodily enclosed without great crowding.

A further contrast was avoided when dull weather caused elimination from her drive about St. Louis of a visit to the house on the southwest corner of Cerre and Fourth streets, where Ulysses S. Grant and Miss Julia Dent were married.

Empty and Shabby Now.

The once brilliant town house of Col. Frederick Dent, where it was planned a few years ago to establish a museum of St. Louis history, is empty and shabby. Windows are broken and boarded up. Inside, floors are carpeted with inch-deep dust, paint has fallen from the walls, plaster has tumbled with wall-paper in a tangle across the halls where Lieut. Grant marched with his bride to the altar.

Outside, only previous knowledge makes decipherable a weather-beaten painted sign, "In this house Gen. Ulysses S. Grant and Miss Julia Dent were married"—whether the day is there, the twenty-second, cannot be determined—"August, 1848." Flamboyantly below it stand out the glaring red, black and yellow of posters for a burlesque show.

GERMANY'S $2,250,000,000 REPARATIONS CLAIM DENIED

By the Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 29.—Germany today lost its case brought against the Reparations Commission involving claims totaling more than 9,000,000,000 gold marks (approximately $2,250,000,000) by a decision of a special arbitral tribunal and interpretation court, created to settle questions of interpretation of provisions of the Dawes plan.

The matter for settlement was whether certain payments by Germany should or should not be regarded as included in the annuities payable by Germany to the agent general for reparation payments.

The court, of which Thomas Nelson Perkins of Boston is president, upheld the contention of the Reparations Commission that the payments should not be included in the annuities.

PAGEANT FEATURES WOMAN'S EXPOSITION

Princess Cantacuzene, Indians and Old Weaver From Virginia at Opening.

Indians from the reservation of Arizona and New Mexico, an old-fashioned woman weaver from Damascus, Va., and a Princess of old Russia were among the features at the formal opening of the Woman's National Exposition at the Coliseum last night.

The Indians fashion pottery, rugs and blankets while you watch. The weaver, Mrs. Rose Kearney, uses hand looms to demonstrate the old-fashioned methods of weaving. They will give exhibitions throughout the 10 days of the exposition.

Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter of Ulysses S. Grant, came to St. Louis from Washington, where she lives since the Russian revolutions. She was attended last night by a military escort headed by Col. M. N. Falls, commandant of Jefferson Barracks.

A pageant depicting the part women have played in the discovery and development of this country was part of the opening ceremonies. The pageant featured ballets and musical numbers.

Fashion shows and programs by the Fisk Jubilee Singers are scheduled every day.

The management has planned, with the co-operation of exhibitors to have "live" booths and has discouraged mere "show-window" exhibits. Some booths have live models displaying dresses and other merchandise. In other booths the processes of production are disclosed.

Civic and commercial organizations and individuals are sponsoring the booths, which total about 100. The list of exhibitors includes the American Legion, Board of Education, Board of Religious Organizations, Council of Catholic Women, Christian Science, Daughters of America, Grand Army of the Republic, Humane Society, Anti-Vivisection Society, Missouri Association for the Blind, Near East Relief, Neighborhood House, Smoke Abatement League, University of Missouri, W. WOMAN WHO KILLED FORMER SUITOR SENT TO PRISON

Mrs. Pearl Miles, 30 years old, of Dupo, near East St. Louis, was sentenced to from one year to life imprisonment in the Joliet Prison by Circuit Judge George Crow of Belleville Friday afternoon on a plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter. She was indicted for killing Arthur Ray Hauser, a railroad man of Dupo, Ill., July 2 last year.

Hauser was entering the railroad roundhouse when slain with a revolver. The prosecution charged that Mrs. Miles, who has a husband and three children, was jealous of Hauser, a former sweetheart, when she saw him with another woman. Mrs. Miles at the time of the shooting said Hauser was molesting her and trying to induce her to leave her husband.

She was charged with murder but the State consented to a plea of guilty on a manslaughter charge.

FAILS TO FIX SCENE OF CRIME

W. N. Coffey, Bigamist-Slayer Faints Under Questioning.

By the Associated Press.

PLATTEVILLE, Wis., Jan. 29.—William N. Coffey failed definitely today to establish the scene of the killing of his bigamous wife, when he was taken to the spot he had described in his confession. He pointed out a desolate spot a mile and a half southeast of Sandy Hook in Grant County, which he "thought" was the place.

District Attorney Orchard said he would issue a warrant charging Coffey with first degree murder. Coffey identified a knife found in Riter's woods as that with which he had dismembered the body of his wife after he had killed her with a baseball bat.

He fainted under the strain of the examination by the authorities.

"I don't care whether I spend the rest of my life in prison or hang," Coffey asserted in the course of his questioning.

KROONLAND MAKES HER LAST TRIP ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Former Red Star Liner Which Brought [illegible] Home, Will Be Junked.

NEW YORK, J[illegible] The former Red Star passenger liner Kroonland, which was the largest ship built in the United States when launched in 1902, bade farewell to the United States today on her last Trans-Atlantic voyage. The vessel will be broken up at Genoa after discharging a cargo of grain at Antwerp. She is 578 feet long, and of 11,932 gross tonnage.

The Kroonland, sister ship of the Vaterland, was credited with 234 voyages for 1,635,468 miles without any serious accident. She was struck by two torpedoes during the war, but was not damaged. The vessel carried many American soldiers back to the United States after the war. In 1913 her captain and crew were honored for their rescue work in the burning of the passenger liner Volturno in mid-ocean.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN BY HOGS AND LAMBS

COMPARATIVE RECEIPTS.

	Last Week.	Prev. Week.	Year. Week.
Cattle & calves	22,497	21,981	22,483
Hogs	77,443	79,939	68,420
Sheep	8,655	10,080	7,371
Horses and mules	1,514	2,040	2,762
Totals	110,109	114,040	101,036

Hogs and lambs showed an improved trend the past week at the St. Louis National Stockyards. Cattle closed on a mixed basis and horses and mules about steady. The combined receipts were of moderate volume at approximately 110,000 head. Cattle and calves alone aggregated 22,497, compared with similar runs a week ago and a year ago.

Cattle sold on a firm basis the fore part of the week, but developed a weaker trend in many departments later in the session and closed irregular.

Beef steers closed about 25c higher on the better grades and weak to possibly 15c to 25c lower on low-grade offerings. The bulk of all sales was $8.00 to $9.75 per cwt. Common kinds ranged down to $7.00 or under, while top droves rested in the $10,000 column.

Five cars of South Texas fed beeves reached $9.75 to $10.00, followed by several plainer loads at $6.75 to $8.00. Light butcher steers and heifers experienced a poor demand the last half of the week and many of the better grades closed 50c lower. A considerable part of the week's run made a spread of $6.50 to $9.50 and odd lots of choice animals reached $11.00. A stronger beef cow market prevailed until the closing rounds, when the improvement, which amounted to about 15c to 25c, was mostly lost. Sales during the six-day period were largely in a spread of $5.50 to $6.50. Canner and cutter cows were able to retain a 15c to 25c stronger selling basis. Cutters closed at $4.50 to $5.00 and canners $3.75 to $4.50.

Bulls developed a lower trend late after displaying a firm trend the first three days. Bolognas late topped at $6.75 against $7 early in the period. Fair to good bolognas were available on the close around $6 and common and canner grades down to $5 and $4.50. Weighty beef bulls, good quality, cashed largely around $7 and $7.25. Stockers and feeder steers, in sympathy with plain killers, developed an easier trend. Sales were recorded at $6.75 to $8. Stock cows ruled strong at $5 to $5.75 and heifers were about steady. Veal calves soared sharply under modest receipts and an urgent demand. From a $15.25 top Monday the market ascended to $16.25 Friday. First cuts strengthened at $13 to $13.50 and heavy calves remained about steady at $6 to $9. Southern canner yearlings were about steady at $5 to $6 for most of the better grades.

Hog Run Fairly Heavy.

Receipts of swine continued fairly heavy the past week but prices in spite of this fact worked gradually up to a substantially higher basis than was in effect during the close of the previous week. A broad demand from order buying interests was mainly responsible for this feature, trade in general however, ruling very uneven during the six-day period with numerous declines and advances recorded on all hogs. The light hog top in semi-fina. deals reached the highest on record during the current year of $12.55 per cwt. with a few odd head of fancy lights as high as $12.60. Bulk of sales on all hogs from 160 to 200 lbs. for the six days was $12.25 to $12.40, exclusive of Southern kinds and crop eared offerings. Prices on these classes ruled very uneven and demand was very limited. Salesmen at times found it almost impossible to move them and then only at sharp concessions in price that ranged from $1 to $3 under native stock of the same weight. This rule applied to the butcher weights also. Offerings from 210 to 240 lbs. bulked for the week at $12.15 to $12.35 and heavier kinds sold chiefly at $12 to $12.25, a low of $11.90 registered at one time. Pig stuff ranged also to some extent but most variation was evident in the better weight kinds. Offerings from 130 to 150 lbs. bulked for the week at $11.75 to $12.40, medium and light kinds at $11.25 to $11.75. Plain crop eared stuff and Southern grades ranged downward to $8.50 in extremes with best kinds occasionally selling as high as $11. Packing sows show strong to 10c higher at $10.65 to $11, best smooth sows selling as high as $11.05. Stags remained unchanged throughout the period at $9 to $10.75, the latter price occasionally paid for light fat kinds.

Choice Lambs Higher.

With the closing of the week's trading in the sheep and lamb department, lambs of choice quality show a gain of 50c over last week's close. Receipts for the week just closed aggregated 8655 as compared with 10,080 last week and 7871 the same week last year. Quality graded medium to good. Arrivals were fairly divided between native and fed western stock. The opening rounds for the week were on a steady basis with the close of last week, but advance in the next session held firm throughout the remained of the week. A top of $13 was registered to packers on Tuesday and remained the top for the rest of the week. In the latter part of the week native lambs of choice quality made $12.75 and $13. The bulk of sales for the week was $12.50 to $13. Two loads of plain to medium Tennessee lambs cashed to packers at $11 and $12, in the mid session. Plain to medium grades of native and western range from $10 to $11.25. City butchers paid $12.75 to $13.25 for choice lambs during the week. Cull and common grades remained unchanged from day to day, mostly $8.50 to $9. Mutton ewes closed the week on a steady to strong basis considering quality, top reaching $7.50 in the Friday session. Bulk of ewe sales for the week were $6.50 to $7.50. Heavies sold in a spread of $4.50 to $50. Choppers and bucks unchanged at $2 to $4. Canners firm at $2 to $3. There were not enough wether arrivals during the week to test the market. The few that were on sale sold in a spread of $7.50 to $10. Quotations: Slaughter Stock—Good to choice lambs $12.15 to $13 to butchers $13.25, medium to good $11.25 to $12.25, plain to medium $10 to $11.25, cull and common $8 to $9, skips $5 to $7. Good to choice yearling wethers $10 to $10.50, medium to good $9.50 to $7. Good to choice yearling wethers $10 to $10.50, medium to good $9.50 to $10, plain to medium $8 to $9. Good to choice aged western wethers $7.25 to $8.25, southern kinds $6.50 to $7.50, medium to good $5.50 to $6.50, heavies $5 to $5.50. Choppers and bucks $2 to $4, canners $2 to $3. Fat goats $3 to $3.50, thin to fair goats $1.50 to $3. Fat kinds $4.50 to $5.50, thin to fair kids $2 to $4.

Horses and Mules.

Horses and mules ruled about steady, weakness in some classes being counterbalanced by strength in others. Receipts were of good volume at approximately 1500 head and there was a good clearance.

As in previous sessions, mules made up the great bulk of the run. Short-haired fat mare offerings were active sellers and displayed strength. Common, green and bad haired kinds, on the other hand, were barely steady.

In horses well broke animals were provided a satisfactory outlet, with the call centering largely in wagon chunks and big animals.

Foreign Exchange

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Evening Post, in its weekly foreign exchange review, says:

"The market included many important movements this week, with a general continuation of the adjustment of conditions to those that must be expected in the long distance of time after the unsettlement caused by the World War. French exchange was looked on with special interest, two shipments of more than $4,000,000 gold each from France being received and causing a good deal of conjecture as to their purpose and incentive. Those concerned in banking affairs, however, look on the gold shipments as a natural balance to commercial expenditures and insist that in this respect gold in itself is to be regarded as merchandise with a fixed value and in no way connected with financial operations between governments.

"French exchange was firm early in the week, ranging above 3.95, but yielded slowly and orderly to below 3.94.

"Italian exchange ranged close to 4.30 for the lira, but was in moderate supply, finding market for fairly large offerings without a disturbance of its position. Sterling yielded about ⅛ to $4.85 for cables, but at the end of the week found a ready demand at a slight advance from that level. An advance of 40 points in Spanish exchange carried the peseta cable up to 16.60, the highest since 1920. The peseta sold early in that year at 19.30, its parity in gold, but before the end of the year was down to around 13 cents. Norwegian exchange continued upward ranging from 25.44 to 25.80. Japanese was in firm demand in the last half of the week, yen cables advancing from 40.70 to 48.87.

Weekly Metal Review.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Easiness continued to feature the steel market during the past week. Rolled steel weakness affected sheets, strips, full finished sheet stocks, bars and plates, all of which were available at concessions. With the exception of buying for railroad account, the demand was moderate, although tending to broaden. January car orders were estimated as the largest monthly bookings since September, 1924, and the construction requirements were estimated at a minimum of 200,000 tons. Structural steel orders failed to meet expectations.

Pig iron was fairly active for small lots with prices about steady.

Copper continued quiet. No general selling pressure was reported but some metal has evidently been seeking an outlet and prices have been shaded with small sales noted at 12¾ cents for electrolytic delivered at Connecticut Valley points. Some of the larger producers are maintaining nominal asking prices of 13⅛. The action of the market suggests that consumers have pretty well covered their February requirements, and exporters have shown little or no interest.

Tin averaged easier here and abroad. Consumers took advantage of lower levels to make extensive purchases for all positions through June delivery.

Lead was lower following further reductions in London. Demand was largely for February shipment while producers were unwilling to offer beyond March.

Zinc turned easy again with lower prices for ore. London was also weak and the general demand quiet.

Demand for antimony was good for arrival positions that were definitely named. The market ruled firm with the Far East situation the controlling factor.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER IN FINAL TRADES OF WEEK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The cotton market lost part of Friday's advance in today's trading. The opening was slightly higher in response to higher Liverpool cables, but prices soon eased under realizing and Southern selling, May selling off from 13.62c to 13.51c and closing at 13.54c. The general market closed steady, at net declines of 6 to 7 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 4 points on overnight buying orders brought in by the firmer ruling of yesterday and local buying inspired by the continued steadiness of Liverpool. The advance to 13.42c for March and 14.08c for October attracted considerable realizing, while there also was more Southern selling. This soon satisfied the early demand, and the market seemed sensitive to comparatively small selling orders in the forenoon. May Declined to 13.30c and October to 13.94c, net declines of about 8 to 10 points. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

No particular news factor was mentioned in connection with the decline but some of the sellers were talking of a probable falling off in spot demand next month, which appeared to be based largely upon the comparative activity of recent demand to fill January committments. The opinion was expressed in some quarters that spot buyers might now be in a position to hold or buy sparingly until they could get a beter line on coming acreage prospects.

Private cables said there had been fair end-month calling and good continental buying of distant months in the Liverpool market, but that the demand had been supplied by realizing and hedge selling at the advance.

A fair demand for cotton cloth was reported in the Manchester market for the continent and South America, with a moderate business for China.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 186,000 bales against 213,000 last year.

INCREASED FOREIGN DEMAND FACTOR IN WHEAT RISE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Wheat traders were kept busy most of the day watching the Winnipeg market and any changes in that terminal were quickly reflected here. Business was almost entirely professional as commission house orders were lacking. The start was lower on scattered selling caused by unexpected weakness in Liverpool. Closing prices were unchanged to ⅛c higher and for the week 2 to 2¼c higher: May, $1.41@1.41⅛; July, $1.33; Sept., $1.29⅝.

Liverpool closed ⅝d to ¾d lower on selling by longs for profit. India reported rains in the north which were beneficial to the growing crop. The Greek Government is expected to check the import of flour by raising the import duty. Buenos Aires closed ½c lower.

The seaboard advised that export demand was slow but local shippers sold 250,000 to exporters. Cash wheat locally was easy in tone again. Omaha offered hard wheat to Chicago at half cent lower basis. Minneapolis stocks decreased 25,000 bushels for one day.

Prices for the week show fairly good gains, owing to bullish sentiment stimulated by reports of increased foreign demand.

Corn was affected by the action of wheat. There was a little pressure early because of bigger receipts and the weaker cash market, but locals were bullish and absorbed the offerings on the break. The close was ⅛c to ¼c higher and for the week ½c higher to ⅛c lower. May, 81⅝@81¾c; July, 84⅝@84¾; Sept., 86⅝@86¾. Shipping sales were larger at 110,000 bushels and of this amount 15,000 bushels went to exporters.

Oats were affected by the trend of other markets. Locals sold early and then bought it back when wheat and corn rallied. Shipping sales were only 27,000 bushels. The close was unchanged to ⅛c lower and for the week ⅛c to ⅜c lower. May 48⅛c; July 48c; Sept., 46⅛c.

Buying by cash interests gave provisions a firm tone early, but packers sold on the advance and caused a reaction. Lard closed unchanged to 2½c higher; ribs 25c higher, bellies 5 lower.

WHEAT SELLS LOWER ON LOCAL MARKET

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 29.—Price changes were small at the week-end on the local grain board. Wheat finished lower, May corn was up a fraction. Larger Australian offers were reported and India drouth was said to have been broken. Reduction in visible supply on Monday was anticipated. Moderate export demand for North American wheat was reported, some domestic red winter being reported taken for France. Fear of unfavorable weather was factor in corn market.

A Chicago dispatch said: "Reports from Germany said deliveries of wheat from German growers had been reduced to insignificant proportions and that rye flour millers in Germany were using almost exclusively foreign rye. Complaints of lack of snow protection for domestic winter wheat were also a subject of comment. New export sales of corn helped to lift corn as the day drew to an end. New Yorkers were also asking for offers of corn for export, last half of February Gulf shipment from Missouri River points."

In the local cash grain market soft wheat prices were fairly steady. Practically all offerings were taken for outside mills. Off grades were scarce. Hard wheat was ½c lower. The elimination of cash premiums encouraged some mill buying and offerings cleaned up on the basis of Chicago May price for No. 1 hard. No. 2 hard 13 per cent protein quoted basis 12c over Kansas City May price delivered. In the corn market some low grades sold 1c lower, but the market otherwise was steady to ½c higher. The demand was only fair. Elevators were out of market. Mills were better buyers and glucose plants bought moderately. Oats were steady to ½c higher. There was fair local demand. Elevators took low grades and consuming trade the best of offerings. Shipping requirements were limited.

Wheat prices showed a lower trend at the outset, hard May wheat being down fractionally in the early market. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ⅝d lower and this exerted influence on domestic prices. Winnipeg early was unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Hard May wheat opened at $1.41⅛.

Local wheat receipts were 61,600 bu., compared with 44,800 a week ago, and 102,200 last year. Included 29 cars local and 15 through. Corn receipts, which were 1,200 bu., compared with 67,200 a week ago and 58,800 last year, included 16 cars local and 2 through. Oats receipts, which were 54,000 bu., compared with 72,000 a week ago and 84,000 last year, included 23 cars local and 4 through. Hay receipts were 19 cars local and 9 through.

Primary receipts of wheat were 923,000 bushels, compared with 728,000 a week ago and 574,000 last year. Corn receipts were 1,123,000 bushels, compared with 785,000 a week ago and 846,000 last year. Oats receipts were 344,000 bushels, compared with 382,000 a week ago and 324,000 last year. Wheat shipments were 481,000 bushels, compared with 420,000 a week ago and 464,000 last year. Corn shipments were 270,000 bushels, compared with 288,000 a week ago and 390,000 last year. Oats shipments were 272,000 bushels, compared with 232,000 a week ago and 423,000 last year.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Evening Post in its weekly financial review, says:

"Stock prices in the final sessions of January have been falling persistently, even if ever so gently, in a majority of the groups that are recognized as the market leaders. Gradually the industrial averages have drifted down since Jan. [illegible] to a position roughly 4 points under their 1927 peak established on that date. The railroad averages since Jan. [illegible], when their high was set, have lost approximately the same number of points, although their shrinkage in value has come within a week as against two weeks for the industrials. Excitement in certain corners of the list has taken the attention of the casual observer away from the main show, however, and in his search for the turn in the market he has been unaware that a recession already is on.

Seek Trend Signs.

"Those who follow such matters closely now are casting about for some sign of the probable trend in the new month, but the search is difficult since, from a market standpoint, no reasons can be found for either a violent rise or fall in values. In the absence of any new stimulus from business or of any artificial support through the application of cheap money, the market, if left to its own devices, would, as it has demonstrated, seek a somewhat lower level, but those that specialize in stocks always can find special influences that might put prices higher. The plain fact is that the small investor or small speculator is not so anxious for stocks around present levels as the large distributors want him to be, and, for that matter, the wealthy men of finance who invest funds on the side are not so eager to purchase their favorite stocks until and unless they can buy lower.

Record Bond Offerings.

"No more significant sign of the trend could be sighted than the unusual activity in bonds just as the time when interest in the stock market appears to be dying down. About $[illegible] in new securities, mostly investment bonds, have been offered to the public in January to date, or more than had ever been marketed in any individual month in history. These descriptions have been bought on relatively low yield bases by investors. That the demand for bonds still exceeds the supply may be seen by the activity of rising prices for the descriptions in the listed market. Foreign issues naturally have attracted more than ordinary attention for the fact that they constitute one of the few groups that still are available to yield a 5 per cent return or better. Not the least interesting development of the week has been the movement on the part of New South Wales for a sizeable loan from us, leaving London, for the first time, to borrow in New York.

Rediscount Discussion.

"A smart drop in the rate for commercial paper and for bankers acceptances naturally has stirred talk in Wall street of a cut soon in the rediscount rate. The movement of these two lines makes a ribbon within which, generally speaking, the rediscount rate is fixed. Quite as good arguments against a change in the rate at this time can be made, however, as for a change.

French Gold Shipments.

"Whether the three gold shipments that landed here from France this month, aggregating in excess of $[illegible] of the metal, will [illegible] be seen as an initial step on the part of the Poincaire Government in working out a loan not yet announced, remains to be learned. That so much gold has been allowed to leave France and that the position of the franc has been so successfully pegged in the last month are all that Americans need to know to see that this great country across the sea at last is getting back on a sound financial base. For obvious reasons, the Government will proceed slowly, making a step forward as it can, but the signs multiply that neither a sharp rise nor fall in the franc from around the 4c level will be permitted so long as Poincaire cleaves to the present course."

Better Tone Saturday.

"Elimination of speculative excesses in Wheeling & Lake Erie shares appeared to have a sobering effect on the stock market today and a general improvement in standard favorites ensued. The action of Stock Exchange officials in taking cognizance of the price movement in Wheeling common appeared to restore confidence to traders not participating in the pyrotechnics of this stock. Attention turned to General Motors and other favorites in its group, as well as to United States Steel and several investment rails. Covering by speculators for the decline gave the market a rather steady appearance before the close.

Credit Situation Influence.

"Prospects of a continuance of favorable credit conditions appeared to form the basis for renewed buying by interests who feel no severe reaction can be effected while money remains in abundant supply. Moreover, the monthly review of trade conditions issued by the Federal Reserve Bank here contained a cheerful note, which helped to discourage operations for the decline even if it did not inspire buying for the rise.

Exchange Is Steady.

"Fluctuations were narrow and unimportant in quiet trading in foreign exchanges. For the most part a steady tone prevailed.

Reduction in Loans Expected.

"With money freely offered for trading purposes and brokerage houses reducing their loan accounts, a substantial reduction in brokerage loans compiled by members of the Stock Exchange is expected to be shown next week when the January figures are issued. Among money brokers a decline of $100,000,000 from the Dec. 31 figures was predicted. Such a reduction would be considered constructive and may help to revive speculation for the rise.

Clearing House Statement.

"The effect of cheap money in the outside market this week and the reduction of borrowing at the Federal Reserve Bank was emphasized in the weekly statement of Clearing House banks, which revealed a drop in surplus of $[illegible], resulting in a deficit in reserves of $[illegible]. Although this may result in a temporary stiffening in rates next week, it was believed the deficit could quickly be corrected without disturbing the present balance. Loans, discounts, etc., increased $60,742,000."

[illegible]EW BOND ISSUES [illegible]N JANUARY SET MONTH RECORD

[illegible]nusually Interesting Week in the Investment Market —Number of Striking Developments in the Period.

[illegible]ial to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—This has been [illegible] unusually interesting week in the in[illegible]ment market. Among the striking developments have been:

Buying on even a larger scale than [illegible] in the month of the foreign dollar [illegible] with record highs scattered liberally [illegible] the list.

Continuance of the heavy new financing [illegible] has established January, 1927, as [illegible] month in which new bond issues have [illegible] all records, the previous month [illegible] been June, 1926.

The further pronounced ease in money, [illegible] notwithstanding the large amount of fresh [illegible] financing. While there has been no change [illegible] the rediscount rates of the Federal Re[illegible] serve Banks, the reserve ratio is at the [illegible] of the year and more than 4% [illegible] above what it was the same period [illegible] year ago.

[illegible] preparations by corporations to re[illegible] outstanding bonded indebtedness by [illegible] issues carrying a lower interest rate, [illegible] proposed Missouri Pacific $100,000,000 [illegible] financing is the most important pro[illegible] pending under this head.

Announcement that American bankers [illegible] completed negotiations for a $25,000,000 loan to New South Wales, Australia. This is the first time this State [illegible] come to this market for funds, previ[illegible] financing having been done in London. Under present conditions New York [illegible] able to offer better terms than London.

With January breaking all records for [illegible] flotations, the total being over $1,00[illegible], [illegible] approximately $300,000,000 of [illegible] new bonds are being put into shape for [illegible] marketing, to take advantage of the present money market. The issues about to [illegible] placed on sale include several major [illegible] loans and a wide range of foreign [illegible] offerings. Italian utilities, after the [illegible] marked success of such offerings recently, [illegible] about $25,000,000 here. South [illegible] America contemplates borrowing $100,000,000. Several issues, such as Peru and [illegible] are now arranged, while others [illegible] being completed. Japan may float [illegible] another utility bond in this market soon, [illegible] Central Europe is expected to con[illegible]tribute around $50,000,000 to new bond [illegible]

It only remains to add that the market [illegible] the domestic bonds has made little [illegible] progress during the week. There has been [illegible] period of hesitation not unnatural after [illegible] extended an advance and probably con[illegible] nected with the greater popularity of for[illegible] eign issues already referred to.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Recessions in [illegible] grade railway securities carried the [illegible] bond market to a slightly lower [illegible] today, while continued demand for [illegible] securities gave a firm tone to the [illegible] group. There was further evidence [illegible] general slackening up of the enormous [illegible] investment demand, which has [illegible] the market since the first of [illegible]

[illegible] of French issues again brought [illegible] several new high records in that di[illegible]. Est Railway 7s led the advance [illegible] a gain of more than a point to a new [illegible], while new peaks also were reached [illegible] French Government 7s and 7½s, [illegible] National Steamship 7s and Paris-[illegible] Mediterranean 7s. Mexican liens [illegible] responded smartly to news that funds for [illegible] payments had been received by the [illegible] International Committee of Bankers on [illegible]

Demand for domestic railway issues [illegible] in St. Paul certificates, while all [illegible] Baltimore & Ohio liens were heavy. Sec[illegible] rails were firm. Public utilities [illegible] industrials were reasonably steady. [illegible] Liberty bonds were firm with a fair [illegible] of buying of the second and [illegible] 4¼s.

The most important issue expected next [illegible] is the $25,000,000 New South Wales [illegible], the first of that State to be mar[illegible] in this country.

TRACTION BOND SALES LARGER

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Jan. 29.—A large turnover in Ely-Walker common between 35 and 34¼, with fractional net gain, transactions exceeded $100,000 in United Railways 4s and generally lower market for stocks were the outstanding features of the week on the local exchange. Aggregate sales of stocks were slightly over those of previous week.

Transactions in the dry goods stocks exceeded 2800 shares. The next most active stock was Hydraulic Brick common, which was fractionally lower on turnover of 1500 shares. St. Louis Car common was one of the individual higher issues, rising more than a point. A dividend was declared on the stock during the week.

Consolidated Lead was down fractionally at week end as were Fulton Iron, Pedigo-Weber, Scruggs, Wagner Electric and Huttig.

CUMBERLAND PIPE IS OIL GROUP FEATURE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Today's curb market followed along a course similar to that of recent sessions. The greater array of securities opened around the level prevailing at Friday close while a few issues demanded attention by advancing quotations materially.

Bancitaly Corporation rose to a new high at 99½ on an upturn of 1½ points. Warner Brothers Pictures and Realty Associates of Brooklyn were in early demand. The latter moved up four points in the opening proceedings. Auburn Motor also lifted to a new high mark at 89, and gains of about a point appeared in United States Gypsum, and Union and United Tobacco.

Cumberland Pipe Line was the outstanding feature in the oil division. The overnight advance of 12 points in that stock reflected the action in declaring an extra dividend of $33. The upturn was readily extended eight points in the following dealings. Prairie and Indiana were slightly higher.

In the last hour trading broadened considerably which resulted in numerous gains in the different groups. Prominent utility issues improved about a point or more. Oil shares also showed increased activity toward the close. Continental Oil and Prairie reflected accumulation and Cities Service issues held at new high levels.

Another Slump Coming?

After a strong advance, stocks turned irregular six weeks ago. The market since has backed and filled—strong days followed by weak days. Are stocks being accumulated for a broad advance? Or distributed instead, with much lower prices ahead?

Just a year ago the American Securities Service warned its clients DISTRIBUTION was then taking place. Sales were recommended, persistently. Accordingly clients were prepared, and profited, during the severe March slump. What now? Send for our latest market forecast, a thorough analysis with definite recommendations. We have no stocks to sell, but provide the Complete Security Market Service—so valuable to you that you should not fail to send for this sample forecast, mailed free.

NEW BOND ISSUES IN JANUARY SET MONTH RECORD

Unusually Interesting Week in the Investment Market —Number of Striking Developments in the Period.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—This has been an unusually interesting week in the investment market. Among the striking developments have been:

Buying on even a larger scale than earlier in the month of the foreign dollar bonds with record highs scattered liberally throughout the list;

Continuance of the heavy new financing that has established January, 1927, as the month in which new bond issues have broken all records, the previous month record having been June, 1926;

The further pronounced ease in money, notwithstanding the large amount of fresh financing. While there has been no change in the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks, the reserve ratio is at the highest of the year and more than 4½ points above what it was the same period a year ago;

New preparations by corporations to refund outstanding bonded indebtedness by new issues carrying a lower interest rate, the proposed Missouri Pacific $100,000,000 financing is the most important proposition pending under this head;

Announcement that American bankers have completed negotiations for a $25,000,000 loan to New South Wales, Australia. This is the first time this State has come to this market for funds, previous financing having been done in London. Under present conditions New York is able to offer better terms than London.

With January breaking all records for bond flotations, the total being over $590,000,000, approximately $300,000,000 of new bonds are being put into shape for marketing, to take advantage of the present money market. The issues about to be placed on sale include several major utility loans and a wide range of foreign offerings. Italian utilities, after the marked success of such offerings recently, about $25,000,000 here. South America contemplates borrowing $100,000,000. Several issues, such as Peru and Colombia, are now arranged, while others are being completed. Japan may float another utility bond in this market soon, while Central Europe is expected to contribute around $50,0000,00 to new bond issues.

It only remains to add that the market for the domestic bonds has made little progress during the week. There has been a period of hesitation not unnatural after an extended an advance and probably connected with the greater popularity of foreign investments already referred to.

Recessions in High-Grade Rail Securities at Week End.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Recessions in high-grade railway securities carried the domestic bond market to a slightly lower level today, while continued demand for foreign issues gave a firm tone to the foreign group. There was further evidence of a general slackening up of the enormous [illegible] investment demand which has [illegible] the market since the first of the year.

Buying of French issues again brought out several new high records in that division. Est Railway 7s led the advance with a gain of more than a point to a new top, while new peaks also were reached by French Governmental 7s and 7½s, National Steamship 7s and Paris-Mediterranean 7s. Mexican liens responded smartly to news that funds for interest payments had been received by the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico.

Demand for domestic railway issues centered in St. Paul certificates, while all Seaboard & Ohio liens were heavy. Second rails were firm. Public utilities and industrials were reasonably steady. Liberty bonds were firm with a fair amount of buying of the second and fourth 4¼s.

The most important issue expected next week is the $25,000,000 New South Wales loan, the first of that State to be marketed in this country.

PAYROLL ROBBERS GET $368, BUT MISS $300

Two Youths Loot Branch Office of Hawthorne Coal Co.

Two youthful robbers entered the branch office of the Hawthorne Coal Co., 16 South Leonard avenue, yesterday, and threatening Charles Walters, paymaster, and Edward Enlow, foreman, with revolvers, took company pay envelopes containing $368. Walters had $300 more in his pocket, which was not molested.

The two youths entered with drawn revolvers and ordered a Negro employe to go upstairs. They followed him to the floor above, where Walters and Enlow were preparing the pay envelopes. When asked for the money, Walters thought it was a joke, until one of the robbers jabbed a revolver in his side. Walters pointed to the money on the table, but did not tell them of the $300 in his coat pocket.

Armed Men Rob Dyeing Plant Manager of $131 in His Office.

Two men with revolvers held up Albert J. Buchmueller, manager of the Standard Dyeing and Cleaning Co., 3444 Gravois avenue, in his office at 5 p. m. yesterday, and escaped with $131 cash.

Three armed men held up the grocery store of William Selsor at 3527A North Newstead avenue at 6:45 p. m. last night and forced him and his brother, Joseph, of 1751 North Twelfth street to hold their hands up while the robbers escaped with $75 taken from the cash register.

The same three men are believed to have participated in the holdup 10 minutes later of the grocery store and meat market of Alex Halbach at 4200 Labadie avenue. They fled with $140 taken from two cash registers.

A Negro, armed with a revolver, held up the grocery store of Mrs. Rebecca Holtzman at 1900 Carr street about 8:30 p. m., taking $225 from the cash register.

A Kroger store at 901 Victor street was held up at 6:40 p. m. by two armed men who forced the manager, Rollie W. Couch to stand behind the counter while they took $30 from a cash register.

The grocery store of Louis Kaufman at 3308 Thomas street was held up at 3:20 p. m. by a robbed armed with a revolver who fled with $20.

An armed robber held up the grocery store of Alfred A. Richart at 3119 Magazine street about 8 p. m. and took $12 from the cash register.

Browns Have Signed Contracts of Sisler and Killefer

CRUICKSHANK IS LEADER IN TEXAS OPEN

His 144 Gives Him Two-Stroke Advantage Over Closest Competitor — Many Favorites Fail.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 29.—Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., with a total of 144, led the field tonight at the end of the first 36 holes of the 72 hole Texas open golf tournament.

The New York professional will start the final 36 holes over the Willow Springs course tomorrow with an advantage of two strokes over his nearest rival, Jack Burke, of Houston, Texas. Mike Brady of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Bill Mehlhorn of Los Angeles, who tied for second place today, each with scores of 146.

I. W. Hutchison of Oklahoma City, Leonard Schmutte of Lima, O., and Waldo Crowder, of Shreveport, La., stroked their way to a tie at 147 and Frank Walsh of Appleton, Wis., holed his final putt for 148.

Edwin Juelg of Mercedes, Texas, who proved a threat earlier in the day, fell down on the final round and took a 79 to tie with Archie Loeffler of San Antonio, at 151.

Frank Brokl of St. Paul, was the ranking amateur with 153.

Cruickshank blasted steadily away at the mud, finishing the morning round with a par 71, one stroke ahead of his nearest competitor and doubling his advantage on the afternoon round. His score stuck close to par figures on every hole in the morning, but he weakened slightly in the afternoon. His card:

Morning.
Out — 444 634 533—36
In — 544 354 334—35—71
Afternoon.
Out — 552 534 543—36
In — 446 434 444—37—73—144

Many of the early favorites were in the ruck at the end of the day, Harry Cooper of Los Angeles finishing with 160 and Walter Hagen taking 156. Art Longworth of St. Louis had 161. The poor scores discouraged many of the entrants and they dropped out or refused to turn in cards at the end of their rounds, reducing the field to 75 for tomorrow's finals.

Hoppe Defeats Hagenlacher

World's Balkline Champion Wins Exhibition Match, 3257 to 2564.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—Willie Hoppe, world's champion 18.2 balkline billiards, tonight took the final block of a 12-block exhibition match from Erich Hagenlacher, 300 to 253, giving him a grand total of 3257 against Hagenlacher's 2564.

The champion reached his highest form in the afternoon play today when he ran the block of 300 in three innings for an average of 100. He took eight innings to complete tonight's block for an average of 37.

Last night saw him turn in the highest run of the six-day match when he clicked off 270. Hagenlacher was able to take but three of the blocks.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY DROPS DEAD WHILE PLAYING BASKET BALL

By the Associated Press.

Shulte Reported Ready to Sign With Browns

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 29.

FRED SHULTE, new St. Louis Browns outfielder, purchased from the local American Association club, after a conference with Otto Borchert, president of the Brewers, announced that he was satisfied and would sign the contract offered by the Browns. The Browns' new outfielder received a "nice check," according to Borchert. Shulte said he had received a most satisfactory offer from the Browns.

Shulte has been playing professional basketball during the winter, chiefly with Belvidere, Ill., his home town.

"You can inform St. Louis newspapers that I'll be among the first to report at the spring training camp," Shulte said.

Kansas Five Sweeps Through Missouri, 40-23

Jayhawkers Work Short Pass to Perfection—Tigers Off Form.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 29.—A Kansas cyclone offense swept the Missouri Tigers down to defeat, 40 to 23 here tonight, the Jayhawkers invading the Bengal lair to hold the Missourians scoreless for 12 minutes and then keeping a lead that seldom made their margin less than two to one. At the half the advantage was with Kansas, 23 to 6.

The Jayhawkers worked the short pass to perfection, and played the ball off the backboard nicely as well as showing capable shooting eyes. Their defense was even better, for they repeatedly squelched Missouri attempts at offense before mid-court was reached.

An occasional pass brought the Tigers into offensive position but those spurts, especially during the first half of the game, were so rare that they can be remembered only as brilliant spots in an otherwise drab performance. As the Tigers could not get into position for field goals, neither could they count from the free throw line, and though the Jayhawkers accommodated with a total of 15 fouls, several of which gave the Missourians two shots, the Tigers counted but seven out of 22 tosses. Kansas made good eight out of 12.

The box score:

HAFEY WIRES HE EXPECTS TO BE FIT TO PLAY

"Feeling Fine, Though Eye Is Not Yet Normal," Cardinal Says — Rhem Offered $1000 Increase.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Signed contracts of George Sisler, former manager, and Bill Killefer, new assistant manager of the Browns, have been received at the St. Louis American League office, Business Manager Bill Friel announced last night. Sisler and Killefer came to terms several days ago, but did not sign at that time.

"Killefer sent us a very pleasing letter," Friel said. "He asserted that he was pleased to be lined up again with his old friend, Dan Howley and advised Dan to go to training camp early to get into good condition, so he could keep pace with his assistant."

Howley was planning to depart for Florida during the past week, but he stayed over in the hope that a deal or two might be completed. He also is interested in the decision of Ty Cobb as to where the Georgia Peach will play next year. As told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch Friday, Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, offered Cobb a job with the Browns. Howley worked at Detroit as a coach under Cobb and the two men are good friends. Howley was offered the position of manager at Detroit before a similar offer was made to him by the Browns' owner, but he would not accept the Detroit job because of his friendship for Cobb, who was forced to resign there.

Hafey Expects to Play.

Chick Hafey, one of the four Cardinals with holdover contracts, and one of the outfielders who were handicapped by illness or injury last year, sent a telegraphic answer to a query from the Post-Dispatch and stated that he was feeling fine and expected to play ball again the coming season. Hafey underwent an operation for sinus trouble shortly after the world series. His vision had been impaired and that was the cause of his misjudging several flies during the title struggle with the Yankees. In his telegram to the Post-Dispatch he said that his eye was not yet normal.

Word from Flint Rhem, one of the holdout pitchers, was not so encouraging. He stated that the contract the Cardinals had offered was "not satisfactory at all" and that he had been offered only $1000 more than he had received last season. He is said to have received $5000 under his 1926 contract.

Rhem, during the 1926 season, was one of six major league pitchers who won 20 games. Besides the Cardinal right-hander, the hurlers to accomplish the feat were Ray Kremer and Lee Meadows of the Pirates; Pete Donohue of the Reds; George Uhle of the Indians and Herb Pennock of the pennant-winning Yankees.

Ranked Third in League.

The four National Leaguers each won 20 contests, while Uhle paced all the big leaguers with 27, while the Yankees' star left-hander finished with 23.

In playing his part in gaining the first pennant for St. Louis in 38 years, Rhem won 20 games and lost only seven, to rank third in games won and lost in the Heydler circuit. The only twirlers with better winning percentages were Kremer, the Pittsburg right-hander, and Jess Haines, another Cardinal flinger, who won 13 and lost four, and who, incidentally, also is dissatisfied with the contract offered for 1927 by the Cardinals.

Rhem ranked eleventh in efficiency. He pitched in 258 innings, and in that time the opposition put over a total of 96 earned runs, or 3.24 in each nine-inning contest. Grover Alexander, "Old Pete," the third of the Cardinal pitchers who is dissatisfied with 1927 terms, was the only man on the Cardinal staff to set the enemy down with fewer earned runs than the former Clemsen College star.

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, who will replace Rogers Hornsby at second base, is ready to sign the contract that was offered to him. Frisch is said to have received $16,500 as a Giant in 1926, and inasmuch as he did not have an impressive record last season, it is thought that he probably received an offer of approximately the same salary.

Concordia Five Defeats Rolla Miners, 49 to 16

Seminary Basketball Team Runs Away From Opponents, Leading All the Way.

The Concordia Seminary basketball team trounced the Missouri School of Mines quintet, 49 to 16, at the Armory last night. It was the fourth straight victory for Coach Eber Simpson's machine, which rolled up 166 points in scoring the quartet of triumphs.

Concordia took an early lead, and held an advantage of 25 to 9 after the first half. The quintet showed better pass work than in previous encounters and continued to display accuracy at caging the ball.

Simpson's team will face a severe test next Saturday when it opposes the Indiana State Normal quintet at the Armory.

Soccer Contests Again Postponed

"Pro" and Municipal Players Will Be Idle for Third Straight Week.

After an inspection of the various playing fields, officials of the St. Louis Soccer League and Municipal League, decided to hang out the "no game" sign for this afternoon. It marks the third successive week that the local athletes, both professional and municipal, have been forced to remain idle because of the poor condition of the playing field.

The continued postponements will be a hardship on the four teams in the St. Louis League in preparation for the coming national cup tie contests, the first of which are scheduled to be played on or before Feb. 27.

MAPLEWOOD DEFEATS ST. CHARLES, 26-23

Maplewood High School's basketball team defeated St. Charles in an overtime game at St. Charles last night, 26 to 23. St. Charles was leading, 8 to 4, after the first quarter, 16 to 6 at the half and 19 to 7 after three periods, but Maplewood spurted in the fourth quarter and tied the score at 21, making an extra three-minute period necessary.

Briscoe was high man for Maplewood with 11 points, while Boekemeier led all shooters with 12. Maplewood scored 11 points on free throws, while all St. Charles points except one were tallied on field baskets.

$100,000 Profit For Suzanne on Tour Reported

After Three More Exhibitions She Will Return Home—World Tour Planned.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Suzanne Lenglen will return to New York tomorrow from Havana for three concluding eastern exhibitions of an American tennis tour which already has enriched her by close to $100,000.

The French Queen of the courts will sail for home immediately after a farewell appearance in Providence, R. I., on Feb. 7, William Pickens, business manager of the tour for C. C. Pyle, disclosed today. Before her departure, however, she will confer with Pyle here on details for a world tour this year which already has been tentatively arranged, Pickens said.

During the four months that Suzanne has been under contract to Pyle as a professional, she has played with Mary K. Browne, Vincent Richards, Harvey Snodgrass, Paul Feret and Howard Kinsey in 37 cities. The total will be extended to an even forty next month with visits to Hartford, Conn., Newark, N. J. and Providence.

"The venture has been a financial success far beyond our expectations," Pickens said, asserting that total receipts would run to half a million dollars, including royalties from tennis paraphernalia, dolls and women's wearing apparel endorsed by Lenglen and Richards. He estimated Pyle's profit, exclusive of royalties, at between $50,000 and $75,000.

Pickens said the world tour had been encouraged by calls from foreign countries to see Suzanne. He mentioned France, England, Germany, Japan and Australia as the most insistent for a visit from the French Queen, who will be accompanied probably by Richards and Miss Browne, if Pyle succeeds in successfully negotiating with the players.

Pickens said that Mlle. Lenglen had played to capacity or near-capacity throngs in many cities. She lost only one set to Miss Browne during the long series of singles encounters between them.

Mlle. Lenglen's contract brought her a flat guarantee of $60,000 and 50 per cent of the net gate receipts at all exhibitions, Pickens revealed. Richards received a $35,000 guarantee, while Miss Browne drew down $30,000 and 5 per cent of the net gate receipts.

Broadway Jones and Beneficent, Idle Hour Farm entry.

Peter Peter and Navigator, Greentree Stable entry.

Broadway Jones, under good handling, displayed a splendid effort, was outrun in early stages, but worked his way up gradually and, avoiding interference, downed Peter Peter with ease in last furlong. Peter Peter moved up fast in last quarter and held on well. Navigator showed good speed, but began tiring. George De Mar showed improved form and closed a big gap. Banton tired. Silver Song quit. Beneficent was taken far out of it soon after start and trailed badly.

Two-dollar mutuels paid: Broadway Jones, win $4.40, place $2.60, show $2.80; Peter Peter, place $3.40, show $5; Navigator, show $5.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 29.—Before the largest attendance that ever witnessed racing at the Fairgrounds, E. R. Bradley's crack Broadway Jones performed his supreme effort this afternoon carrying 130 pounds and gaining an easy victory in the Momus Handicap. Not only did he beat his opposition handily but he also raced the fastest mile and a furlong that has been registered during the present meeting.

He was the popular favorite, and his return to the judges' stand brought a hectic demonstration for him and his rider, Albert Johnson.

To the latter belongs a goodly share of the credit for his success. He gave masterly guidance, picked a clear path for him, though it entailed at times a zig-zag course, but once clear of possible interference or chance of having the horse thrown off stride, beginning in the stretch, he urged Broadway Jones with all the strength he possessed and the great racer moved on his leaders and gradually overhauling them, had only the 3-year-old Peter Peter to down to achieve victory.

Wins With Ease.

Continuing with great strides amidst a deafening din, Broadway Jones came away readily near the end and in the last 70 yards was snugly held and he won easing.

Peter Peter showed a good effort and outstayed his stable mate, Navigator. The latter contributed to the fast pace, maintaining a fast early pace and disposing in turn of Banton and Silver Song, which essayed to keep up with him during the early periods.

Beneficent, stablemate to Broadway Jones, showed a dull race. She was taken back soon after the start and continued a trailer without improving her position to any degree at any stage. She finished last.

George de Mar finished in fourth place, after having closed a good gap in the stretch.

Noah Wins Second Feature.

The crack sprinters in winter racing engaged in the Jung Hotel Handicap, which preceded the Momus Handicap won by Broadway Jones, and in it Noah scored a notable triumph, though weighted with 124 pounds and conceding his rivals weight. Old Slip figured as chief contender for the China representative, but the Bedwell pair, Cudgeller and Bulletin, were sad disappointments.

The long-shot players had their inning by the victory of Venus, which scored in sensational style in the opener, and Jenny Dear in the sixth race. The latter met a band of 3-year-olds at a mile and she raced away from the others when they reached the stretch to score over Lamorte, a suddenly improved horse, with Tip Top in third place.

HUGGINS RETURNS TO NEW YORK TO TRY TO SIGN TY AND TRIS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Tris Speaker will be in New York tomorrow to discuss signing a contract for the 1927 season with Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, the Herald-Tribune says. Huggins arrived in New York today after a hurried trip from St. Petersburg, Fla., to join in the spirited bidding among the American League clubs for the services of both Speaker and Ty Cobb, the paper says.

Huggins is said to be anxious especially to get the signature of Speaker, although definitely in the field for both players. The chance to use Speaker in a utility role in the Yankee outfield along with Ruth, Meusel and Combs, as well as a bench assistant to Huggins, is pointed out.

Bell's Lightning Like Play on Ruth Infielding Feature of Title Struggle

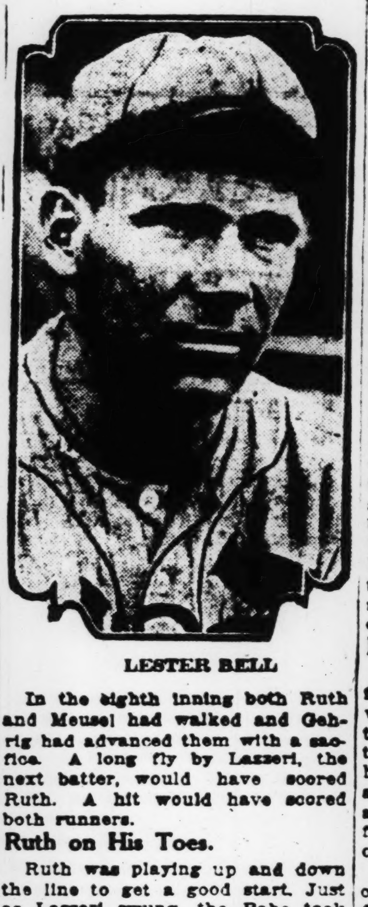
Ten Great Plays OF THE 1926 World Series: By John McGraw

Lester's Great Stop Was Brilliant, But He Quickly Fell Toward Third Base and Nipped Ruth Sliding In.

THE Post-Dispatch presents herewith the eighth of a series of 10 articles by John J. McGraw, in which the manager of the New York Giants describes what he considers the "Ten Great Plays of the World Series." McGraw is recognized as one of the great strategists of baseball and in this series he tells of the plays which figured most prominently in the Cardinals' victory over the Yankees in the play for the 1926 baseball championship of the world.

THE most spectacular infield play of the last world series was made by Lester Bell in the eighth inning of the fourth game, played in St. Louis. This play stands out in brilliancy because it had the elements of lightning like execution and thinking at the same time. I don't ever remember having seen a better example of perfect co-ordination between brain and muscle.

All during the series the older baseball people had been watching the gradual progress of Bell toward top form. Being new to a world series he was naturally a little eager and over-anxious at the start. But his nerves gradually settled and that play on Ruth in the fourth game established him as a real star.



LESTER BELL

In the eighth inning both Ruth and Meusel had walked and Gehrig had advanced them with a sacrifice. A long fly by Lazzeri, the next batter, would have scored Ruth. A hit would have scored both runners.

Ruth on His Toes.

Ruth was playing up and down the line to get a good start. Just as Lazzeri swung, the Babe took an extra jump—and jumped too far. As he did so Lazzeri met the ball squarely. It went over third base like a bullet. Bell made a leap for the ball and was turned half around. In a desperate effort, he made a back-handed stab at it and the ball hit the glove with a loud smack and stopped held tight.

The stop itself was remarkable but the climax of the brilliant play lay in the way his mind worked. Bell instinctively knew that Ruth had taken a big lead and would be sliding back to the bag. With his back to the bag Bell deliberately let himself fall. He came down on top of Ruth and touched him with the ball as they rolled over and over to one side of the bag.

Had to Work Fast.

To show how rapidly Bell's brain functioned—he realized that it would be almost impossible to throw Lazzeri out at first. He had to get Ruth or nothing. He didn't hesitate. This may sound simple as I explain it but, remember that all this mental and muscular effort had to take place in the flash of a second.

I'll never forget a veteran American League player who, recovering from his gasp of astonishment, turned to me and said:

"Man, there is a ballplayer!"

THE HUNTING - - - CALL - - - By ALEC MERMOD

Duties of Wardens.

AT THE meeting of The Isaak Walton League, held at Soldan High School, Dec. 19, Mr. Seth Gordon gave his listeners a very good talk on the benefits of the league as well as a short address concerning game conservation in Pennsylvania, though on the latter subject, Mr. Gordon did not go deep enough to gratify his hearers' desire to learn just how it was shown.

At an informal gathering a few days later, our speaker held the floor for some time, discussing the policies and duties of the deputy game wardens.

Mr. X. contended that the deputies spend more time apprehending some petty offenders than they do in protecting the game from natural enemies, during the off season.

Mr. X. cited an instance which occurred a couple of years ago. When he and two others opened the season on quail, they noticed a couple of hunters coming into a field which X. and his party were leaving. An hour later these two same hunters were again seen at some distance. Three hours later X. and his party were blocked in a narrow road by an automobile apparently out of commission, the machine belonged to these same two hunters. To make a long story short these men were deputy game wardens and had followed X. and his party for over four hours just to demand a sight of their hunting licenses. One of the deputies admitted that he knew Mr. X. and that he had recognized him early in the day and also stated that he believed X. was a law-abiding sportsman.

In the opinion of Mr. X. these deputies showed more zeal than judgment.

Feed the Quail!

During the recent spell of bad weather the quail, no doubt, have suffered heavily; but if every deputy who owns a machine (and nearly all have a car of some kind) had started out over his territory, each man could have called on at least 10 farmers and arranged to have food scattered out for the birds. This would do a thousand times more good than the arrest and conviction of 50 men hunting without licenses.

We all know that lack of food and cover, snakes, house cats, half breed dogs, hawks and crows do more damage in a week than all the hunters do through the entire season. Yet more time and money are spent "hunting the hunter" than in hunting the predatory birds and animals.

Where Deputies Erred.

ANOTHER case was cited where a deputy watched a farmer for a week, knowing that he had set a trap for a 'possum that had been robbing his hen house. Finally the 'possum was caught and the innocent farmer was arrested and fined because he had captured a fur-bearing animal before the season opened. We are glad to say that this deputy is no longer connected with the department.

Another deputy boasted that he had more arrests and convictions to his credit than any other officer in the State.

His long suit was to go out to Creve Coeur Lake on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, armed with fish pole and minnow bucket, pretending he was a real fisherman. In this way he found many a young chap fishing without a license, who was immediately taken into custody.

In most cases these fishermen were innocent of any intent to evade the law, for they were under the impression that they did not need a license to fish in St. Louis County, not realizing that St. Louis City (where they lived) was not in St. Louis County. This deputy is no longer with the department.

The unanimous opinion expressed at the gathering referred to was that the present administration of the department was more efficient than any we have had for years. The work and zeal of Commissioner McCanse and deputy John Heller was specially commended.

We do not wish any member of the Game Department to feel that the writer is criticising the work of the department as a whole, or any individual, for such is not the case.

About Trap Shooting.

JUST when trap shooting came into fashion is often discussed. As far as we can learn, the sport originated in England, and there are records of pigeon matches in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

Shortly after the Revolution our Southern planters adopted this form of amusement to a limited extent; but the flint-lock guns of those days were not very satisfactory, as the ignition was too slow for accurate wing shooting, and it was not until the percussion cap succeeded the flintlock that any great interest was taken, or that good scores were made.

In the early days and up to about 1872 wild pigeons were used as targets. These birds were trapped by the thousand as they passed through the country. They made excellent targets. As a rule, the wild bird was faster than our barnyard pigeon, but was easier to kill.

"Tin Pigeon" Once Popular.

WHEN the wild pigeons became scarce, a substitute was desired, and teh glass ball was invented; but the flight was not at all like that of a live bird, so the demand brought out all sorts of targets, most of them saucer shape, similar to the present clay target. The Chicago tin pigeon was quite popular for a while, as it could be retrieved and used over again many times. This target consisted of a saucer-shaped missile with a hinged bottom, which dropped down when hit; sometimes they were filled with feathers, which made the shooting a bit more realistic.

Another target was the Ligouski clay pigeon. This was made of baked clay and was as hard as a brick and, of course difficult to break.

To give this target the necessary rotary motion a pasteboard tongue was glued to the lower edge, which was held by a clamp in the carrier of the trap, but owing to the fact that these tongues were easily broken off and that the target was so hard to break, this target was superseded by one made of a mixture of clay, tar and plaster of Paris.

A good story is told on Frank Parmalee of Omaha, one of our most prominent trap shooters 25 years ago.

Trap Shooting Loses Popularity

TRAP SHOOTING in and around St. Louis became popular along about 1875, and in 1879 members of the several gun clubs in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph organized what was afterwards known as "The Missouri State Game and Fish Protective Association."

Many of our prominent men were charter members, among them being John W. (Bet a Million) Gates, H. Clay Pierce, Dabney Carr, Judge Chester H. Krum, Dr. Parrish and others.

Most of these men have passed on, but are not forgotten by the survivors.

As far as we know, Mr. Pierce is the only one living of all the men who started this organization some 50 years ago.

In the fall of 1900, when the writer returned from Colorado, we had some 40 shooters who turned out on regular shooting days. Today not one of these men shoot at the traps, with the exception of Charles McL. Clark, who gets out once in a while when he is not in Europe.

Golf and the automobile have taken a great many from the traps, so the game is not as popular as it was 25 years ago.

Germany Plans To "Scout" U. S. Olympic Strength

BERLIN, Germany, Jan. 29.

AN effort to size up the athletic strength of the United States for next year's Olympic games is planned by the German Olympic Committee, which has requested the Federal Government for an additional appropriation of $50,000 to make the trip.

The commission will consist of four members, headed by Dr. Otto Lewald, chairman of the Olympic Committee whose program of popularizing athletics is supported by the Reich to the extent of nearly 1,000,000 marks a year. Other members of the commission will be a physician, a trainer and the secretary, Dr. Dien.

It will be the first official visit of German athletic authorities to the United States since the war. They will probably sail in May.

Connie Mack Hopes to Sign Ty and Tris

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.

CONNIE MACK, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, said today that his club is not only in the market for the services of Tris Speaker, former Cleveland manager and star outfielder, but expected to enter the bidding to sign Tyrus Raymond Cobb, late of Detroit, to a 1927 contract.

Talking baseball at his office at Shibe Park, Mack declared that, while his club was well equipped with outfielders, he is hopeful of getting both Cobb and Speaker.

Mack and Speaker conferred here yesterday, but both said the matter of signing a contract was not discussed.

M'Tigue Wants To Meet Sharkey In Next Bout

Rickard Rates 169-Pound Irishman Strong Title Contender.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — Mike McTigue today moved to capitalize his sensational four-round triumph over Paul Berlenbach by offering to fight Jack Sharkey of Boston in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament.

Rickard's efforts to clinch the match for Feb. 25, the date of which the Boston heavyweight had contracted to meet Berlenbach, struck a snag, however, when Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, demurred. Rickard said he considered McTigue had established himself as a strong heavyweight contender, in spite of the fact that he scaled only 169 pounds last night.

Boxing men today ranked the comeback of McTigue with those of the late Stanley Ketchel and Johnny Dundee as one of the most sensational of boxing history. They pointed out that during the two-year period of his light-heavyweight reign, McTigue did not win a single outstanding battle, losing newspaper decisions to Young Stribling and Mickey Walker, who at that time held the welterweight title.

Friends claimed that an operation on Mike's right hand did much to restore the punching power he had displayed in his early ring days. Improved hitting by the former champion was evident in a victory over Tiger Flowers, after which he decisively outpointed Johnny Risko, the Cleveland heavyweight.

Three straight knockouts over Billy Vidabeck, soldier king and Berlenbach since then have made McTigue one of the major ring attractions of the current indoor season.

40 Entries for A. A. U. Boxing Meet Assured

Dave Jackson of Little Rock to Defend Lightweight Title Here Feb. 11.

Approximately 40 entries are already assured for the annual Western A. A. U. boxing eliminations to be held at the New Coliseum on Friday night, Feb. 11, according to Robert W. Probst, chairman of registration for the local amateur district, who predicted last night that the enrollment of titular candidates this year will shatter all previous records.

Seventeen entries were turned over to Probst yesterday by George Wilsman, who serves as coach of both the Sherman Park and People's Motorbus boxing teams. Probst stated that 13 entries were received earlier in the week and that he also has received tentative assurance of 10 more.

The Boys' Club of Little Rock, Ark., plans to file entries for Dave Jackson, last year's lightweight champion, and two other aspirants for 1927 championship laurels, according to a letter Probst revealed recently from J. W. Mitchell, boxing instructor for the Arkansas club. Jackson defeated Sam Lifton of this city, in the titular final of last year's lightweight eliminations.

District Tennis Body's Plans Presage a Big 1927 Season

First Event Indoors March 5 at Washington U. Field House—Association Proposes to Organize Men's Doubles Leagues.

By Davison Obear.

According to present indications, the 1927 tennis season here will be the greatest in the history of the game in St. Louis. While tournament play will feature the season, certain plans of the St. Louis District Tennis Association should produce more interest than heretofore.

In addition to the usual activities there will be some new enterprises promoted by the local organization. Among these will be an indoor tournament, a doubles league for men players and a new plan for ranking players. An individual sustaining membership, similar to the one in force in 1919, will be established this year. The district organization will bring to St. Louis the official motion picture film of the United States Lawn Tennis Association showing some of the world's greatest tennis players in action.

Indoor Meet March 5.

The district indoor championship to be held at the Washington University Field House, should attract widespread interest. This tournament will open on March 5 and continue one week. There will be events for men and juniors in singles and doubles. If this tournament becomes an annual feature, St. Louis will take a place with the larger Eastern cities in providing high ranking players.

Joseph L. Werner, president of the St. Louis District Tennis Association, is keenly interested in indoor play. While a student at Princeton University Werner competed in the national indoor event, making a very commendable showing. He also won a number of matches as captain and player on the Princeton tennis team. Werner donated a trophy three years ago for interclub play in this city during the early season.

Dr. Frank Dieknelte, first vice president of the District body, is a strong advocate of interclub play. He thinks that team matches do much to develop the game, especially the friendly contact between players and officials of the various clubs entered in the competition.

Men's Doubles Leagues.

Another new project meeting with much favor among local officials, is the plan to form several leagues for men's doubles play. Martin Telle, newly elected secretary of the District body, is very enthusiastic about the idea. He believes that before the season is over there will be formed some excellent doubles teams, several of which should be eligible to represent St. Louis in intercity or other major events.

The individual sustaining membership program, if properly supported, will put the St. Louis District Tennis Association on a sound finanical basis. This will naturally result in more tennis activity. Briefly, the plan contemplates the raising of $500 or more from the sale of memberships at $1 each. A card will be issued for each membership entitling the holder to enter the annual district championship and to certain other privileges.

City May Get Parks Meet.

Reports indicate that St. Louis has a splendid chance of obtaining the National Public Parks championship this year. The event will be awarded by the United States Lawn Tennis Association at its meeting in Philadelphia next Saturday. Theodore Drewes, O'Fallon Park star, is present holder of the singles title.

The Central States tournament may be revived this year. A request will soon be sent to the Triple A Club asking that organization to assist in holding the event, which is the oldest tournament in St. Louis. This championship usually attracts a good entry from nearby states, and played around July 4, produces some hard-fought matches in both men's singles and doubles.

There will also be plenty of tournaments for municipal players during the season. The first of these will be the interpark team matches for the William Geller and Victor J. Miller trophies. The juniors and boys will also be kept busy. Last year Wheaton C. Ferris donated a cup for the junior singles championship which served as a great stimulant to the younger players.

Two Others Also Named to Fill Vacancies Created in Recent Split.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Three vacancies on the executive board of the National Olympic Committee were filled today with appointments of Major General Douglas MacArthur, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt of New York and A. C. Gilbert of New Haven, Conn.

They succeed Brig. Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, Col. Henry Breckinridge and Major John Griffith who resigned recently at Washington, D. C. after an open break with A. A. U. leaders over regulations governing America's participation in the 1928 Olympics.

Both Gen. MacArthur and Col. Roosevelt long have been actively interested in athletics. Gilbert held the Olympic pole vault record while attending Yale University.

BRITAIN ENTERS DAVIS CUP TOURNEY FOR 22ND TIME

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Great Britain, the only nation which has competed in every tournament for the Davis Cup since it was put into competition in 1900, has filed her twenty-second challenge, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced today.

America dropped out of one tournament, that of 1919, because of post-war conditions in other countries, but the British resumed where they left off at the beginning of the World War and reached the challenge round against Australia.

In the 21 competitions for the international tennis trophy, the British have been five times triumphant as compared with six victories for Australia and 10 for the United States.

A challenge from Cuba, the first in the American zone, was received by the U. S. L. T. A. simultaneously with the one from England. It brings the list of challengers up to eight so far, with the closing of entries fixed for March 15.

Murchison and Scholz to Run Wednesday Night

Millrose A. C. Games Draw Over 300 Leading Athletes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—More than 300 athletes, representing the cream of America's track and field talent, have enlisted for the classic Millrose A. A. meet in Madison Square Garden next Wednesday night, the games committee today disclosed.

Of the 33 events on the program, 18 will be relay races, with runners carrying the colors of 22 colleges. Interest will be focused, however, in such tests as the Millrose "600" for the Percy B. Haughton trophy, the Rodman Wanamaker mile, and special two-mile, half-mile, 1000-yard, high jump, pole vault and sprint features.

Bob McAllister, whose impressive comeback has re-established him on the sprinting peak he occupied two years ago, will confront the strongest opposition he has faced this year in two dashes, matching strides with Al Miller of Harvard, Frank Hussey of Boston College, Loren Murchison of the Illinois A. C., Hank Russell of the Penn A. C. and Jackson Scholz of New York.

The race for the Haughton trophy will be Alan Helffrich, Ray Robertson, George Leness and Pincus Sober from the East, and Howard Fitch and Alva Martin from Chicago. Jimmy Connolly, winner of the Wanamaker mile last year, will defend his title against such distance stars as Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A., and Willie Goodwin of New York, among others.

Philip Osif, Haskell Indian, will seek to stop Leo Lormond's string of triumphs over the two-mile route, while six outstanding rivals will leap against Harold M. Osborn of Chicago in the high jump.

OSAGE CLUB TO RUSH WORK ON NINE-HOLE COURSE

Arrangements are being made by the Osage Country Club, Big Bend boulevard and the Meramec River, for the opening of nine holes of its 18-hole golf course as early in the spring as weather conditions will permit, according to announcement of the board of governors. Plans for the proper supervision over the play, caddy service and the greens are now being considered. Homer Herpel, recently engaged as golf professional, will give instruction to members.

The greens and fairways are reported to be in good condition, with indications of a course that members will be proud to play over. The recent snows have greatly aided grass conditions.

Washington Now In Tip-Top Form For Basket Trip

White's Men Have High Hopes of Beating Both Ames and Drake This Week.

A Washington U. basket squad, which now is in the best playing condition of the season, will depart next Thursday night for a trip in which Grinnell and Drake University teams will be met successively at Ames and Des Moines, Ia.

Practice swung back to its normal stride today at the Pikeway field house when the squad members reported themselves all through the final mid-year examinations. While only light practice has been ordered since the Washington victory over Grinnell last Friday night, the daily practice squad has been cut into deeply by the exam quizzes.

The new quintet which White sent into action against Grinnell with fortunate results has been running together in promising combination attack all week and should be in even more advantageous form against the Pioneers than last week's meeting, which the Bears took, 34 to 20. Hutton and Lohrding at forward, Stanford at center, and Kurz and Eckert at guard will probably start both games.

Bears May Turn Tables.

Whether the tables can be turned on the Drake quintet which nosed a rallying Washington team out of a victory by a 23 to 19 score here is uncertain, but White is expecting a great deal from his new machine. The Friday night struggle with Grinnell will not leave any good effects on the physical condition of the men for Saturday's contest with Drake but their layoff should have put them in a sufficiently prepared condition.

After the Iowa games, the Bears will engage in two local contests, both considered considerably more difficult than the road games. The Oklahoma Sooners, Valley-leading veterans, will call on Friday, Feb. 11, and the Oklahoma Aggies on Saturday, Feb. 12. Both games will be played in the Washington U. fieldhouse.

While the Sooners have been consistently recognized over a period of several seasons as extremely dangerous opponents, the effectiveness of the Aggies was discounted until recently when the Maulbetsch men took the Iowa State team in hand, 42 to 19. The victory, coming shortly after Iowa State had defeated Kansas, was the more impressive because of the fact that it reversed similar scores made by the Iowans on the Stillwater athletes.

Test for Oklahoma Aggies.

The strength of Maulbetsch's men will be more accurately gauged after next week-end when on successive nights two fast-traveling outfits, the Kansas Aggies and the Nebraska Cornhuskers visit Stillwater to meet the Farmers. Both games will be watched closely by Valley coaches and if the Aggies are fortunate in both contests they will take their place as one of the three most threatening teams in the Conference.

Professional Boxing Is No Harder Than Amateur, Goldberg Finds

Since Leaving Ranks of "Simon Pures" Local Boxer Has Lost but One Bout in 20 Starts—Won 14 Battles in Eastern Rings.

Made Good in Eastern Rings

EDDIE GOLDBERG.

By Jack Alexander.

Eddie Goldberg was always considered a high-class amateur boxer around St. Louis. He was willing, fast and clever and won a good many bouts, losing his share, too. But since turning professional he has lost only one in 20 bouts. On a recent Eastern tour Eddie fought 15 times and won on every occasion, except one when he drew. Five of these victories, or 33 per cent, were won on knockouts.

The amateur flash on entering the paid game usually finds the going much tougher than in the amateur ring. Especially if he has grown up in a district where heavy emphasis is put on clean "breaks" and the college type of sportsmanship, the craftiness and toughness of professionals catch him unprepared, and he is forced to alter his style and notions radically.

It affected Goldberg differently. "I find professional boxing no more difficult than amateur fighting," he said yesterday. "It's true professionals are harder and tougher, but you get that way yourself in a short time. Then the instruction you get helps a lot. When you're an amateur, fighting just for glory, you wade in and go at top speed for three rounds and your tongue is hanging out before the third round is up.

Must Conserve Strength.

"As a pro, boxing over six rounds, say, you learn the value of conserving your strength and know just when to go your hardest, and when to lay back. You get the benefit of pointers from your manager and stablemates, and you put them into practice in the ring. It makes a big difference."

Goldberg is under the management of John Buckley and is thrown together with fighters like Johnny Wilson and Sid Terris. Eddie weighs 130 pounds, which puts him in the junior lightweight class. He is 20 years old.

When he was 15 years old and weighed about 115 pounds he applied for entrance at a school conducted by Harry Cook.

"He was in short pants and looked so young that I was afraid to start him," says Cook, "but his brothers, who were members of the club, said to let him start and I did."

Eddie fought under several banners before he turned pro, under Gene Straus. Then he went East.

Eddie's Eastern Record.

Here is his record around New York:

Broadway Club, Steve Angelo, W. 6 rds.

Manhattan Club, Pete Nebo, W. 6 rds.

Garden, Canada Lee, W. 6 rds.

The only bout lost by Goldberg was to Paul Steadman, his second bout after turning professional. The fight took place at the Coliseum. Eddie appeared against Lou Terry recently after returning from New York, and defeated him in six rounds at the Avenue Theater, East St. Louis. He will fight here once more and then go back to New York for further campaigning for the crown now held by Tod Morgan. He trains while here at the National gym.

Goldberg's record as a pro, made in St. Louis before going East, is as follows:

Place—Opponent.

Coliseum, Lou Terry, W. 6 rds.

Odeon, Paul Steadman, ND. 6 rds.

Coliseum, Kid Carpenter, KO. 3 rds.

Armory, Buddie Schiereth, W. 6 rds.

TOM BAGNALL, SOCCER OFFICIAL, IS DEAD

McCarthy Says Cubs, Fourth Last Year, Are 100 Per Cent Stronger for Coming Season

Purchase of English From Toledo Has Rounded Out Chicago Infield: He Cost Two Players and $50,000; Outfielder Also Bought.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—One of the oustanding purchases of the winter by a major league baseball team was the acquisition of Elwood English, of the Toledo American Association Club by the Chicago Cubs to round out their infield for the 1927 pennant chase.

English, only 20 years old, completes a roster of youngsters for the Chicago National Leaguers, only two of the 32 athletes on the squad being over 30 years old. Two players and $50,000 was the price of the star shortstop.

Acts Like Babe Ruth.

Another promising youngster, expected to raise the outfield batting average, was obtained from the Louisville Association club, Earl Webb. Like Babe Ruth, Webb used to do a bit of pitching, so his throwing arm is considered one of his great assets. In addition he hits from the wrong side of the plate.

"We are just about 100 per cent better than we were last year," Manager McCarthy said today, "and remember we finished fourth last year, so you know I feel like we will be crowding the leaders this season."

McCarthy has just arrived in Chicago from his home in Buffalo to begin his own spring conditioning three weeks ahead of the rest of the club. A month hence the players will join him at Catalina Island.

Among the 32 players on the Cub roster are six old and eight new pitchers. The other infield positions will be filled by last season's regulars, Sparky Adams at third, Jim Cooney at second and Capt. Charley Grimm at first, with Howard Freigau and Clyde Beck in reserve.

Six Veteran Hurlers.

Webb, Hack Wilson and Cliff Heathcote probably will be the outfield regulars, with three others to give Webb a battle for the left field post. Hartnett and Gonzales are the first string receivers.

The untried pitchers have six battle-scarred veterans to contend with, Bush, Blake, Jones, Kaufmann, Root and Osborne. Among the prospects is a Chicago sandlotter, Roy Hanson. The first native son hurler to receive a tryout in a long time.

FORMER FOOTBALL STAR JAILED AFTER BEING ASSAULTED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29. — Because he refused to tell who struck him and why, Joseph Gilligan, Chicago, former Notre Dame football star, was in jail today on a technical charge of disturbing the peace.

He was found roaming the streets in a dazed condition, apparently having been slugged with a blackjack.

Former Local Star to Play in 3-Cushion Event

Allen Hall One of Entrants for Championship Tourney, Starting Tomorrow.

Billiard Body Likely to Hold Telegraph Event.

THAT Charles C. Peterson, local fancy shot expert, had a good idea when he suggested a national amateur billiard championship tournament to be decided by telegraph is shown by the fact that the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players has taken over the idea. The organization plans to hold a championship event along the lines suggested by Peterson.

Peterson wrote to various officials throughout the country, regarding a tournament by telegraph, and a majority of those who answered were in favor of an event of the kind. Any number of players or cities would be eligible, the only restriction being that they be amateurs.

Allen Hall, former St. Louis three-cushion star, who joined the ranks of professionals after winning the Western amateur championship two years ago as a representative of this city, will compete in the national angle title tournament, scheduled to start at Chicago tomorrow.

Ten players have been selected to play for the championship. An international flavor is added to the competition through the entry of Raimundo Campanioni of Havana. Others who will play are: Otto Reiselt, present title holder; Gus Copulos of Detroit; Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago; Augie Kieckhiefer and L. D. Kenney, Chicago; Charles McCourt, Cleveland; Tiff Denton, Kansas City, and Harold G. Schuler of New York.

In addition to the Cuban star, the new candidates for the championship are Kenney, Thurnblad and Schuler. All the others have played in previous title events, and at least two, Kieckhefer and McCourt, have held the championship.

Three Stars Are Missing.

Two stars, Bob Cannefax, former champion, and Pierre Maupoine, the Mexican, were unable to compete because of illness. Several other experts, including Johnny Layton, former St. Louisan, assigned pressure of business as their failure to enter.

While Reiselt is generally picked to repeat, Hall is expected to land high in the competition, being regarded as the outstanding player among the younger crop of stars.

The opening day schedule is as follows:

Denton vs. Thurnblad.

Hall vs. Campanioni.

Reiselt vs. McCourt.

Kieckhefer vs. Kenney.

A round-robin schedule will be played with the games to be of 50-points duration.

Balkline Event in March.

Shortly after the close of the three-cushion tournament, the balkline stars will get into action. The first encounter of importance will be the challenge match in which Willie Hoppe, who recently regained the title, will oppose Welker Cochran. This match, 1500 points in three blocks, will be played in New York the latter part of February. Hoppe will get his practice in exhibition matches with Eric Hagenlacher, dethroned title holder, while Cochran will face Jake Schaefer. Schaefer only recently returned from Europe after failing to obtain matches with any of the European stars.

Immediately after this, Hoppe, should he emerge the winner, will face another test. This will come in the international 18.2 tournament to be held at Washington, starting March 1. Here again Hoppe will face his two American rivals—Schaefer and Cochran. Additional entries will be Hagenlacher, former title holder, Edouard Horemans, the Belgian, who dropped the crown to Hagenlacher; Felix Grange, present French champion, and either Kinrey Matsuyama or the veteran, Susuki of Japan.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Berlenbach Passes.

A THIRTY-FIVE-YEAR-OLD fighter, Mike McTigue, known all his life for his hit-and run and hit-and-clinch tactics, knocked the powerful "Oom Paul" Berlenbach out of the heavyweight picture, Friday—literally put him out. Mike gave his opponent weight and a terrific four-round beating.

The result embodied two amazing surprises:

First—That a man who all his life had fought on "safety-first" lines, could, at the age of 35, abandon life-long battle plans and employ the opposite tactics successfully. A rabbit was thus metamorphosed into a bulldog.

Second—That a power plant of such proportions as Berlenbach owned could, in the short space of a couple of years, completely collapse.

McTigue Ambitious at 35.

THE inclination at present is to give McTigue full credit for success. Already he has horned into the heavyweight elimination and now says he will fight anybody.

Our private view is that the physical breakdown of Berlenbach had as much to do with McTigue's success as Mike's change of style.

Berlenbach's last two or three fights have broadcast a warning of his impending doom. Paul, a man of might, who advanced by sheer ability to take punishment and give it clumsily enough—has taken so many savage poundings that it apparently has affected his stamina. Never a boxer, he had to win, like Bat Nelson of old, by outlasting the other fellow.

While Paul was fresh and strong it worked. But Nature has her limit. Apparently Paul has passed it.

A Wrestler-Fighter.

BERLENBACH'S meteoric ring career had one feature that attracted attention. His was one of the rare instances in which a man who started out as a wrestler, rose to great heights as a boxer.

Frank Gotch and many others tried fighting and none seems to have been able to get off first base.

As a rule, the wrestler's muscular development and training handicap him hopelessly for real excellence at fighting.

What Price Babe Ruth?

BABE RUTH is supposed to be in the hands of his Physical Director. He is being groomed to the point where he can get up nerve enough to ask Jake Ruppert for a salary of $75,000 or so—as much as President Coolidge draws.

A man has to be hard as nails to do that.

The chances are that Babe will get what he asks, or near it. It is not that, as ballplaying values go, Babe stands out so far above all his associates. But publicity, fostered by the Yankee management, has hoisted the Bambino on a pedestal in popular estimation.

He draws them at the gate and it is this that Babe is capitalizing into his phenomenal salary. No matter what the intrinsic worth of an attraction, if he can't pull the fans in at the box office, his arguments fall in vain.

Bambino can argue that he personally draws $75,000 several times over to the baseball parks of the circuit. Any dub club treasurer will tell what a difference it makes whether Babe is in town or whether its only Ty Cobb or Tris Speaker.

Both of these players in their day were better ballplayers and more valuable to their clubs as players than Ruth. But at no time was Speaker or Cobb in Ruth's class as a gate attraction.

The box office attraction is worthy of his hire.

But it makes mere ballplayers awfully jealous.

No 3 O'Clock Mat Matches.

WELCOME news for the wrestling fans who have to punch the clock at 7 a. m., work time. There will be no more 3 o'clock wrestling events at the Coliseum.

Deciding to save the tired business man from undue loss of his sleep and the T. B.'s wife from calling up all the police stations and hospitals at 3 a. m. to locate his remains, Promoter Tom Packs has decided to adopt the suggestion of the Post-Dispatch and start the main event before some of the preliminaries.

Henceforth, in cases where there is reason to look for an extended contest, the feature will begin not later than 9 o'clock.

Packs' letter to the Post-Dispatch announcing his change of plan follows:

Dear Mr. Wray—

The recommendation contained in your sport column suggesting that the management arrange to start the main event of future local wrestling shown at an early hour, when there is reason to anticipate a long struggle, is, in my opinion, a very good one.

One possible drawback in starting the main event first and having the secondary attractions follow is that in case of a quick termination of the feature attraction many fans who fail to reach the arena before 9 o'clock might miss the entire bout or some of its most interesting phases.

I believe the best arrangement for all concerned would be to send the headliners to the mat at 9 o'clock. One preliminary bout, with a time limit of 30 minutes, could thus be scheduled to provide entertainment for those arriving early at the ringside. A secondary feature could be reserved to round out the program, in accordance with your suggestion, and in case the main bout ends quickly this plan would provide a full evening's entertainment.

Whenever a pair of wrestlers of the caliber of Pesek and Londos are matched the management must trust largely to luck to bring the contest to an end at a reasonable hour. The suggestions made in your column appear to offer solution of this difficulty and I intend to incorporate your recommendations with my plans the next time I schedule a match of premier distinction.

Thanking you for your kind suggestion, I am,

Yours very truly,
THOMAS N. PACKS.

The Sex Athletic Complex.

SCORE another for feminine athletics. Mere man should take notice of what happened at Chicago, Friday night, when Miss Helen Filkey ran 70 yards indoors in 8 2-5 seconds.

This time was only one second slower than that made by Loren Murchison in winning the 70-yard special handicap for men. Running from scratch Murchison won in 7 2-5 seconds.

Murchison is the greatest indoor sprint runner of whom history has any record. That a school girl could run within 9 feet as fast as the world's fastest man (indoors) is certainly a tribute to woman's advance in the world of athletics in the short space of 10 years.

Between the Lines.

WE READ today how the Big Ten athletic leaders have established a code whereby coaches and alumni are to refrain from recruiting athletes by holding out inducements to high school or prep stars; and that educational institutions and their athletic officials are to sign pledges that prep school football "prospects" will not be offered tuition, athletic scholarships, jobs, cash or other inducements to secure their enrollment.

Anyone can read between the lines that all these things have been and are still being done throughout the United States.

Baseball, a professional sport, is not guilty of such widespread violation of ethics as the amateur sport of football.

A Common Practice.

THAT the condition is not confined to the Big Ten is evidenced by the agitation at one of the Big Three Schools, two campaigns ago, and by the undercurrent of expert comment to be heard on all hands.

The writer was chided for skeptical views concerning collegiate football recruiting methods. He took occasion to ask a veteran university coach his opinion of proselyting and recruiting.

In substance his story was as follows:

"In self-defense all colleges and universities that aspire to hold their own at football, in their respective conferences, need recruiting help. This takes various forms: Athletic scholarships, remitted tuition, sinecure jobs, private alumni aid, etc.

"I doubt if there are many schools of importance which are free from such evils."

Enough said, coming from one who knows.

Our Soccer Situation.

THE St. Louis Soccer League elevens, our representatives in the National cup competition, are having hard-sledding. Five Sundays during the season, including today and the two previous Sundays, have been idle ones owing to weather conditions.

If many more such occur, the local elevens will approach their cup tie games in anything but good playing condition. St. Louis elevens obtain all too little work and no practice.

Given ample playing opportunity it is probable that our representation in the U. S. cup final would be assured. But as the weather man has been behaving, there is some doubt whether our Western final will see a St. Louis eleven victors, or the Chicago Brickies, who appear the next best combination.

Local promoters are looking forlorn this season. During the summer, arrangements for expanding the activities of the local soccer teams were completed. Sportsman's Park was rented at an overhead of $300 a game. Idle Sundays have cost the promoters $1500 in rent alone.

Losses in the Intercity League, another adventure which proved disastrous, will run up the total to double that amount.

NATIONAL CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL BASKET TOURNEY MARCH 17-20

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The National Catholic Interscholastic basketball tournament, held under the auspices of Loyola University, was set today for March 17 to 20.

Thirty-two teams will compete for the title, which was won last year by St. Xavier High School, Louisville, Ky.

Big Gates May Cause Downfall of Gene Tunney

He Would Like to Fight Oftener but "Business" Limits Appearances.

By Sparrow McGann.

(Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — Gene Tunney talked like a real champion when he said he would be glad to give Dempsey another chance to meet the winner of any elimination tournament, adding that he did not see why it should be necessary for the former champion to fight his way through the pack of contenders.

The fact is that Tunney promised Jack a return fight and so far as he is concerned he is willing to make good on his word.

Tex Rickard seemingly cannot rid himself of the idea that the biggest attraction he could stage would be a return bout between the champion and the former titleholder. But it looks as if he had better dismiss the idea.

For Dempsey has no public following just at present. He has not done a thing to show that he could improve upon the miserable showing he made in Philadelphia last fall.

Tunney in Vaudeville.

With such capable men as Jim Maloney, Jack Delaney, Jack Sharkey and Knute Hansen willing to fight it out for the privilege of meeting Gene, there is no good reason why Dempsey, provided he really desires to fight again, should not come out into the open and knock over—if he can—these rising young wallopers.

As for Tunney, it cannot be denied that he has not done anything particularly warlike since he won the title. Vaudeville appearances three and four times a day are not conducive to good training. Dempsey proved this beyond argument.

Only the other day such a good judge of boxing form and such a past master in the art of training fighters as William Muldoon stated that Tunney was ruining his career and hastening his downfall by confining himself to one bout a year. Muldoon, it will be recalled, was one of the first to come out and say that Tunney would prove a capable opponent for Dempsey.

Wholly out of ring competition, aloof from gymnasium work, there is every reason why Tunney would welcome another bout with the equally inactive Dempsey. He has no reason to feel that Jack would do any better, if as well, as he did at Philadelphia.

Tunney's position is a difficult one. The championship he holds implies a certain restraint from activity. The title is a million dollar proposition. It has to be kept, as it were, in an incubator. He may not show too often in public, lest he become a familiar story and hence financially unattractive. Public curiosity must be preserved at keen edge to the end that when he finally emerges, a big gate will be assured.

The Paths of Glory.

This helps a champion's drawing power, but hurts him physically. Ring idleness has been the downfall of more than one heavyweight monarch. Almost all heavyweight rulers from the time of John L. Sullivan down, were dethroned when they defended their titles after absences of long periods, often two or more years from the ring.

So far as Tunney's real attitude toward the fight game is concerned, he would probably be willing to defend his title next June and follow with another fight in September. But no wise promoter, certainly not Tex Rickard, would stand for that. What Rickard wants is a smashing box turnout of boxing enthusiasts, not two comparatively small outpourings. His sole interest is the gate and what happens to the champion after the turnstiles have stopped clicking does not concern him.

A condition such as this will exist just so long as million dollar gates are possible. When one talks thus in terms of money, the human equation is forgotten. The dollar is the thing. It is hard on Tunney who, assuming some one beats him next September, which is not unlikely, will leave the ring rich in pocket, but none the less a victim of the business end of the fight "game."

LEGER WINS BY FIVE LENGTHS IN TALLAHASSEE HANDICAP AT TAMPA

SWEETUM, AT 33-1, TAKES SECOND RACE

Largest Crowd of Meeting Attends — Wildcat, Another Long Shot, Beats Quinham and Gayboy in Sixth.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 29. — The largest crowd of the meeting witnessed this afternoon's racing under ideal weather and track conditions at Tampa Downs. The racing was of the spirited, wholesome variety with several close, thrilling finishes.

Leger scored in runaway style in the featured Tallahassee handicap over a distance of one mile and 70 yards, Adieu and Billy Witt finishing five lengths off the winner as they struggled bitterly for second and third placings. The latter was the choice and his failure to gain better than third came as a big disappointment to many. Leger saved much ground getting through on the inside when Adieu carried the favorite wide leaving the back stretch.

Dimple Dunkie Wins.

Dimple Dunkie registered in a driving finish with Sol at the close of the six furlongs of the fourth race which brought out seven 3-year-olds as the next best field of the day. Dimple Dunkie closely attended Sol's pace to the final furlong where she slowly wore the early leader down to win by a neck. Harbor raced in third position the entire dash.

Flitter, an overwhelming choice, scored without great effort over nine rivals at five and one-half furlongs in the introductory number. Quince Delight was second and Lafemme obtained third with a belated rush.

33-1 Shot Goes Over.

The second race brought the outstanding surprise of the meeting when Sweetum at better than 33 to 1, beat out the stoutly backed False Face at the end of five and one-half furlongs. Glimmering was third after having made most of the race.

In a driving finish the four-year-old Quinchin, outstayed Louisville and Nashville for the winner's award in the third test.

Another outsider to triumph was Wildcat which beat out Quinham and Gayboy in the sixth race to return his supporters odds of better than 19 to 1.

Venus away well, raced forwardly and saved much ground. Hidalgo came with a big rush through the stretch and but for McCoy drawing his whip in last few strides would have won. Porto de Oro came around others at stretch turn, but swerved badly when a furlong out, impeding Talladega and Ice. Latter held on well near end. Talladega lacked racing room in the last sixteenth and suffered interference. Ice was also a sufferer from interference. Pomegranate was taken back sharply in stretch. Fore Star broke slowly and showed a dull effort.

$2 mutuels paid: Venus (field), win $39.20, place $14, show $6.80; Hidalgo, place $13, show $7; Porto de Oro, show $4.20.

Roan Jack and Conceit coupled.

Emphatic, lucky and breaking well, moved into lead at once and, under strong urging, outstayed Pandale. Latter raced as if best, suffered much immediately after break, and came like a flash through stretch. Fair Anita raced forwardly entire trip, but was tiring. Roan Jack was away well, but tired in last furlong.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—George Kojax of the De Witt Clinton High School, New York City, today broke the national indoor interscholastic 100-yard swimming record in a high school boys' meet at the University of Pennsylvania. His time for the distance was 55 3-5 seconds, only one-fifth of a second slower than the outdoor mark established at Honolulu by Tua Kealoha, who claims the world's record.

The New York schoolboy star led the field to the tape by six yards.

Wilmington High School won the meet with 28 points. De Witt Clinton was second with 22 points and Northeast High third with 11 points.

Washington Now In Tip-Top Form For Basket Trip

White's Men Have High Hopes of Beating Both Ames and Drake This Week.

A Washington U. basket squad, which now is in the best playing condition of the season, will depart next Thursday night for a trip in which Grinnell and Drake University teams will be met successively at Ames and Des Moines, Ia.

Practice swung back to its normal stride today at the Pikeway field house when the squad members reported themselves all through the final mid-year examinations. While only light practice has been ordered since the Washington victory over Grinnell last Friday night, the daily practice squad has been cut into deeply by the exam quizzes.

The new quintet which White sent into action against Grinnell with fortunate results has been running together in promising combination attack all week and should be in even more advantageous form against the Pioneers than last week's meeting, which the Bears took, 34 to 20. Hutton and Lohrding at forward, Stanford at center, and Kurz and Eckert at guard will probably start both games.

Bears May Turn Tables.

Whether the tables can be turned on the Drake quintet which nosed a rallying Washington team out of a victory by a 22 to 19 score here is uncertain, but White is expecting a great deal from his new machine. The Friday night struggle with Grinnell will not leave any good effects on the physical condition of the men for Saturday's contest with Drake but their layoff should have put them in a sufficiently prepared condition.

After the Iowa games, the Bears will engage in two local contests, both considered considerably more difficult than the road games. The Oklahoma Sooners, Valley-leading veterans, will call on Friday, Feb. 11, and the Oklahoma Aggies on Saturday, Feb. 12. Both games will be played in the Washington U. fieldhouse.

While the Sooners have been consistently recognized over a period of several seasons as extremely dangerous opponents, the effectiveness of the Aggies was discounted until recently when the Maulbetsch men took the Iowa State team in hand, 42 to 19. The victory, coming shortly after Iowa State had defeated Kansas, was the more impressive because of the fact that it reversed similar scores made by the Iowans on the Stillwater athletes.

Test for Oklahoma Aggies.

The strength of Maulbetsch's men will be more accurately gauged after next week-end when on successive nights two fast-traveling outfits, the Kansas Aggies and the Nebraska Cornhuskers visit Stillwater to meet the Farmers. Both games will be watched closely by Valley coaches and if the Aggies are fortunate in both contests they will take their place as one of the three most threatening teams in the Conference.

Miss Ryan Wins Cannes Net Final

The Y. M. H. A. basketball team defeated the Foster-Tebbe five last night at the Y. M. H. A. gymnasium, 35 to 34. The score at the end of the half was 24 to 15 in favor of Foster-Tebbe team.

An aggressive finish by the Y. team enabled it to overcome the handicap and win out. Haffner scored 13 points for the winners.

MEINERT TAKES LEAD IN HANDICAP TOURNEY

E. Z. Meinert of Bailey Council K. of C. took the lead in the handicap tourney on the Washington alleys last night with a score of 649. P. Muskopf is second with 619 and G. Cune third with 605.

Three more squads of 12 each will bowl tonight at 6, 7 and 8 o'clock.

Police Revolver Scores.

Louis Lutke, a new member, led the shooters of the Police Revolver Club Wednesday night over the 20-yard range with a score of 89.

Scores: Louis Lutke 89, William J. P. Rich 85, L. F. Copeland 83, S. L. Beecher 79, E. A. Niemeyer 72, J. W. Beeler 70, W. C. Ball 70, Dr. V. A. Carriere 66.

Girls' Muny Games.

The schedule in the Girls' Municipal Basketball League for Thursday calls for the following games at Mullanphy gymnasium: Ambassador vs. Schenbergs at 8 o'clock; Bachelor Club vs. Peets at 9 o'clock. Admission of 25 cents will be charged.

Heavyweights to Box in Feature of Fight Program

Knost and Minges Top Tuesday Bill of People's Motorbus A. C.

Thirty-five amateur boxers, including three Western A. A. U. champions, one former title holder and seven others, rated as promising contenders in the district tournament, are slated to compete Tuesday night in the special or preliminary events of a boxing show at the St. Louis University gymnasium under the auspices of the People's Motorbus A. C.

A match in which Dave Knost, Sherman Park heavyweight and district champion of his division, meets Roy Minges, formerly of Los Angeles, looms as the feature of three bouts on the special card. Minges has made a creditable showing in the Pacific Coast amateur circles, according to reports. His training bouts with Victor Windle and others indicate that he is good material.

Pete White of Sherman Park and Joe Staunton of the South Broadway A. C. will meet in a featherweight special, while Jacob Graswick, representing the Knights of Columbus of East St. Louis, is billed to trade punches with Eddie Burke of Sherman Park in a lightweight feature. Burke won the Western A. A. U. featherweight crown last season, but he is now competing in the 135-pound class.

White Has the Edge.

The match between White and Staunton will be their fourth engagement of the current season. An extra round of milling was required to determine the victor in their third fight, which featured last Thursday's tourney at the South Broadway A. C. Referee Heisner awarded the decision to White after the judges twice failed to agree. The Sherman Park scrapper also outpointed Staunton in their first match, held early in the season.

Seating accommodations for approximately 3500 spectators will be provided, with an unobstructed view of the ring from any point in the balcony. The structure is located at 3668 West Pine boulevard. Following is a complete list of entries:

CHAMPION STECHER HERE TODAY FOR A TALK WITH PACKS

Joe Stecher, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, and his brother, Anton, who serves as his manager, are scheduled to visit St. Louis today for a conference with Promoter Tom Packs, who has offered the title holder terms for a finish match in this city with "Tiger John" Pesek, the Nebraska challenger, whose match with Jimmy Londos at the New Coliseum last week was billed as an elimination tryout to determine the most worthy candidate for a titular battle.

Paul Jones, the Los Angeles heavyweight, who defeated Rudy Dusek of Little Rock in a prelim feature of the recent Pesek-Londos card, is now being considered by Packs for a finish match on a mat program the promoter is arranging for Tuesday, Feb. 15. Jones' conquest of Dusek marked the Californian's third successive triumph in local tryouts. He previously had defeated Roy Steele and John Maxos.

BARKER'S SUGGESTION FOR EARLY DATES FOR SOCCER TILTS REFUSED

When the draw was made for the first round games in the United States Football Association's national challenge cup competition early last week, the suggestion from Winton E. Barker, president of the St. Louis Soccer League, that the dates be advanced was turned down by the officials.

Barker had suggested that the contests be played so as not to conflict with baseball. However it was decided to stick to the old plan. As a result the final will be played either the latter part of April or early in May.

Players to be eligible for the various rounds must be registered 14 days before the day set for the playing of the contests.

Members of the committee announced that the West is being seriously considered as the site for the national championship final this season. The last final in the West came here two years ago, when the Vespers lost to Fall River.

A. B. C. DOES NOT SANCTION INDIVIDUAL TENPIN TOURNAMENT

Rules of Organization Bring Out This Feature; Classic Event to Be Held

Row Between Two Bodies Will Be Brought Up at Meeting at Peoria in March—1900 Quintets Expected to Compete for National Championship.

While A. L. Langtry, secretary of the American Bowling Congress, recently announced that all tenpin stars, who competed in the national classic championship at Detroit in April would be barred from the A. B. C., rules of the organization do not tend to bear out Langtry's assertion.

For instances, in the by-laws of the American Bowling Congress, section 5 of the article dealing with sanctions, reads as follows:

"Sanctions for exclusive two-man or individual tournaments shall not be issued."

This clause seems to leave Louis Peterson of Chicago and his aids in the Classic Championship tournament in the clear as regards going through with the title event as originally scheduled.

To Come Up at Meeting.

No matter who is right or wrong, the question will come up for an airing at the annual A. B. C. meeting scheduled to be held at Peoria, Ill., March 18.

With the entry list for the A. B. C. tourney, starting March 5, closing next Tuesday, Secretary Langtry reports that already 1600 reservations have been made and that at least 1900 five-man teams are expected to roll. St. Louis will probably be represented by 45 teams. Chicago will have at least 250, Milwaukee 125 and Detroit 100.

Entries from other cities are as follows: Akron 15, Albany 4, Aurora 12, Buffalo 50, Cincinnati 30, Cleveland 65, Columbus 25, Dayton 15, Decatur 5, Denver 4, Dubuque 4, Evansville 4, Flint 5, Fort Wayne 15, Grand Rapids 15, Indianapolis 20, Joliet 6, Louisville 10, Madison 10, Minneapolis 8, New York 10, Brooklyn 5, Racine 15, St. Paul 11, Sioux City 5, South Bend 20, Springfield 9, Syracuse 5, Rochester 8, Toledo 30, Tulsa 8, Watertown 5, Youngstown 4.

According to latest reports, Kansas City will have a fight on its hands to get the 1928 rolling of the championship, Louisville, Detroit and Newark, N. J., being the latest cities to enter the field. The St. Louis delegation will support Kansas City, while Chicago also is said to favor the Missouri city.

Sherwood Sets New Mark.

Frank Sherwood set a new high three-game record in the Peterson four-man league when he totaled 920 for an average of 230. He had games of 279, 245, 204 and 192. His 279 is second high. Knapp owning a 289. The Petersons, in winning four from the Illinois Centrals totaled 3291 for the second high team count of the year. The high mark is 3329, held by the Park Avenue Recreation.

Other results: Chicago Lumber, 3; Muckerman Cushman, 1; Barths, 2; Missouri Steels, 2; Park Avenue Recreation, 3; Pontals, 1. Team leaders: Mulconnery, 518; Meinhart, 773; Monnig, 799; Niedringhaus, 793; Volz, 778; Niederbremer, 823; Eirich, 880.

The standings: Petersons, 54-26; Missouris, 46-34; Pontals, 43-37; Parks, 43-37; Chicagos, 43-37; Illinois Centrals, 41-39; Muckerman Cushmans, 32-48; Barths, 16-62. Weiss, with 194, has the high season average.

Many Bowlers Entered.

Some of the leading pin topplers in the city, including E. T. Almquist, H. Dahman, M. Dahman, R. Lay, Cone Hermann, C. Houser, E. Flesh, E. Viscardi, H. Summers, C. Sottrell, Al Werder and others have entered the elimination tournament to be held on the Schaefer-Zappala alleys, starting Feb. 5. The Wellston Chamber of Commerce has donated a medal to go to the winner of the event. Early round matches will be three games out of five, with the final five out of nine. Bowlers desiring to enter should phone Otto Friendly, Cabany 1034.

Dohrman Named President.

C. H. Dohrman has been elected president o fthe St. Louis Alley Owners' Association, with E. A. Schaefer, vice-president; H. L. Algermissen, second vice-president; E. N. Howard, treasurer, and L. K. Arthur, secretary. Twenty local alley owners have joined and more are expected. It is the intention to organize a handicap traveling league. One of the prime purposes of the organization will be to assist the City Association in lining up entries for the various tournaments.

New Entry Record Set.

A new record for entries in the Women's City handicap championship tournament, to start on the Delmar Recreation Alleys Feb. 5, is shown by the figures announced by Mrs. H. T. Speck, secretary. The list shows 68 teams; 108 entrants in doubles and 194 singles. The team entry is 12 over the previous high mark. The team competition will be decided on three nights, Feb. 5, 6 and 7, while the doubles and singles will be rolled on Feb. 12 and 13.

Lamberts Suffer Setback.

The Wooster Lamberts, leaders in the Major City League, suffered a setback in the last round, when the team dropped three straight to the Colbions Recreation, the winners getting games of 989, 1040 and 1061 for a 3090 count. Other results were: Morgans 2, Witter Razz 1; Rogers Recreation 2, Greenfields 1; Cabannes 2, King Bees 1.

THIS is the fourth of a series in the next several wee written by Archibald Henders "My Friend, Bernard Shaw." sociation with the great Englis Mr. Henderson, a North Caroli of "George Bernard Shaw, H "Table Talk of G. B. S." (192

BERNARD SHAW is one of consciousness of his own case of the Harvard profess indispensable to success is a the world. Shaw never had a col of insight—reminding us of Wil of social interpretations, somewh the volcanic eruptions of social with smoke, ashes and soot—all undisciplined intellect.

At school, Shaw was generally at the bottom of his class. "I was incorrigibly idle and worthless," he once confessed, in speaking of his school days. These schools "did me a great deal of harm and no good whatever." His parents let him do as he chose. If he learned nothing, at least he tasted the sweets of freedom. He knew his own mind; manly determination and independence enabled him to find himself in after life.

Bernard Shaw was an extraordinary lad, for he reacted violently against the formal constraints of education, churchgoing and conventional society. He responded instinctively to the glamorous appeal of music, drama and art. He felt a mild sort of contempt for the social snobbery of his family, who, as he put it, "revolved in a sort of impecunious second-cousinship around a baronetcy." The [illegible] ritualism of religion [illegible] him, and he afterwards declared that every separate stone and pane of glass in the genteel suburban Irish Protestant Church he attended as a boy, must have sowed a separate evil passion in his own heart. When he discovered that The God he was to believe in was a "Protestant and perfect gentleman" and that members of the lower classes were not expected to attend church, he conceived a violent distaste for that sort of religion. When he found that his father, who sold flour by the sack, objected to his playing in the street with the son of a man who sold nails by the pennyworth, his bile arose at the social snobbery of the wholesaler toward the person engaged in retail trade.

A Lover of Art and Music.

Art early claimed the lad for her own. His mother, endowed with a lovely voice, was a talented opera singer, who excelled in such roles as Donizetti's Lucrezia, Donna Anna in Don Giovanni, and Marguerite in Faust. Instinctively, he learned to whistle the scores, straight through, of various operas, and in after life declared that through music alone could you "actually experience the candor and gallant impulse of the hero, the grace and trouble of the heroine and the extracted emotional quintessence of their love." Painting filled his soul with aspiration and divine discontent, in those early days when he haunted the National Gallery of Ireland; and he once declared that this gallery in Dublin, which only he and a solitary policeman ever visited, had done more for him than the two cathedrals so magnificently "restored" out of the profits of the drink trade!

Surely we can discern something of the genius—the deviation from the social form—in this lad who saw through the hypocrisy of the religion of snobbery, the society of snobbery, the education of snobbery. Bernard Shaw grew up wild in the mystic atmosphere of the Ireland of the Saints. This true social democrat inspired with the love of art and music, might well exclaim in the days of his maturity: "If religion is that which binds men to one another and irreligion that which sunders then must I testify that I found the religion of my country in its musical genius, and its irreligi

"My Friend, Bernard Shaw"

By Archibald Henderson

Possessor of an Undisciplined Intellect Who Insists That School Did Him No Good—Democratic Instincts at Times Violent—His Blunder Into Popularity.

THIS is the fourth of a series of articles, to be published within the next several weeks in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, written by Archibald Henderson, an American, under the heading, "My Friend, Bernard Shaw." The articles reflect an intimate association with the great English author over a period of 22 years. Mr. Henderson, a North Carolina college professor, is the author of "George Bernard Shaw, His Life and Works" (1911), and "Table Talk of G. B. S." (1925).

BERNARD SHAW is one of those fortunate mortals, born with a consciousness of his own genius. It is somewhat parallel to the case of the Harvard professor who once told me that the quality indispensable to success is a superiority complex! Fortunately for the world, Shaw never had a college education. Those mad flashes of insight—reminding us of William Blake, the sporadic outbursts of social interpretations, somewhat after the fashion of Mark Twain, the volcanic eruptions of social passion, the burning love mingled with smoke, ashes and soot—all exhibit at once the genius and the undisciplined intellect.

At school, Shaw was generally at the bottom of his class. "I was incorrigibly idle and worthless," he once confessed, in speaking of his school days. These schools "did me a great deal of harm and no good whatever." His parents let him do as he chose. If he learned nothing, at least he tasted the sweets of freedom. He knew his own mind; manly determination and independence enabled him to find himself in after life.

Bernard Shaw was an extraordinary lad, for he reacted violently against the formal constraints of education, churchgoing and conventional society. He responded instinctively to the glamorous appeal of music, drama and art. He felt a mild sort of contempt for the social snobbery of his family, who, as he put it, "revolved in a sort of impecunious second-cousinship around a baronetcy." The meaningless ritualism of religion appalled him, and he afterwards declared that every separate stone and pane of glass in the genteel suburban Irish Protestant Church he attended as a boy, must have sowed a separate evil passion in his own heart. When he discovered that The God he was to believe in was a "Protestant and a perfect gentleman" and that members of the lower classes were not expected to attend church, he conceived a violent distaste for that sort of religion. When he found that his father, who sold flour by the sack, objected to his playing in the street with the son of a man who sold nails by the pennyworth, his bile arose at the social snobbery of the wholesaler toward the person engaged in retail trade.

A Lover of Art and Music.

Art early claimed the lad for her own. His mother, endowed with a lovely voice, was a talented opera singer, who excelled in such roles as Donizetti's Lucrezia, Donna Anna in Don Giovanni, and Marguerite in Faust. Instinctively, he learned to whistle the scores, straight through, of various operas, and in after life declared that through music alone could you "actually experience the candor and gallant impulse of the hero, the grace and trouble of the heroine and the extracted emotional quintessence of their love." Painting filled his soul with aspiration and divine discontent, in those early days when he haunted the National Gallery of Ireland; and he once declared that this gallery in Dublin, which only he and a solitary policeman ever visited, had done more for him than the two cathedrals so magnificently "restored" out of the profits of the drink trade!

Surely we can discern something of the genius—the deviation from the social form—in this lad who saw through the hypocrisy of the religion of snobbery, the society of snobbery, the education of snobbery. Bernard Shaw grew up wild in the mystic atmosphere of the Ireland of the Saints. This true social democrat inspired with the love of art and music, might well exclaim in the days of his maturity: "If religion is that which binds men to one another, and irreligion that which sunders, then must I testify that I found the religion of my country in its musical genius, and its irreligion in its churches and drawing rooms."

Off on the Wrong Foot.

As a young man, Shaw attacked the citadel of the enemy, the citadel which he must conquer, London. With the egoism of genius, he sacrificed the conventional standards of duty in the search for himself. Suffering from the "green sickness of romanticism," to which youthful genius is prone, he ignored the financial needs of his family while he wrote novel after novel, none of which brought him any returns to speak of. In his amusing way, he once said: "I did not throw myself into the struggle for life; I threw my mother into it. I was not a staff to my father's old age; I hung on to his coat-tails." But the genius had got off on the wrong foot; novel writing was not his line. His four published novels—"Love Among the Artists," "Cashel Byron's Profession," "An Unsocial Socialist" and "The Irrational Knot"—are not good novels, but extraordinarily good reading, as is likely to be anything written by a genius. The value of the name of Bernard Shaw is well illustrated by the fact that only the other day he refused the sum of $75,000 for the film rights of "Cashel Byron's Profession."

It was not until Shaw turned to Socialism that he became a man with "some business in the world." He broke through the mists of oblivion by attending all the various little hole-and-corner debating societies, and taking active part in the discussions. His resolution to burst into the limelight accomplished results, for the name of Bernard Shaw, as a vigorous debater and clever opponent, soon became widely known throughout certain circles in London. Inspired by Henry George, Shaw joined the now famous Fabian Society, then just eight months old. This is not a political party, but a sort of popular Socialist university, for instructing the public in Socialist doctrines. Shaw became a deep student of Karl Marx, whose "theory of value" and "materialistic conception of history" were then attracting world-wide attention. The late William Archer, dramatic critic, said that his first glimpse of Shaw was of a "tawny young man of tawny complexion and tawny attire" in the reading room of the British Museum. Archer saw that this tawny young man was reading alternately, if not simultaneously, the French translation of Karl Marx's "Das Kapital" and an orchestral score of "Tristan and Isolde." Even at this early date, Shaw was striving to make capital of his knowledge of music.

Twisting the Lion's Tail.

Shaw soon launched forth on a campaign of literary criticism unprecedented in English history. First it was music, then art, then drama. He criticised music with the same hilarious irreverence as that displayed by Mark Twain in criticising the Old Masters in "The Innocents Abroad." He was an acute critic; but he expressed his most labored criticisms with engaging levity, as if he were perfectly well aware of his own outrageous unfitness for the job.

Power Lobbyists Strive to Block $125,000,000 Boulder Dam Project

Desire of Private Interests to Control the 6,000,000 Horsepower of Electrical Energy the Stream Can Be Made to Develop Is Blamed for Opposition to the Project to Utilize the Immense Resources of the Colorado River—State's Rights and International Questions Involved.

Swing-Johnson Bill Supporters Say Government-Operated Hydroelectric Plant There Would Yield Profit That Would Repay Entire Cost in 25 Years—Meantime Imperial Valley Suffers From Drouth Alternating With Menace of Flood and Los Angeles' 250-Mile Aqueduct Waits.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.

BEFORE March 4, Congress will be asked to pass on the biggest single Federal construction project since the digging of the Panama Canal. It is the proposal to spend $125,000,000 for the building of a 550-foot dam across the Colorado River at Boulder Canyon, on the boundary line between California and Arizona, for the four-fold purpose of preventing floods, irrigating arid lands, supplying domestic water to Southwestern cities and generating electric power.

The plan has been before Congress in one form or another since 1907 when President Roosevelt urged that part of the water from the Colorado, the third largest river in the United States, be diverted to irrigate the now prosperous Imperial Valley in Southern California.

Roosevelt's proposal which was adopted was fairly simple. During the subsequent 20 years the Colorado River question, as deep and tortuous as the channel of the river itself, has become involved with State's rights, international relations and the fundamental propriety of Government ownership and operation.

Committees in both the Senate and the House have reported favorably on the proposal but whether the two bodies will accept the recommendations of these committees this session is highly doubtful because March 4 is only five weeks away. Positive action is expected during the long session of the seventieth Congress.

Lobby Accused of Delaying Action on the Project.

In the Senate, Hiram Johnson (Rep.), California, has sponsored the building of Boulder dam. Representative Philip D. Swing (Rep.) of the some State has been the leading proponent of the measure in the House. The opponents in the House are Representatives Carl Hayden (Dem.), Arizona; Elmer O. Leatherwood (Rep.), Utah, and W. M. Whittington (Dem.), Mississippi.

The greatest opposition, however, has come from lobbies of power and land interests stationed in Washington since Johnson and Swing began their fight. It has been charged, even by such Republican stalwarts as Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee, that the power lobby has done everything possible to delay a vote on the proposal. According to Johnson and Swing, there is only one reason for consistent opposition to their bill—selfish greed of the interests that want a monopoly on the 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 horsepower the river can be made to develop.

Johnson and Swing declare the power possibilities are only incidental to their proposal, although they plan to pay for the dam by the sale of the electricity generated by it. Their first interest, they assert, is protection of the Imperial Valley from flood, irrigation of desert land and the obtaining of an adequate drinking water supply for the growing Southwestern communities.

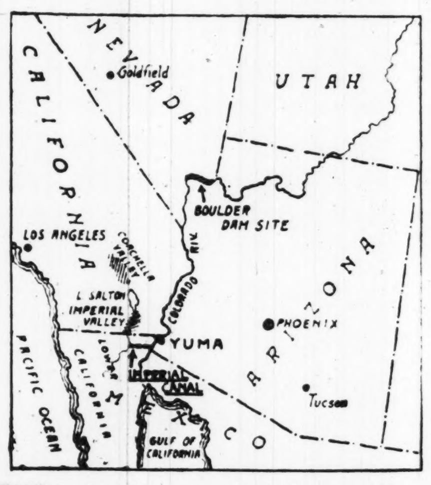
Enormous Seasonal Variation in Flow.

The Colorado River is formed by the junction in Utah of the Grand and the Green rivers, the former rising in Colorado, the latter in Wyoming. The Colorado River flows in a general southwesterly direction through Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California. After crossing the international boundary, it flows about a hundred miles through Mexico and empties into the Gulf of California.

The river has an average annual discharge of approximately 17,000,000 acre feet of water, but this flow varies between extremes as high as 25,000,000 acre feet and as low as 9,000,000 acre feet. An acre foot is the amount of water required to cover an acre of land to the depth of one foot.

By seasons there are even greater variations in the flow, the extremes being 200,000 cubic feet a second during the spring floods and less than 2000 cubic feet a second in the late summer and early fall. It is important to remember these great seasonal variations in connection with the plea the Imperial Valley is making for irrigation water.

Boulder Dam Region



THE basin of the proposed dam roughly includes parts of Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada, California and virtually the whole of Arizona. Under the plan now before Congress, the Imperial and Coachella valleys of California would be connected with the Colorado River near Yuma, Ariz., by a canal which would not enter Mexico.

The Imperial Valley is situated in Southern California in a saucer-like basin that was once part of the Gulf of California. The river carrying heavy loads of silt picked up in the canyons of Arizona and Utah, formed a delta across the upper end of the old gulf and created an inland sea. Later the river shifted its course to the east and the hot Southern sun dried up the inland sea, leaving the valley from 30 to 300 feet below sea level.

Possible Menace to the Imperial Valley.

The river, heavy with silt, builds its own channel. It is now on a "hog-back" some 300 feet above the valley. Should its Western banks ever give way, during the flood season, it would inundate 400,000 rich acres which supply the means of subsistence to 60,000 residents. These farm lands are valued at more than $100,000,000.

To irrigate this land the farmers of the valley negotiated with Mexico for the diversion of water from the river through a canal beginning at a point just above the international boundary line. This canal runs into Mexico and re-enters the United States. As payment for a right-of-way through Mexico, it was provided that one-half the water in the canal could be used to irrigate lands in that country.

The Colorado River has a fall of 8000 feet from its source to its mouth, a drop 13 times greater than the fall of the St. Lawrence River. It is roughly estimated that between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 horsepower of electrical energy, available every hour, can be generated from the river as a whole. This explains why 24 applications have been filed with the Federal Power Commission for hydro-electric power sites on the Colorado.

Swing-Johnson Bill to Develop Power.

Here is how the Swing-Johnson bill would take advantage of this great natural resource:

1. Erection of a 550-foot dam at Boulder or Black Canyon to impound 26,000,000 acre feet of water, to be built at an estimated cost of $41,500,000.

2. Construction of a canal, to be situated entirely within the United States, connecting a dam at Yuma, Arizona, with the Imperial and Coachella valleys in California. The estimated cost is $31,000,000.

3. Installation of a complete power plant suitable for the fullest economic development of electrical energy from the water discharged from the dam. It is estimated that 550,000 constant horsepower will be available, with 1,000,000 horsepower available at certain times. The cost of the 1,000,000 horsepower capacity plant is estimated at $31,500,000.

These items total $104,000,000. The remaining $21,000,000 of the $125,000,000 authorization would take care of the interest on the capital investments for 50 years. As now proposed the improvements must pay for themselves within that time.

Hoover and Work Favor California Senator's Plan.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Interior Work are for the Swing-Johnson plan. As late as Thursday, Secretary Hoover issued a formal statement urging immediate consideration of legislation for the proposal. He gave three reasons for the need of immediate legislation for the proposal. (1) The steadily increasing flood menace to the lower valleys of California and Arizona, (2) the necessity for Los Angeles to reinforce its domestic water supply, and (3) the urgent need for the protection of our international rights.

Hoover pointed out that to provide Los Angeles with an additional supply of water implied the development of great power to pump the water across Southern California. He also pointed out that the legislation was unique in that it imposed no burden on the Federal Government except the loan of necessary credit.

"No work is to be undertaken until the contracts and guarantees, which amply cover the return of all funds, have been entered into," the Secretary of Commerce declared.

Dikes Not Adequate to Protect Settlers.

During the flood season, when the Colorado River carries the water from the melted snows of the mountains down to the gulf the inhabitants along its banks are in such constant fear that dikes have been built in Southern California and Mexico but Government engineers declare that these do not give adequate protection. The majority report for the Swing-Johnson bill declared: "Imperial Valley during June, July and August of each year is threatened with destruction by flood. In September and October it is threatened by and has actually suffered from drouth."

According to the supporters of the bill—and there were only three members of the House Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation who opposed it—Boulder dam will eliminate the danger both of flood and drouth by regulating the amount of water that shall flow into the gulf. By impounding 26,000,000 acre feet of water a constant supply of water will be available at all times.

Danger of Drouth Almost Equals Menace of Flood.

The danger of drouth, according to the proponents, is almost as serious as the danger from destruction by flood. At present about 600,000 acres are irrigated by the water diverted by the international canal—400,000,000 acres in the Imperial Valley and 200,000 acres in Mexico.

When the water is low, the Mexican lands—which incidentally are owned by Americans—get priority. Under the terms of the international agreement, Mexico is entitled to half the water, but if 400,000 acres are developed in Mexico, the present diversion is not adequate for the combined 800,000 acres.

No plan has yet been advanced for creating Mexico if the Swing-Johnson proposal is adopted. Senator Johnson declares that the United States will deal equitably with Mexico and that Mexican lands will get at least as much water under the plan as they get now. He points out that it would be too altruistic for the United States to build a dam at an enormous expenditure to regulate the flow of water and still retain the international canal from which Mexico could extract one-half the water. Of course, the American interests holding land irrigated by the international canal, oppose the setting up of an all-American irrigation plant. Nevertheless, the Imperial Valley farmers declare that the canal from the river is their jugular vein and that it is dangerous to have it run through a foreign country.

The present canal, moreover, has not allowed the fullest development of the saucer-like Imperial Valley. Without power, the water cannot be pumped up to the higher and arid stretches. If the Boulder Dam project is adopted, water will be available for these elevated acres. This point has given opponents of the bill another argument. They declare that the country has too many abandoned farms now and there is no use to add more competition to the stricken farmer. To this, the proponents reply to that the Imperial Valley, being intensely hot for many months of the year, produces farm products far in advance of other sections and therefore does not compete in the ordinary markets.

Now, we come to the water supply of the city of Los Angeles and the power needed to pump the water from Boulder Dam, 250

PARLEY IS BEST WAY OUT OF TROUBLE AT SHANGHAI, DECLARES LLOYD GEORGE

Powers Might as Well Recognize That Educated Chinese Nationalists Are in Saddle to Stay, He Says.

By DAVID LLOYD GEORGE.
War-Time Premier of England.

LONDON, Jan. 29.

THE situation in China is one of increasing gravity. The British Government is dispatching an army to China—infantry, artillery and airplanes. They have decided that Shanghai shall not be Hankowed. The defense of Shanghai is not to be confined to the foreign settlement. The whole city is to be defended against the approaching Cantonese army. There are no doubt sound military reasons for this decision. If the city itself should fall into the hands of a hostile force, the settlement would be indefensible.

Battleships are hurrying to Chinese waters to support land troops. The combined force will be formidable but I can express no opinion as to its adequacy. It seems, on the face of it, to be much too small a body of troops to defend a front of 21 miles.

The Cantonese army is probably 10 times as numerous as the small British force, but the British military advisers are reckoning on the fact that the advancing foe is very inferior in equipment.

Much Depends on Shanghai Attitude.

Much will depend on the attitude of the army of the Shanghai Government, commanded by Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, and on the conduct of the population of that city. It has a population of 1,500,000 and if it is at all troublesome, a considerable number of troops would be absorbed in purely policing operations.

But I have no doubt that the military advisers of the Government have taken these considerations into account and are fully satisfied that a well-equipped British division can, with the support of what will soon be a powerful fleet, adequately meet every emergency.

The Manchurian war lord declares, in a boastful message to the British press, that his armies are marching on Hankow and he is confident that they can dispose with ease of the Cantonese army and soon relieve Shanghai of any danger from that quarter. One could place greater reliance on his boast had he succeeded in defeating the army of the Christian general which is on his flank.

The British Government would do well not to depend too much on timely aid reaching the threatened settlement at Shanghai from the slow moving warriors of Chang Tso Lin.

Determined Attack by Chinese Unlikely.

Nothing in the recent or past history of Chinese military operations would lead us to expect a determined attack on entrenched troops equipped with machine guns and airplanes and supported by modern artillery. Eugene Chen's army is poorly supplied with cannon and I very much doubt whether he has any guns of a caliber that would shatter a well constructed trench. His last proclamation proves that he is quite alive to the deficiency of his army in this respect. He makes it clear that he means to rely on economic weapons. These are the most redoubtable in his arsenal.

The British Government reckons that if he ever reaches the environs of Shanghai he will not attempt an assault but will call a halt and negotiate. If their calculation turns out to be an accurate forecast, then the Government stands a chance of scoring a real triumph for British policy in the East.

Question of Generals and Not of Troops.

Success on these lines will depend on two or three contingencies. The first is the arrival of British reinforcements at Shanghai before the Cantonese reach their objective. The other is the steadiness of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang's army.

It is assumed that Sun Chuan Fang is the irreconcilable enemy of Eugene Chen, but no one quite trusts his subordinates.

Chinese victories are usually won by detaching generals and not by defeating troops.

It would be almost beyond the capacity of a single division of the best troops in the world to dislodge a mutinous army numbering scores of thousands from the narrow streets and alleys of a great city, especially with a hostile army outside the gates.

The other contingency, which is not improbable having regard to the Oriental mind, is that the Cantonese army will not attack but camp in the vicinity and remain passive for a period, which will constitute a real embarrassment to the British Government and to all foreign traders.

This seems to be the present intention of the Southern leader and if he can keep his troops together for a sufficiently long time, the Powers would be compelled to advance or to parley. The former course would involve a costly war with a ruined China, too poor to trade at the end of the struggle.

Best Hope for All Lies in Negotiation.

The best hope for both sides lies in negotiation. If Chen is prepared seriously to discuss terms, then a settlement may be effected which will open a new chapter in the history of China and in her relations with Western civilization.

Whether this result can be attained will depend on the statesmanship of two men who will be in supreme direction of the negotiations—Sir Austen Chamberlain and Eugene Chen, one of them speaking on behalf of an Empire of between 300,000,000 and 400,000,000 and the other the ablest spokesman of a race of equal numbers.

The two together represent more than half the human beings on the globe. Chen actually governs provinces with an aggregate population equal to that of the United States, but in his desire to achieve independence for China he has the whole race behind him. To secure durable peace, Chamberlain will have to concede more than will please many of his imperialistic friends and Chen will have to accept less than his nationalist supporters demand.

Military Victory Settles Nothing.

The memorandum recently issued by the British Foreign Secretary is in itself an act of supreme courage and reveals the spirit of exalted statesmanship which will ever stand to his credit.

He knows that military victory settles nothing and may even destroy every hope of a real settlement. The victors cannot govern vast territories of Southern China. The Cantonese Government represents at the moment a higher kind of authority and it succeeds in maintaining some kind of order. Hankow was an unpleasant business for the British community, but there were no lives lost in the concession and not much property destroyed or purloined, and if the forces that maintain order are dispersed, chaos will follow.

The British people seek no territory, they only want facilities to pursue their trade without moles-

Fossil Fishes in State Capitol.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MISSOURI'S $5,000,000 State Capitol building affords unanswerable evidence to uphold the study of evolution. One of the mysteries of Nature is shown in the form of large fossil fish vertebrae within the very stones used in constructing the splendid building. Who will dare contend that this mute evidence is not a rebuke to anti-evolution propaganda for laws to interfere with Nature study? The front steps in the approach to the Capitol and also the inside stairway leading to the Legislature show the fish bones plainly. When those fish were alive, the stone did not exist. The rock apparently developed afterwards. If we exclude all knowledge other than what can be acquired from Bible study we would be deprived of the benefits of mechanical inventions, electrical wonders, chemistry, surgery, the study of disease germs, etc. Everything modern would be excluded, because all things evolved from something in its crude form, which we previously did not understand and apply to our own uplift. We simply understand nature's bounties better than previously. The lessons were from Nature's book. Let the bigot deny the wonders of the radio and enact a law declaring it to be untrue. Ridicule will be his reward. Education is the evolution process in escaping from the ignorance of the embryonic brain of primitive man who feared everything he did not understand. Look backward at his condition. He could not write his name, and could not pronounce the word evolution, yet some mysterious force made him think, more and even more his mind was evolving.

For Better Protection of Animals.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE State of Missouri has thus far failed to pass a law protecting any animal which cannot be classified under the heading "domestic cattle." Unless an act of cruelty to a dog, or any other animal not specifically mentioned, is committed within the limits of a city or a town having a local ordinance protecting them, the guilty persons cannot be punished or prevented from committing the same act over and over again.

You, of course, want this changed, and a very determined effort must be made to bring it about during the present session of the Legislature.

We are also endeavoring to have a bill passed similar to that in force in most states, introducing humane education in our public schools.

Assistance is needed, and we are going to ask your readers to write to their representatives urging them to support these bills. It will probably cost in the neighborhood of $1000 to maintain a qualified representative at Jefferson City during the session of the Legislature and, to meet other necessary expenses of the campaign. Any contribution to this very worthy cause your readers may wish to make will be welcome.

Farmers Should Organize.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

LOWDEN says the farmers must have a profit; or, he intimates, the farmers will quit. In other words if the farmer is not better paid he will go on strike and the consuming world will suffer. Idle threat. The farmer is not organized. A strike of farmers would be impossible—for while some of them might strike, the balance would only work harder in order to benefit by whatever higher prices would obtain.

The farmer will always be at a disadvantage unless organized. He will be unable to set the prices on his product. And until he is able to do that he will be more or less at the mercy of others. Lowden says farmers are business men. Well, who ever heard of a business man who had nothing to say as to the price of his wares?

Reforestation a Vital Necessity.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE alarming frequency with which storms of cyclonic proportions have wreaked their fury upon our land can in a measure be traced to well-defined causes.

It is clear that the plains, or level lands, require barriers to resist and diminish the force of the wind, which without opposition would gain great headway. And only Nature can supply the means of protection. This she does in the form of sturdy trees.

Hundreds of years ago the European countries learned that in order to preserve their forests up to a standard requisite to their needs they were compelled to pass laws to the effect that trees must be planted to replace the timber that was cut down. Before long this country must do the same, as so vital a question cannot be left to the decision of the individual. To be effective a uniform ruling must be passed by law regulating the planting of trees according to the needs of localities.

ADOLPH S. NORDQUEST,

Ashtabula, O.

WHAT ABOUT CHINA?

Secretary Kellogg's statement on the Chinese situation has disappointed Pekin. The official reaction in that city, according to an Associated Press dispatch, seems to be that the statement contained only platitudes. Its proposals, it is complained, are not so concrete as Great Britain's.

Perhaps this criticism is in point. Mr. Kellogg acknowledged that it would be difficult to make definite proposals to China, or to negotiate treaties, until China organized a responsible government with authority to act. China now has two governments, one North, the other South. China is really in the throes of a revolution. Great Britain, however, with her greater political skill and diplomatic experience, has surmounted the obstacle that has stymied our State Department. Great Britain has submitted her proposals to both of the Chinese factions. Those proposals include full tariff autonomy, surrender of extra-territorial privileges and complete sovereignty over British concessions.

These British proposals confirm in a practical way the assertion by H. G. Wells, and the claims of eminent Chinese savants, that China is awakening. A man has appeared in China, Gen. Chiang Kei-shek, whom history may acclaim as the Washington of the Orient. As a result of his unprecedented military successes a nationalistic spirit has been born in China. Whatever her internal differences, China today is a unit against foreign aggression and the unfair conditions imposed upon her by ancient commercial treaties, by "extra-territoriality" and "spheres of influence" with which patter a vicious diplomacy was used to gild its predatory designs.

China purposes to end all this. The foreigner in China shall not enjoy advantages over the Chinese in China. The one-sided, unfair commercial treaties must be abrogated. China is demanding equality in her relations with other nations.

Sixteen nations have treaties of this character with China. They are: Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Mexico, The Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States. Some two years ago China addressed an identical note to all those nations proposing a revision of those treaties. In no instance, not even our own, was a satisfactory answer given. China was not discouraged. She was not bluffed. The first of those treaties upon which she could properly act was that with Belgium. China has abrogated that treaty. Belgium has referred the case to the International Court of Justice. That tribunal's jurisdiction in the issue involved would be debatable even if China agreed to try the suit there. China has not agreed. Such agreement, China contends, would be a confession of her state of inequality—a condition to which she will not longer submit. One by one similar treaties with the other 15 nations will be abrogated, unless the nations voluntarily terminate them and relinquish advantages they have wrung by superior force.

It is a pretty big program. But if justice is to obtain it must be carried out. The Covenant of the League of Nations leaves to its members no option in the premises. They have got to comply with China's demands or make the covenant a scrap of paper.

It is possible we have sinned away our day of grace in this Chinese situation. It seems a fair inference now that if we had adopted the resolution introduced two years ago by Representative Porter, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, we might now have the moral leadership in this problem which Great Britain has apparently seized. Still, the opportunity remains for our Government to render distinguished international service by following Great Britain's lead. As China's historic friend we can consistently uphold the British proposals and by so doing we can undoubtedly influence the attitude of other nations that may be marking time until we show our hand. Certainly if Great Britain can propose a just recognition of China's demands to both factions in China we can do likewise. That seems to be the practical step for us to take now.

A TIMELY COMMENTARY.

I think it is a blunder and foreign to the New Testament faith to lay hold on legislatures and the civil power to compel certain interpretations of the Bible. It is a reversal of our Christian position. The provocation is sometimes great, as when wanton attacks are made upon the Christian religion by teachers in state schools. But Christ's religion calls for spiritual weapons of defense, not laws and penalties, courts and juries.

These are the words of Dr. E. Y. Mullins, distinguished Baptist, president of the Baptist World Alliance and of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville. They form a timely and eloquent commentary on the extra-religious activities of the fundamentalists, who are at the present moment besieging numerous State Legislatures throughout the country with bills designed to make people orthodox by statute.

AN ANSWER TO "STONE AGE'S" QUESTION.

"Stone Age" Jackson, co-author of Missouri's monkey bill, has asked a pertinent question. He wants to know why, if we are descended from monkeys, there are still monkeys today.

We do not know whether or not "Stone Age" has ever heard of the scientific phrase "reversion to type." The phenomenon that phrase describes answers his question.

Reversion means the reappearance in an animal or plant of characteristics not of its parent, but of more remote ancestors. Thus man, animal or vegetable proceeding in a calm, evolutionary way to a higher form sometimes slips back and goes wild.

This phenomenon may be witnessed on the veldt of far-off Africa as well as on our native soil. No matter how long nature spends in developing men, there will always be some monkeys among them.

A SIX PER CENT REVOLT.

Statements made on the floor of the Senate that the Mellon interests had recently acquired Lord Cowdray's extensive oil holdings in Mexico are incorrect. The Secretary of the Treasury has denied it in an interview given to a Post-Dispatch correspondent. The country will be glad to learn the report is untrue. Such a deal at this time would have had an unfortunate effect on public opinion. The inevitable inference would have been that the British magnate, because of the disturbed conditions in Mexico, had sold at a reduced price and that the Mellon group, counting on our Government's policy, had taken advantage of the situation to get hold of valuable property at a bargain.

Such inference, however, would have been unfair. Our Government has not professed any solicitude for American citizens who have invested in Mexico since the adoption of the Carranza constitution in 1917, with its so-called confiscatory provision. It is as titles of property acquired before that convention that our government has been concerned; it has been, and continues to be, adamant on the point that such property shall not be confiscated.

The principle of this contention is too sound to be challenged. But Mexico has all along disavowed any intention to confiscate and events are corroborating that assertion. There are 666 foreign oil companies in Mexico and all but 22 of them have complied with the new petroleum law. The 22 dissenting companies, which include Doheny, Sinclair, Standard Oil and the Mellon group—the American big four—control less than 6 per cent of Mexico's oil acreage. They are, therefore, a small minority and on them as such the burden rests of proving their case.

We do not see how they can prove it. Are the owners of 94 per cent of Mexico's oil lands any less jealous of their property rights or any less opposed to confiscation than the Doheneys, Sinclairs, Rockefellers or Mellons? Of course not.

Yet that is the absurdity we are asked to believe. Common sense rejects it.

THE MESSRS. COOLIDGE.

It was Mr. Coolidge himself who said at Omaha in 1925:

> Our country has definitely relinquished the old standards of dealing with other countries by terror and force and is definitely committed to the new standard of dealing with them through friendship and understanding.

It was another Mr. Coolidge, spokesman of those who exploit Nicaragua and support with Marines and warships a Government she does not want, who said to Congress on Jan. 11, 1927:

> It has always been and remains the policy of the United States in such circumstances to take the steps that may be necessary for the preservation and protection of the lives, the property and the interests of its citizens and of this Government itself. In this respect I propose to follow the path of my predecessors.

Since the same man could not have definitely turned his back upon the past and still be following the path of his predecessors, they must be two. Meet the Messrs. Coolidge.

THE SCHOOL FOR POLITICIANS.

William McAndrew, Superintendent of Schools at Chicago, says the best thing that happened in 1926 was the expulsion of Henry Suzzallo from the presidency of the University of Washington and the consequent realization by the American people that such a thing could happen.

Unless we are mistaken, they already knew it could happen. It had happened in Kansas, where the Governor had deposed the president of the State University for political reasons, a perfect prototype of the Washington case.

A good thing to happen in any year is removal by the people of such Governors as that. Kansas happily got rid of hers last January, and the Damoclean recall petition is swinging over the lead of the too-politically-minded Governor of Washington.

Education is not something from which politicians are debarred. They also can learn.

OUR VIRTUOUS BACKWARDNESS.

Missouri is accused of being an unprogressive commonwealth, of being opposed to all sorts of innovations in government. The charge is unquestionably merited. We are so backward, indeed, that we sometimes become ashamed of ourselves, and wonder if we shouldn't try to do something about it.

But this trait of ours is not always to be deplored, as we are reminded whenever an attempt is made to induce us to adopt some new variety of fanatical nostrum, such as the pending antievolution measure. In such emergencies, we may rely upon our notorious unprogressiveness to save us from dire disaster. For we have, as our recent history indicates, been quite as backward in adopting fraudulent reforms as in adopting worthy ones. We defeated prohibition in several plebiscites, and during the antired crusade following the war we refused to follow the fashion of other states by putting an antisyndicalism law upon our statute books.

Yes, we have a cause to offer thanks for our admitted backwardness. For, you see, it works both ways. It not only keeps us from being economical, but it likewise saves us from becoming foolish.

SWIMMING IN THEIR OWN SEA.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

THE CORN BORER APPROPRIATION.

From the Akron Beacon-Journal.

SOME people do not like the Beacon-Journal's suggestion that if $10,000,000 is appropriated by Congress for the war on corn borers, not a red cent of it will go to any farmer to help him battle the plague. Of course it won't. Bureaus and jobholders will gobble the $10,000,000. The most they will do by way of giving the public any benefit from the squander will be to "diffuse" information among husbandmen on how to kill the borers. It should be known that this paternal office of government was hardly needed among farmers. Already in their institutes, grange meetings and other neighborhood councils they have had the last word on the subject, and most of them are applying their own measures to protect their corn crop.

The $10,000,000 provided at Washington will only hector them with a few more inspectors.

Senator Reed of Missouri has made an effective answer to the argument of pap-suckers that the public derives any particular benefit from any of the millions allotted to the support of jobholders dispensing Federal aid. He is yet to hear of a mother who has been aided by the maternity bill, of a housewife who has been enabled to bake a better apple pie, or any other class which has been helped to greater efficiency in life through the great information diffused by these parasites. The public which has to pay the freight is inclined to agree with him.

TIPPING WAITRESSES.

From the Champaign (Ill.) News-Gazette.

WAITRESSES, according to the public confessions of one of them, have a very involved philosophy of life and of living and livers. The philosophy for the most part concerns the gentle art of tipping. In their estimation, those people who stick a nickel or dime under their plate "because it's expected of them" are almost negligible. And the ones who meticulously add 10 per cent of their bill are almost as bad. The "stiff" who doesn't tip at all is a total loss and will find himself with cold soup and no butter or water when he comes the next time. The only human being worth an order of "ham an'" is the jovial individual who throws down a quarter or half-dollar because he enjoyed his meal and appreciated his service. Somehow the confessing waitress confuses wish with deed. It does not seem to occur to her that scores of us who slip a dime under the plate, or, perhaps, slips nothing at all, are not stingy and are not devoid of appreciation. It does not occur to her that the men who, with a gesture, can slip half dollars down on the counter are not nearly so brave as the ones who slip less or nothing. She does not seem to recognize at all the plain misery of the non-tippers who own that title simply because the family budget will not permit it. Tipping is a luxury that many people cannot afford when the grocery bill is big and the baby needs shoes.

A LESSON IN SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.

From the Spokane Spokesman Review.

WHEN the 1926 record is finally set down, it will be found that banks of the United States increased their savings depositors by 3,000,000 in the 12 months. These deposited an additional $1,500,000,000 in savings accounts. In so doing, they have set a new per capita record in savings with an average of $211 in savings for every man, woman and child in the country. These figures have been compiled by the savings bank division of the American Bankers' Association. Mutual savings banks gained more than 300,000 depositors; national banks more than 700,000, and other state banks and trust companies more than 1,800,000. More than 500,000 of the total increase came from increased numbers of depositors in school savings accounts. These, of course, are relatively small and have a tendency to reduce the national per capita average. New England leads with a per capita average of savings of $495. The middle Atlantic states come second with $368, and the Pacific states rank third with $260. This is a purely arbitrary figure on savings averages, based on the total savings for the district divided by the census figure in population. Obviously, thousands in every district have no savings at all. California leads in the West with an average per capita savings of $389. Nevada has $250 and Oregon $130. Washington trails along with $126 and Idaho averages only $53 per capita of population in savings. These variations are not explained in the report.

NEGROES IN CONGRESS.

From the Pathfinder.

SINCE the establishment of the present Government of the United States, two Negroes have sat in the Senate. They were Hiram H. Revels who was Senator from Mississippi in 1870 and 1871, and B. K. Bruce who was Senator from the same State for the term 1875 to 1881. There have been 21 Negro Representatives in the national Congress. The States which have had one or more Negro Representatives are as follows: South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina, Alabama and Florida. George White, of North Carolina, was the last Negro to serve as a Congressman. His second term expired in 1900.

Parley at Shanghai Is Advised by Lloyd George

tation. The time is past in China when trade can be propelled by gunpowder.

The Japanese understand this well and are biding their opportunity to push their goods when Britain has completed her alienation of the Chinese by crushing their nationalist revival with violence.

Whilst making no concession to the nationalist demands, the Japanese Government has, with great subtlety, sought to create the impression that it has denied none.

It is probably underrating the shrewdness of the Chinese who are not altogether taken in by this cunning that gives nothing the Chinese seek and takes full advantage of everything the other Powers extort.

Conquest of Trade Is the Real Issue.

The struggle in China is not altogether between rival war lords for the conquest of the empire, but also between the competing Powers for the capture of trade. Sir Austen Chamberlain is quite alive to that aspect of the question. He will, I hope, not forget the mistakes of the Allies in Russia. He must at all costs avoid getting mixed up with the Denikins, the Wrangels and Kolchaks of China.

But negotiation is not only the real opportunity of the British; it is also the right policy for Chen. If he resorts to war, he cannot hope in the end to defeat Great Britain in actual fighting, provided we do not repeat the folly of our Russian enterprises by getting mixed up with factional armies and invading the interior.

He knows that well. On the other hand, if he makes a good peace with the British, the other Powers cannot refuse him the same terms. His proclamations show him to be a statesman of high rank.

Cantonese Policy Given in Summary.

A London Times correspondent thus summarizes his policy:

"The whole ultimate object is to unify the provinces under one government; to raise the standard of living; to free the country from the domination of foreigners; to give national endeavor fullest scope and to put China on a level with the other powers. To this end, education will be promoted, industry fostered, internal and foreign trade encouraged. Property will be respected but capital will not be allowed to become dominant as in the United States. Foreigners will have equal opportunities with and engagin gin enterprise and treaties will be made with foreign powers on the basis of reciprocity. Apparently Canton is prepared, all existing treaties having been canceled, to have foreigners trading and engaging in enterprises and owning property in the interior, privileges at present denied in part or in whole. Missionary endeavor will be permitted, provided the new cult which canonizes Sun Yat Sen is respected and schools conform to certain regulations. The Cantonese, in short, plan to make China entirely modern and self-supporting but not exclusive."

Distortion to Call Program Bolshevism.

It is pure distortion of the phrase to stigmatize that program as bolshevism. Not only has Chen guaranteed to protect foreign lives and property at Hankow but he has undertaken that if, owing to any untoward circumstances, lives are lost and property is destroyed, his Government will pay full compensation. His sole claim is that the Chinese should be accorded the same measure of national independence in their own country as is enjoyed by the smallest South American republic.

When a community of 400,000,000, who constitute the oldest civilized people on earth, put forward so reasonable a claim, it is impossible that any nation should resist it by force without outraging every principle of right and justice in which we all profess to believe.

It will be a difficult task for any Chinese diplomat to persuade the European Powers to abandon, in the course of a single conference, all the privileges which they have enjoyed in China for 80 years. And a point will be arrived at when Chen will have to decide whether he ought to risk everything in the hope of gaining all. If he breaks off negotiations because he cannot secure complete independence at one stage, he may imperil a reality in order to secure a shadow as well. The British memorandum is in itself a notable success for the Chinese national movement.

Situation Stands at Danger Point.

The leaders are now at the danger point of all popular movements where a decision has to be taken as to the limits at which compromise is preferable to continuance of the struggle.

But whatever happens in the immediate future, the Powers will do well to realize that the Chinese national movement has come to stay and that in the end it must be recognized. It is not an uprising of an uneducated rabble who, in all lands, have "foreign devils." The educated classes in China are now at the head of this movement and the Government of China is getting more and more into their hands.

Let us give them an honest welcome and afford them the chance of gaining what alone they now lack—experience. They will certainly use it as well if not better than the Turkish nationalists, to whom, three years ago, we conceded all that the Chinese nationalists are now demanding.

How G. B. Shaw Blundered Into Popularity

When he joined the staff of the Saturday Review, he drastically criticised the English drama of the day, and deliberately launched a violent assault on Shakspeare. This critical twisting of the Lion's Tail led to roars of pained protest against statements like this, "Shakspeare was a born snob, lived a snob and died a snob.

His own dream was to get enough money to go back to Stratford, to buy back the property of his bankrupt family, and get back their coat of arms. Do not imagine that Shakspeare was a democratic character. He had no religious belief, and his philosophy was that evil is greater than good. His plays are crowded with kings and nobles, and the members of the lower classes in them are always servants."

This campaign of levity and irreverance succeeded like wildfire. Bernard Shaw beacme the man of the hour, the jester of the court of King Demos. The younger generation, hilarious and irreverent, laughed consumedly when the old idols were knocked off their pedestals. The older generations lamented the iconoclasm of Shaw; but they were helpless against volleys of ruthless laughter. The explanation of Shaw's rise to fame has been wittily supplied by himself:

"Waggery as a medium is invaluable. My case is really the case of Rabelais over again. When I first began to promulgate by opinion I found that they appeared extravagant and even insane. In order to get a hearing, it was necessary for me to attain the footing of a privileged lunatic, with the license of a jester. Fortunately the matter was very easy. I found that I had only to say with perfect simplicity what I seriously meant just as it struck me, to make everybody laugh. My method is to take the utmost trouble to find the right thing to say and then say it with the utmost levity. And all the time the real joke is that I am in earnest."

Power Lobbyists Oppose Project for Dam

miles to the Western coast. It is from the sale of this power that the Government would recoup the capital invested.

Yearly Income $12,300,000 With $6,200,000 Upkeep.

Secretary Work estimates that the Government would get $10,800,000 annually from the sale of 3,600,000,000 kilowatt hours power at three-tenths of a cent a unit. From the storage and delivery of water for irrigation and domestic purposes, he estimates the gross annual revenue would be $1,500,000.

Against this $12,300,000 he sets the following estimated annual fixed charges:

Operation and maintenance, storage and power, $700,000.

Operation and maintenance, All-American Canal, $500,000.

Interest on $125,000,000 at 4 per cent, $5,000,000.

Total, $6,200,000.

Thus according to Secretary Work the estimated annual surplus sufficient to repay the entire cost in 25 years would be $6,100,000.

The bill, as now drawn and approved by the two congressional committees provides that before any of the construction authorized is begun, the Secretary of the Interior shall have negotiated contracts for water and electrical energy which will assure repayment of all governmental outlays within 50 years from the date of completion of the project. The contracts for water are to be for permanent service while those for electric power shall not be made for more than 50 years.

It is stipulated that the electrical contracts shall be made in conformity with the policy expressed in the Federal Water Power act, that precedence shall be given to political subdivisions rather than private enterprises.

Could Supply Water for California Cities.

The majority report declares that the domestic water supply provision of the bill is important because it "assures beyond question of a doubt the financial integrity of the project."

"The largest agency which by contract will assume the obligation of reimbursing the Government for the cost of the project with interest, will undoubtedly be a public district comprising a large group of cities in Southern California, which will contract both for storage of water at the dam, with its delivery at a point on the river, and also for a large block of power necessary to pump a domestic water supply to an elevation of 1200 or 1300 feet," the report says.

"The coastal belt in Southern California, having a population at present of more than 1,800,000, is fast reaching the limit of its available domestic supply, and careful investigations have shown that the populous cities of this coastal plain, including the city of Los Angeles, must for their own security, acquire an added source of domestic water supply, and the Colorado presents the only place where this may be secured."

The cities of Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale and such others as desire to join, are expected to compose the public district which will contract for water and power, the majority report continues. These cities are prepared, the report says, to spend $150,000,000 for an aqueduct, 257 miles long, to the river. Because of intervening mountain ranges it will be necessary to pump this water to an elevation of 1300 feet.

Boulder Dam Could Provide Adequate Storage Supply.

"While this will be costly," the report states, "a cheap and dependable source of power will not only reduce the financial burden but is necessary to make the plan at all feasible.

"The amount of water required by these cities is 1500 second-feet. This, of course, will not be necessary at once, but as these cities are growing rapidly they must look to the future and provide their vital necessities. To raise a full 1500 second-feet to an elevation of 1300 feet will ultimately require 250,000 constant horse power of electricity.

"Large storage of Boulder canyon is ideally fitted to make it possible for these cities to procure a domestic water supply. The capacity of the reservoir is sufficiently large that there may be obtained enough storage to protect against all dry years or against the upper basin states retaining substantially all of the flow of the river during a dry year. Full conservation thus effected will permit the utilization of water for a domestic supply without impinging upon the irrigation requirements."

Provisions That Make Power Interests See Red.

"These same cities will be applicants for electric current for use in homes and factories. States contiguous will want their share. In short, there can be no doubt that all the power will be contracted for at once."

"Power may well be described as the burden bearer of the project here authorized," the report adds. It might also be described as the provision which has made the power interests see red.

All sorts of amendments have been proposed to the bill and nearly all sought to eliminate this feature of the proposal. Some of the opposition has been open but most of it has been covered. The general cry has been: "We must not let the Government go into the hydro-electric business."

Senator Johnson answers opposition with these arguments:

1. The Colorado River project was primarily designed for flood control, which has always been a Federal operation. More than $100,000,000 have been spent on flood control for the Mississippi River and the Government has not been reimbursed. By combining flood control irrigation and electric power development, the Government will not expend 1 cent which will not be repaid.

2. The project was also designed for reclamation of arid land, which has almost always been a Federal proposition. The owners of the new land will help pay for the project through their purchase of water.

Mississippi River Barge Line Provides Precedent.

3. The project, while not experimental, demands the expenditures of large sums which only a few private enterprises could afford. The Inland Waterway Corporation, which operates the Mississippi-Warrior barge lines, sets a precedent for the Government in this regard.

4. Seven states are concerned with the development of this river. No private enterprise and no single state could take care of the conflicting interests of these states.

5. Power development is only incidental to the plan. Nature has made a wonderful reservoir in the Boulder canyon and the Federal Government should be the organization to take advantage of it.

Representative Hayden of Arizona asserts that if the project is adopted California will get more water than his State. Representative Leatherwood of Utah declared that he could not recommend enactment of the proposal because it involved the inauguration of Government ownership and operation of public utilities. Congressional supporters of the bill point out that the Utah Light and Power Co., which has a hydro-electric dam at Flaming Gorge, in Utah, might encounter competition from the Government-operated plant at Boulder dam. This company is owned by the Mormon church.

Raises Voice Against Government Ownership.

Representative Whittington of Mississippi backed up Leatherwood in opposition to Government ownership, declaring that there was no reason for the Government to finance the proposed project.

"The enactment of the proposed legislation is the first great step toward public ownership and operation of public utilities, including power development," Whittington said in concluding a minority report. "I oppose this principle and therefore I oppose this bill."

Senator Johnson declares that the power interests are behind much of the opposition. In a recent statement he said:

"The bill contains alternative provisions designed to give the Secretary of the Interior freedom to act in the best way for the protection of the Government. Under one provision, the Secretary may build and operate power plants and dispose of the power at wholesale at the dam; under another provision the Secretary may build the power plants and lease the units therein; and under still another provision the Secretary may lease the use of the water for the generation of electrical energy, leaving to the lessees the matter of building and operating the power plants.

"The magnitude of the enterprise, its interstate relation, and its international character, make this necessarily a national undertaking. An alternative mode of disposing of the power and power rights is wise and salutary. It gives flexibility to a monumental work that has great possibilities for the welfare of our people and for their prosperity and progress than any proposed legislation of this generation.

"Apparently, the fight has now been taken up by the power companies against this beneficent legislation. If power companies interpose their selfishness and avarice to prevent this great boon, if private individuals place their greed for profits above the safety and welfare of our people, we will endeavor to make the situation plain, and upon the lines now forced upon us press to a definite conclusion the people's right to their own."

Seven States Once Failed to Agree on Project.

In 1922 Representatives of the seven states which would be affected by the development attempted to agree to a plan for the division of the water of the river, each state to have a certain percentage. This plan failed, but a compromise was reached for a division between the upper basin states (Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming) and the lower basin states (Arizona, California and Nevada). Each basin received the exclusive beneficial use of 7,500,000 acre feet of water a year, and the lower basin states were authorized to increase their use of the water. The legislatures of all the states except that of Arizona ratified the compact. California ratified with qualifications. Arizona demanded a supplementary compact among the lower basin states. On Jan. 13, of this year, Utah rescinded its ratification.

The present bill provides that the dam shall not be built until the compact is ratified without condition by at least six states. The trouble over this compact apparently was responsible for the last parargraph of Secretary Hoover's recent statement, which said:

"The form of legislative proposals is never perfect at the start. It can never entirely suit every interest. There must be some bending in compromise if we are to get forward in any subject, and I cannot but feel that the major issues are being overlooked in the apprehension over secondary questions by the sister states in the Colorado basin."

EPISCOPAL BISHOP TO TALK AT QUIET DAY FOR WOMEN

Annual Service, Wednesday, Will Be at St. Michael and All Angels' Church.

The annual quiet day for women of the Episcopal Church will be conducted Wednesday at St. Michael and All Angels' Episcopal Church, by Bishop Thomas C. Darst of Wilmington, N. C., under auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, and will be open to all interested.

Bishop Darst is the national chairman of the Bishop's Crusade, a movement now under way throughout the United States, in behalf of which the Rev. Dr. Joseph Fort Newton of Philadelphia, recently conducted services at St. Peter's Church in St. Louis.

The Quiet Day will open at 10 a. m. with a celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by an address by Bishop Darst on "Consecration of Life." He will speak again at 11:30 a. m. on "The Perils of Complacency," at noon on "Laborers Together with God," at 2 o'clock on "The Bishops' Crusade," and at 2:30 o'clock on "The Pattern Shown Us on the Mount." There will be hymns, prayers, and periods of silent meditation between addresses.

2335 FREE PATIENTS AT ST. MARY'S HOSPITALS

Three Institutions Directed by Sisters of Order of St. Francis File Report for 1926.

The annual report on the three hospitals operated in St. Louis by the Sisters of St. Mary, Third Order of St. Francis, shows that a total of 48,335 "free days" were given to 2335 poor persons during 1926.

The patients afforded hospitalization without charge were divided among the institutions as follows: Mount St. Rose Sanitarium, 236 patients; St. Mary's Hospital, 852; St. Mary's Infirmary, 1247. In addition 24,100 treatments were given at St. Mary's Free Dispensary, Fifteenth street and Chouteau avenue. The total number of hospital days, both free and paid, in the three hospitals during the year was 150,907. This total exceeds the number of hospital days in the six other institutions conducted by the order in Missouri and adjacent states.

The three institutions conducted here by the Sisters of St. Mary are affiliated with the St. Louis University College of Medicine. The hospitals do not hold membership in the Community Fund and the only financial assistance received during the year from any organization was $16,112 from the Hospital Saturday-Sunday Association and $2288 from the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Obstetrical Society. The survey of the year's work shows that 41 nationalities and 11 creeds were included in the charity cases treated. Comparitvely low operating cost of the institutions result chiefly from the fact that the administration duties and much of the nursing is carried in by the Sisters, who receive no pay.

ISSUES ANTIDUMPING ORDER AGAINST GERMAN PIG IRON

Secretary Mellon Levies Special Assessment on Metal Imports From Germany.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—An antidumping order against importation of German pig iron was issued today by Secretary Mellon.

Special assessments against these products will be levied hereafter, in addition to the extra assessment levied against the products pending today's decision.

Mellon revoked the order issued last summer for countervailing duties against German iron and steel products. At the request of the German Ambassador, a joint commission was appointed some time ago to investigate whether German steel industries were receiving subsidies on the basis of which the countervailing duties was ordered.

The Secretary said today that while the question whether such subsidies were given the industry was not free from doubt, the amount of rebate on the finished product was so negligible as to make the order unnecessary.

RETRACTS CHARGES AGAINST HER BROTHER

Mrs. P. T. Johnson Also Dismisses Suit Against C. H. Tinsley and Others.

A complete retraction of charges of fraud which Mrs. Pearl T. Johnson of Beverly Hills, Cal. made against her brother, Claude H. Tinsley, vice president of the Missouri Insurance Co., was contained in her motion to dismiss her suit, which Federal Judge Davis granted yesterday.

She had sued for recovery of 900 shares of stock in the insurance company willed to her by her husband, the late Walter A. Johnson, its founder. In her petition she alleged that Tinsley had bought the stock from her for $283,000 by misrepresenting its value, and that it was worth $1,000,000. She had charged that Tinsley entered into a conspiracy with Jopseph A. Walker, president of the Missouri Insurance Co. and Thomas O. West, a vice president, to buy her stock and thus gain control of the business.

Mrs. Johnson's retraction covers the allegations made against West and Walker. She sets forth that she was misled in making the charges and did not know the true value of the stock. This true value, the motion to dismiss avers, is $450,000 and this sum Mrs. Johnson has received from the purchasers. She avows "full and complete satisfaction" with the settlement and acknowledges that she has no further claim upon Tinsley, West or Walker. The deal with Tinsley is explained by her admission that she authorized him to sell her stock for $450,000 and all proceeds of the sale went to her.

When the motion to dismiss was first presented yesterday morning, Edward D'Arcy of D'Arcy & Neun, her counsel, protested against it, but later in the day Walter J. G. Neun, president of the Board of Aldermen and D'Arcy's partner, signed the agreement. Neun explained that D'Arcy's protest was to obtain a delay in which final details of the settlement might be worked out.

FIVE PERSONS ARE HURT IN TWO SMALL RESIDENCE FIRES

Woman's Fall While Carrying Candle Cause of One Blaze—Losses Nominal.

Burns and other injuries were suffered in two small residence fires Friday night by five persons.

A lighted candle carried by Mrs. Mathilda Schiemp was the cause of the blaze in her flat at 4145A Shaw boulevard at 7:10 p. m. Friday. She tripped on a rug and the candle fell in a closet, igniting clothing. Mrs. Schiemp and her daughter, Katherine, were burned about the hands and arms. The damage to the flat and contents was $500.

The other fire, which caused $250 damage to house and furnishings, started shortly after midnight on the first floor of a rooming house at 1269 Mississippi avenue. Edward Bunch, one of the roomers, was burned seriously on both feet in trying to extinguish the flames. Miss Myrtle Curtner's left hand was burned, and the right foot of her brother, George Curtner, was lacerated. Six other occupants of the dwelling escaped unhurt.

ST. LOUIS BUSINESS PHONE RATES STAND

Extension of Increase Granted Pending Disposition of City's Appeal.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—A new extension of the period for increased rates of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for business telephones in St. Louis until the city's pending appeal to the State Supreme Court against the increase is disposed of was granted today by the Public Service Commission.

The increase amounts to about $584,000 a year. It was originally permitted for 21 months, ending July 31 last, and then extended until next Monday. The new extension was granted according to the commission to keep the records clear and to keep the rate schedule in effect.

Another suit pending in the Supreme Court questions the commission's right to grant such an extension while an appeal from the rate order is pending.

There is some question as to whether the city's appeal was filed in time. If the court holds it was not and dismisses the case, the new extension will remain in effect while the commission proceeds to a final determination of the

SOLDIERS DIG UP $30,000 SPURIOUS CURRENCY CACHE

Detail of Prisoners Finds Counterfeit Notes That Had Been Buried by Member of Ring.

DISCOVERY RUINS MILITARY MORALE

Searchers Had Not Been Told What They Were Seeking and Thought Money Was Genuine.

A detail of Jefferson Barracks guardhouse prisoners, poking about the ground with iron rods yesterday, found the $30,000 of worthless buried "treasure" for which secret service men had been searching on the reservation for two days.

The "treasure" was worthless because it comprised only counterfeit $20 Federal Reserve notes printed in St. Louis by a counterfeiting ring of which six alleged members are now under arrest. The bogus money was found in a black tin lunch box about eight inches under the surface in a lonely wooded section half a mile west of the Barracks street car station. It had been concealed there since Christmas eve.

The hunt for the cache was begun by secret service men Friday when Eugene Poole, photographer, of 709 Washington boulevard, confessed he had hidden the money and led the officers to the spot. They dug over a large area with picks and shovels Friday, but failed to make a "strike." A military guard was then stationed about the locality that night and yesterday a labor detail was brought out from the guardhouse in the charge of First Lieut. A. H. Lewis.

Got a Glimpse of "Treasure."

Twelve prisoners set to work about 8 a. m., equipped with iron rods. They were told only that they were looking for a tin box and their excitement grew tense as they poked and prodded about. Half an hour later one of them jabbed something that sounded like tin and the others threw down their tools and crowded around the spot, eager to see what it was all about. A shovel was brought into action and the box unearthed, but still its contents remained a mystery to the workers, for Lieut. Lewis passed it unopened to Secret Service Operative Davenport, and, ordering the men in line, started to march them away.

They marched off supposedly at "attention," but in reality with all eyes turned to the rear. Their suspense was a sight to excite compassion, so Davenport, grateful for their help, decided to reward them. He allowed the box lid to fall open, revealing that fat roll of greenbacks. The prisoners didn't know the bills were counterfeit. They thought it was a fortune and set off a bedlam of whistles.

Says He Burned $50,000.

"How much you got?" one was heard to ask another as they marched away.

"I got a nickel," was the response. "How much you got?"

As has been told, Poole was arrested with his partner, George McKay, in a raid on their photographic studio Thursday. He admitted the ring had printed $290,000 of spurious currency and that he had received $80,000 as his share. Following the arrest of Lee Miller, another alleged member of the band, in Kansas City, on Dec. 14, Poole said, he became alarmed and started to destroy his $80,000. He said he burned $50,000 of it, one note at a time, in the flame of a candle, but found this method too slow and determined to destroy the rest in bulk. He "destroyed" it by burying it in the woods and remembering the spot.

E. G. LEWIS VISITS CITY FOR FIRST TIME IN 14 YEARS

Calls on Attorney on His Way to Washington and Will Stop Here on His Return.

E. G. Lewis, founder of University City, visited St. Louis Friday, for the first time in about 14 years. He left here following the collapse of his publishing enterprises in the suburb he founded.

He arrived late Thursday and departed Friday for Washington, D. C., after calling on Patrick H. Cullen, attorney, who defended him successfully under Federal charges there of use of the mails to defraud. He told Cullen he intended stopping here again on his return trip. For a number of years he has operated enterprises at Atascadero, Cal., which he promoted as a "dream city." A year ago he was discharged from bankruptcy in California, thereby escaping $10,000,000 in obligations. He faces trial on new Federal charges in California of using the mails to defraud in one of his schemes.

RIVER TAKES CROWDS FROM BAND CONCERTS

Automobiles and Theaters Other Factors, Tower Grove Park Board Reports.

Within the memory of all but the youngest generation of St. Louisans, it once was considered a treat to go to a public park and hear a brass band concert, provided by a beneficent municipality. A changed attitude is noted in the 1926 report of the commissioners of Tower Grove Park.

This outdoor recreation place was the gift to the city of Henry Shaw, founder of Shaw's Garden, and while publicly supported, is administered by a special board. Band concerts there were interrupted for a five-year period, but last year the city provided $2000 for their resumption, in the afternoon instead of the evening, to avoid conflicting with the Municipal Theater entertainment. The commissioners' report states:

"The lesssened demand for band concerts was demonstrated by the falling off in attendance as compared with earlier times. The outdoor attraction of bathing beaches, the presence in the city of many new treatrical houses and the extended use of the automobile have provided so many other sources of diversion that the demand for park concerts is less urgent than it once was, though they still fill a need for many. The audiences of last summer were not of 6000 or 8000, as in the past, but of 1000 to 3000, and of an especially appreciative and quiet character, and the music was kept corresponding on a dignified plane."

Evidences of Vandalism.

Another commentary on the public attitude is contained in the report, in the statement that one-tenth of the labor employed there in summer and part in winter is occupied in picking up waste paper and other rubbish. Furthermore, the custodians daily "find new evidences of carelessness and vandalism, such as gates and railings wrecked, trees barked, lawns furrowed by wheels, windows and playground apparatus broken, and statues bedaubed with tar."

Tower Grove Park has a tree problem, reported on as follows:

"The chief activities of the past year, in addition to routine care and restoration, were treepalnting and replenishment of the park nursery for the future, continuation of road improvement and the treatment of older roads, some improvement of the drainage system and extensive painting and repair of buildings. Steady effort has been made for years to replace dead trees by replanting at the rate of three or more to one and also to extend the planting into barren portions of the park.

"The number of trees planted annually in the park is much greater than citizens might estimate from appearances. For about seven years, trees from one to three inches in diameter have been placed in position at the rate of about 1000 each year, and these have been maintained without undue losses. Fortunately, young trees are less liable to storm injury than older ones, but the drouth of last summer took heavy toll among them. Last year's tree planting was divided between spring and fall, to reduce the disadvantages of each season to a minimum.

Shrubs Cost $3990.

"During the year 1178 trees a part of them from the nursery, and 384 shrubs were planted. Numbers of small trees and shrubs have been placed in the nursery at low cost to be used a few years later for open planting. The total expenditures for purchases and planting of trees and shrubs for the year was $3990.

"In selecting, reliance has been placed upon species that are hardy, smoke-resistant and of rapid growth, such as soft maples, poplars, sycamores and willows, but these have been extensively supplemented with hard maples, oaks in variety, tulip trees, yellow birches, lindens and a number of the more unusual but ornamental kinds.

"Lawns suffered severly during the dry winter of 1925-26, and spring renovation involved heavy cost for new grass seed. The drouth of the summer increased the difficulty to the point where all grass was dried and brown, and fires were of daily occurrence. Though early fall rains helped the situation, the lawns are in many places in need of restoration.

"The water lily ponds were of unusual interest and excellence during the summer of 1926, displaying in the chain of little lakes the many hybrids originated and retained at the park."

22,705 Used Playground.

During the summer school vacation, 22,705 boys and girls used the park's playground. From May 8 to early autumn, 32,837 persons used the tennis courts, 4746 free permits having been issued. Income of the park board was $50,807, including $45,000 from the city, and expenses were $51,438, a little more than half going for labor and salaries. It is noted that a considerable amount of money will be needed to put the newly acquired 200-foot strip of land surrounding the park and a corner formerly held as private property into proper condition.

The commissioners, who are empowered to receive gifts or bequests for a memorial to Henry Shaw, suggest that "the debt of the city to its greatest benefactor" should not be forgotten. At present there is only a modest medallion on the base of the Humboldt statue in the park.

30 DAYS, $100 FINES FOR TWO DRIVERS

Defendants in Traffic Cases to Appeal From Police Court Convictions.

The inability of two automobile drivers, charged with driving while intoxicated, to walk along a straight line drawn on the floor, and stand on one leg when tested at City Hospital for drunkenness, gave them some explaining to do yesterday when they appeared in Police Court.

"I wasn't drunk," said Mike Krumnacker, 44 years old, of 2155 Gravois avenue, a tailor. "I have astigmatism in my eyes."

"I wasn't drunk," said James Seaver, 48, a painter, of 4106 Westminster place. "I have rheumatism in my legs."

Six witnesses had testified that Krumnacker, arrested Sept. 15 while zig-zagging along Gravois avenue, was drunk and that he had an alcoholic breath. Policemen testfied that Seaver, arrested Dec. 13 at Twelfth boulevard and Chestnut street, was drunk and that he had an alcoholic breath.

"How about your breath," Police Judge Rosecan asked each defendant. Krumnacker was silent, but Seaver said: "It must have come from stuff we use in paints."

"A hundred-dollar fine and 30 days in the Workhouse for each of you," said Judge Rosecan.

They will appeal.

LITTLE BUYING FOR FUTURE IN ST. LOUIS

Federal Reserve Report Shows Merchants Provide Only for Immediate Use.

A changed method of doing business, which has become increasingly apparent in recent years, that of buying goods only for immediate requirements instead of for future months, is reflected in the observations of the Federal Reserve Bank for the St. Louis district, as told in the bank's current monthly business review.

The report states that "future business on the books of manufacturers and wholesalers is at a lower ebb than at any similar period in more than a decade." At the reserve bank it was estimated that such business was 3½ to 5 per cent lower than previously in the period mentioned, but no definite compilation was made, the statement being a general observation.

"This doesn't mean business depression," it was said at the bank, "but indicates a changed technique of doing business. However, current business is not as good as last year; in some lines it is 18 per cent less, in others only 2 per cent, and an average would be hard to determine."

Purchasing of commodities, the report declared, almost universally is on an immediate requirement basis, and except in a few instances manufacturers are making up very small quantities of goods for which they have no actual orders.

A "moderately decreased activity" of business and industry in this reserve district is noted in the report, both as compared with that reported for the previous month and a year ago. Many industrial plants have not resumed operations at a rate as high as prevailed before the recent holiday and inventory periods, the current report declared, and wholesalers and jobbers have complained of backward buying during the last month.

During December, department store sales were less than during the same month of 1925; building activity, as measured by permits issued and contracts let, was lower than during the preceding year, and the downward trend in automobile production and distribution continued. A decrease in employment and an increase in surplus labor were noted.

ADVISES VETERANS TO REINSTATE INSURANCE

Bureau Warns Holders of Lapsed Policies They Must Act Before July 2.

Attention of World War veterans who permitted their Government insurance to lapse is being called to the fact that the policies must be reinstated and converted before July 2, when the time limit for such action expires.

Of the $40,500,000,000 of Federal insurance held by the 4,600,000 former soldiers, less than $3,000,000,000 worth has been reinstated. The number of veterans now holding policies is 566,405. President Coolidge, in a recent proclamation, urged former service men to reinstate their Government policies and the Veterans' Bureau is planning an extensive campaign to interest World War veterans in such action.

All persons serving in the military forces of the United States, who were granted Government insurance may reinstate their policies if they were not permanently disabled in the service. Policies may be reinstated and converted in multiples of $500, not less than $1000, or more than the amount originally carried.

Seven Forms of Insurance.

The following seven forms of insurance may be obtained upon reinstatement: Five-year convertible term policy, ordinary life, 20-year payment life, 30-year payment life, 20-year endowment, 30-year endowment, and endowment at the age of 62. A physical examination is required and will be made free of charge at the local Veterans' Bureau office, 4030 Chouteau avenue. Examination by a private physician also is acceptable.

A feature of the reinstatement plan is the five-year convertible term policy which carries a level premium rate for the period and offers all the advantages of old line insurance except loan value. At any time during the five-year period, this policy may be converted to any other forms offered without physical examination.

Reinstatement Terms.

The 20 and 30 year endowment and payment policies are offered at premiums ranging from 15 to 25 per cent less than the cost of similar insurance in outside companies, according to the Veterans' Bureau.

Veterans in good health must pay two monthly premiums on the amount reinstated, one for "grace" month and one for current month. Persons in ill health on account of service dissabilities, but not permanently and totally disabled, may reinstate by payment of all back premiums, or back premiums may be charged as an interest-bearing debt against the face value of the policy.

DEPARTMENT STORE STOCK TO BE RETIRED FOR $6,971,250

Holders of Preferred Shares of May Company to Receive $25 Bonus in April.

The $5,500,000 (par value) in preferred stock of the May Department Stores Co., operating the Famous-Barr department store here and establishments in other cities, will be retired on April 1. Holders will receive a bonus of $25 a share, or a price of $125, and a quarterly dividend under the annual rate of 7 per cent, so that the retirement represents an aggregate payment of $6,911,250.

A portion of the issue, $808,600, has been privately retired already, but the legal formalities for this part will be complied with along with the remainder.

Common stock of the company is being changed from 520,000 shares of $50 par value to 1,040,000 shares of $25 par. Holders of the common stock of record on next April 5 will be entitled to subscribe to shares of the new issue at $55 each, up to 10 per cent of their holdings on that day. There will be 104,000 new shares available for this subscription. The common stock dividend rates is being changed from $8 to $4 a share, which is the equivalent of the former return in view of the changed par.

23 POPLAR TREES CUT DOWN FOR VANDEVENTER WIDENING

Will Be Replaced With Sycamores When Street Work at Kenrick Garden Is Completed.

Twenty-three poplar trees in Kenrick Garden, the triangular plot at Vandeventer avenue, Lindell boulevard and McPherson avenue, have been cut down, to make way for the widening of Vandeventer and for construction of the West Mill Creek sewer. They were in poor condition.

Forty feet will be cut from the west side of the garden in the street widening, and it will be necessary to sink a temporary shaft there for the sewer project. When these two improvements are done European sycamores will be placed in the garden. These trees are the kind now growing along the curbs of Lindell boulevard, and are better able to resist the smoky atmosphere of St. Louis than poplars and other varieties.

Second Thoughts on First Nights

A FIRST night in New York may mean for the theater, for the producer and even sometimes for the author the loss of their respective shirts. But it is a comfort to know that at least the Western Union always makes money. For there has grown up a conviction that on these harrowing occasions the one thing a frightened across or an agonized playwright wants is just a real, good, old-fashioned telegram.

Mr. Ziegfeld's "Follies" And "The Student Prince" Are the Week's Offerings

Kansas City Unit of the National Players Stock Company Moves Into the Empress Theater, Bringing a Number of Old Favorites.

BEGINNING tonight, the American Theater for one week only will dazzle with glorified beauties and all the rest of the Ziegfeld Follies, the twentieth of his series. Heading the cast is the dancing comedian, James Barton. His chief comedy support is Ray Dooley, who appears as a child terrible, as a Spanish dancer and as the Countess of Cathcart.

Other members of the cast are Louise Brown, artiste of the ballet; the sophisticated and blonde Edna Leedom, Claire Luce, Charles King, Polly Walker, Irving Fisher, tenor; Mary Jane, Lew Christy, William H. Power, Paulette Goddard, Lillian Adele Smith, Flo Kennedy, Dorothy Wegman, and the usual ensemble of Ziegfeld girls. Also there is a special group of figurantes—whatever they are—in a series of art tableaux designed by Ben Ali Haggan.

The writers of the comedy and score include J. P. McEvoy, author of "The Potters;" Gene Buck, who wrote the song hit, "No Foolin," with James Hanley, Irving Caesar, one of the authors of "No, No, Nanette," and Rudolph Friml, melodious composer.

"THE STUDENT PRINCE" returns to the Shubert-Rialto tonight for one week. Last season the operetta, which is the combined work of Sigmund Romberg and Dorothy Donnelly, who are also responsible for "Blossom Time," played the Shubert-Rialto for four weeks. This year's company is headed by Lloyd Garrett as the Prince, and others in the cast are Ruth Williams, Gertrude Maitland, Margaret Cantrell, Emmy Niclas, Tania Smirnova, Robert Grieg, Carl Formes, James Hecnan, David Reese, Ezra Walck, Ira Yarnell and Frederic Pearson, and a male chorus of 50.

THE Empress Theater will be taken over this week by the Kansas City unit of the National Players. The St. Louis organization, as it has existed since the coming of Leona Powers and the acquisition of the leading man roles by Edward Darney, is now in Kansas City. The company which arrives is headed by Hazel Whitmore and with her, as leading man, is Don Burroughs. In its personnel are also Francesca Rotoli, Lora Rogers and Raymond Brown, all of whom were members of the Woodward Players during three seasons in St. Louis. The initial play is "The Patsy," a Barry Connors' comedy, which will be followed by "The Dove."

The Empress today puts into effect a previously announced reduction in prices, which drops the cost of orchestra seats from $1.10 to 75c without tax, excepting on Saturday and Sunday evenings, when the prices will be as they have been. All balcony seats are 50c.

THEODORE ROBERTS, the well-known motion picture character actor, who was stricken while appearing at the Orpheum, late last season, will be the headliner at that theater this week. His personal appearance will be in William C. De Mille's playlet, "The Man Higher Up," the vehicle he was using last season when sickness cut short his vaudeville tour. It is a dramatic piece of a story of vengeance by mental suggestion.

The Ziegfeld Follies, as stated above, will remain at the American but one week, this despite the fact that the following week, starting next Sunday, finds no play booked into the Market street playhouse. The theater will remain "dark" until Feb. 13 when it will house the motion picture "Beau Geste" which comes in for a run of several weeks. "Beau Geste," which has been a great success in New York, is a film of the French Foreign Legion made from the novel of the same name by Maj. Percival Wren.

"The Green Hat," by Michael Arlen, with Katherine Cornell, will come to the Shubert-Rialto next Sunday night.

What About Pictures To Fill the Screens of New Cinema Palaces

Decorations, Music, Stage Shows and Service Leaving the Main Attraction Far Behind and Adding to the Overhead.

By NIL.

ANOTHER new motion picture palace is soon to be opened in New York. From a movie trade magazine we gather that in lightings startling yet withal dignified effects will be secured. We hear that in service for patrons and in aids for their comfort an acme of perfection untouched until now will be attained and maintained. Further, it is intimated that in decorations, in color schemes and in all of those embellishments which will enter into the perfect theater, the theater will prove unusual.

More than that comes to our attention. The ushers will be college men, it is said. Chimes worth a neat sum as thousands are measured will furnish an atmosphere of spiritual and restful quality. Three organs, not one, will be utilized. A permanent ballet of 50; an orchestra of 110; a chorus of 100—all of these features are to be associated with the new house.

All of which is very, very fine, but what about the pictures which will be shown upon the screen? Already the overhead for "atmosphere" and service—it took a half dozen gorgeously dressed young men to get us to our modest seat in the last row of a downtown picture house the other day—is eating up the tremendous intake of the cinema theaters to such an extent that there will soon be little left to pay for film rentals when ones really worth renting are offered. The picture producers of the country, themselves the largest owners of the theaters, have set a pace which the few independent exhibitors must follow. Somewhere and some time there must be a halt called and attention given to the main attractions, the pictures themselves.

Quite incidentally Erich Pommer, the German director whose coming to America was widely heralded as the dawn of a better day in the films, has parted company with Famous Players. Pommer came here eight months ago to supervise productions after the German manner. Whether he will remain in this country now remains to be seen. Famous announces that the contract has been terminated by mutual agreement. Herr Pommer's views on picture making in America will be interesting, if they are forthcoming.

THE motion picture magnates, by the way, are having a hard time deciding several things in connection with the coming, sooner or later, screen version of young Van Druten's beautiful stage play, "Young Woodley." Sol Blutz, the president of the company which

Mr. Broun Again Goes To The Play

By HEYWOOD BROUN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.

MANY years ago "Abie's Irish Rose" was produced in this city and I reviewed it. In that review I said that the play was cheap, vulgar and wholly without merit.

But in those days I was still a young man. Not one gray strand was to be found in my hair; my blood pressure was 118, and my experience of life decidedly limited. Since the night when I passed hasty judgment upon "Abie's Irish Rose" and condemned it I have grown older and probably much wiser. Joys have touched my life, and sorrow. Children from the cradle have matured to walk, talk and do short division. I have been psychoanalyzed three times, and twice had my basal metabolism tested.

When "Abie's Irish Rose" began I knew nothing of French or German, and had only the slightest contacts with the philosophy of Kant and Voltaire. The uebermensch of Nietzsche (derived from Goethe) was little more than a word to me. I weighed 210 pounds and lived on Fifty-sixth street.

AS "Abie's Irish Rose" rolled on and on I grew mightily in experience, and put away childish things. Jokes which once set me to rumbling no longer amused me, and by now black hair seemed to me even more thrilling than blond. I took up anthropology in a modest way, and completed three books of essays and two novels. I saw the eclipse, and watched the Yankees win a world series. Leaving the Episcopal Church, I became a semi-professional Unitarian.

AND in this period of fermentation the world was not idle on its own account. The play remained set, but the map of Europe changed constantly. Earthquakes came, and hurricanes; many Kings were sick, and several died. Tennessee stopped evolution by legislative enactment, but there was no power on earth, the waters or the sky above to stop "Abie's Irish Rose." A number of swallows, disheartened by what seemed to them

What Is Going on BEHIND THE SCREENS Out in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 29.

SCREENLAND, the domain of make-believe, is crammed with contradictions, and none of these is more bewildering than the search for an answer to the question, "What makes the stars shine?"

Many factors reach into the heart of the public and from it draw film success. But along with each of these, say the studio casting directors, there marches an unnamed something, an appeal that cannot be defined.

This, declare the men who measure theater-going taste with a cash register, is the key to the temple of fame.

If it is there the camera will catch it. An example chosen at random by a casting director is Norma Shearer. With it, says the critic, she inspires the confidence of her audience and enlists its sympathy in a natural, artless manner.

A totally different method of appeal is found in the artistry of Lon Chaney. He devoted four weeks to perfecting his makeup for the Chinese character of Mr. Wu. It took him three hours to put it on each day he worked in the Oriental picture.

Joan Crawford is another illustration picked from the scores who have it, opposed to the thousands who have it not. Along with it she registers piquancy and verve.

An almost unknown little Russian immigrant, out of a background of world war woe, radiates it, says Director Edwin Carewe, who put her into the caste of Tolstoy's "Resurrection." Her name is Sonia Poushkareff.

Fourteen days after her marriage in Russia the great war broke out. Her bridegroom went to the front. She nursed in a base hospital. Then her husband was reported killed. After the war she came to America with her family, and took up dentistry. Finally, the films found her. Recently her husband was located working as a baggageman on a European steamship dock.

Sonia Poushkareff has sent for him. Meanwhile she has put to work her possession, the unnamed something that carried her into the screen heaven.

Del Lord directed 15 motion pictures before he ever saw a scenario. When he was handed the 200-page script of "Bayo-Nuts" as an assignment he thought he had gotten hold of a copy of an encyclopedia. Lord's previous films all had been two-reel comedies, which are "built up" principally on the momentary inspiration of the director and his gag men.

Both the brothers Barrymore are valiantly loyal to the movies, for Lionel Barrymore, in spite of a reputed offer to return to the stage in a lusty play, has just resigned with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the company firmly confiding that henceforth his services will be used exclusively in its films. His is not a featured player contract, but he will be put as strong support into the newest meaty picture, "The Branding Iron," in which Aileen Pringle will be the lead. Barrymore's last was as support for John Gilbert in "The Show," a piece whose atmosphere is rather similar to the raucous, wild, dirty but glamorous background of "Liliom."

The movie career of Lionel Barrymore has been one of regression, as, after his first venture in that great old thriller, "The Exploits of Elaine," he was started by Metro in comedy and dramatic parts. In those days he played "The Yellow Streak," "Great Green Eye" and "The Millionaire's Double." Under the guidance of Famous Players-Lasky he acted the rebellious freethinker in "The Copperhead," which he had played on the stage. Later he did for First National a series and then went with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, where he slipped into mere supporting roles.

The swellest send-off for a movie star in any trade paper so far this month, so far as this department has seen, is contained in the first few paragraphs of an article concerning Olive Borden printed in a publication which calls itself Cinema Art.

Olive Borden's is the kind of beauty that owes less to the outward perfection of features and coloring, less to a slim, straight body, to deep eyes and shining dark hair than to some fineness of spirit within. You feel that she never is quiet— more than any flame is quiet— and you are conscious of a great inner force that always is driving her on to new adventures and new achievements.

It is not strange that this lovely young girl of the Fox films should have gone so far and still be less than 20, for she has as her heritage all the strength of the New England pioneers, and all the romantic dreams of Ireland.

Her mother was a Shields— one of the best known families in Dublin, a family that sent seven sons to America— one of whom became a General in the Civil War. He was that one of whom the old books have said: "He was a friend of Abraham Lincoln and a brave Irish soldier." And it was he who led his company through the Valley of Luray, hot on the trail of Andrew Jackson, and followed him into the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

And what a great many persons would like to know is "Which Andrew Jackson?"

First National pictures has given three boys a million dollars to spend. Nothing reckless or even daring because in this case the boys happen to have spent millions before this— they being none other than Richard Barthelmess, star, Al Rockett, producer, and Alfred Santell, director. A million dollars is to be spent on the filming of this new picture which will star Dick Barthelmess, aged 27, to be produced by Rockett, aged 33, and directed by Santell, aged 31. There is a warning, however, to mere youth; these men are veterans of the cinema; each has at least 10 years of actual experience behind him.

Arthur Morrison, well known character actor, has been added to the cast of "Bayo-Nuts," a war comedy. Charlie Murray and George Sidney are the featured players, and Natalie Kingston is leading lady.

Two more players have been added to the cast of "See You in Jail," which Ray Rockett is producing. Burr McIntosh plays the role of a crusty judge in a Los Angeles court, and William Orlamond enacts the part of a comedy inventor.

It is the first time in the career of Norma and Constance Talmadge that they have started pictures simultaneously on adjoining sets. Norma Talmadge is making a modern version of "Camille," and her sister, Constance, is working on "Naughty Carlotta." The background of "Camille" is Paris, and the background of "Naughty Carlotta" is Venice. Norma can taxi down the boulevards of the synthetic French capital, turn the corner and alight in front of the Doges' Palace, step into a gondola and float down the canals of the beautiful Venetian city. Constance, in turn, can step out of her gondola, walk a few steps and gaze into the windows of the fashionable Paris shops.

The role of a Parisian, which first brought Adolphe Menjou fame and distinction, in "A Woman of Paris," is assigned to him again in "Evening Clothes," now in its second week of production at the Paramount studios under direction of Luther Reed. It is the second consecutive picture in which Menjou has portrayed a French boulevardier, his last being "Blonde or Brunette," which also had a Paris locale.

Dolores Costello started work last week on "A Million Bid," her first Warner starring production of 1927. In this picture Miss Costello will have as a supporting cast Charles Emmett Mack, Warner Oland, Sojin, Joseph Swickard, Anders Randolph and John Miljan.

May McAvoy has begun work in a comedy drama entitled "Matinee Ladies." Malcolm McGregor, Hedda Hopper, Lincoln Plumer and Charles Lane will be seen in support.

Natli Barr has arrived to go to work in pictures. The Russian screen and stage beauty, recently signed by First National Pictures, reached Los Angeles with Richard A. Rowland, general and production manager, Ned Marin, Western sales manager and Mrs. Florence Strauss, head of the reading department. Charles R. Rogers, producer for First National, was also in the party of transcontinental travelers.

Ben Lyon arrived from New York last week to begin work in "The Tender Hour." Billie Dove will be featured with Lyon in this picture.

Another war-comedy is in the making, this time by the veteran comedy producer, Mack Sennett. The new war opus will be in seven reels, the first feature-length comedy to be made by Sennett in several years. It will be based on Johnny Burke's famous soldier monologue, "Dirty Work," with which he toured the vaudeville circuit for several seasons. Burke will be featured in the comedy, and other important people will be signed for a strong cast.

Ruth Donnelly, who recently appeared in the stage success, "If I Was Rich," has been cast for the role of Fannie Pratt, a woman detective in Ed Wynn's first starring picture, "Rubber Heels." Miss Donnelly played a similar role of a comedy detective not long ago in George M. Cohan's production, "A Prince There Was." She is a protege of Rose Stahl and has acted on both the stage and the screen.

Josef Lhevinne Soloist For Symphony Concerts

Carl Busch, Kansas City Composer, Will Conduct Orchestra in Offering His Own Work, "The Song of Chibiabos."

TWO of the foremost pianists will collaborate at the Odeon Friday afternoon and Saturday evening of this week when Josef Lhevinne appears as soloist with Rudolf Ganz conducting the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in the accompaniment of two of the greatest concertos in the literature of the piano: Beethoven's No. 1 in C major (which was really his second) and Liszt's famous E flat concerto.

In addition to this unusual offering of piano and orchestra, the audience will hear for the first time in St. Louis, the symphonic poem "The Song of Chibiabos," by Carl Busch, the Kansas City composer, who will conduct his own work.

Aside from the

Aside from these three works there is nothing to mention in the program except the prelude to Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," which those who heard the opera at the Garden theater two summers ago will remember for the naive charm and the sparkle of its music, and Richard Strauss' "Don Juan" tone poem.

Mr. Busch's symphonic poem "The Song of Chibiabos" is one of three such works inspired by Longfellow's "Hiawatha" as are many of the Missouri composer's songs. Chibiabos in the words of the poem was "the best of all musicians . . . the sweetest of all singers" and the music—which is market by rhythms and melodies of Indian music, although the thematic material is the composer's own—celebrates that legendary hero. Though he was born in Denmark Mr. Busch has found deep inspiration in the varied currents—and even backwaters—of American life, as instances his "Songs from the Ozarks" and his "Negro Rhapsody" besides the works inspired by Indian music and Indian legend.

Lhevinne's last appearance in public concert in St. Louis was five years ago when he and Mme. Lhevinne gave a two-piano recital at the Odeon.

In detail the program to be presented this week is:

Prelude to the Opera "Hansel and Gretel"	Humperdinck
Concerto for Pianoforte No. 1 in C Major Op. 15	Beethoven
I. Allegro con brio.
II. Largo.
III. Rondo.
"Don Juan," Tone Poem After Nicholas Lenau, Opus 20	Strauss
Intermission.
Symphonic Poem, "The Song of Chibiabos," after an excerpt from Longfellow's "Hiawatha"	Busch
Concerto for Pianoforte No. 1, in E flat	Liszt
I. Allegro maestoso, tempo giusto.
II. Quasi adagio.
III. Scherzo. Allegretto vivace.
IV. Allegro marziale animato.
(Played without pause.)

Barbara Lull Soloist For "Pop" Concert

Young American Violinist to Appear With Symphony at the Odeon This Afternoon —"First Time" Numbers on Program.

BARBARA LULL, a young American violinist who has achieved an enviable reputation in Europe, where she has concertized for two years, and by her appearances with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra and in concert in New York and Boston, will be soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, appearing at its "Pop" concert at the Odeon at 3:15 p. m. today. Miss Lull, after studying on the Pacific Coast, where she was born, was a pupil of Leopold Auer and Alexander Bloch in New York for three years. Followed her European engagements in the course of which, at a concert in Paris, Rudolph Ganz chanced to hear her and engaged her for an appearance with the orchestra here.

She will play the second and third movements of Saint-Saens' concerto in B minor for violin, a work marked equally by its sensuous melody and for the demands in makes upon a brilliant technic.

Two "first-time" numbers will be presented by the orchestra to this afternoon's audience. They are "Dumka," an orchestra transcription of Tschaikowsky's piano piece in which the composer sought to leave a musical picture of Russian village life, and the "Preludietto" to the opera "Jocelyn" by Luigi Tedeschi, the distinguished Italian harpist and composer. Other orchestral offerings include Chabrier's "Spanish Rhapsody," Mendelssohn's "Ruy Blas" overture, and Johann Strauss' ever-popular "Artists' Life" waltzes.

In detail the program is:

Overture to "Ruy Blas"	Mendelssohn

Chaliapin Comes in "Barber of Seville"

FEODOR CHALIAPIN, famous Russian singing actor, will appear with a company of 60 and a special orchestra next Wednesday evening, at the Odeon, in Rossini's merry and melodious comic opera, "The Barber of Seville."

Chaliapin during the last few weeks has been touring the Pacific Coast. He is acting as general director of the company, which he selected for their past successes in their respective roles in the opera to which he is devoting his entire artistic resources on his transcontinental tour this season which has included performances so far in 45 cities.

The cast for the performance will be as follows:

Don Basilio, a singing master	Feodor Chaliapin
Figaro, a barber	Giacomo Lucchini
Count Almaviva, in love with Rosina	Joseph Bobrovich
Rosina, a rich and beautiful heiress	Elvira de Hidalgo
Dr. Bartolo, jealous guardian of Rosina	Giuseppe La Puma
Bertha, a maid	Anna Liesetzkaya

A committee of local music lovers, of which L. Warrington Baldwin is the chairman, is sponsoring this event, which is under the auspices of the St. Louis Grand Opera Association, of which Guy Golterman is the general director.

Ganz in Recital.

The Community Music Schools Foundation announces that on Friday night, Feb. 25, Rudolph Ganz will give a piano recital at Sheldon Auditorium for the benefit of its school. This will be the only recital that Mr. Ganz will give in St. Louis this year.

Facing the Music

HAROLD BAUER, the pianist, and Pablo Casals, 'cellist, will be heard in a joint concert at Howard Hall, Principia Academy, next Friday night.

Ernest R. Kroger is to give a piano recital on Tuesday night at the Progressive Series Recital Hall, 4525 Olive street, to which the public is invited.

Grace Leslie, American contralto, will make her St. Louis debut as guest artist with the Morning Choral Club at a concert in the Odeon, Feb. 8. Charles Galloway will conduct the concert, and Paul Friess will be the accompanist.

The Musical Research Club will meet Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., at Vandervoort's Music Hall. The subject of the day will be the music of McDowell. A paper will be read by the club president, Mrs. Hugo Wiemers. Miss Elise Aehle, a guest, will speak on her trip to Europe. Berna Marie Strauss, 12 years old, will be the guest pianist.

Selections from another favorite of Municipal Opera fans, "The Prince of Pilsen," will be included in the lighter music offered by Loew's State orchestra in its eleventh Sunday concert at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Gustav Luders' music will be represented by such melodies as "The Message of the Violet," "Heidelberg," "Keep It Dark!" "Song of the Stein," "A Tale of the Sea Shell," "Fall In," "A Season at the Shore" and "The American Girl."

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski, conductor, will play one concert at the Odeon on Tuesday evening, Feb. 22. There are 107 virtuoso musicians in the orchestra which was founded in 1900. The orchestra has an endowment fund of nearly $2,000,000, subscribed by 14,000 citizens of Philadelphia in amounts ranging from $1 to $100,000.

The Missouri Chapter, American Guild of Organists, will hold its regular monthly meeting and dinner tomorrow night at Curby Memorial Presbyterian Church, Texas avenue and Utah street, Mrs. Claude Beal, the organist, being hostess. After a short business meeting, the Holy Cross Lutheran Choir will sing a program of Bach Chorales led by their organist and choirmaster, Dean Walter Wismar.

A joint recital for the benefit of Trinity Episcopal Church will be given at Sheldon Memorial Thursday evening, Feb. 24, by Miss Margery Maxwell and David [illegible] Earle. Miss Maxwell, prima donna of the Ravinia and Chicago Civic Opera Co.s, has been on an extended concert tour of the East this season, and last month was engaged to sing the stellar role in "La Boheme," given by the Washington Opera Co. Several years ago she sang here with the Morning Choral.

WHAT ABOUT FILMS FOR NEW THEATERS

is to make the film is in favor of calling it "A Night In a Turkish Bath" but the sales manager insists that the theater managers demand something a little more—er—well, you know—something like "Passion's Progress" or "Loose Lives." The revolutionary suggestion of Sam Gluck, the director who before his reincarnation was a motorman on the old Mission street cable line in San Francisco, that it be called "Young Woodley" was not considered. Mr. Glutz's opinions on art in the films are welcomed by his superiors, but his lack of training in business has not put him in a position to know anything about what the public wants.

The scenario has been completed. An extremely close and painstaking comparison of the script with that of the original play will bring to light a few minor changes. The locale, for instance, has been moved from a boy's school in England to a co-educational institution in Hollywood. The scenes, instead of being laid in the young men's living rooms have been transferred—with the exception of one made at midnight in the girl's dormitory—to the gymnasium in which has been built a large swimming pool.

In the film young Woodley will be the same shy youth that he was in the play and the opening scene will show the school girls trying to persuade him to come into the pool wearing a one-piece bathing suit.

It will develop in the picture that the crabbed old schoolmaster was really not married to his young wife at all, having gone through a fake ceremony with her while she was drugged. Young Woodley's father, who will be taken out of the prosaic soap business and made a multimillionaire banker—"I want you all to come over to the week-end party at my estate on Catalina"—will disclose that his son is not 17 years old, but really 37. He lied about the boy's age in the first reel so that he himself might appear younger and have a good time with the flapper co-eds. A flashback will show the young wife, not really a wife after all, as you now know, locking her old professor husband out of her bedroom on the night of the supposed wedding. This paves the way for an extremely happy finish.

The cast has not been picked, but there is talk of having Adolphe Menjou in the role of the unsophisticated young Woodley, with Clara Bow as the trusting and innocent young wife. Charley Murray will be the father and Jackie Coogan the old pedagogue. The romantic and chaste subtitles will be written by Elinor Glyn.

HOLLYWOOD has become the mecca of the adventurer and the "has-been."

From every walk of life and from every corner of the globe the glare of the kleigs attract the world's most interesting figures. The pretty girl who "knocks 'em dead" at the church social in her home town and the sheik from the ribbon counter mingle with the stars whose names are known around the globe.

But more spectacular and interesting perhaps are the "has-beens"—the former counts and countesses, Russian generals, German barons and sundry "once weres," who find a refuge in Hollywood, content to enact their former and more prosperous lives for the screen at a mere $10 or $15 a day.

Once in a while one of these erstwhile celebrities emerges from his obscurity to land the front page. But it seems to take a divorce case or a spectacular marriage to do the trick. Such was the case when Mae Murray picked a handsome chap from the extra list for Husband No. 2. Then the world at large learned that the groom-to-be was the grandson of the late King of Georgia and scion of one of the noblest of all noble Russian families.

HOLLYWOOD boasts that within its limits can be found more noble men and women than ever graced a coronation or jubilee at any one time! And there is no doubt that the boast is a legitimate one!

All of which brings us to a set on the Metropolitan Studios, where Corinne Griffith's starring vehicle, "The Lady in Ermine," which happens to be at the Missouri theater this week, was filmed.

On one particular day a scene was being taken, showing the capture of a town by the Austrian army, supposedly during the invasion of 1810. Francis X. Bushman was enacting the role of the commander in charge of the troops and his staff officers, about 10 in number, carried an air of militarism about them that never could have been acquired anywhere but in an European army.

Among them were two former generals of the Russian general staff; one commander in the Russian navy; a former German banker ruined by the war; one major and two captains in the British army during the war, while the others, perhaps more determined to hide their identity, would acknowledge no past beyond their coming to Hollywood.

MICHAEL PLESCHKOFF, one of the most imposing of the 10, was formerly commander of the military school at Vladivostok. Later as commander of the famous Russian Thirteenth Hussars, he saw service in the Czar's army in the Carpathians and barely escaped with his life in the Bolshevik revolution.

In his story he told of weeks of terror trying to reach safety; of finally reaching China, of working his way to San Francisco and becoming helper in a garage and later a laborer until he finally acquired a smattering of English and a softer berth parading in front of a camera in a uniform such as he once wore in action.

Then there was Alexander Ikonnikoff, a former Major-General on the imperial staff of Russia. Once he had been a friend of the Czar and then when the revolution came he was quartermaster of Kolchak's famous White Army until captured by the Bolsheviks and held in prison expecting to be executed any minute.

He told how he finally escaped and worked his way, as did Pleschkoff, to San Francisco, there to work at washing railroad cars for the Southern Pacific and later to become a restaurant dishwasher before learning of the easier cash to be picked up in the movies.

George Blagoi, another refugee of the revolution, was once a Lieutenant in the Russian navy and a member of one of the bluest of all blue-blood Muscovite families.

Maj. Owen Martin of the Lincolnshire Martins, one of the most aristocratic families of that section of England, was a cattle rancher in British Columbia before the war. Then he was commissioned in the imperial army, where he won a Distinguished Service medal and was mentioned three times in dispatches for meritorious service in German East Africa.

His adventures include the command of the Somaliland expedition of the British army, where he was cut off from his supplies for months and was forced to live on camel meat.

Captains Hugh Crumplin and Terry Spencer, technical assistant on the picture, were members of His Majesty's forces with distinctive service in South Africa and Mesopotamia respectively.

"Has beens" every one of them!

Yet all looking to Hollywood to bring them fame that might rival their former positions in the spotlight of life.

MR. BROUN AGAIN GOES TO THE PLAY

the harshness of existence, fell to earth, and never knew that their fluttering fall was duly watched and noted.

Curfew was fixed at 3 a. m. Here and there the drama turned experimental and touched upon themes not generally within the plan and scope of playwrights. There was a scandal about prohibition enforcement and prominent citizens of Florida denied the prosperous days in their land had ended. Tunney defeated Dempsey and science advanced by leaps and bounds. It became possible to get London by telephone and to say to some friend or acquaintance, "Isn't this wonderful!" Marie of Rumania paid a visit to the United States and wrote a diary. The shift in football was abolished and an attempt to curb the forward pass was unsuccessful.

THUS in the year 1927 I suddenly came to the realization that I was in few essentials the same man who had reviewed "Abie's Irish Rose" adversely on its first night. Smartness, the flip line, the cynical epigram, all those were in my quiver when I sat down, those long years since, and tried to blast the comedy by Anne Nichols. Those were the days when I was devoid of reticence and would tell practically anyone the most intimate details of my life. And, then, I had no message nor carefully formulated plan for the betterment of all mankind.

Not infrequently the name of "Abie's Irish Rose" came up in conversation. The discovery was made by certain savants that this hardy entertainment was in reality a folk tale, and that it might go on like the story of William Tell, the arrow and the apple. And it was said that here was the strongest agency against the klan and all the forces of intolerance and religious prejudice. After Abie had been running two years a Broadway restaurant removed an old restriction and allowed Jews to come into the smaller dining room if accompanied by two Gentiles. Mr. Ford's ardor against an ancient people did not abate, but he lived in Detroit, and had never seen the original company in the famous comedy.

NOW and again it became necessary for me to refer to "Abie's Irish Rose." Every little while someone would say, "All dramatic critics are incompetent and foolishly puffed up with petty pride." And always the proof and justification of this charge lay in the added tag, "Just Look at 'Abie's Irish Rose.'"

And this I did not do. Upon the flimsy evidence of having seen the little play just once, I continued to insist that it was dull and tawdry. So often had the finger of scorn been pointed at me that I grew even more bitter in my rebellion against the majority opinion. Whenever an item appeared that the play had once more broken a house record for receipts I gnashed my teeth and feebly assailed it once again. After all, there are philosophers who hold that democracy is a failure, and that the only great and successful society must be built around a group of aristocratic leaders. Neglecting the lesson of Jefferson, Lincoln and Champ Clark, I leaned toward this heresy and thought, "A country which supports 'Abie's Irish Rose' in this luxurious fashion is not yet fitted for self-government."

OH, BUT I was a prig and a snob in my salad days. I had been to Harvard and very nearly graduated. Under Prof. Baker I studied the drama, and even wrote one. Form was familiar to me, and once upon a time I could have defined "peripety." Accordingly, what difference did it make to me how many of the unlettered herd gathered each night to listen to the story of Miss Murphiski? "Canaille," I cried, which is, I think, the French for "cattle."

ABIE had been running three or four years and had a birthday party. To the office there came a cake inscribed in arsenical green icing. As I remember, it said, "Birthday greetings from 'Abie's Irish Rose' to Heywood Broun."

Naturally I regarded the gift with suspicion. Never had I said a single kind word about the comedy. Instead, I'd lost no occasion to reiterate my belief in its ineptitude. Surely this was no food to be carelessly devoured. I looked across the office, and saw one who shall be nameless, though for convenience sake we might call her Miss Smith. Having looked, I shook my head and thought much better of it.

"Doubtless life is precious to her," I said, "and I have no right to ask an assistant dramatic critic to undertake anything which I would not try myself."

Cautiously I sliced the cake and sent a piece down the hall to the office of the managing editor. The messenger returned to say he'd eaten it. There, then, began a most interesting vigil. Plainly I could hear his voice rise and fall, and whenever it dropped below Niagara volume I thought to myself, "The icing's got him." And this was a reflection not altogether sorrowful, for I felt that in the event of death it could be said of him that he died to save his city from "Abie's Irish Rose."

At midnight I left the office, and he was still alive and kicking. There was no treachery in the cake but only good will. I was compelled to realize that Miss Nichols possessed a sporting spirit. Why should I be less generous? Was it not my duty to see "Abie's Irish Rose" again, and give it the benefit of my matured judgment? For two years I debated this, and last night I went and saw the comedy for the second time.

Here is my report: "Abie's Irish Rose" is cheap, vulgar, and without merit of any kind."

girl caught the sunlight streaming in through the windows of the fifth grade.

IT must be reassuring to Crawfordsville to have the great outside world thus make a gratifying pother over two of its youngsters. It will give the stay-at-homes a new set of responses when, as sometimes happens, rude or merely puzzled wayfarers ask on what grounds the Commercial Club literature invariably refers to Crawfordsville as the "Athens of Indiana," suggesting, by the very tone of their question, their wonder, if this be Indiana's Athens, what its Boeotia would be like.

Of course there was always Lew Wallace's study to show them—the room hallowed by the circumstance that in it "Ben Hur" was written, the same "Ben Hur" which made a mighty play in its day and is now a stupendous movie. To be sure "Chicago," being a derisive contemplation of an awfully attractive murderess, is rather different from "Ben Hur," which dealt more with early Christian martyrs and made the kind of play that unearthed playgoers who would have regarded attending any other drama as dissipated if not downright sinful. But Crawfordsville knows that times have changed and it is barely possible that even Hoosier Athenians crave some new thing.

NOT that General Wallace was ever Crawfordsville's only boast. There was and still is Wabash College and didn't Wabash give the late Thomas H. Marshall to the nation? Then there was Maurice Thompson who wrote "Alice of Old Vincennes" and Mary Hannah Krout who, as a mere girl, tossed off "Little Brown Hands" which you will find in any good Fourth Reader. And Meredith Nicholson who wrote "The House of a Thousand Candles" and "The Port of Missing Men."

But, after all, "Alice of Old Vincennes" long since vanished, along with "Richard Carvel" and "Janice Meredith," into the limbo of forgotten books and it must be pleasant for Indiana's Athenians to be able now to refer casually to something more contemporary, even if, when accounts trickle west of how the head of Yale's divinity school rose during the first performance of 'Chicago" and practically shuddered himself out of the theater, it is necessary for some of the more conservative Athenians to shake their heads and say that Mr. Watkins was the preacher at the Baptist Church and that when she was in Crawfordsville the author of "Chicago" had seemed a real nice girl.

"THE BARKER" is hereby officially recommended to those play-goers who suffer themselves to be guided by this encyclical. Its yarn is spun behind the scenes in one of those migratory Coney Islands that trek across the land, following the strawberries from New Orleans to the edge of Canada.

The lady palmist, the tattooing expert, the Hawaiian dancer, the fair young snake charmer, the ticket taker, the ballyhoo man—these make up the motley people in this laconic, effortless, engaging romance of vagabondia. A play superbly cast with Walter Huston magnificent in the leading role but with everyone so good that one cannot name them all. Charles L. Wagner produced it. For the most part the action is unfolded when the tents are pitched on the edge of Shelbyville—the one in Illinois. And Shelbyville is Wagner's home town. If many more such homey details creep into this dispatch from Broadway, the far-flung readers will probably rise and sing "The Old Oaken Bucket."

A RECENT glancing blow in these dispatches at an excessively protuberant actor in the current bills has prompted Arthur William Brown to send in a story of a similarly afflicting mummer who was kept in place only by the sternest discipline. It was a source of smouldering resentment in his bosom that the management always confined his art to the smallest role in each play, and finally one evening, when he arrived at the theater palpably in his cups, gave him notice that after that nights' performance it would dispense with his art altogether.

This, then, would be his last chance to show what he really could do with the part. So, after speaking his one line—"Milord, the carriage waits"—with a world of tenderness, he wheeled suddenly, strode toward the footlights and added:

"And furthermore I would say that any man who lifts his hand against a woman except in kindness is not worthy to be called an American gentleman."

While the Marx Brothers in "The Cocoanuts," were playing an engagement in Kansas City recently, the Shubert Theater there received a check for $2.20 inclosed in a note reserving two balcony seats for the Wednesday matinee. The note was signed "A Harpo Fan." It has been forwarded to this department with the word "typical" gratuitously inserted in the signature. Attached was the check, which had come back from the bank marked, tersely, "No Funds." I resent the whol incident.

New Little Theater Movement Organized

With the ultimate purpose of developing the full possibilities of the Little Theater movement in St. Louis a new dramatic organization has been affected in connection with the Artists' Guild. It will be known as the Artists' Guild Players and its organizer and director is Joseph Solari.

While the organization will not be confined to Guild members it is sponsored by the Artists' Guild and will make its home on the stage of the Guilds' Little Theater. Mr. Solari's idea is that this stage should be used to exhibit dramatic talent in the same manner that paintings and sculpture is exhibited by members and non-members in the Guild galleries.

It is the conviction of the sponsors that there is a very definite need in St. Louis for a movement of this kind and that many people will be glad to have an opportunity of supporting an enterprise which will be able to offer interesting and very worthwhile one act and full length plays, both classic and modern, which the commercial theater with its tremendous producing costs cannot present profitably.

It is hoped that eventually these productions can be offered for several performances; in some cases a week or longer. The first play by this new organization is now in rehearsal. "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," a three-act comedy by Moliere, will be offered to the public for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 7 and 8.

To Discuss Ex-convicts' Problems.

The Missouri Welfare League will meet tomorrow evening at 8:10 o'clock at the Second Baptist Church. Speakers will discuss the problem of the ex-convict.

BRIAND WARY OF EXPERTS

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Jan. 29.—The humorist among European statesmen is Mr. Briand, the Foreign Minister of France. When reporters badger him for political information he never says no and never gets angry. If he can't say anything helpful he tells a joke. At a meeting of the Council all the foremost members were taking a crack at experts in general and in particular at experts who thought they knew something about the complicated problem of adopting the system of proportional representation at elections.

Briand said solemnly: "I though I was the great international expert on this subject. I fought and pleaded for it in the Chamber of Deputies. I rose to superb heights of oratory. I thought I was irresistible. And within half an hour the Chamber overthrew my Ministry. And now you know what I think of experts."

STOPS ANY COLD IN A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" opens clogged nose and head—ends grippe

Relief comes instantly.

A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness. Besides, it is an effective laxative. It keeps the bowels open, carrying off the poisons that are making you sick.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only thirty-five cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

That Headache!

Mrs. E. C. Schneller

"Ever since I first tried Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets I have been taking them whenever I have felt the need of something to relieve me of headache, and they have never failed. I would have headache day after day, and the 'Pellets' have proved to be the only remedy to relieve me. I find them very mild as a laxative, or cathartic, and they do not leave any bad after effects. I am always glad to recommend Dr. Pierce's Pellets."—Mrs. E. C. Schneller, 527 5th St., S. W., Mason City, Iowa."

Obtain a vial of Pellets now of your druggist and see how quickly you'll feel clear headed—full of vim and vitality. 60 Pellets for 30c.

How to Keep a Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the mother watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian Senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or straining. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to a nursing infant.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family, young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

Write "Syrup Pepsin," 523 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois, for a free sample bottle.

Long Hair a Special Identification.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—A stately woman walked into the Prefecture of Police recently and asked to fill out an application for a passport. Carefully and leisurely she filled in name, age, place of birth and all other information required until she reached the line marked "special identification marks." The applicant pondered for a moment, then passed on to the next line, leaving the "special identification" one blank. "Are you sure you have no special identification marks?" asked the bobbed-haired girl clerk in a sweet voice. The stately woman hesitated, looked at her interlocutor, then wrote in a bold hand: "Wears her hair long."

--that is Nature's way--the way of PLUTO Water

PEOPLE often ask just what is meant by the statement that Pluto washes away constipation. "If the action of Pluto is caused by water", they ask, "why does not common drinking water have the same effect?"

The reason is simple to those versed in the science of medicine. Ordinary water is absorbed before it can reach the intestines. Hence it has no opportunity to wash the digestive tract. Its action is on the kidneys rather than the intestines.

Unlike ordinary water, Pluto Water contains a quantity of minerals exceeding the mineral content of the blood. For that reason, Pluto Water is not absorbed, but passes intact through the intestines.

That is why Pluto washes. It flushes all that's before it, cleaning the system quickly and completely. Pluto relieves constipation in 30 minutes to two hours. Its method is the method that Nature provides for all cleaning—water. It never gripes—it is non-habit-forming—as harmless and soothing as it is dependable.

You wouldn't think of cleaning your face with harsh chemicals and drugs. Why resort to such things for cleansing the delicate tissues inside your body? Play safe. Take Pluto Water—recommended by doctors for nearly a generation.

A small quantity of Pluto Water each day will keep you regular and safeguard your health. In time of emergency, you'll find Pluto a never-failing friend. Sold at all drug counters and at fountains. Bottled at the springs, French Lick, Indiana.

Los Angeles, Cal.
Oct. 27, 1926.

I used to suffer a great deal with headaches. Some time ago my physician prescribed a small dose of Pluto each morning in hot water. Thanks to Pluto, I have not had a headache in more than a year.

Camden, N. J.
Nov. 30, 1926.

My doctor recommended Pluto Water to me twelve years ago, and I have learned to value it more every passing year. Its rapid action has saved my family countless colds and sickness—we always keep it on hand.

ART MUSEUM ACQUIRES ORIENTAL PAINTINGS

Two Masterpieces, One of Chinese, One of Japanese Work on Exhibition.

The City Art Museum recently acquired two notable masterpieces of Oriental painting. One of these is a Chinese scroll painting dating from the Sung dynasty, which ended in 1279 A. D. The other is a Japanese kakemono or wall painting made in the Fujiwara epoch (900-1186 A. D.), probably for a Buddhist shrine. Both were purchased from the income of the W. K. Bixby Oriental Art Fund, and will be exhibited at the Museum for the first time today.

The Chinese scroll is a little more than eight feet long and is painted on silk, the favorite background of the Chinese painter since time immemorial. It was long in the possession of the last imperial family, the Ch'ing dynasty. The silk has yellowed and cracked, but the painting itself is virtually intact. It is a study of swimming carp, buffalo, catfish and a half dozen other varieties of fish so accurately observed that a naturalist might readily recognize the subspecies. But the artist's greatest accomplishment is in the rendition of the translucent water enveloping and half obscuring the glistening forms that disport in it.

It is interesting to contrast this painting with the barbaric art of Europe of the same period. Such a realization of the beauty of nature was not approached by European culture until the time of the Barbizon painters of 1830.

Survived Tartar Ravages.

The scroll has had no commonplace history during the centuries since it left the studio of Liu Tsai who painted it and of whom little is known. Surviving in some way the overthrow of the Sung culture in 1279 by hordes of nomadic Tartars, it comes to light again as the cherished possession of the emperor Ch'ien Lung (1736-1795), distinguished patron of the fine arts. No less than six seals were impressed upon the treasured scroll by Ch'ien Lung after the manner of Chinese collectors, each being an imprint in vermilion from a signet carved in jade or other stone and each testifying in picturesque archaic characters to some new excellence the emperor found in the work. Two or three of these imperial seals attest that the emperor has examined and "approved" or "praised" the scroll, another that it shall be placed in the San She (Triple Rare) Hall and another that the emperor considers it a [illegible] bequest to sons and grand-sons. In addition the painting bears the seals of the successor of Ch'ien Lung, the emperor Chia Ch'ing (1796-1820) and of another unidentified emperor, as well as those of a whole host of lesser admirers. At the close of the Boxer uprising and the Allied occupation of Peking in 1901 the great collections of Ch'ien Lung were finally looted or destroyed, but this scroll was one of those that the imperial household managed in some way to preserve. It was [illegible] until [illegible] when W. K. Bixby during his visit to Peking obtained it from [illegible] of the last puppet emperor Hsuan Tung.

Colors Rich After 1000 Years.

The Japanese painting is a representation of Amida, the Buddha of Infinite Light and Life, with his two principal attendants, Kwannon and Seishi, personifying respectively mercy and wisdom. The three divinities are descending through the darkness upon clouds from the celestial regions. The colors, [illegible] 1000 years, are still rich and effective, and the [illegible] rays which emanate from Amida's head shine [illegible] against the darkness of the surrounding night. The cult of Amida, first introduced into Japan about the [illegible] century, had become enormously popular by the eleventh century, the period of the painting. Its popularity [illegible] that this development of Buddhism was a religion of personal devotion and salvation by mercy, Amida having established a special heaven in the West for all those who called upon his name.

In style the painting follows Chinese prototypes, which in turn were based upon earlier East Indian models, for Buddhism brought with it distinctive artistic conventions which have persisted in one form or another to the present day. The painting is attributed on stylistic grounds to [illegible], a painter who flourished from about [illegible] to [illegible] A. D.

IN RACE FOR MAYOR AGAIN
Rolla R. Rothwell to Oppose Mayor Jeffries at Moberly.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Jan. 29.—Rolla R. Rothwell, former Mayor, has entered the race for that office. Rothwell will oppose Mayor J. M. Jeffries, who is seeking re-election. The city primary is to be held on Feb. 8. It virtually means election, because of the Democratic majority in Moberly, and the fact that the Republicans never place a city ticket in the field.

Rothwell has served, at intervals, three terms as Mayor of Moberly.

Mrs. G. W. Muckley Vesper Speaker.

Mrs. George W. Muckley, assistant to the pastor of the Union Avenue Christian Church, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service this afternoon at 4:50 o'clock.

DINNER CONCERT TUESDAY
Six Groups of Numbers on City Club Chorus Program.

The third season of the City Club Chorus will open with a dinner concert at the club Tuesday evening. Many of the men in the chorus are professional singers, including soloists from some of the churches. John W. Bohn is the conductor.

Frank J. Senkosky, violinist, will be soloist, and Henry Arthur accompanist. Six groups of numbers comprise the program.

Opera School to Give Concert.

The St. Louis Grand Opera School will present a musical program in the hall of St. Charles Barromeo's Church, Locust and Twenty-ninth streets, next Wednesday evening, under the direction of L. M. Molino, head of the school. The soloists are: Mme. Thomson-Molino, soprano; Miss Bernice Lowell, soprano; Arthur Benda, tenor, and Louis Homoky, basso. The musical program will be preceded by the playing of card games and lotto. Refreshments will be served.

TELLS BENEFITS OF WIDENING STREETS

City Traffic Engineer Explains Plan Commission Project in Address.

Advantages to the city of providing adequate through arteries for traffic and benefits of some of those built in recent years were discussed by Reyburn Hoffmann, city traffic engineer, in an address before the Engineers' Club Wednesday evening. He began with an explanation of the major street plan of the City Plan Commission, which is the guide of the municipality in extending street facilities. Hoffmann said, in part:

"There are approximately 1900 miles of streets in St. Louis, and 250 miles of these are included in the major street plan. Of this 250 miles, 120 are proposed for widenings and extensions. This 120 miles of street for the most part represents traffic delays, congestion and lost time, damages to property due to wrecks and loss of life and limb because of accidents upon the highway. Twenty-five miles represents proposed extension, for the most of it is in undeveloped territory.

"Many of you are familiar with the characteristics of St. Louis growth. You are able to visualize the larger areas both in the northwest and southwest sections which have lain dormant and practically isolated from the rest of the city. These large voids are due directly to the lack of streets and highways which would otherwise have made them accessible.

Growth Is Typical.

"This kind of development is typical of most American cities. They have grown in a free and uncontrolled manner, contrary to what we find in the cities of Europe. Due to many handicaps, some legal, some financial, some through lack of planning and many psychological, we in America have not profited except in recent years by the manner in which European cities control their expansion.

"Let us take the Lindenwood district for an example. Although this section of St. Louis was placed upon the market a quarter of a century ago, it has only been in the last couple of years that any real development has taken place.

"What has been the cause of such retarded growth? Inadequate transportation and inaccessibility. There was no street car service and there were no paved streets. The [illegible] of Arsenal street west of [illegible] Watson road [illegible] Southwest avenue to Pernod, and Fyler avenue from [illegible] to Watson road has wrought the change so apparent today. Shortly after the paving of these streets transportation in the form of bus service was provided. This so stimulated growth that this whole area has developed into one of the fastest growing home districts in St. Louis.

Benefits of Widening.

"Another district of similar character is that which lies south of Arsenal street, west of Kingshighway and Southampton, north of [illegible] avenue, between Kingshighway and the western city limits. [illegible] and through north and south thoroughfare. The only means of communication with the outside is by way of Gravois, Kingshighway and one or two local streets in the Southampton district. This serious handicap will be overcome by the completion of such important arteries as the Hampton-[illegible] major street, the southwest industrial street, and Chippewa street. These several projects are now under condemnation and when completed will have a very beneficial effect upon this whole district and throw open to use [illegible] acres of land.

"A very good example of the benefits of street widening is to be found in the widening of Washington avenue between Jefferson and Grand. Washington was a 60-foot street with a 38-foot roadway and street car tracks. It was widened in [illegible] to an 80-foot street with a 60-foot roadway. This improvement benefited the entire frontage, which was immediately enhanced in value several hundred per cent, and the old type of dwellings were replaced by commercial structures."

Jewish Federation to Meet.

The Jewish Federation of St. Louis will hold its annual meeting at the Columbian Club tonight at 8 o'clock.

STOP WHISKY

Before your husband or son goes blind or develops kidney or liver trouble which may disable him from earning a livelihood, stop his drinking. Give him a few TESCUM POWDERS in his drink or food for a few weeks. Tescum Powders are tasteless and have been on the market 20 years, thousands of homes have been made happy by reclaiming their loved ones. Tescum Powders are sold in all drug stores in the U. S. Walgreen and Wolff-Wilson stores always have a good supply and will fill orders for out-of-town demand.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 279 N. Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST TIRE

Goodyear Triumphs Again!

with the new-type All-Weather Tread —especially designed for balloon tires

For the first time, you are now able to buy a balloon tire with a tread as clearly superior to any other tread as the Goodyear SUPERTWIST casing has proved itself superior to any other casing.

It is the new Goodyear balloon tire with the NEW-TYPE All-Weather Tread!

The first big advantage you will get from this new tread is traction—safe, sure-footed, skidless travel under all conditions.

The sharp-edged, diamond-shaped Goodyear blocks in the tread's center seize, grip and hang-on.

The second big advantage is long, slow, even tread wear, as opposed to the "cupping" and "pot holes" until now characteristic of wear in balloons.

This is accomplished by heavy circumferential ribs at the point of greatest bearing, and by a flatter tread profile giving broader road contact.

Goodyear tested this tread under the harshest kind of service—picked it finally from eighty separate and individual designs as outranking them all.

Smooth and quiet-running, it will help you to safer, longer, more dependable balloon tire performance than you have heretofore been able to enjoy.

It complements perfectly the celebrated Goodyear cord fabric, SUPERTWIST, now used in all Goodyear tires.

The superiority of SUPERTWIST is in its greater elasticity. Under road shocks it stretches and recovers without breaking, like a rubber band. This flexibility is inherent in the structure of the SUPERTWIST cords themselves, and is not dependent upon latex, gum or filler of any kind.

The NEW-TYPE All-Weather balloon tread and the SUPERTWIST balloon casing represent the greatest tire combination yet offered to the public.

Once more, then, as so many times in the past, Goodyear now advances the tire best suited to the needs and conditions of motoring, and demonstrates again why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Available now at your Goodyear Dealer's—and backed up by a dealer service that is pledged "to provide facilities so that users will get all the inbuilt Goodyear value out"

The Greatest Story in the World

The Bible in Pictures

The greatest selling book the world has ever known is the Bible. The biggest seller last year was a religious book. The biggest success among all moving pictures was a religious film.

What promises to be the most popular newspaper feature ever produced will be the daily strip, "The Bible in Pictures," which will commence at the beginning of Genesis and continue through the scriptures.

This feature is not limited in interest to those having religious affiliations or even inclinations.

It is for everybody. Sacred history has a fascination wholly apart from its spiritual significance

So well has the artist interpreted in picture form the tremendous events narrated in the Old Testament that every reader, perhaps to his surprise, will find these strips, day after day, a source of interest growing as the story unfolds. Look for it yourself on the day it starts.

TWO JUDGES CHOSEN IN GLEE CLUB CONTEST

Peter C. Lutkin and Rosseter G. Cole Selected for College Preliminaries Next Friday.

Peter Christian Lutkin, choral director at Northwestern University, and Rosseter Gleason Cole, professor of music at Columbia University, have been named as two of the three judges for the singing contest in which 10 college glee clubs will take part on next Friday evening at the Field House of Washington University. The third judge will be chosen later by the Committee on Arrangements, of which Ernest B. Conant of Washington University, is chairman.

Lutkin has been associated with Northwestern University for years and directs annually the children's chorus at the North Shore Festival in Evanston. He is regarded as one of the leading music teachers in this country and known also as a composer.

Cole, a graduate of the University of Michigan, also a composer, was formerly professor of music at Ripin College, and at Grinnell, going from the latter college to Columbia University.

The chief interest in the contest, according to the committee of which Conant is the head, is the significant recognition it accords music as part of the college curriculum. It was pointed out that at many schools credits now are allowed for music as for other subjects.

The colleges entered are the University of Arkansas, Iowa State College, Kansas State Agricultural College, Kansas University, Missouri University, Oklahoma A. and M. College, Oklahoma University, Washington University, Westminster College and the winner of the Kansas State contest. Of the competing clubs, Kansas and Missouri have been winners in previous contests, and are automatically participants in the finals, which are to take place in Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Special reduced rates for round-trip tickets will be in force on all railroads from stations in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, from Feb. 1 to Feb. 8, for persons attending the contest from out of town.

PRECAUTION 20 YEARS OLD

PARIS, Jan. 29.—A policeman has been on guard in a Paris courtyard for 20 years and only now has it been discovered why. A generation ago an eminent member of the Institute of France played fast and loose with a young woman's affections. She went to the institute and when the eminent member came out with a crowd of his associates she slapped his face and told everyone why.

The scandalized authorities thereupon stationed a policeman in the courtyard to prevent the recurrence of such a scene. The order stationing him there has never been revoked.

Diabetics

A new treatment for Diabetes has been developed by the Sanborn Laboratories, 542 Y.M.C.A. Bldg., Battle Creek, Mich., which many medical men pronounce the nearest approach to a genuine cure for Diabetes known today. Many cures of advanced cases reported.

A handsome bound volume of 78 pages, describing the treatment and brimful of valuable information for diabetics, will be sent free to any interested sufferer. The book is expensive to produce and cannot be sent broadcast. However, readers of this paper who suspect Diabetes, or have relatives or friends who are afflicted, can procure a copy by writing the Laboratories.

AUTO OWNERS MYSTIFIED BY NEW DEVICE

Makes Cars Run on 7% Gas.

Patent has just been applied for by an automotive engineer on a device that is stated will revolutionize the automobile industry. The theory of his invention is that of adding 93% air to 7% gasoline in such a way as to create perfect combustion. The device by actual tests on various makes of cars, including Fords, Chevrolets, etc., has cut gasoline consumption unbelievably. The Whirlwind Company, 1043 Winnebago St., Milwaukee, Wisc., is acting as sole distributor for the inventor. They are appointing men in each locality to take care of the enormous demand that is being created. This offers an opportunity to make $5000 or more a year. Write them today for full particulars and free sample offer.

10,000 Schulz Families in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—What the name "Smith" is to the United States the name "Schulz" is to Germany. At least this holds true in Berlin, where a look at the new city directory shows it occurred more than 10,000 times to designate heads of families only. In addition, there are variants of the spelling such as Schulze, Schultz and Schultze to the number of many hundreds.

Leaves Hair Twice as Beautiful

The simple hair styles of today make beautiful hair a necessity.

Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

Sure of Himself Now!

"ANYTHING that gets results, was all the thought I ever gave to laxatives. In those days my perspiration was so acid, it used to rot my clothes. Then a doctor tipped me off to those wonderful little sweeteners—

CASCARETS

So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

'CATNIP BLUES' FROM 'KRAZY KAT' ON KSD

Eveready Hour to Feature Jazz Pantomime Based on Post-Dispatch's "Comic."

Two novelties in modern American music of the lighter type will be features of the Eveready Hour next Tuesday evening, through KSD.

"Catnip Blues," a part of John Alden Carpenter's jazz pantomime called "Krazy Kat," to be played by the Eveready Orchestra, will be the first of these.

"Krazy Kat" is a musical version of the newspaper comic strip which has been running under the same name for a number of years. In a sort of symphonic jazz arrangement, "Catnip Blues" tells an incident in the feud between "Krazy Kat" and "Ignatz Mouse." Ignatz, knowing the curiosity that is a dominating influence in the lives of all felines, is discovered burying some mysterious object while Krazy Kat watches him from a hiding place. Ignatz walks off and Krazy Kat sneaks up and proceeds to uncover Ignatz' buried treasure. Kat finds it is a bag and as he opens it the mischievous perfume of catnip floats out of the bag and lays hold upon the senses of the investigator. Krazy Kat falls completely under the spell. He waltzes, he careens, he turns somersaults and, after rapidly working up to a climax of frenzy, he collapses, utterly exhausted and unconscious. Ignatz returns gleefully to the scene, walks around his prostrate enemy to make certain that the latter is entirely helpless. Then Ignatz takes careful aim and the familiar brickbat sizzles through the air and crashes against the cranium of Krazy Kat with all its accustomed "pow!"

"Muddy Water," the other feature of this Eveready Hour program, is another orchestra number and a very odd, unusual thing. It is a sort of mixture of Negro spiritual and "Black Bottom," which literally oozes the pungent mud of a Mississippi mud flat on a summer's day.

The program will include also two special vocal numbers. One of these, "The Blue Room," from "The Girl Friend," will be sung by the Eveready Revellers, and the other, "A Tree in the Park," "The Girl Friend," will be sung as a duet by Franklyn Bauer, tenor, and Betsy Ayres, soprano.

The Eveready Orchestra will play a medley of children's tunes arranged by Nat Shilkret.

'ROMEO AND JULIET' AS KSD GRAND OPERA

Gounod Work of Great Beauty and Appeal to Be Sung Tomorrow Night.

Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet" will be sung through KSD tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock by the WEAF Grand Opera Company, under Cesare Sodero. This opera features in particular a great coloratura aria, "The Valse Song," in the first act and this will be sung by Genia Zielinska. The opera is based on Shakspeare's drama of the same name and was produced in Paris first in 1867. The cast will include Genia Zielinska, soprano, as Juliet; Devora Narwoney, contralto, Gertrude; Giuseppe di Benedetto, tenor, Romeo; Carl Rollins, baritone, Mercutio; Nino Ruisi, basso, Capulet.

"Romeo and Juliet" has been called a love duet with many interruptions. The opera opens with Capulet, a nobleman, giving a masked ball in honor of his daughter, Juliet. To the festivities comes an uninvited guest, Romeo, with several other young lords of a rival house. Their visit is a bit of audacity likely to cost them their lives. While they are laughing over their prank, Juliet enters with her nurse, Gertrude, and expresses her happiness in "The Valse Song." Romeo falls in love with Juliet, who returns his sentiment. At this point the duet "Ange Adorable," is sung.

In the second act the familiar balcony scene occurs. The guests have departed and the action is in a garden outside Capulet's home. Romeo ascends the balcony with a rope ladder and a love duet begins. Servants, warned of a trespasser in the grounds, appear searching for Romeo, but he is well concealed and they soon depart, the lovers continuing their chant of ecstasy in another lovely duet. Presently Juliet's nurse, Gertrude, calls to them that the hour is late, and, after arranging for a secret marriage on the morrow, Romeo and Juliet indulge the sweet sorrow of parting with a lingering farewell, "Linger Yet a Moment."

The secret marriage takes place the following day in the cell of Friar Laurence, who sees in the union a chance to reconcile the two houses. But when Juliet returns to her home, Romeo and his friends have a stormy meeting with the hot-headed young Capulet, Tybalt. Tybalt kills Mercutio. Seeing his beloved friend fall wounded, Romeo attacks Tybalt and kills him. The Duke of Verona sentences Romeo to immediate banishment. Before going into exile Romeo determines to see his beloved once more and, with the aid of the old nurse, succeeds in obtaining a last interview with his bride.

After a beautiful farewell duet, Romeo is compelled to depart. Juliet's father then makes arrangements for her marriage to Count Paris, which he determines is to take place that day, despite her entreaty for delay. Not daring to reveal the fact that she is already married, Juliet seeks the advice of Friar Laurence, who gives her a potion which he bids her take prior to the ceremony. This is supposed to throw her into a death-like trance for 48 hours, after which Juliet will be awakened from her temporary prison by Romeo. At the wedding festival the guests are horrified to see Juliet fall to the ground apparently dead and the scene ends in confusion and dismay.

The final scene shows Juliet in her tomb, still in a trance. Romeo returning to seek her, and not having received the Friar's message, comes to the vault to see his bride, whom he believes dead. While there he swallows a deadly poison and as he falls beside her, Juliet awakens. They have but time to sing a stirring love duet when Juliet seizes a dagger and kills herself.

DAMROSCH TO GIVE ANOTHER RECI

Will Base Balkite Hour Program on Two Acts of "Di Meistersinger."

Walter Damrosch will use the first two acts of Wagner's "Meistersinger" as the basis for his lecture-recital in the Balkite Hour to be broadcast from KSD next Saturday evening.

"The Meistersinger" differs from Wagner's other works in that its characters are all human. The Meistersingers were the medieval successors to the Minnesingers, who were knightly poets and musicians.

DEVICE ADAPTS SET TO RECEIVE ON SHORT WAVES

The Crosley Radio Corp. announces a unit designed to adapt any receiving set to the reception of short waves. It will be known as the "Lowave." Virtually all receiving sets are built to tune in only on stations broadcasting on wavelengths in the band from 200 meters to 550 meters. Experiments in short wave broadcasting have been conducted and several stations, including KDKA at Pittsburg and WGY, Schenectady, are broadcasting on short waves as well as their standard wavelengths.

WLW, the Crosley station at Cincinnati, will begin broadcasting almost immediately on a short wave of 52 meters in addition to its regular wavelength of 422.3 meters.

The new device makes it possible for radio listeners to use their old sets to hear short wave broadcasts.

The new Crosley product looks like a small radio set, about a third of standard size. When it is connected with the receiving set it enables reception between 20 and 80 meters and does not interfere with reception of longer waves. It is simply necessary to connect it to the set and then by the push or pull of a switch the fan may receive on either short or long wavelengths.

THREE TUBES IN ONE IN SET SHOWN IN ST. LOUIS

The three-in-one tubes which were reported in use in Germany some months ago are now being made in this country and, at last, have reached St. Louis.

The first radio set in which these tubes have been used in this country is a special Standardyne model, in which the one tube does the work of three, serving as radio frequency, detector and audio tubes.

One of these sets, which are being handled here by the Gardner Radio and Electric Corporation, brings in stations with good loud speaker volume and good tonal quality, though it has but the one tube, an Emerson "multivalve."

This three-tubes-in-one set has a panel only 7 by 10 inches and can use dry cells. Naturally, it is extremely economical of operation.

In an impromptu demonstration Tuesday, one of these "one-tube" Standardyne sets performed astonishingly well.

TRUPHONIC AMPLIFIER BRINGS OLD RECEIVERS UP TO DATE

One of the interesting ways of bringing an old set up to date or improving the reproduction of a receiver is to install a Truphonic amplifier, either with or without a power tube in the last stage. This amplifier, which uses three tubes, has a patent arrangement by which it can be coupled into a set at the detector tube, thus replacing the audio stage tubes. Anyone can install it in a set and make the necessary connections to A, B and C batteries.

In thorough tests conducted in St. Louis, with several five-tube and six-tube receivers, this Truphonic amplifier proved its value. A two-year-old set which always was a good distance getter, but had none too good tone, was turned into a powerful receiver, with excellent tone, by use of the Truphonic. The same was true with other sets of ages ranging from two years to eight months.

Coupled into a receiver which has excellent radio frequency stages, the Truphonic handled all sorts of broadcasting with fidelity to tone, clearness and power. It works best, of course, with a 112 or 171 power tube, but was very satisfactory using all 201A tubes.

The tests showed that there are many receivers which can be modernized by addition of this amplifier.

DAMROSCH TO GIVE ANOTHER RECITAL

Will Base Balkite Hour Program on Two Acts of "Die Meistersinger."

Walter Damrosch will use the first two acts of Wagner's "Meistersinger" as the basis for his lecture-recital in the Balkite Hour to be broadcast from KSD next Saturday evening.

"Die Meistersinger" differs from Wagner's other works in that its characters are all human. The Meistersingers were the medieval successors to the Minnesingers, who were knightly poets and musicians.

DEVICE ADAPTS SET TO RECEIVE ON SHORT WAVES

The Crosley Radio Corp. announces a unit designed to adapt any receiving set to the reception of short waves. It will be known as the "Lowave." Virtually all receiving sets are built to tune in only on stations broadcasting on wavelengths in the band from 200 meters to 550 meters. Experiments in short wave broadcasting have been conducted and several stations, including KDKA at Pittsburg and WGY, Schenectady, are broadcasting on short waves as well as their standard wavelengths.

WLW, the Crosley station at Cincinnati, will begin broadcasting almost immediately on a short wave of 52 meters in addition to its regular wavelength of 422.3 meters.

The new device makes it possible for radio listeners to use their old sets to hear short wave broadcasts.

The new Crosley product looks like a small radio set, about a third of standard size. When it is connected with the receiving set it enables reception between 20 and 80 meters and does not interfere with reception of longer waves. It is simply necessary to connect it to the set and then by the push or pull of a switch the fan may receive on either short or long wavelengths.

"We were never before so thrilled by radio reproduction!"

"...that's remarkable: of all the radio we've ever heard, we've never been so thrilled as today, when, with our new Acme Speaker, which daddy got us, we could plainly hear every instrument that was playing in the orchestra..."

The wonderful new Acme Loud Speaker successfully reproduces voices and music in your own home as clearly as they were originally created in the broadcasting studio. It reproduces the voice of the singer in all its thrilling, tender beauty. It brings out the different personality in each voice, so that you can tell one voice from another. It recreates orchestral music so clearly that you can hear each instrument playing. It reproduces low notes and tones as clearly as high notes and tones. You hear the bass and treble, harmony and melody.

All this was not done in a moment. Acme engineers worked five years and made 256 experimental speakers, before they arrived at the new Acme Enclosed Free Edge Cone and Acme Reproducing Unit, which together are responsible for this great increase in radio enjoyment.

How KSD Broadcasts "Direct From New York"

Complicated Process Used in Getting Programs From Microphones in New York City to Middle West Audience.

"This is station KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch," a familiar voice announces. "The next feature will be broadcast direct from New York."

A slight pause. Then another voice, not so familiar, says: "The National Broadcasting Co. presents the WEAF Grand Opera Company in a tabloid version of 'Rigoletto.' A number of other stations are also taking the broadcast."

Made Possible by Tubes.

Sound simple. There is no fuss, no trouble. It all passes off so smoothly that KSD listeners who have heard similar announcements before scarcely realize that whereas KSD is about 850 miles air-distance from New York, their loud speakers are bringing them the music and speech at virtually the same instant that these are being heard by listeners in New York, Portland, Me., and Atlanta, Ga., as well.

The process has been made possible principally through development of the three-element vacuum tube. The receiver which brings one the music from KSD utilizes tubes to detect and amplify the signals it receives. In the transmitters of KSD and WEAF larger tubes, built on the same principle, are burning to send the program, and all along telephone circuits from New York to St. Louis similar tubes are glowing so that the transmitter in St. Louis may receive proper signal strength to enable it to broadcast the music clearly.

TO PHILADELPHIA, WASHINGTON, D.C. AND SOUTHERN STATIONS

Drawing of the course which a broadcast follows from the studio of WEAF, in New York, until it goes out into the air from the antenna of KSD, St. Louis. Three telephone circuits carry the broadcast to Providence, R. I., and other New England stations, to Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and Southern stations, and to KSD and other Middle West stations. On its journey westward the broadcast passes through several "repeater" stations, the last being at Morrell Park, Ill., near Chicago. From Morrell Park the broastcast goes to the Beaumont long-distance telephone station, in St. Louis, and thence to the input amplifier of KSD. The long-distance wires are connected to the KSD amplifier in place of the usual wires from the KSD studio microphones.

Preparing for the Broadcast.

At the New York end of this line of light, in the studio of WEAF, a group of artists have assembled to broadcast, say, "Rigoletto." For several weeks Cesare Sodero, "maestro" of the WEAF Grand Opera Company, and his assistants have worked over the operatic score, condensing the music.

The roles have been assigned, the principals, chorus and orchestra have been rehearsed individually and together. On the night of the broadcast, a last rehearsal in the studio has put the final touches on the perforance—a "dress" rehearsal in name only, since the costumes and scenery which make "Rigoletto" such an effective stage presentation must in this case be supplied entirely by music.

The tabloid opera is to be broadcast through 11 stations of the National Broadcasting Company's Red Network, including KSD in St. Louis and WEAF in New York, and an order for facilities has been placed with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the telephone circuits connecting the various transmitters.

Numerous Circuits Used.

In the WEAF studio a program is picked up by microphones and amplified by the WEAF input amplifier. Leaving this amplifier, the program goes over two circuits, one to the WEAF radio transmitter, the other to the long distance office of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., 24 Walker street, New York City.

The telephone circuit divides there into three branches. One of these takes the program to Providence, R. I., and other New England stations. The second carries the program to Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and Southern stations. The third transmits the program to KSD and Midwest stations.

On its journey west the program passes through a number of long-distance repeater stations. Among these are Brushton, Pa., just outside of Pittsburg; Beaver Dam, O., about 10 miles from Lima and Morrell Park, Ill., near Chicago. At each of these stations the program is sent to the various stations in the Red Network and at the same time is amplified and continued on its way to KSD.

From Morrell Park, Ill., the program goes direct to the long-distance exchange at Beaumont, in St. Louis, and then to the input amplifier at KSD. Here the long-distance wires are connected to the amplifier in place of the usual microphone. The amplifier increases the strength of the small electrical currents and passes them on to the radio transmitter. The latter mixes the audi frequency tones with a radio frequency carrier current, and delivers the combination to the KSD antenna, and the result is radiated into the air for the thousands of receiving sets to pick up.

Here again the explanation appears simple, but a detailed account of the manner in which the transmission is handled will show that the system which functions so smoothly is really complicated.

Engineers Busy.

An hour before the scheduled time of the broadcast, probably while the final rehearsal is taking place in the studio of WEAF, a "Morse man" or telegraph operator, a representative of the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., started checking the various telephone circuits which have been ordered linked together. Engineers along the line not only make sure that the circuits in use have been properly hooked up, but also that the circuits have been entirely cleared for the broadcast and will carry without distortion every frequency in the wide range of tones involved in broadcasting.

An ordinary telephone circuit may carry at one time a number of regular telephone conversations, as well as telegraph messages passing both ways. But when it is to be used for broadcasting music, which includes a much greater frequency range than that of the human voice, the circuit must be cleared of all other traffic.

As various test tones are sent over the lines from the control room of WEAF in New York, they are received in the control room of KSD and their volume recorded. If proper volume is being supplied, another Morse man in St. Louis flashes back an "O K" to New York. By the time the entire frequency range has been tested only five minutes or so remain before the time the broadcast is to go on the air.

Must Be Timed Exactly.

The exact time is telegraphed from New York, and all the operators along the line set their watches to conform to the one carried by the Morse man in WEAF'S control room.

At the exact hour scheduled for the feature, the operator in New York flashes "Now!" The announcer at KSD goes on the air with his preliminary announcement. He is allowed 30 seconds and must finish his remarks within that time, because a half-minute later the WEAF announcer opens his microphone and the program is under way.

Every detail of the broadcasting must be carried out with the utmost care. Every movement must be timed exactly, down to the fraction of a second. The slightest slip anywhere along the line means the spoiling of the program for at least one station and possibly for every one in the chain.

To carry a broadcast feature from the studio of WEAF to the antenna of KSD requires the services of more than 40 men—telephone, telegraph and radio operators.

About 1260 miles are covered by the special circuits used in furnishing the program to KSD station in the National Broadcasting Co.'s Red Network.

Can't tune 'em out?

TRY a Micadon 601 in series with the antenna of your set, if you find it hard to "tune out" nearby stations.

The Micadon will have the same effect as "loose coupling," and the selectivity of your set will be greatly improved. Capacities from .0001 to .0005 mfd. may be used—you will find a full explanation in our 32 page booklet, "Seventeen Ways to Improve Your Set."

Micadons, because of the patented principles of low-loss insulation and protection against variation in capacity which they embody, are a vital element in the improved reception of thousands of radio sets. The tone, the efficiency, and the satisfactory operation of your set depend on the quality of the fixed condensers used.

If you want to be sure that your set will do all it was meant to do, be sure that the fixed condensers bear the name of Dubilier

FAIRY TALE PIANO SUITE IN VIKING PERIOD FROM KSD

During the program of the Vikings to be broadcast Tuesday evening through KSD the fairy tale adventure suite "In the Blue Mountain," by Agathe Backer-Grondahl, will be played by Magnhild Stybr, young Norwegian pianist. This work which gives impressions of the folklore and legends of the Norwegian peaks and hills, contains music of unusual beauty. It is a tale of the mysterious hill folk, the mountain sirens, the witches and their legendary giant companions, the Trolls.

The Trolls of Scandinavian mythology were indolent, pleasure-loving ogres, many of whom had three heads and were given to terrible outbursts of anger when aroused. If caught by the morning sunlight, however, before getting back to their hiding places, they became transfixed and appeared as part of the wild crags and mountain peaks. In the far mountain fastness, the sirens lure unwary mortals. The suite "In the Blue Mountains" is in six parts—"Night in the Woods"; "In the Hall of the Trolls" "The Giant Troll"; "The Witches' Enchantment"; "Lament of the Captive Mortal," and "The Dance of the Trolls."

Magnhild Stybr was born in New York City but educated in Europe. Her first public appearance was in 1915 in Oslo, Norway.

MOST OF ST. LOUIS DEALERS TO VISIT SHOW AT CHICAGO

Over 300 Motor Cars on Display With Closed Models in Majority—Many Sport Roadsters Exhibited.

Most of the St. Louis automobile distributers and dealers will attend the Chicago motor car show, which was formally opened yesterday afternoon, to continue through this week.

The twenty-seventh annual holding of the event, which is staged under the auspices of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Inc., promises in every way to establish new records for the show. More automobiles than ever before are on display in the exhibition hall, and from all indications Chicago, like New York, will have an attendance surpassing any previous year.

44 Makers Showing Cars.

More than 300 thoroughbreds of motordom are being displayed by 44 manufacturers. Every one of the gasoline greyhounds have received as much attention as a starter in the Kentucky Derby, until they glisten like newly cut diamonds.

The majority of the displays this year are closed models, with numerous sport roadsters being shown. The good old touring car, which only a few years ago four out of five purchasers ordered has been relegated to the past. Limousines, landaus, cabriolets, sedans, coaches and coupes have taken the center of the stage, and, from all indications, will continue to occupy it until manufacturers show models still more convenient and comfortable.

The Coliseum, decorated by Samuel Asch, noted scenic artist, and his army of assistants, dazzled the throng that crowded into the Coliseum when the doors were opened. Asch, employing a Persian motif, achieved effects that surpass by far all previous shows. More than 15,000 yards of gold cloth and fabricated material of Persian design were used to hide every beam and [illegible] the hall, while large decorations were hung on the walls.

Light Commercial Cars.

In addition to the 300 passenger cars on display, nine makers of light commercial vehicles are showing the latest in their field, while two exhibitors are displaying taxicabs.

For the first time manufacturers of shop equipment have a section at the show. Forty-one makers are showing modern machines, devices and materials for service stations, garages, and repair shops, representing the last word in maintenance of motor vehicles. Approximately 150 manufacturers, jobbers and dealers are showing the latest accessories and parts.

The automobile salon, exhibiting new styles of custom coach work, is being held at the Drake Hotel, in connection with the motor car show.

St. Louis Delegation to Leave on Special Train.

The St. Louis delegation to the Chicago Automobile Show will leave for Chicago at midnight Monday on a Wabash special train, according to announcement by Robert E. Lee, manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association.

Monday and Tuesday will be Dealers' days at the show, and the first session of the National Automobile Dealers' Association convention will be held Tuesday afternoon at La Salle Hotel.

Other delegates have planned to leave on Wabash trains Feb. 2 and 3.

Special rates have been granted for the round trip to Chicago.

RANDOLPH COUNTY TO VOTE ON $750,000 BOND ISSUE MARCH 1

A petition to the Randolph County Court requesting the calling of a special election to vote on a proposal for a county bond issue of $750,000 to complete the State highway system in Randolph County and to construct a number of county roads was accepted by the court Jan. 24, and an order for the election, set for March 1, was issued.

The petition carrying the names of 1615 citizens of Randolph County was presented to the court by Louis M. McCabe, division manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri at Moberly.

Plans for the calling of the special election were first discussed early in December at a meeting of members of the Randolph County Chamber of Commerce, at Moberly. Matt. P. Morse, general manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri, and John Malang, director of the Good Roads Bureau of the club, were instrumental with McCabe in making this meeting a success.

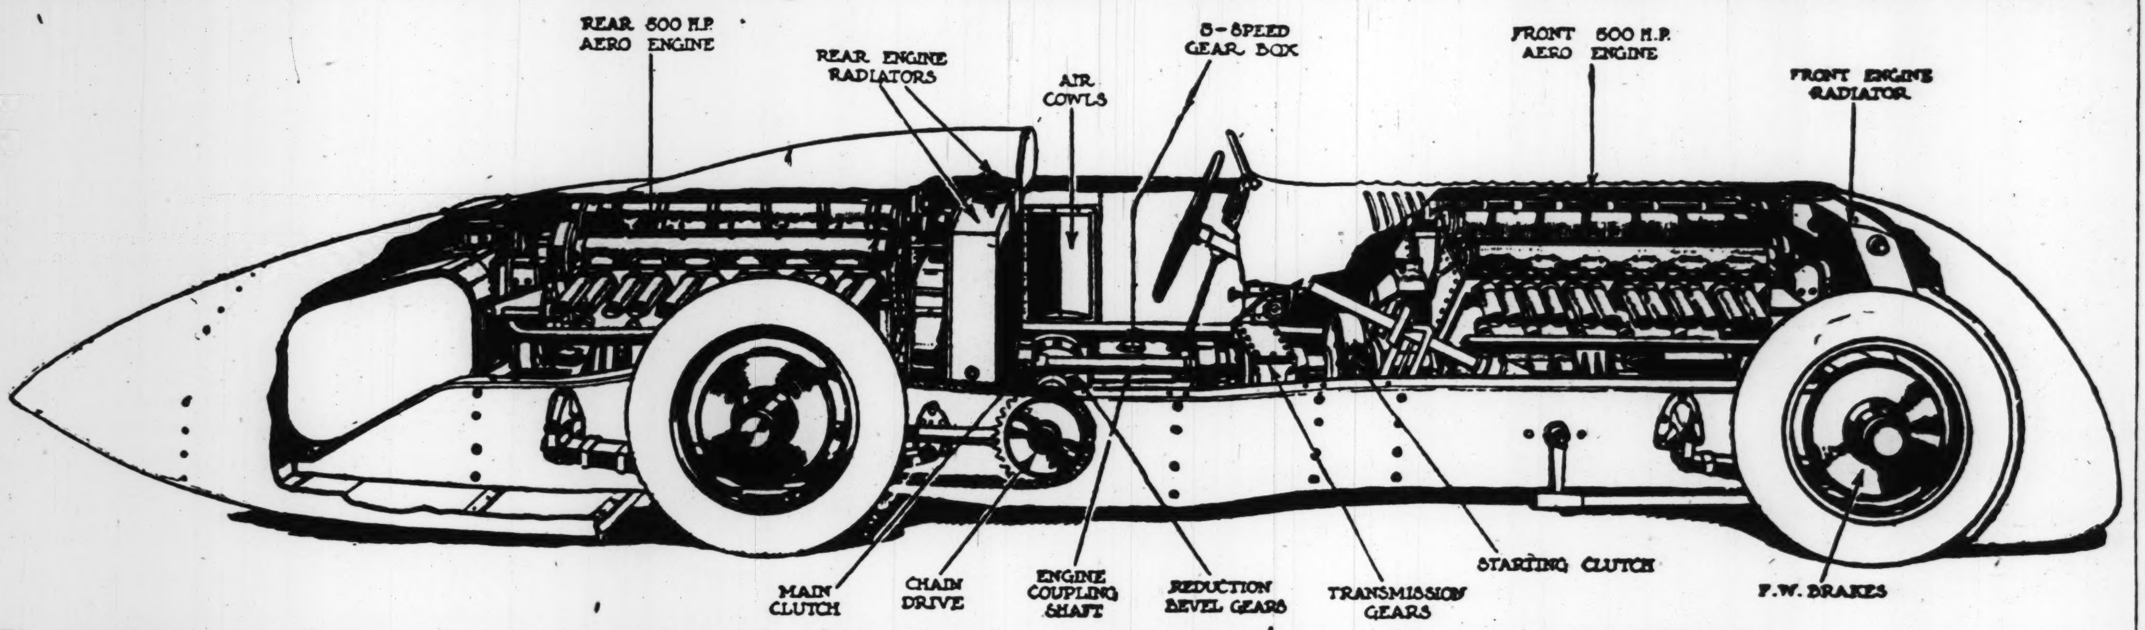
British Car That Will Try to Make 200 M. P. H. on Florida Beach



The new 1000-horsepower Sunbeam, with 12-cylinder airplane engines front and rear, is to be used in effort to beat world's speed record of 172 M. P. H.

THE 1000-horsepower Sunbeam racing car which has been under construction in England for several months (an outline of its layout was described in the Post-Dispatch automobile section when it was first planned) is now virtually complete and is to be shipped to this country in February with a view to its being put through its paces on Daytona Beach, Fla. Maj. H. O. D. Seagrave, who is to bring it over and drive it, expect to be able to raise the world's speed record to over 200 m. p. h., thus improving on the performance of Parry Thomas at Pendine Sands, Wales, last June by more than 30 m. p. h. Thomas, it may be recalled, covered a mile at 170½ m. p. h., beating the then existing European record by nearly 20 m. p. h., and "Tommy" Milton's record of 156 m. p. h. by 14 m. p. h.

Two 12-Cylinder Airplane Engines.

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association has accepted requests that it supervise tests of this car in the United States.

A representative of the Sunbeam firm says that factory tests have demonstrated this car as capable of attaining a road speed in excess of 200 m. p. h. It will require at least four miles in which to attain the car's maximum speed and six miles to bring it to a stop.

The new Sunbeam is unique in several ways. It has two 12-cylinder airplane engines, one in front as usual, and the other over the back axle. Each of these engines develops 300 horsepower at its normal rate of rotation, 2000 revolutions per minute, though, if necessary, a higher speed and an increased power output can be attained. These engines have their 12 cylinders set in two rows of six at an angle of 60 degrees. Each cylinder has four valves and there are four overhead camshafts for each power unit. The bore and stroke are 122x160 m. m. (approximately 4 13-16x6 5-16 inches), so that the piston displacement of each engine is, roughly 1380 cubic inches, or 2760 cubic inches in all. There are four six-cylinder polar-inductor magnetos for each engine, four Claudel carburetors, and 48 spark plugs in all.

In chassis form, this immense car appears more like a part of the engine room of a battleship than an automobile. The frame is an imposing structure, consisting of two side members of pressed steel nearly two feet in depth at one point and more than 12 inches deep throughout the greater part of their length. The side members extend well behind the rear axle, the extreme ends carrying a gas tank with a 33-gallon capacity. At the front there are two dumbirons, a teach side, one curving down from the top of the frame and the other curving up from the bottom, the two meeting in a bracket for a stout tubular section cross member. Through the horn front end of the frame thus arranged, the front axle passes from side to side, while the rear axle passes through an oval shaped hole in each side member, which at this point has its maximum depth.

Method of Coupling Engines.

The way in which the two engines are coupled together and to the transmission is a special feature of the design. At the back of the front engine is a large plate clutch, inside of which is a positive or dog clutch and from this extends rearward a shaft coupled up to the rear engine. When the car is to be used, the front engine is started first; the friction clutch is engaged and this starts the rear engine. At that stage the dog clutch is engaged and thereafter the two engines run evenly together.

In the coupling shaft between the two engines is a "multiplying gear," connected to a three-speed gearset, the primary shaft rotating two and a half times as fast as the engines. From the three-speed gearset, the drive passes to a "reduction gear" and thence to bevel gearing on a universally jointed cross-shaft that has driving sprockets at each end for the side chains which form the final transmission.

Offhand it is difficult to understand why a multiplying gear is provided on the engine or power side of the gearset and a reducing gear on the other side of it. Let it be said, however, that the idea of gearing the transmission up and then gearing it down again it to make it possible to use a main clutch and gearset of almost normal size, since, with the higher speed of the shafts, the torque stresses on the teeth are less than they would be at engine speed. But for this arrangement an immense clutch and an equally large gearset would be required, the first making clutch operation almost beyond the power of one man and the second calling for a very long gear lever and a chassis very much higher off the ground; moreover, gear-shifting would be an extremely heavy and difficult operation. As it is, the clutch can be operated and the gears changed as easily on this car as on a car of one-twentieth the horsepower.

Has No Direct Drive.

The driver's seat is between the two engines, each having its own radiator, the one for the rear power-unit is immediately behind the driver's seat and provided with cooling drafts that enter the body interior through scoops on either side.

Apart from engine-starting the controls are normal, though the steering gear ratio is somewhat higher than usual in view of the high speeds that are expected. The car has no direct drive; nevertheless the ifficiency of the transmission is approximately 85 per cent on the top gear ratio, which is 1.02 to 1. At the normal engine speed of 2000 r. p. m. the theoretical road speed is 74 m. p. h. on low gear, 139 m. p. h. on second and 212 m. p. h. on high. The calculated maximum speed of the car is about 220 m. p. h., at which speed 3.66 miles would be covered in a minute. A point of particular note is that in covering one mile the engines will make only 546 revolutions.

There is nothing remarkable about the braking equipment; naturally, there are brakes on all four wheels, operated by a pedal through a vacuum servo equipment of orthodox type.

The wheelbase of the car is 141 inches and the track, 62 inches wide. The springs are half-elliptic with Hartford shock absorbers throughout. Dunlop triple-spoke wire wheels are used, with specially made high-pressure tires on well-base rims with security strips. The tires have very thin treads, for, at the very high speeds at which this car is expected to run, a thick tread would soon fly off the casing owing to centrifugal force.

Body Encloses Both Engines.

It is estimated that on a concrete road with the car at full speed the tires could not possibly last more than a mile or two. This is one reason why Daytona Beach has been selected for the record attempts, for sand surfaces are less harmful to racing tires and allow the latter to run without attaining such high temperatures as on concrete and other hard surfaces. Another reason for using Daytona Beach is that there is no stretch of hard sand in Great Britain, considered extensive or smooth enough for such high speeds as are expected.

The body has been designed after experiments on models in a wind

MAJOR SEGRAVE, NATIVE AMERICAN, IS TO DRIVE CAR ON FLORIDA BEACH

MAJ. H. O. D. SEGRAVE, generally known as England's leading auto racer, is American by birth. During the war he became a pilot in the British Flying Corps. At the end of the war he took up auto racing and in 1926 set the world's record for road speed at 140 M. P. H. at Boulogne, France. He held the European record for the mile at 152 M. P. H., later broken by Perry Thomas at 172 M. P. H. Maj. Segrave is to drive the 1000 H. P. Sunbeam car on Daytona Beach, Fla.

AIR PRESSURE TENDS TO FORCE NOSE OF RACING CAR DOWN TO GROUND

WHEN the 1000 H. P. Sunbeam car runs at maximum speed, air pressure on the front tends to force down its "nose" and the wheels into the ground, and at the rear end a lesser pressure tends to raise the tail. The air pressure downward on the nose is about 700 pounds, while the lifting pressure at the tail is about 200 pounds.

CARELESS DRIVERS BLAMED FOR MOST OF AUTO MISHAPS

"Road Hogs" Responsible for Largest Number of Wrecks, Summary of 15,197 Accidents Shows.

Carelessness of drivers is responsible for the vast majority of motor vehicle accidents, it is indicated in a summary of casualties from April 16 to Dec. 1, 1926, prepared by the Public Safety Department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Defective vehicles, poor roads, and darkness, all of which are popularly believed to be responsible for a large number of accidents, in reality contribute to but a small proportion. Less than 10 per cent of the accidents tabulated occurred on poor roads; less than one-fourth occurred after dark, and only 6 per cent happened in other than clear weather. The casualties that might be considered unavoidable were found to be extremely limited so that the conclusion in the summary is that safety on the highways in the final analysis is up to the intelligence and care of the drivers.

A total of 15,197 accidents were tabulated. Road hogs, or those politely classified as right-of-way violators, were responsible for the largest number of wrecks, with 3616 or more than 20 per cent of the total. Incompetent handling of motor vehicles, due either to carelessness or ignorance, was second on the list, with 2631 accidents. The driver who backs without looking ranks third, with a total of 1480 accidents against his record.

Of more than 15,000 accidents surveyed, only three are classed as

WILLYS-OVERLAND AIM IS 300,000-CAR OUTPUT

Factory Officials Tell Dealers in St. Louis District of Plans to Set Record

Production and sale of 300,000 Willys-Overland Whippet fours and sixes and Willys-Knight "70" and "Great Six" cars is expected in 1927, more than 300 of the company's dealers from Eastern Missouri, Southern Illinois, Northern Arkansas and Western Kentucky were told Tuesday at a convention held at Hotel Chase. The financial and productive strength of Willys-Overland, its 95 per cent coverage of the price range with 21 models and its large scale 1927 sales campaign were depicted at length.

Principal speakers were L. G. Peed, general sales manager of Willys-Overland, Inc.; Ward M. Canady, director of advertising; O. P. Kilbourn, assistant sales manager, and E. M. Rowland, sales promotion manager. W. A. Elliot, branch manager, presided at the convention, which was the third of a series that is to cover the country in eight weeks.

Complete lines of the new Whippet six and of the Whippet four, Willys-Knight "70" and Willys-Knight "Great Six" were on view for the dealers at the Willys-Overland branch, Twenty-third and Locust boulevard. They included the entirely new Willys-Knight "Great Six" coupster and four-passenger sedan.

Peed Discusses Outlook.

In an interview Peed said that expenditure of $16,000,000 on Willys-Overland production facilities and on the Knight sleeve valve engine plant at Pontiac, Mich., had given Willys-Overland a capacity of 1500 cars a day, or more than 300,000 a year, as compared with facilities for making 1000 cars a day a year ago. The February production schedule, he said, is completely covered, while the March schedule is covered to a far greater extent than ever before.

Willys-Overland production was around 175,000 cars in 1926, and Peed pointed out that this was in spite of the loss of business while the Whippet four line was being brought out. Now, with the Whippet four soundly established, with 200,539 persons thronging into the New York show room of the company during the week of the auto show, and with the new Whippet six to supplement the four and the Willys-Knight "70" and "Great Six," Peed said that the sale of 300,000 cars by Willys-Overland in 1927 was regarded as a virtual certainty.

He stressed the fact that there are now 21 distinct models in the Willys-Overland lines—5 Whippet four body types, 6 Whippet six models, 4 Willys-Knight "70" types and 6 Willys-Knight "Great Sixes." The price range of the models is from $625 to $2295.

Peed stated that more than 700 orders were put in by dealers at the convention here.

Canady Outlines Plans.

Canady outlined the Willys-Overland advertising plans for the year, saying that 50 per cent of the large appropriation was to be spent in newspapers and that "engineering leadership," which has been adopted as a Willys-Overland slogan, would be emphasized.

Analyzing the results of an investigation of Whippet buying motives, Canady said that the advertised 30-miles-to-the-gallon economy of the Whippet was the strongest in appeal, that the car's four-wheel brakes were second strongest in appeal, that the low center of gravity and the appearance of lowness and certainty of safety were third in appeal, while speed came fourth. Lack of carbon trouble, and quiet and smoothness of operation, he had found, were chief Willys-Knight buying reasons.

"Around a properly developed advertising campaign the well-organized motor car dealer can build success," said Canady.

"The daily press constitutes the quickest and most certain means through which to carry any sales story to the general public. Today nearly everyone reads some newspaper.

"The advertising columns are scanned as carefully as the news columns, and buyers go to the newspapers for authentic information regarding the products in which they are interested."

Claims Whippet Leadership.

"Signs are unmistakable that the Whippet type of construction has started a new trend in motor car manufacturing," said Kilbourn.

"Since the advent of the light Whippet last June several manufacturers have developed new models for which Whippet claims of performance and construction were freely made. The word European type, the use of such characteristically Whippet phrases as low center gravity, high motor efficiency, low body structure and roominess in a compact body, have become general in the industry.

"But until the present the Whippet remains the one car built in this country which combines all the features of the type of design which is on the way."

Peed, Canady and other officials left St. Louis Tuesday night to hold conventions in Kansas City and Omaha.

Heavy Willys-Overland Orders.

At sales conventions held in nine cities up to Jan. 24, Willys-Overland dealers placed orders for immediate delivery of $16,642,000 worth of Willys-Knight sixes and Whippet four and Whippet six-cylinder cars," Willys-Overland, Inc., reports.

"Orders for the new cars are far beyond advance estimates, and will be a record year for Willys-Overland in production and sales.

"The convention in New York during the auto show brought orders totaling $5,000,000. Toledo's sales convention was second with orders for $2,300,000.

"At the Pittsburg meeting orders were taken for delivery of $2,054,000 worth of Willys-Knights and Whippets, while Philadelphia recorded orders valued at $2,005,000. Orders taken at the other Willys-Overland dealers' meetings were: Milwaukee $1,961,000; Detroit $1,900,000; Atlanta $1,200,000; Buffalo $1,000,000; Indianapolis $1,187,000."

GREATER ST. LOUIS TOURIST CAMP TO BE OPEN MARCH 15

The annual statement of the transactions of the Greater St. Louis Tourist Camp Co., made at the meeting of the company Tuesday morning, showed there had been a large patronage of the motorists' camp in the first year of its existence. The camp is at 6510 St. Charles road. It was established by St. Louis and Wellston interests, including the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, the Automotive Accessory Association, various automobile dealers as individuals, the Optimists' Club and the Wellston Chamber of Commerce, a number of Wellston business men and several St. Louis business men, to take care of motor tourists coming through St. Louis. The camp, which had been in Forest Park and maintained by the city, was abolished at the beginning of 1926 and the Greater St. Louis Camp established. It is one of the best equipped tourist camps in the Western country, with cottages, community house, cooking and bathing facilities and store accommodations for food and motor supplies.

At the meeting Robert E. Lee, manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, and Thomas E. Elliott of the Optimists' International, were elected directors of the Greater St. Louis Tourist Camp Co. for three-year terms. J. M. Barnett was re-elected president of the company, Frank W. Bradley vice president, and John Schuhy secretary and treasurer. Holdover directors are J. M. Barnett, Leo E. Painter, E. Reed Flint, the Rev. F. G. Van Zandt and Frank W. Bradley.

The board decided to open the camp for tourists March 15 and to keep its stores and supply depots open each night until 11 o'clock.

FIRST PRIZE IN ECONOMY RUN WON BY STEARNS-KNIGHT SIX

A last minute entry in the Los Angeles-Yosemite economy run conducted by a Southern California corporation won the sweepstakes prize in the first winter contest over the new El Portal route into the national park resort.

The car which turned in the winning score was a Stearns-Knight Six driven by Mrs. A. J. Brown of Los Angeles, who was one of 12 women who made the trip.

Scoring was on a weight economy basis and Mrs. Brown drove her car the total distance of 389.5 miles on 22.75 gallons of fuel or at a rate of 16.42 miles to the gallon.

On the weight scoring system used to determine the winner, she averaged 39.46 miles per gallon of gas for each 2000 pounds weight in the car. The run into the valley from Los Angeles took two days.

of unknown origin. Among the 52 causes listed, stopping too abruptly was responsible for 1031 accidents; turning left without giving proper warning caused 951 accidents; cutting in ahead, 812; exceeding the speed limit in limited zones, 796; swerving suddenly to avoid collisions caused 520, and passing on the wrong side of the road, 396 accidents.

The summary demonstrated that intersections are the most dangerous points, as 7949 of the accidents listed occurred at road crossings, or more than half of the total. Bridges ranked second, with 4959 of the accidents listed. Although grade crossing accidents are the most spectacular and command the most publicity, there were only 108 of the more than 15,000 accidents tabulated that occurred at railroad crossings. This is less than one per cent of the total.

tunnel that is normally used for testing airplane resistances. In appearance it resembles an immense garden slug and the probability is that the car will be known as "The Slug," though there is likely to be nothing "sluggish" about its movements. The top of the body, which encloses both engines and the rear wheels, is only 47 inches above the ground and the ground clearance at the lowest point is roughly seven inches. Only the top of the driver's head projects above the body shell, and his line of vision, when the car is at rest, strikes the ground at about 100 yards ahead.

Protection for Driver.

The designer of the body claims to have given the driver a reasonable chance of escape from serious injury in case of accident. The undershield is made of steel plate six millimeters (about a quarter-inch) thick, that the car might slide along the ground on it if a wheel should come off. In front of and behind the driver, also, is a stout steel hoop within the body to prevent it from being crushed if the car overturned. It is believed that if the driver ducked his head quickly when an overturn became imminent he would escape injury other than bruises.

Experiments have shown that at a speed of 200 miles per hour something like 350 horsepower will be necessary to overcome wind resistance alone, despite the best possible streamline shape having been adopted for the body in view of the limitations imposed by the size and positions of the large engines.

WANTS PUBLIC TO KNOW USED CARS' REAL VALUE

L. M. Stewart Suggests Methods to Avoid Losses in New Car Business.

Terming the used car business a "mystery" rather than a problem, L. M. Stewart, president of Midwest Motors, Inc., urged St. Louis automobile dealers to instruct their entire personnel in the fundamentals of the trade-in business, at a meeting of the association in Hotel Claridge Wednesday.

"The greatest drain on the new car business was losses on used cars," he said, adding that he did not believe such losses would be wiped out in 1927.

Stewart named three sources of the used car "mystery"—the adventurer, factory pressure and ignorance. The first, he said, was a new dealer who tried to take the public by storm in selling new cars and accepted trade-ins knowing they would entail losses. Factory pressure was the demand on selling organizations to sell more cars, Stewart stated. Automobile factories also maintain statistical departments which juggle figures and establish national selling quotas which local dealers are expected to reach and make a net profit of 5 per cent, he declared.

Ignorance was the chief source, Stewart said, suggesting that dealers learn all about the dangers of the used car "mystery" so as to know when not to trade, what not to trade, and what it costs to handle used cars.

He referred to a "good" dealer whose new car sales totaled $100,000 in a year, and allowances for trade-ins in that period, $14,000, and whose discount on new car business was 1.96 per cent.

A "losing" dealer, Stewart said, had new car sales totaling $100,000 and allowance on used cars amounting to $70,000 in a year and an 8.4 per cent discount on new car business through his used car department.

He advised St. Louis dealers not to grant discounts for used cars from their new car departments, and predicted that the time would come when a new car would be listed at two prices—one with a trade-in accounted for, and one without.

Stewart also suggested that association members get together and instruct the public on the actual value of used cars and cite good reasons why they cannot accept trade-ins at a loss.

LITTLE MARMON EIGHT APPEARS IN ST. LOUIS

Companion to Large Marmon, It Comes in Six Body Styles.

Powered with an eight-in-line engine, Marmon's new small car is being shown by the More Automobile Co., Marmon distributer in the St. Louis district.

G. M. Williams, president of the Marmon company, emphasizes the statement that "the Little Marmon is not a European type car, but is a companion to the large Marmon." The new Marmon straight eight is backed by seven years of planning and experimental work. Its introduction rounds out the full line of Marmon motor cars at prices ranging upwards from $1795.

Included among Little Marmon's six body styles are:

Eight cylinders in line with brake horsepower of 65 at 3300 revolutions a minute. More power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other production engine. Seventy miles an hour, insuring wide range of operation and flexibility. Distinctive body styles. Hypoid bevel rear axle drive gears. Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers engineered into frame. Full pressure lubrication to all vital moving parts. Auxiliary oiling of pistons and cylinder walls when starter is engaged. Intake manifold of down-draught type. Rubber shackles insulating frame. Wheelbase of 116 inches and low center of gravity. Self-energizing mechanical four-wheel brakes of Bendix type. Fedco system of theft prevention.

The offering of the Little Marmon consists of six body types, quoted at prices ranging from $1795 to $1995 at Indianapolis. In addition to these, the company is planning to introduce a complete line of custom-built bodies on the small chassis during the next few months.

Body styles now offered and prices are: two-door sedan, $1795; four-door sedan, 1895; two-passenger speedster, $1895; two-passenger coupe, $1895; four-passenger speedster, $1965; collapsible coupe-roadster, $1995.

Three Models Have Rumble Seats.

The two-passenger speedster, two-passenger coupe and collapsible coupe are equipped with rumble seats which operate from levers in the drivers' compartments. The four-door sedan is equipped with silk toggle grips and a rear window that may be lowered to provide additional ventilation.

The Little Marmon engine, built in Marmon factories, is designed to give a maximum of flexibility and power at a low cost of operation. Use of an oil purification device makes the consumption of oil negligible and eliminates the necessity of frequent changes.

The engine has eight cylinders in a block, overhead valves and a cylinder bore of 2¾ inches and piston stroke of 4 inches. The piston displacement is 190 cubic inches. The engine develops 65 horsepower at 3300 revolutions a minute.

An important feature of the lubricating system is an automatic release which forces a small quantity of oil on each of the pistons at the time of starting, insuring thorough lubrication during the warming-up period.

Arrangement of Intake.

Another achievement on the Little Marmon engine is the arrangement of the intake manifold which is of the downspout type. From the carburetor the gasoline mixture is drawn to a central point above and equi-distant from the intake valve of each cylinder and distribution to the cylinders is even and dependable.

Marmon engineers adopted a wheelbase of 116 inches after study of all the factors entering into utility and ease of operation. Particular attention also was given to spring suspension, the use of shock absorbers, and the braking system. A mechanical feature of the Little Marmon is rear axle and final drive. A hypoid bevel gear, a new feature, regarded as one of the most highly perfected rear-end drives yet devised, is built into the one-piece axle. This construction not only allows for gears of greater strength but also makes possible more silent operation.

The frame is characterized by a depth of six inches, with extra wide flanges at both top and bottom. The running boards are of pressed steel. These are attached to the frame with rigid brackets, and are "side bumpers."

The Little Marmon is equipped with Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers which are engineered into the frame.

The springs are semi-elliptical and of chrome vanadium steel. The front spring is 28 inches long and the rear spring 56 inches. The springs are mounted in rubber shock insulators.

Four-Wheel Mechanical Brakes.

Mechanical four-wheel brakes of the Bendix type also are standard equipment. Brake drums, front and rear, are 12 inches in diameter.

All gauges on the car are grouped under glass in the center of the instrument panel and are lighted indirectly from two central lamps. In addition to the conventional speedometer, ammeter and oil gauge, the group includes a thermostatic heat indicator, an electric gasoline gauge and an electric clock.

Treatment of the body design is unusual for a car the size and price of the Little Marmon. Full crown drum type headlamps and a hood are provided.

JOHN N. WILLYS VISITS BRANCH IN ST. LOUIS

Motor Car Manufacturer Predicts Large Increase in Willys-Overland Sales.

John N. Willys, presdient of Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, who stopped in St. Louis Friday after a tour of Southern cities including Birmingham, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; New Orleans, Memphis and Nashville, Tenn., predicted 1927 would be a record year for Willys-Overland.

He compared, for instance, nine sales of Willys-Overland cars in New Orleans in January, 1926, with 40 in January this year. He said he expected a 1000 per cent increase in sales in Southern Mississippi this year, despite the price of cotton.

He also learned from W. A. Eliot, manager of the St. Louis branch of Willys-Overland, that the latter expected a 90 per cent increase in sales in this district this year.

Willys stressed the fact that the public is steadily becoming more interested in automobiles, saying that the attendance at the New York show was 28,000 larger in 1927 that in any previous year. He also remarked that the Willys-Overland store, Broadway at Fiftieth street, New York, had 200,835 visitors in eight days during the automobile show, compared with 102,326 in a similar period last year.

Willys left St. Louis for Chicago, where he will attend the auto motor car show, after which he plans to go to San Francisco to attend the automobile show.

$37,500,000 IN ORDERS TAKEN BY REO CO. AT NEW YORK SHOW

Business in excess of $37,000,000 was brought back from the New York Automobile Show by the Reo Motor Car Co., according to a final compilation of orders by Clarence A. Triphagen, general sales manager. This record number of orders virtually assures a lengthy run of heavy production at the plant with the prospect that output will never catch up with demand during the ensuing year.

The public reception of the new "Flying Cloud" line is regarded as responsible for the avalanche of orders, as bus and speed wagon sales, included in the number of orders placed up to the present time, are numerous but not out of the ordinary. It is pointed out that the sales perspective for the year is only indicated by the New York orders, as the Eastern territory represents only a part of the company's total sales activities.

NEW HEADLIGHTS ON LINCOLN CARS HAVE A SPECIAL LENS

The new headlights on Lincoln cars are fitted with a special lens, which, in conjunction with a double filament bulb, throws a brilliant light far ahead along the road, or limits the light to a much smaller area of road, immediately ahead of the car, according to the position of the filament control switch, located on the steering wheel.

Small bulbs in the upper part of the reflectors provide parking lights and are controlled by a switch on the instrument board.

NEW MODELS OF CARS HAVE ADDED 8 BALLOON TIRE SIZES

New models of automobiles have added eight balloon tire sizes, according to the Corduroy Tire Co. There is a growing tendency to reduce wheel diameters to 18 and 19 inches.

The new line of Whippet sixes includes a four-door landau, four-door sedan, two-door coach, coupe, touring car and sport roadster.

THREE CUSTOM-BUILT BODIES ADDED TO LINE OF HUPP CARS

Three custom-built bodies—a town car, sedan-limousine and five-passenger sedan, designed by Dietrich for the Hupmobile straight eight chassis, have been added to the Hupmobile line of 1927. These cars are expected to be shown by the Weber Implement and Automobile Co., Hupmobile distributer in the St. Louis district, in February.

Included in the custom equipment are smoking and vanity sets, arm rests, robe rails, curtains and other items. The five wire wheels with extra-size hubs are painted in contrast to body colors, with appropriate striping. Front window pillars are a bronze casting insuring necessary strength as well as clear vision. Nonshatterable glass in all windows is a further safety factor. Seats are wide and deep and extra well cushioned.

A feature in the town car is that it can be easily converted to a sedan, the roof over the driver's seat being detachable. The rear compartment seats five and is upholstered in gray broadcloth. The rear quarter panel is black leather with landau arms. The front seat is leather trimmed.

The seven-passenger sedan-limousine with adjustable glass partition can be used as an owner or chauffeur driven car. The back of the front seat is curved to give comfort to occupants of auxiliary seats. The body color is Drake deep green, set off by the painted striping and beading. Upholstery is tan and gray broadcloth, with button tufting.

The five-passenger sedan has four doors, with a full metal rear quarter panel. A Napoleon blue on the lower body and Hudson green trimming distinguish the appearance of this sedan.

Color and upholstery choices are offered, as well as other options to meet the desires of the buyer.

UNFILLED ORDERS OF AUBURN THIS YEAR TOTAL $6,500,000

The Auburn Automobile Co. has unfilled orders for 1927 delivery of $6,500,000, E. L. Cord, president, stated at a meeting of 186 dealers in the metropolitan area and Eastern sections. In 1925 unfilled orders amounted to but $28,000. Last year Auburn delivered 11,000 cars and acquired an additional plant at Connersville, Ind., which will enable it to bring its production capacity up to 50,000 cars annually. It earned $755,000 in 1925 and $1,000,000 in 1926.

Auburn Automobile, as established in 1900, represented an investment of but $53,000, while the company stands today at a market price of $6,750,000. This company has in excess of $3,375,000 in assets over par value of its stock, and E. L. Cord, who became president in 1925, estimates that sales will pass the 20,000 mark in 1927.

FIRMS MERGED TO ESTABLISH HUDSON-ESSEX DEALERSHIP

A Hudson-Essex dealership has been established at Kingshighway and Manchester avenue through a consolidation of the business of the Lambert-Graves Motor Co. at that point and the A. J. Brock Motor Sales Co.

The firm growing out of the merger is to be known as the Kingchester Motor Co. It will occupy the Lambert-Graves building at Kingshighway and Manchester.

A. J. Brock is president and manager of the new firm; S. B. Lambert, vice president; L. J. Weber, secretary, and C. E. Graves, treasurer. Both of the merged firms are widely known among motorists.

STUDEBAKER CORP. PLANNING 200,000 CAR OUTPUT IN 1927

The Studebaker Corporation is planning the production of 200,000 cars during the current year. Schedules for the first quarter call for 10,000 of the new Erskine cars and 30,000 of the Studebaker models. This 40,000 total compares with actual sales of 30,573 in the first quarter of last year.

The end of the past year found the corporation in excellent financial shape. Net profits amounted to about $13,000,000. Cash on hand approximated $45,000,000, or more than $33,000,000 above the cash of the year before. Inventories were about one-third less than those which were prevailing at the end of 1925.

ELECTS ST. LOUISAN TO OFFICE

George Niekamp of St. Louis has been elected vice president for Missouri Automotive Equipment Association, it was announced today at national headquarters in Chicago.

Because of the increased number of automobiles on the State highways, and because it embraces all branches of the industry that have to do with the service and maintenance of automobiles, the association, notifying the new vice president of his election, warns him that his job in 1927 is no swivel-chair affair.

NEW MODELS OF LARGER AUBURN 8 REACH ST. LOUIS

Sport Sedan and 5-Passenger Sedan on 8-88 Chassis Are Distinctive in Style.

The first models of the new Auburn 8-88 line—a sport sedan with wire wheels and a standard 5-passenger sedan—have reached St. Louis and are being shown by the Mound City Automobile Co., distributer.

These two models are in the larger of the two Auburn straight eight lines. They have straight eight engines with 3¼-inch bore and 4½-inch stroke, and are fast and powerful.

The sport sedan is painted solid blue, and the five wire wheels are done in red. Upholstery is cut silk mohair in a shade matching the body. A novel cigar lighter is on the ceiling, just ahead of the dome light, so that it is convenient for passengers in front and rear seats. This model comes complete, with Bal-crank bumpers front and rear and five tires.

The five-passenger standard sedan has body in two tones of green and top in black. It is upholstered in cut silk mohair, and has toggle ropes, lazy pillow and numerous fitments. Equipment includes five tires. The spare tire is mounted on the left front fender.

The 8-88 sport sedan also may be had in two-tone green body with black top. The 8-88 standard sedan may be had in dark blue, or also with black top, upper part of body in fawn and lower part in beaver brown. Both sedans may be had in broadcloth or cut silk mohair, and there is a further option of leather or cut silk mohair for the sport sedan.

All 8-8s models are on 130-inch wheelbase. Lanchester dampeners eliminate engine vibration. The oil pump is regulated by opening or closing the throttle.

Tomorrow's Trend
Just as the first Chrysler initiated today's vogue

$1595
F. O. B. DETROIT

IN the light of past Chrysler achievements it is easy to appreciate the full significance of the finer Chrysler "70".

It is easy to understand how its distinctive style and smartness forecast a fresh vogue in motoring.

Three years ago the first Chrysler with its previously unknown measures of performance, and a host of refinements and improvements new to the industry at its price, created a new school of design, which others promptly emulated.

And now, this finer "70" with its more exquisitely graceful bodies, its greater luxury, its smaller wheels and its more attractive color blendings—and its new low prices—further widens the gap between itself and the conventional and commonplace.

Joined to Chrysler's characteristic speed and pick-up, unvarying dependability and enduring long life, proved by hundreds of thousands of owners, this new eye-compelling beauty and alluring luxury and comfort, leave today's trend as far behind as the original Chrysler "70" advanced beyond the styles of three years ago.

Phaeton $1395; Sport Phaeton $1495; Two-passenger Roadster (with Rumble Seat) $1495; Brougham $1525; Two-passenger Coupe (with Rumble Seat) $1545; Royal Sedan $1595; Two-passenger Convertible Cabriolet (with Rumble Seat) $1745; Crown Sedan $1795. All prices f.o.b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

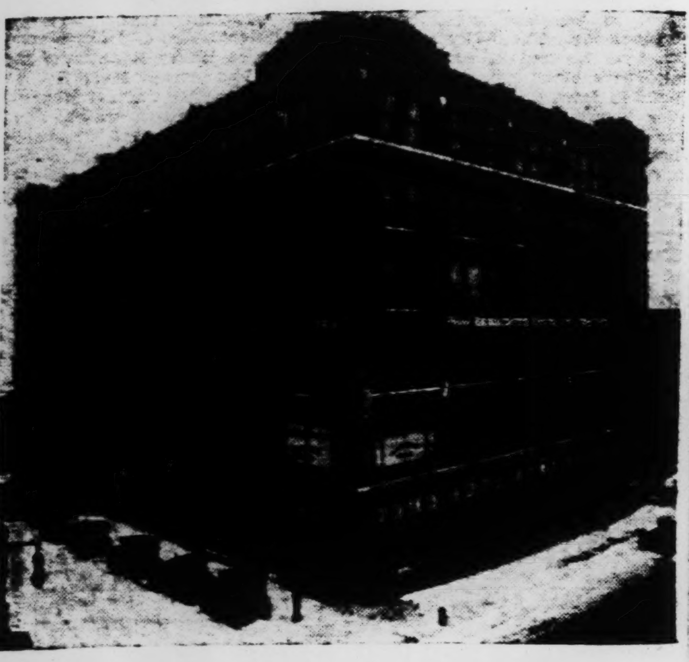
Olds Headquarters in St. Louis



OLDS FACTORY OPENS BRANCH IN ST. LOUIS

It Will Handle Wholesaling of Oldsmobile Sixes in This Territory.

A factory branch of the Olds Motor Works of Lansing, Mich., manufacturer of Oldsmobile sixes, has been opened at Locust boulevard and Twenty-third street. The branch, which will be for wholesale only, occupies the ground floor of the building at the corner, and has 15,000 square feet of floor space.

It is planned to have the full line of 12 models of Oldsmobile cars on display by Thursday of this week. A $50,000 to $60,000 stock of Oldsmobile parts is to be carried, to supply dealers in the branch's territory, which includes Southern Illinois and about two-thirds of Missouri.

R. L. Samuel is manager of the branch. He formerly was assistant branch manager for Olds at Minneapolis. The assistant manager is A. B. Chrane, who also comes from the Minneapolis branch. L. H. Roebke will be sales promotion manager; Charles H. Beiggs, service manager, and A. J. Cange, parts manager.

The new Oldsmobile models all have four-wheel brakes and numerous engine, chassis and body refinements. They include touring car, roadster, sports touring car with glass sides and Fisher body sport coupe, standard coupe, de luxe coupe, standard coach, de luxe coach, standard sedan, de luxe sedan and landau sedan.

HILTY TAKES CHARGE AS REO ST. LOUIS MANAGER

R. D. Hilty, who has been convalescing from injuries sustained in a Florida train wreck, has come to this city to assume the general managership of Reo St. Louis, Inc. Reo St. Louis, as has been told, is an expansion of the Kardell Motor Car Co. to enable handling the growth in sales of Reo cars expected as a result of introduction of the new Reo "Flying Cloud" models. H. W. Kardell is president of Reo St. Louis, Inc., and J. C. Kardell is vice president.

The complete change in Reo cars, the great increase in their speed and power, their new body lines and luxurious appointments has awakened a distinct public interest in these cars.

How completely Reo has thrown overboard former Reo oddities is evidenced by the fact that Reo gearshift and braking are now standard. Internal hydraulic four-wheel brakes and steering that really is feather soft make the new Reos exceptionally easy to handle.

WESTINGHOUSE AIR SPRING CO. AND PNEUMATIC TOOL CO. MERG

A merger of the Westinghouse Air Spring Co. of New Haven, manufacturer of Westinghouse air springs, with the Cleveland Pneumatic Tool Co., manufacturer of Gruss air springs, is announced.

The merger means a combining of facilities and resources of two of the leading pioneers in the air spring field.

The Westinghouse air spring, patented in 1912, was the first shock-absorbing equipment of the air-controlled type. It was also at this time that the Gruss air spring was perfected by the Gruss brothers of San Francisco.

EIGHT-CYLINDER CARS OFFERED BY CHANDLER

New Sedan, With Straight 8 Engine, Being Shown in St. Louis.

A "Royal" sedan of the new Chandler straight eight line is being shown by the Lewis Automobile Co., Chandler distributer in St. Louis. This line of cars is a supplement to the three series of sixes.

This car has an L-head engine, with 3 3-16 inch bore and 4¾-inch stroke, developing 80 horsepower. It is built with force-feed lubrication, Delco Remy electrical system, single plate clutch, three-quarter floating rear axle, four-wheel brakes, frame length of 171 inches and turning radius of 22 feet.

The Royal straight eight is built with low bodies designed for streamline effect. Sedan is offered in a wide choice of colors, in duotone lacquer finish. Upholstery is of silver-gray mohair, with overstuffed buttoned seat cushions and back. Bronze hardware is used. Appointments include silk toggle grips on both sides and a shaded reading light.

The engine has 303.2 cubic inches piston displacement, cast-iron pistons, and five bearings on the crankshaft as well as on the camshaft. The carburetor is a Schebler and equipped with an air cleaner; the Stewart vacuum tank system of fuel feed is used. The force-feed lubrication system includes a gear pump; engine capacity for oil being nine quarts. The cooling system takes five gallons and includes a Harrison honeycomb radiator, centrifugal pump and six-blade fan. The electrical equipment is of Delco Remy make, with Bendix starter drive and Presto-O-Lite battery, a single-wire system using the frame as ground return.

Borg & Beck single-plate clutch and the transmission, made by Chandler-Cleveland, are assembled in unit with the engine; the gearset has bronze and annular ball bearings. Fabric universal joints are used in the drive to the rear axle, a three-quarter semi-floating type with self-contained lubricating system. The front axle is of reverse Elliott type. Mechanical four-wheel brakes, with brake drums of 14 inches diameter in front and 15 inches in rear, are used; the emergency brake is mounted on the transmission shaft and the size of the brake drum is eight inches in diameter.

Channel section steel, seven inches deep and 3-16 inches thick, forms the frame. The spring equipment is semielliptic, 40¾ inches long in front and 55¼ inches in the rear. Steering is by a worm-and-sector gear. Tire equipment is 33x6.00 all around.

Brakes Should Be Equalized.

Brakes that are apparently perfect in dry weather will skid on wet pavement because they are not properly equalized.

PEERLESS 6-80 AUTOS UNDERGO STRENUOUS TESTS

Peerless 6-80 cars have been put through some hard tests in the past few months.

The most recent was a run from Cleveland, O., to Jacksonville, Fla. The 6-80 established a new record for the distance, making the 1178 miles in 30 hours and 34 minutes, or one hour better than the fastest train time. The average mileage per gallon of gasoline was 15.4. The average speed was 38.53 miles an hour. Last summer the Peerless 6-80 was subjected to one of the most severe tests a motor car has been called upon to undergo. This was at Seattle, Wash., where a 6-80 sedan was operated 31 days continuously without stopping the motor. The car traveled 22,095 miles or about 700 miles a day. The run was not intended as an economy effort yet the car averaged 18.87 miles to the gallon of gasoline. A quart of oil was used each 2000 miles.

About the same time the 6-80 climbed the Thirty-fifth Street hill in Georgetown, near Washington, D. C., in high before a crowd who believed the feat impossible. The stunt had never before been accomplished by a closed car.

JORDAN CUTS $500

$2,336,000 worth of Jordan cars were sold to dealers and the public during the first five days of the New York show.

The overwhelming acceptance by the public of the new Little Custom Jordan as the first truly fine small car—the car of the future—and the growing popularity of the eight, positively assures a tremendous increase in Jordan volume for 1927.

This makes possible the leadership of Jordan in price as well as in quality.

Therefore effective January 31 the price of the Line Eight will be reduced $500.

The Little Custom Jordan is already the lowest priced car for its quality, built in America.

Now with a reduction of $500 the Line Eight is the lowest priced eight cylinder car of its quality in the world.

Jordan determined to give the public the first fine quality small car—two years ahead in appearance, performance and comfort.

Jordan introduced and made popular the straight eight in the medium priced field.

The Eight will be continued as the top of the Jordan line.

Witness the fact that nineteen manufacturers out of a total of forty-four are today building eight cylinder cars.

Fifteen of the nineteen are building straight eights.

No manufacturer who makes such a startling reduction can hope to immediately supply all the cars to satisfy the public demand.

The troop has taken the obtaining of 10 new scouts for its 1927 objective quota, and has already signed up three.

Isador Miller was elected Senior Patrol Leader of Troop 206 at a meeting last week. The patrols of the troop were reorganized, and Richard Gold and Herbert Wohlberg appointed leaders of the Wolf and Pine Tree units. Scoutmaster Penn returned to the troop after an extended absence, and four members of the troop committee were present.

South District.

The Patrons' Association of the Leon School voted to sponsor a Boy Scout troop last Friday evening, and appointed a Troop Committee to discuss plans for organization.

Field Executive Merle Shippey inspected Troop 16 last Friday evening, and spoke on the troop objectives for 1927.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The St. Louis Girl Scout Leaders' Association will meet at the West Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock next Friday evening, with Miss Julia Schmidt in the chair. Plans for the coming season will be discussed, and a proposed change in the second class tests will be put before the patrol leaders for approval. All Girl Scout troops in the city have been invited to send their patrol leaders.

Merit badge examiners have reserved two days, Feb. 12 and March 12, to test Girl Scouts for new badges. Troops must notify headquarters at least a week in advance of these dates as to the number of girls to take the tests, and the badges to be taken. The badges will be awarded May 15, at a general meeting of the local organization.

Mrs. William H. Morgens will conduct a course in citizenship at the headquarters of the League of Women Voters, 3622 Olive street, beginning Feb. 15. The classes will include lectures on city, state and national government, community service, and visits to municipal buildings.

Revised tests for the Girl Scout Motoring merit badge will be given by Mrs. Guy Oliver, headquarters announced last week. The test will include six questions on the care of the engine and management of the car in emergencies, and a demonstration that the girl can start and shift smoothly, and can park in a limited space.

Three girls received gold pins for perfect attendance during the last year, and eight girls silver attendance pins at a meeting of Arrowhead Troop 7 a week ago Friday. Those receiving the gold award are Marguerite Arad, Arline Lieser and Henrietta Wilke; the silver pins were won by Ella Ackerman, Thelma Bergeest, Ruth Borngesser, Madonna Curran, Junia Tulstone, Rose Lieberman, Henrietta Sullivan and Dorothy West. The troop is organizing a junior club, to meet once a month for nature study.

Virginia Smith and Lillian James of Troop 12 passed their signaling test last week, putting them one step nearer the goal of second-class scout. A new game of "Automobiles" was played at the meeting. In the game, a form of tag, each girl represented an automobile, the one who was "it" being handicapped by "losing a wheel," causing her to hop, "falling over a cliff," which made her progress by whirling around, or "driving in reverse."

The girls of Troop 15, the Encircled Pine, adjourned in a body to Clifton Park after their meeting last week to toboggan down a hill on the ice. No sleds were to be had, but in their place the girls used old sweaters, coats and skirts.

Patrol 1 is leading in an interpatrol contest, with patrol 4 close behind. The February meetings of the troop will be planned by patrols 1 and 3, under the leadership of Emma Biswell and Lois Casey. Lois was just recently elected leader of the latter patrol. The mothers of the troop are planning to help the scouts work on their badges. Mrs. Casey and Mrs. Murphy will give instruction for the Laundress badge; Miss Mulhall will help with the needlewoman and dressmaker tests; Mrs. Taylor will assist with the craftman badge; and Mrs. Bristow will continue a course of instruction in cooking. A class in millinery will be conducted by Mrs. Irwin.

The girls of Poplar patrol T. of troop 23, served themselves a supper yesterday afternoon, to pass that part of the second class test. The scouts planned the menu, and did the marketing and cooking. A column in the monthly paper put out by the church at which has been assigned to the troop to be filled with troop news and announcements of programs.

The girls of troop 32 are studying first aid and signaling, and expect to pass tests in the latter this week.

Miss Eleanor Piper, local Girl Scout director, has been directing two troops, Troops 36 and 59, in the absence of their leaders. She is giving instruction in signaling to the former, and nature talks on geology, the stars, and trees to the latter troop. At the last meeting Troop 36 gave a stunt, "The Dumb Princess."

RULES FOR BOY SCOUT CONTEST ARE CHANGED

Only Certain Troops Eligible to Compete in South District Flag Award.

Rules for the contest for the South District flag, awarded each year to the South District troop which has achieved the best scouting record during the preceding year, will be different than in the other three years during which the award has been given, Field Executive Merle Shippey announced last week.

Instead of every troop being privileged to enter the contest, only those troops which have completed their first quarter's objective will be considered eligible. From among the eligible troops the winner will be determined by adding the number of scouts recruited by the troop since Dec. 10, 1926, the number of Boys' Life subscriptions obtained during the first quarter, and the average number of Scout Circus tickets sold per active scout registered on Feb. 8 of this year. The troop having the highest total wins.

The number of scouts who become first class during the year, and the minimum loss of regular scouts during the same period will not count in the score as formerly, nor will each troop set a goal of a certain membership to be reached by the time of the award.

The flag, which is black, with a gold flying loop encircling a gold "S", the emblem of the South District, will be awarded to the winning troop at the Second District Court of Honor, April 11. The winning troop may keep it for a year, and carry it at the head of the South District column at all scout functions. It has been won by Troop 76, of the Winnebago Presbyterian Church, for the last two years.

TROOP NOTES

North District.

The officers of Troop 72 are to go on a hike today to Creve Coeur Lake. The officers are Albert Cherry, Senior Patrol Leader; Ansel Miller, Troop Reporter; Clyde Turnbeau and Cozmo Cantanzaro, Patrol Leader and Assistant Patrol Leader of the Flying Eagle patrol; Walter Acton and Manuel Joseph, leader and assistant of the Beaver patrol; Leroy Dillander and Max Lanksman, leader and assistant of the Owl patrol; Clarence Martin, leader of the Fox patrol; Scoutmaster R. L. Hancock, and Assistant Scoutmasters Howard Ayres and Duke Duclos.

Each of the patrols is to give a pantomime at the next meeting of the troop.

Ernest Battell has been elected scribe, and Roy Evers bugler of Troop 54. Scout Battell will also take Assistant Scoutmaster Albert Hoether's place as troop editor for the Church Messenger. The troop has taken the obtaining of 10 new scouts for its 1927 objective quota, and has already signed up three.

Isador Miller was elected Senior Patrol Leader of Troop 206 at a meeting last week. The patrols of the troop were reorganized, and Richard Gold and Herbert Wollberg appointed leaders of the Wolf and Pine Tree units. Scoutmaster Penn returned to the troop after an extended absence, and four members of the troop committee were present.

South District.

The Patrons' Association of the [illegible] School voted to sponsor a Boy Scout troop last Friday evening, and appointed a Troop Committee to discuss plans for organization.

Field Executive Merle Shippey inspected Troop 16 last Friday evening, and spoke on the troop objectives for 1927.

Troop 18 held a Fathers' and Sons' get-together meeting and supper a week ago Friday at the troop headquarters. After a supper of hot chili and apple pie, an investiture ceremony was held for two recruits around an indoor campfire. The new boys, Philip Schoeber and Paul Struckmeyer, were formally admitted to the troop through an outdoor ceremony employed by the troop on their hikes.

Troop 18 holds these get-togethers frequently, and nearly always reports a large majority of the parents of the troop present. All but four fathers were present at this meeting.

Twenty-five scouts and 10 fathers of Troop 34 went on a "mystery hike" last Sunday to a cabin belonging to Chairman Theobold of the Troop Committee. The only information given the scouts was to appear at the Shenandoah School at 7:30 o'clock that morning, with one carrot, two potatoes and a can of tomatoes. The fathers furnished 15 pounds of meat and five gallons of cocoa, all of which was consumed. The features of the day were a treasure hunt lasting several hours, and a game of capture the flag.

The first District Court of Honor for the South District will be held at 8 o'clock the evening of Feb. 14 at the Missouri School for the Blind, 3815 Magnolia avenue. All merit badges which have been earned since the last general court will be awarded at this time to scout winners who make their application for the badges during the next two weeks. All South District troops are expected to send their American Flag with a color guard of two scouts, for a flag ceremony. The court is open to all scouts and their parents in St. Louis.

Four committeemen and Scoutmaster Kraus of Troop 66 met with Field Executive Shippey last Tuesday evening to discuss the formation of a standard Troop Committee. The committeemen agreed to carry out their duties, and also to attend the committeemen's training course. Plans were discussed for hikes and a Parents' Night in the near future.

Troop 67 hiked to the farm of Principal Hickey of the Madison School, where the troop meets, a week ago yesterday. Second class tests were passed, and a game, "Duck On the Rock," was played.

The scouts of Troop 81 discussed troop objectives for 1927 at a meeting held last Thursday evening at the home of Scoutmaster Cricknell. Plans were made for the first quarter of the year, and Field Executive Merle Shippey talked to the troop on council and district plans for that period. Scoutmaster Cricknell presented badges of rank to new troop officers elected the week before.

Scoutmaster Bokel gave a demonstration of soap sculpture at a meeting of Troop 86 at the Horace Mann School a week ago Friday. The boys worked on handicraft articles at the meeting last Friday.

The two patrols of Troop 143 are working on patrol stunts to be given at a meeting tomorrow evening. At a meeting last Monday, at which several parents were present, the troop laid plans to re-register during February. Assisting Scoutmaster Jones also discussed the troop objective for the coming year. The Fathers' Club, which sponsors the troop, is to hold a meeting tomorrow evening to appoint a Troop Committee for 1927.

John Weidknecht has been appointed scribe of Troop 155, of the McCausland Avenue Presbyterian Church, according to the troop's weekly official publication. The paper also says that William Bright and Wallis Platz have passed their Tenderfoot tests; the Pine Tree patrol was winner of a stunt night last week; and that a pair of baskets for the troop basket-ball court has been given the scouts by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Higgins. A showdown between the patrols on knots, first aid, and other scout subjects will be held Feb. 11.

The scouts of Troop 215, under the leadership of Assistant Scoutmaster Eggers, performed a good turn for the church in which they meet by taking down the church's Christmas tree last Thursday evening. The troop is planning other good turns for the church.

Troop 248, which was organized one year ago this week, has changed its meeting night from Friday to Wednesday evening. The scouts are specializing in fancy drill. The troop has grown from eight to 12 scouts, although only three of the original boys, Elmer Brandhorst, scribe; Robert Wiedwilt, bugler, and Norvill Huschke, patrol leader, remain. Twelve boys attended a meeting last Wednesday.

The scouts of Troop 256 are continuing to assist a needy family to whom they gave groceries and coal at Christmas. They collected several days' supply of groceries and two baskets of coal at a meeting last week, and plan to bring something each meeting hereafter for this purpose.

West District.

Troop 30 held its first meeting in the new Y. M. H. A. building last Wednesday evening. This was also the first meeting in the charge of the new Senior Patrol Leader, Paul Gordon. A scout quiz, a drill, a compass game, and a garden game made up the evening's program. The troop will meet hereafter on Monday nights instead of Wednesdays.

The next meeting of the West District training course for scoutmasters, scribes and Educational Members of Troop Committees will be held tomorrow evening at the Ben Blewett Junior High School, Enright avenue and Windemere way. One class will take up in detail the duties of the Educational Member, and a second will continue with the work of the troop scribe. Eighteen scribes attended the meeting last Monday evening.

The St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Hi-Pointe has appointed a committee to organize a Boy Scout troop at the church. The committee has selected William Reindel for the scoutmaster. Scoutmaster Reindel and Troop Committeeman Rogers attended the training course last Monday evening.

The scouts of Troop 75 have planned a hike to the scoutmaster's cabin for today, to pass tests in fire-building and cooking. Scout Richard Osborn passed part of his cooking test on Deputy Commissioner Lindsley's hike a week ago Saturday.

Thirty-seven scouts of Troop 5 of the West Presbyterian Church turned out Saturday and delivered 6000 printed cards to advertise the church's special meeting this week and next. The delivery was over the territory between Union boulevard and Hodiamont avenue, and between Page and Delmar boulevards. Every residence, apartment and store in that district was visited and the message left. Over 84 scout hours were consumed and this credits the troop with over one-third of their required 210 hours of civic service for the year 1927. It also credits them with a Good Turn to their institution due in the third quarter of 1927.

Suburban District.

The Suburban District Scout Leaders' training course for troop committeemen and scribes will start next Tuesday evening at the Webster Groves Gymnasium. The scoutmaster is to attend with his troop committee chairman, while the scribes will meet in a separate room. Attendance of these officials at a training course is one of the 1927 objective requirements.

The new troop at Rock Hill organized into patrols at the last meeting. Several competitive games were played and an inter-patrol contest was started.

Another new troop, Kingsland 1, is being organized at the Kingsland Methodist Church in the county. Fifteen boys registered at a meeting last week.

A new troop, to be known as Webster Groves No. 12, is being organized at the Webster Groves Junior High School, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. Membership in the troop is limited to boys new in scouting. W. D. Ellinger will be scoutmaster, and Eagle Scout James Cook, who has been an officer at Camp Irondale for the last three summers, assistant scoutmaster. Scoutmaster Ellinger, who completed the training course at the Bryan Mullanphy School last year, will conduct the evening meetings, while Assistant Scoutmaster Cook will have charge of hikes and other outdoor activities. The troop meets on Wednesdays.

A new troop is also being organized at the North Methodist Church in Glencoe. The Rev. Otto Faber will be scoutmaster, and Charles McLaughlin chairman of the troop committee.

A membership campaign is being conducted by Webster Groves 8, and several new boys attended a meeting Jan. 21. A program was given by the older scouts. Ice cream and cake were served.

The scouts of Webster Groves 9 held a "hot dog" party after their last meeting. They also played a new game. A new recruit, Dave Ruel, joined the troop. A hike planned for today has been postponed because of weather conditions.

Four scouts were awarded merit badges at the first County Court of Honor, Monday. They are Clayton Armstrong, Jack Brackbill, Chick Fernald and Junior Brackbill.

St. Charles 3 conducted a program before the student body of the St. Charles High School last Wednesday. Assistant Scoutmaster David Ilch, a senior at the school, acting as master of ceremonies. One of the patrols gave a one-act comedy, and the entire troop participated in a flag ceremony. Assistant Executive H. W. Haun of headquarters spoke on leadership.

A QUESTION

After reading a few of Machiavelli's essays on chicanery, one wonders how long he would last as a modern used car dealer. It would give him a great laugh, we know, to see how conscientiously we recondition our Used Cars before offering them for sale. But the proof of a principle is in its success—and the laugh would be on him, after all.

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

It's not fair to expect in another car the equal of Pontiac Value

If you have studied the various low-priced sixes at all, you know how much more the Pontiac Six offers in the way of beauty, comfort, performance and assurance of long life. Doubtless you marveled at such a marked difference in value—and wondered why other manufacturers have been so seemingly willing to allow that difference to exist unchallenged for so many months.

The blunt truth is that you cannot in fairness expect any other manufacturer to build a car like the Pontiac Six and sell it at Pontiac Six prices—

—for Pontiac Six value is the result of certain conditions not duplicated elsewhere in the entire automotive industry!

General Motors engineers worked with the Oakland staff to develop the Pontiac Six, utilizing the priceless discoveries of the General Motors Research staff and the matchless facilities of the General Motors Proving Ground.

When introduced it was a car, new, yet three years old. Its stamina and reliablity were proved beyond all doubt.

It had features that were actually undreamed-of in the field of low cost sixes.

Among these were such examples of quality design as the costliest type of interchangeable bronze-backed bearings, a full pressure oiling system, a 46 lb. crankshaft, honed cylinders, automatic spark control, Fisher closed bodies finished in beautiful Duco colors, and the like.

These features are the very heart and soul of the Pontiac Six value supremacy. Yet they could not be provided at such low prices if the Oakland Motor Car Company were not a division of General Motors, enjoying the economies of General Motors combined purchasing power and the efficiency of General Motors group manufacturing.

Probably no other car in the world stands out against its field as does the Pontiac Six. The difference is something you can actually see when you study the car—and actually feel when you drive it! It is the result of certain fundamental conditions. And until those conditions are duplicated elsewhere, it's not fair to expect in another car the equal of Pontiac value.

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY HAS MEMBERSHIP OF 2897

Gain of 206 in Last Biennium, According to Report of Shoemaker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 29.—The State Historical Society of Missouri, with headquarters at Columbia, has 2897 members, according to the biennial report of Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary. This is the largest number the society ever has had, and represents a gain of 206 during the biennium. For the last six years the society has held first rank in membership in historical societies west of the Mississippi, and second rank in the United States.

The report further shows that the society now has in its library a total of 173,634 books and pamphlets. This total includes 82,984 copies of Missouri official publications, the society being the official reserve depository for 20 copies of each official publication of the State. The gain in this field during the biennium was 10,505 books and pamphlets, and an increase of 3398 separate titles.

The State Historical Society is receiving regularly and binding for permanent preservation 488 Missouri periodicals.

COMMUNITY FUND CARES FOR 863 DEPENDENT CHILDREN

Report Shows Expenditure of $19,321 by Six Agencies in December for This Purpose.

The cost of caring for dependent children by the six Community Fund agencies in December was $19,321.55, according to financial reports at the Community Fund office, 2221 Locust street. Of this amount, $6797.64 was provided by citizens of St. Louis through subscriptions. Guardians and parents paid $1065.64, while the major part—$11,458.27—was income from endowment and similar sources.

Private family homes cared for 222 children. Five institutions cared for 541 as follows: Christian Orphans' Home, 85; Girls' Home, 62; Methodist Orphans' Home, 168; St. Louis Colored Orphans' Home, 58; St. Louis Protestant Orphans' Home, 85.

Causes of the dependency of the children are numerous. In some cases, one parent had died; in others, both parents. Injury to the chief breadwinner of the family, and illness forcing a parent to give up work were also listed. Other causes given are desertion, divorce, unemployment and neglect.

ROAD MASS MEETING AT MOBERLY MONDAY

Organization to Be Formed to Promote Proposed Randolph Bond Issue.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Jan. 29.—A mass meeting is to be held here Monday night to form an organization to supervise the campaign for the road bond issues in Randolph County. All citizens of the county are urged to attend. There will be several speakers who will explain the proposed bond issues, which require a two-thirds vote in order to carry.

Following close upon the action taken by Randolph County in the matter of completing state and county roads, comes the announcement that the Senate has approved a bill providing for a new bridge across the Mississippi River at Quincy, Ill. That city also announces it will work for the completion of Federal Route 24, which extends from West Quincy through Taylor, Palmyra, Monroe City, Paris, Moberly, Carrollton, Richmond, Excelsior Springs and into Kansas City.

This route is paved out of Kansas City to Excelsior Springs, and recently $100,000 was appropriated for its improvement to Richmond. From Richmond to Moberly it is graded and paved in spots as it is to Paris. From there, northeast, little work has been done.

If the bond issue for State roads passes in Randolph County, a large sum of money will be spent upon Highway No. 10 in this county, a part of Federal Route No. 24.

OLD SCHOOL BUILDING TAXED

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Jan. 29.—The Adair County Court has assessed the Kirksville Board of Education on its property known as the old Benton School Building. This building has been abandoned for school purposes and has been rented as a factory. This, in the opinion of the court, makes it taxable.

The Board of Education threatens to retaliate by having the county Court House assessed for school purposes, since part of the Court House is rented out as offices. The matter has been referred to John T. Waddill, chairman of the State Tax Commission, for a ruling.

Hires Crowd to Attend His Trial.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Issuing admission tickets to his own trial on a charge of fraud was the novel method employed by Walter Schoening, real estate broker, with the intention or keeping all incidents liable to jeopardize his standing secret from the business world and his friends. Schoening hired at $1 a head a sufficient number of unemployed to wait in line and fill the courtroom. A competitor, however, tipped off the court and the following day two policemen cleared the way for all comers.

WOMEN HOLD JOBS LONGER THAN MEN

Department of Labor Survey Shows Marriage Doesn't Keep Them From Working.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Women stick to their jobs, in spite of popular belief to the contrary, according to the results of a survey reported by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. The main reason for the increasing stability among women workers is that marriage no longer means in every case that the woman gives up her position.

The bureau reports an investigation made of the resignations in large financial houses in New York City. The group studied included the regular force of stenographers, secretaries, typists, bookkeepers,

This increase in steadiness may ledger and file clerks. In 1923 the percentage of resignations were greater among women than among men. In 1924 the difference decreased, and in 1925 there were proportionately fewer resignations among the women than the men, the ratio being 68 to 100.

have been due, it is said, to the development of better methods of personnel administration, which may have made the positions of the the women resign less frequently than the men.

From the standpoint of length of service, the women appear in a still more favorable light. In 1924 and 1925 they served on an average a longer time than the men, with a ratio of 150 to 100.

In conclusion, the investigation said: "In explanation of the main findings of this investigation, that women are not less stable than men, it might be observed that the circumstance that was formerly regarded as woman's chief barrier to long service in business—marriage—is no longer acting as a barrier. Women in business get married, but they do not necessarily resign afterwards. They keep working. Accordingly, when measured by the two indices used in this investigation, frequency of resignation and women more attractive and increased the tendency to hold them longer. However, conditions similarly favorable to men have prevailed for some time and therefore it would seem that when men and women are placed on the same status in this type of organization, length of service, they appear even more desirable than men."

92-YEAR-OLD LAW PETITION FOUND IN SHELBY COUNTY

Yellowed Paper First of Kind Ever Filed in Circuit Court There.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHELBYVILE, Mo., Jan. 29.—The petition in the first lawsuit ever filed in Shelby County was found recently in the office of the Circuit Clerk here. The suit was for a partition of the land belonging to the estate of Elisha Williams, deceased, and it is entered upon the records of the November term of the Circuit Court of 1835, the first Circuit Court ever held in this county.

The document was filed in the office of Thomas I. Bounds, Circuit Clerk at that time, Sept. 2, 1835, hardly more than six months after the official organization of Shelby County. The document is entirely in longhand, and, though yellowed with age, the 92-year-old paper is entirely legible and follows much the same legal form as is in use today. In the 92 years that have followed since the filing of this instrument, 10,330 suits have been filed in the Shelby Circuit Court.

The land concerned in the partiton is the present site of the little village of Walkersville, southwest of here, and once the metropolis of the county, before the day of the railroads and cross-county roads took away its prominence. The fame of the old Walkersville mill, operated by water power, and the same site as that mentioned in this petition, was known for miles around, and it, with the other enterprises of the village, did a flourishing business in the pioneer days of the county. Today there is nothing left to remind one of the once prosperous community.

TO RESTORE LUTHER'S REFUGE

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The Wartburg, where Martin Luther in 1521 hurled his inkwell at the Devil who came to taunt him while translating the Bible, is in danger of disintegrating. An organization called the "Friends of the Wartburg," with the assistance of the Federal Government, has been renovating portions of the 900-year-old fortress and castle, which overlooks the City of Eisenach from a height of 1200 feet. Much remains to be done.

The building, in a dingy second-floor room of which Luther was given refuge and quiet to translate the Bible, is in an especially precarious situation. An attempt to save the famous frescoes in a half exposed arcade, depicting the life of the Holy Elizabeth, is being made by installing an electric heating apparatus to prevent rapid changes of temperature. The Wartburg is rich in tradition and history. In the great music hall of the Landgrave's palace the famous minstrels contest (Saengerkrieg) is said to have taken place in 1207.

HORACE GREELEY DINNER

Will Be Held at University of Missouri Tuesday.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 29.—A dinner is to be given next Thursday evening by the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri in commemoration of the birth of Horace Greeley, founder of the New York Tribune. The Journalism Students' Association is planning to make the dinner an annual affair, to honor each year some prominent journalist.

Invitations to the dinner have been sent to newspaper men who are members of the Missouri Legislature, newspaper correspondents located in Jefferson City, representatives of the larger city dailies in Missouri, and heads of the departments and schools of journalism in the Middle West.

POOL TABLES ARE BURNED

Card Tables and Chairs Also Destroyed as Gambling Devices.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 29.—Notwithstanding pleas of Attorney Fadjo Cravens that if pool tables could be burned, a floor on which dice were rolled as a gambling game could also, Sheriff Pink Shaw and assistants, acting on an order of Municipal Judge J. A. Gallaher, upheld by Circuit Judge Sam Wood, burned two pool tables, four card tables and ten chairs, alleged to have been used as gambling devices.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney D. H. Ford declared Hick Sutton operated a gambling hall in the basement of the LeFlore Hotel here with the destroyed equipment.

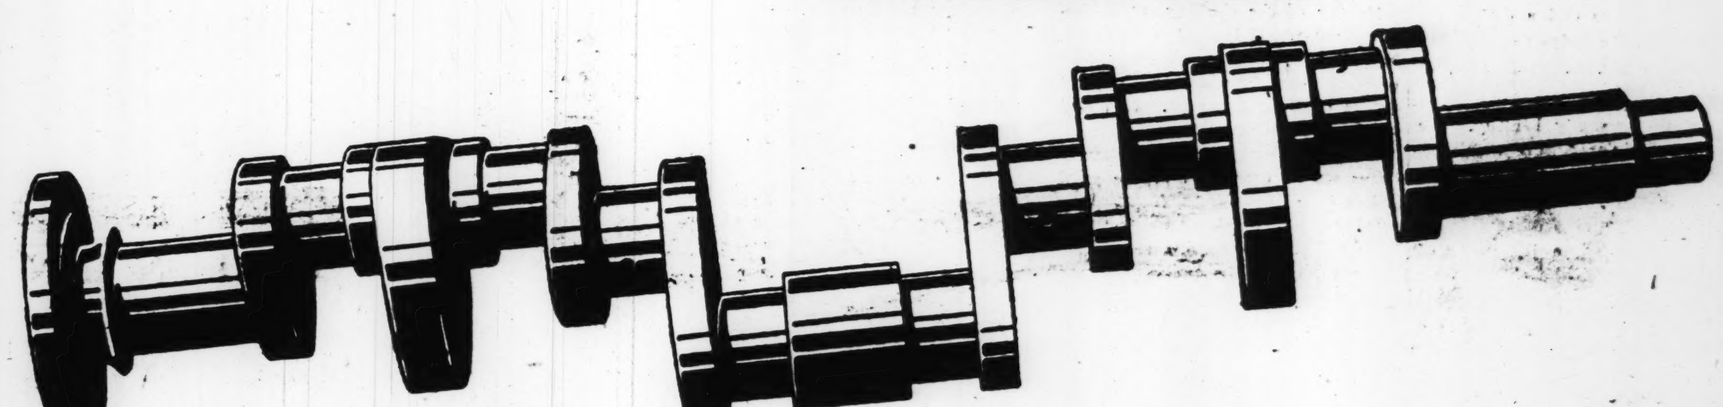
Why
Studebaker
Crankshafts
are Best!



120 blows per second
7200 blows per minute
432,000 blows per hour
4000 pounds force in every blow

THESE figures indicate the force of the explosions which the crankshaft of a Big Six motor must convert into an even flow of useful power.

No other car in its price field uses such an expensive crankshaft as Studebaker.

Each one is forged from a single block of steel in Studebaker's own shops.

Each one is fully machined and dynamically balanced. Balance is so perfect that if suspended with a fan at one end a slight breeze will cause the one hundred pound mass of steel to revolve smoothly.

How to Judge a Crankshaft

Some engineers favor light crankshafts with many bearings. Studebaker uses a heavy shaft with four bearings, but those four have greater bearing surface than the seven bearings of many other cars.

Some seek to attain with bolted-on counterweights the inherent balance which Studebaker builds into its shaft.

What Lincoln Said

"How long should a man's legs be?" "Long enough to reach the ground," replied Lincoln.

Similarly what counts in a crankshaft is the smooth, vibrationless flow of power which it yields—its ruggedness, its freedom from trouble. These may be attained in various ways. The layman's opinion on technical matters of design is worth little.

How the Layman Can Judge

But any layman can judge as to the performance of various types of crankshafts. You know as well as any expert whether the engine is running smoothly at all speeds.

Test a Studebaker against any other make of car—six or eight cylinder—with a heavy crankshaft or a light one—with many bearings or few—with or without bolted-on counterweights. Ride in any car at any price and you will find that there is no sweeter running engine than the Studebaker.

We would not have records of so many Studebakers driven 100,000 to 500,000 miles each if Studebaker crankshafts were not superlacively efficient.

Drive a Studebaker and let performance prove to you that the crankshaft has bearings and everything else perfectly proportioned to the job to be done,

Seventy-Five Years Young

WALKS 168 MILES TO SOLVE ARITHMETIC PROBLEM FOR SON

Father Seeks Solution by Traveling 10½ Times Around 4-Mile Square.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The humor of the absurdly impractical problem illustrating arithmetic is given point in France by a story attributed to Sweden.

A schoolmaster is credited with receiving the following note from a mother to excuse the absence of her son from class. "Peter has been obliged to substitute for his father, who is door-keeper at a factory, while his father solves the problem you gave Peter. My boy is too young to know how long it takes a man walking at the rate of three-quarters of a mile an hour to walk 10½ times around a field four miles square. My husband left early this morning, but to work the problem he must walk a long time. I hope he will get home this evening and that Peter can go to school tomorrow."

COUNTRY CHURCHES VANISHING RAPIDLY

Farmers Attracted to Villages Where Are More Advantages, Survey Shows.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The decline of the country church, which has proved so disturbing to national denominational leaders during the last 15 years, has been caused in large part by a strongly marked trend of rural Protestantism villageward, according to the Institute of Social and Religious Research.

Figures are given to show that nearly one-third of the members of village churches throughout the United States are farmer folk who have forsaken their country churches for churches in nearby villages.

"An analysis of the residence of church-members of village and country churches shows that, except in the South, the country church is losing to the village church," the report says.

In the Middle Atlantic and Middle-west regions, village churches have almost as many members living in the country as the country churches have members. In the Far West the total membership roll of the country churches is only one-third of the country members enrolled in village churches. Even in the South three out of every 10 country people belonging to churches have united with village organizations.

Attendance Decreasing.

"This movement villageward has had a marked influence on rural religion. It has meant fewer in attendance at country church services and more irregular services, diminishing funds and, therefore, a still more poorly paid leadership. True, there are exceptions. In all but 25 communities there were found country churches.

"The question of why country people preferred village churches to country churches was answered in all regions in the same way. The village church has a better preacher, a better building and frequently better music than the church at the crossroads. The automobile and improved roads have made it possible for the people to come to the center.

"Many signs were observed in this survey that village churches have in general failed to take into consideration the results of the increasing tendency of country people to attend village churches."

The findings of the survey also show that village churches, even though they draw so large a proportion of members from the open country, are by no means thriving institutions; and that they attract very few young people.

More Women Attend.

"The proportion of males and females in the total population for the three age-groups, 10 to 20, 21 to 44, and 45 years and over, was obtained from the census. Church memberships of every church in 117 villages were similarly divided," the report states. "In the population, 48.5 per cent were men, 51.5 per cent women.

"Obviously the village church is not reaching men and boys as successfully as it is reaching women and girls. This holds true for every region and for nearly every age-group. The only exception is in the South, where, of the males 45 years of age and over, the proportion in the church membership slightly exceeds the proportion in the total population. In every region a disproportionate part of the village church membership consists of older people, especially older women.

"Men and boys are not conspicuous on the list of subsidiary organizations, women and girls outnumbering them nine times. Country churches are little interested in organizations. Only eight men's and three boys' groups are reported by the 619 churches found in the open-country parts of village communities.

"The outstanding fact about the subsidiary organizations of village churches, the Sunday school excepted, as well as about village community organizations, is that only 6 per cent are boys and girls."

DULL, OUT OF SORTS, AND TIRED FEELING

"I am 59 years old, have 12 children, the youngest is 12 years old. I haven't had to call a doctor for myself, and only twice for the children," says Mr. T. E. Lawler, of Russellville, Ala.

"We are unusually healthy. We have had for our family medicine, between 35 and 40 years, the old, reliable Black-Draught, and have never found its equal.

"If I get tired, a little out of sorts, eyes burn, and head feels heavy, or dull, I take a good dose or two of Black-Draught, and in a few days I feel good as new.

"I keep it about the house, and when the children have colds, or need a laxative, it is easy to fix in tea, and we give them Black-Draught.

"Some of the children, at different times, would begin having chills, and all my wife would do, would be to give them quinine, and a good course of Black-Draught. It would break up the chills.

"I can't begin to tell of the many times we've used it, and the good it has done.

"I believe Black-Draught, taken betimes, will regulate and cleanse the system and, in our case, I am absolutely sure, it has been a big help, in keeping us all well.

"I am glad to recommend it to others."

Actress Tells Secret

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to make. Saves about $2

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and hoarseness.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WOMEN'S CLUB LEADER TO SPEAK IN ST. LOUIS

Miss Lena M. Phillips of New York Will Aid Exposition at Coliseum in February.

Miss Lena M. Phillips, New York attorney and president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will be a speaker at the National Woman's Exposition at the Coliseum on Feb. 3, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Ora E. Carroll, president of the local organization. Feb. 3 is the date devoted by the exposition to the business and professional women.

Miss Phillips will be tendered an informal luncheon on her arrival from New York, to be followed by a public reception at the Coliseum. She will take an active part, during her visit, in the work conducted at the Business and Professional Women's booth, showing the achievement of the modern woman in commercial life.

The local branch of the organization, which has 50 members, all of whom are engaged actively in business, has sponsored the booth in conjunction with the East St. Louis branch of the organization. The St. Louis branch will give a luncheon for Miss Phillips, Feb. 4, at the Town Club. Miss Phillips has called a Mid-West conference of the organization for Feb. 5, which will terminate with a banquet to be attended by representatives of all the women's organizations in St. Louis.

The officers of the local organization, in addition to Mrs. Carroll, are Dr. Maud Bartlett, osteopath, vice president; Miss Virginia Bland and Miss Gertrude Ryan, corresponding secretaries, and Miss Florence Weigle, Assistant Circuit Attorney, historian.

The national organization was launched in St. Louis, under auspices of the Y. W. C. A., in 1919, and now claims 48 state federations, 780 local clubs and 50,000 members.

$5000 TO COMPLETE BURNS STATUE FUND

Campaign Started Among Poet's Admirers and St. Louisans of Scotch Descent.

A campaign is under way in St. Louis to raise $5000 to complete a $20,000 fund for erection of a memorial statue of Robert Burns, the Scotch poet, at the Skinker boulevard and Forsythe avenue corner of the Washington University campus.

It is under auspices of the Burns Club, a small group of men in various positions of leadership in the city, but the monument is intended to be the tribute of everybody here with more than passing interest in the bard who wrote, "Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind."

Appeals to Two Groups.

The Finance Committee is composed of David Grey, chairman; Robert Johnson, J. D. Grant and R. McKittrick Jones.

Two classes of citizens, whose number is by no means small, are being appealed to for contributions primarily—admirers of Burns and St. Louisans of Scotch birth or descent. In the latter class particularly, the membership of the Caledonian Society is being approached. Anyone who wishes to contribute will be welcome to do so. Grey said he felt contributions would be made on the basis of accepting a privilege.

Subscriptions in any sum are acceptable. It is hoped to complete the campaign within two weeks. The list of donors will be preserved by the Burns Club, and strict accounting made of the use of the fund. A copy of the list probably will be placed beneath the statute.

W. K. Bixby, president of the club and a patron of art, gave $10,000 of the fund, and subscriptions by others have amounted to $5000 more. Bixby is not in the city at present and George S. Johns, vice president of the club, with Grey, is directing the campaign.

Outgrowth of World's Fair.

The Burns Club is an outgrowth of the World's Fair of 1904. At the fair there was a replica of the cottage in which "Bobby" Burns was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, and this served as a gathering place for a group of lovers of the poet. Among these were Frederick W. Lehmann, the late David R. Francis and Bixby, who has one of the finest collections of Burnsiana outside of Scotland, part of which he has loaned for exhibition in the Burns room at the Artists' Guild. Walter B. Stevens is secretary of the club, Hanford Crawford treasurer and Scott H. Blewett acting secretary-treasurer.

Robert Ingersoll Aitken, a noted sculptor of Scotch descent, who did important parts of the sculpture of the Missouri State Capitol, has made a clay model of the Burns statue, a photograph of which was published in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch. It depicts Burns in the rough dress of a young farmer, book in hand, leaning on a scythe and gazing, in contemplation, at the ground.

When the fund is complete Aitken will be commissioned to do the statue, which is to be of bronze, eight feet high, on a granite pedestal.

$10,800,000 GAMBLING TAX

Casinos of France Showed Profit of Millions in 1926.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Gambling was profitable to the French Treasury in 1926, however costly it may have been to the players themselves. Receipts from the taxation of the casinos to be found in every seaside or mountain resort were 252,000,000 francs (about $10,800,000).

Casino profits showed a huge increase over those of 1925, totaling 380,000,000 francs, as compared with 250,000,000 for that year. The Deauville casino led the list with a profit of 44,653,000 francs (about $1,786,000).

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excites the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidney, or your back hurts, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

ENTIRE FAMILY PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

After They Found Such Wonderful Relief Through the Use of the Great Herb Extract Remedy Formerly Known as Herb Juice.

"It was indeed a very pleasant surprise to find that there is at least one remedy that you can depend on to do just what it is recommended to do. My entire family has been greatly relieved through the use of your wonderful medicine, and we are all glad to recommend it," said Mrs. Elizabeth Brinkmann, who resides at 3615 Blair avenue, St. Louis, Mo., in a recent conversation with the special demonstrator at Walgreen's Drug Store.

MRS. ELIZABETH BRINKMANN

"We have found your great herbal medicine to be just as recommended and just the thing that our entire family needed. I myself, have suffered a great deal from dizzy spells, poor appetite and gassy stomach and could not sleep very well. I noticed so many interesting testimonials in the St. Louis papers that I figured that Herb Extract, formerly known as Herb Juice, would do as much for me as it would for others, so I began the treatment. And, as I said before, I have found your medicine to be all that it was recommended. It has certainly made an entirely new woman out of me. I am entirely rid of all my ailments, eat and sleep well and have more energy than I have had for some time. My husband feels the same way about Herb Extract, formerly called Herb Juice, as I do and my entire family has taken it with splendid results. We just feel that we could not get along without it. We feel that it is the greatest of all medicine we have ever taken and we are all glad to recommend it. I know it will do for others what it has done for us and I would be glad if some sufferer would take it on my recommendation, because then I would feel that I had been of some service and would be doing something in return for the wonderful relief my family and I have gained from its use. It gives me pleasure to be able to recommend it and I shall always be glad to speak a good word for it."

Hundreds continue to call at Walgreen's Drug Store, 514 Washington Ave., to see the special demonstrator, many voluntarily giving statements for publication, praising this great medicine that their friends may be induced to try same.

BICYCLES, CAMERAS, BOOKS, OFFICE FURNITURE, etc., is BOUGHT and SOLD at a PROFIT to buyers and sellers THROUGH POST-DISPATCH WANTS.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready for use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

BACON 274 PER CENT HIGHER THAN IN 1890

Statistics Show Sugar Is Most Stable Staple, Gaining but 4 Per Cent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The American hog has led all competitors in the upward swing of food prices in the last 36 years. The largest increase in a list of staples selected by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics are shown to have been made by bacon, ham and pork chops.

Contrary probably to the popular belief, because of the agitation constantly waged on the subject, sugar stands at the very bottom of this list.

Leading in the advanced cost of living comes bacon, which has increased in price 274 per cent since 1890. Ham has gained 246 per cent and pork chops 242. Sugar has risen from 6.9 cents a pound to 7.2 cents, a gain of only 4 per cent. Sugar, it is true, had wide fluctuations in three of the 36 years, going as high as 19.4 cents a pound in 1920. For the 36 years, however, the average price of sugar was but 7.2 cents a pound, or .3 of a cent above the price in 1890.

H. C. L. Peak in 1920.

Corn meal recorded an advance of 184 per cent. Round steak was right behind with 182, while hens, lard, eggs, potatoes, butter, flour and milk followed in order, their advances ranging from 171 to 106 per cent.

Again, contrary to general belief, the war years of 1917 and 1918 did not bring the highest cost of living. They just started the ball rolling so that it attained its greatest velocity in 1920.

Taking commodity prices in 1913 as 100 per cent, the table shows that the lowly Irish potato led the advance in the price of food, as shown by index numbers since that year. The index number of potatoes rose from 100 to 211.8. Ham rose to 195.5, flour to 184.8, pork chops to 174.3, bacon to 173, hens to 171.8, and sirloin steak to 115.8. Milk, eggs, roast beef, lard and butter followed. Sugar again was at the bottom of the list with an index number of 130.5.

Affects Other Products.

The combined index number of 1920 was 203.4, or an increase of slightly more than 100 per cent over prices prevailing in 1913. There was a rapid recession to 153.3 in 1921 and today the number stands at about 115.

The stability of sugar has done much to advance activity in other food lines. The increase became apparent yesterday at the meeting of the National Canners' Association at Atlantic City. There is every indication that the peak this year will be equal to that of any period since Nicholas Appert discovered a century and a quarter ago that cooked foods could be preserved in air-tight containers.

Cross, Feverish Child is Bilious or Constipated

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."

College Club's Twentieth Benefit To Be Given on Night of Feb. 21

"The Vagabond King" Performance Will Provide Occasion for Many Parties — Funds Used to Provide Scholarships for St. Louis Girls.

THE St. Louis College Club, which will celebrate this year the twentieth anniversary of its scholarship work, has chosen for its annual benefit performance the light opera, "The Vagabond King," to be given Monday evening, Feb. 21, at the Shubert Rialto Theater.

The club uses funds from these performances to provide freshman scholarships to the different colleges for young women graduating from the city high schools who otherwise would be unable to attend.

The College Club benefit performance will be the occasion of much entertaining. Theater parties are to be given for the play itself, and supper parties will follow at one of the hotels, decorated especially for the event.

The theater will be draped in college pennants and colors, and between the acts delegations of alumni from the various colleges will sing the alma mater and popular campus songs of their respective schools.

Children's Party Attended by 165

ONE of the most attractive and the largest children's parties of the season was given yesterday at the St. Louis Woman's Club by Mr. and Mrs. David B. White of 5928 De Giverville avenue for their young daughters, Grace and Suzanne White, 11 and 8 years old, respectively. There were 165 guests, including classmates of the honorees at Mary Institute, Mr. Twitchell, the principal; Mrs. Twitchell, a few of the teachers and a number of other friends.

It was a pink and white party, with the decorations and favors in the same colors. Early in the afternoon a motion picture show was provided for the children in the ballroom of the club, followed by solo dance in costume.

The small guests marched downstairs in pairs to the reception rooms where the orchestra again provided music for a Charleston contest for which the prize was a large toy cat.

Refreshments were served in the dining room where a reception table was adorned with a center floral decoration of pink roses

Many Out-of-Town Guests to Be Entertained Here Next Month

THE midyear period following the holidays is proving the most popular time of the year for the entertainment of out-of-town guests, and during the month of February especially, the list is an imposing one.

They will return late in the spring for the wedding of Miss Marie Clarkson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Palmer Clarkson, and Robert Prince Casey of Los Angeles, accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watkins, and a party of friends from New York. One of the most interesting of the month's guests will be Mrs. Frederick Cameron Church of Boston, formerly Miss Muriel Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt of New York, who will spend the week of Feb. 12 with Mrs. Daniel W. Jones.

Interest centered last week in the visit of Princess Cantacuzene, who came here from Washington, D. C., for the opening of the Woman's Exposition. The Princess was guest of honor at an attractive dinner Friday night, given by Mrs. Ames Cushman, and again last night at a buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Niedringhaus.

Another titled visitor is Lady Peek of Devonshire, England for whom Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Kauffman of Portland place gave a dinner last night at the St. Louis Country and whom Mr. and Mrs. Orion Willis of the St. Louis Country Club grounds will honor at a luncheon today. Lady Peek, who, with her son, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John H. Holliday, will visit her mother, Mrs. William C. Stribling, in Pasadena, Cal., before returning to England. Miss Katherine Cornell of New York, who will play in a St. Louis theater the week of Feb. 6, will be entertained by Mrs. Holliday and her friends. Mrs. Holliday and the actress, who in private life is Mrs. Guthrie McClintic, are cousins.

Miss Eleanor Gamble, daughter of Mrs. Hamilton Gamble of Paris, is being entertained by the debutante set. The young visitor is with her grandmother, Mrs. David C. Gamble of Portland place, after two months' stay with friends in the East. Thursday evening, Miss Martha Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Love, gave a dinner for her, and next Saturday night, Guy and Allen Gamble, her uncles, will be hosts at a dinner at the St. Louis Country Club.

Mrs. Carl R. Gray of Chicago and her children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Edward N. Beach, over the week end, prior to Mrs. Beach's trip to Honolulu.

Tuesday Mrs. Clifford Webb of Paris will arrive to visit her sister, Mrs. Frederick E. Niedringhaus, and her mother, Mrs. Hiram N. Holliday, who will come from her home in Greenville, Mo., for her daughter's visit.

The two young women who came to St. Louis for the Junior League Conference have been much entertained. Mrs. Benjamin Griggs, a St. Paul delegate, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ethan Allen Hitchcock Shepley, will depart today for her home. Mrs. James C. Wyman of Minneapolis, formerly Miss Martha McChesney of St. Louis, will remain for a longer visit. She is now with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. McChesney and after tomorrow, when her hosts depart for a short visit in New York, she will be with Mrs. Felix Anderson. Later she will visit Mrs. Frank M. Mayfield of the McKnight road. Mrs. Mayfield will give a tea for her next Friday afternoon.

Chaplain and Mrs. Thurman Post Riddle of Newport arrived Friday for a week's visit with Chaplain Riddle's mother, Mrs. Truman Post Riddle of Westmoreland place.

Mrs. Harry Richard of Stamford, Conn., will arrive tomorrow to visit Mrs. G. Lacy Crawford of the Congress Apartments. The visitor was formerly Miss Virginia Lungstras of St. Louis.

ADAPTO SHOES
for STOUT WOMEN and MISSES

Perhaps the smart, modish models of ADAPTO Shoes have led you to suppose that they were "style shoes" and therefore incapable of supplying the essentials of foot comfort... No, on the contrary, ADAPTO Shoes are comfort shoes, first, last and all the time—although they don't look like it! Each pair is built over the famous ADAPTO "combination last", supplying restful, high-arch support and snug, narrow-heel fitting... Try a pair and see how much that means in terms of happy, carefree comfort! And, if your feet have been giving you trouble, visit our Foot Service Department* for free examination and professional advice.

Coolidges to Seek New Home During White House Repairs

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.

EXHAUSTED with the strain of the formal social season in Washington, President and Mrs. Coolidge have taken a week off in which to rest and perhaps in which to decide where they are to live during the six months in which the White House will be undergoing repairs.

No authentic hint can be gained as to whether or not they have decided upon an apartment in a hotel or a private residence. But the odds are greatly in favor of the private residence. A number of private residences have been offered to them, including that of Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Herbert Hoover on S street N. W., which is one of the show places of the capital.

No matter which is selected, February will see the presidential family busily engaged with packing its effects, for they intend to move out of the White House on March 5.

Washington society has heard with much regret of the impending withdrawal of H. Bryn, Minister of Norway at this capital for the last 16 years. This will remove a delightful diplomatic family from the foreign colony here.

Mrs. Coolidge was the honor guest at a luncheon given on Tuesday by Mrs. William M. Calder and Mrs. Joseph I. France, wives of former Senators, for the members of the Senate Ladies' Club.

On Monday the Vice-President and Mrs. Dawes celebrated their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary.

Tuesday the Secretary of State and Mrs. Kellogg were entertained at dinner by the Secretary of War and Mrs. Dwight F. Davis. Twenty-two guests were present and a few additional ones came in for a musicale by Francis McMillan, violinist.

A dinner was given for the President and Mrs. Coolidge by Postmaster-General and Mrs. New at their new home in Bethesda, Md., on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Booth Tarkington were among the guests.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the former President, was the honor guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, wife of Wilson's former Secretary of Agriculture at the Mayflower Hotel. The other guests were many of them prominent in the Wilson administration, including Dr. Cary Grayson and Mrs. Wilson's brother, Ralph Bolling.

President and Mrs. Coolidge departed from their usual custom of not attending social affairs by attending the reception of the Southern Society in honor of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia on Thursday night. They remained to witness the dancing which followed the reception for an hour and then returned to the White House.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair came to Washington last week from her home in Joplin, Mo. A number of important meetings of the Woman's National Democratic organization, of which she is head, will be held during her stay in Washington.

Senator and Mrs. Harry Hawes and Miss Eppes Hawes were among those at the opera on Monday night.

Mrs. Lothrop Ames of Boston is the guest of the Secretary of War and Mrs. Dwight Davis.

At the meeting of the Missouri Society on Tuesday, Representative Hamilton Fish of New York was the speaker on "America and Americans in Their True Light." Miss Honora Bailey, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Ralph E. Bailey of Missouri, came from Philadelphia, where she is a student of Oscar Seagle, to sing for the Missourians. The hostesses were Mrs. Leonidas Dyer, Mrs. Sam C. Major, Mrs. Charles E. Kiefner and Mrs. I. V. McPherson. Representative Joseph J. Manlove, president of the society, was in the chair at the meeting.

Mrs. Leonidas C. Dyer was among those assisting at the at-home Wednesday of Mrs. Everett Sanders, wife of the Secretary to President Coolidge.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Dwight Davis will be among the box holders at the Junior League Bill Board Ball to be held next Friday.

New Officers for a College Club.

The St. Charles Lindenwood College Club has elected the following officers for 1927: President, Miss Theo. McDearmon; vice president, Miss Aimee Becker; secretary, Mrs. Francis Rauch (Kathleen Pieper); treasurer, Mrs. Paul Blessing (Eunice Willbrandt). This club will take an active part in the Lindenwood Centennial celebration, the latter part of May, when hundreds of former students are to return for a reunion.

Mrs. G. E. Jacobs of 1405 Rowan avenue and Miss Ida Kaufman have departed for a mid-winter visit in Florida and Cuba.

Daughters of Colonists Meet.

A meeting of the State Executive Board of the Daughters of the American Colonists was held at Mexico, Mo., Jan. 21. Those in attendance were the president-general, Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey of Kansas City; State regent, Mrs. Edward Schaaf of St. Mary's, Mo.; Mrs. J. H. Foresman, Mrs. L. Alexander, Mrs. Frank L. Barnet of Kansas City, and Mrs. James E. Martin, Mrs. M. R. Wise, Mrs. John Hart Lane, Mrs. Robert M. White of Mexico, and Mrs. F. H. Pough, Mrs. A. E. Whitaker, Mrs. E. L. Barber and Mrs. J. M. Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

Fat Is Not In Fashion

All styles call for slenderness, short skirts in particular. And most women, you see, are meeting that requirement.

The easy, pleasant way is Marmola Prescription Tablets. They act by correcting the cause. No abnormal exercise or diet is required.

People have used them for 19 years. They have told and shown the results to others, and the use has grown. Now, in these days of slender figures, people are using Marmola in a very extensive way.

You see the results everywhere. Perhaps your own friends can tell them. If so, they will say that Marmola brought none but good effects.

Try this time-tested method, so widely employed today. Simply take four tablets daily and watch results. Stop when you reach proper weight. A method used by millions, and for 19 years, must be both right and effective. Learn, for your own sake, what so many know about it.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

GARLAND'S
INCORPORATED
St. Louis' Largest Women's Specialty Shop

Sample Spring Coats

Two Groups Which Save Up to One-Half

$24 and $54

AS IS our custom for this event, we have assembled showroom samples from our leading makers on such favorable terms that this Sale presents the smartest of Spring Coats for less than many of the garments actually cost to make! The values are so well remembered from season to season that the offering seldom lasts more than a day. The selection this season includes the reproductions of many stunning Paris models for town, sport and travel wear.

Authenticity of these models is assured by their origin, as also is the quality of their tailoring. Fabrics include Kasha, Jorella, Yamara, charmeen, twill, satin, faille and distinctive sport weaves from foreign and domestic looms.

The slimness of Spring's silhouette is accentuated by the tailored lines in many. Others are heavily embroidered and all have exquisite displays of spotted calf, squirrel, fox, broadtail, twin beaver, monkey and other light furs.

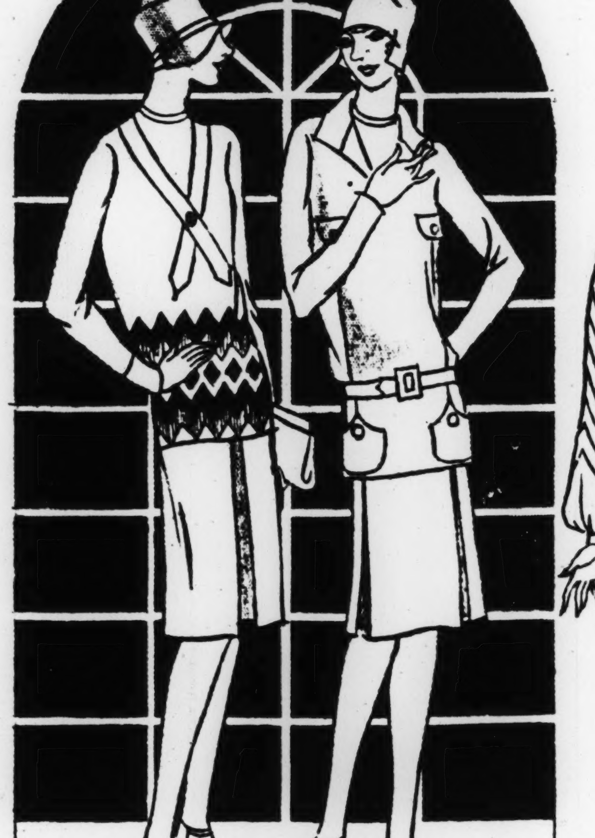
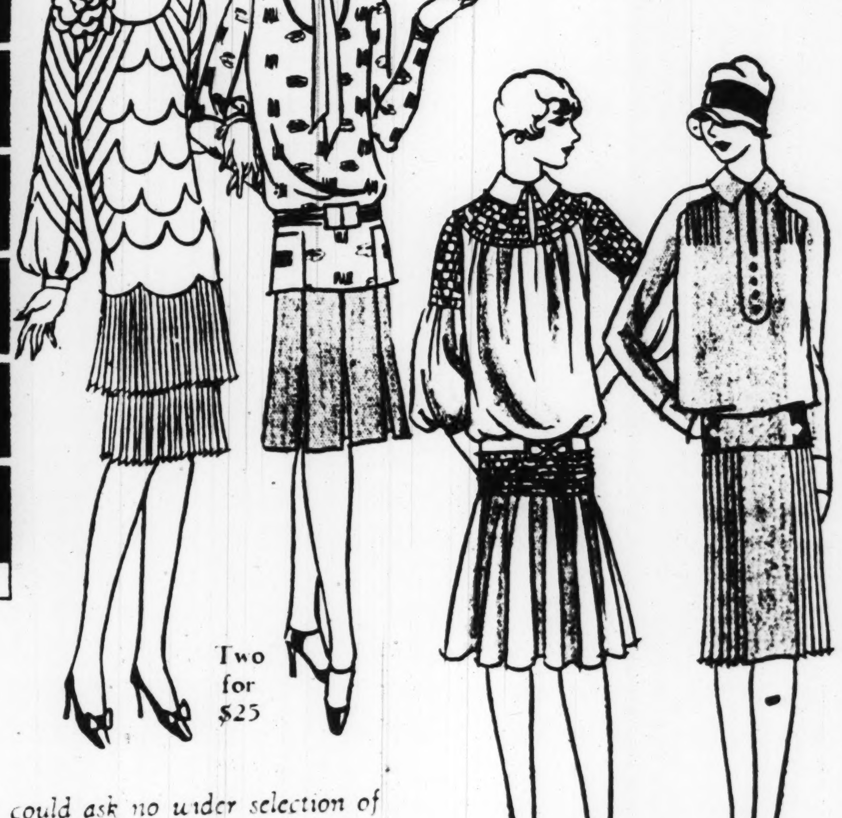
FORMING another link in the chain of evidence that points to Garland's for Dresses again this year is this sensational underselling of the season's most advanced creations in street, sport, afternoon and dinner frocks.

Fashion-approved silks and cloths, suitable for wear now, later and in early Summer. Paris-correct shades. Ultra-smart styles almost beyond number. Selections so large and varied that each individual taste is certain to be pleased.

There are six purchases in all, from makers whom you well know. Many have the maker's label sewed in. This is an event which the woman or miss who likes to "stretch" her dress budget will not want to miss.





Some are tailored, others highly trimmed in the manner of the season. Shades are both light and dark to meet individual preference and requirement. Size range is exceptional.

One could ask no wider selection of fabrics—Georgette, flat crepe, crepella, satin, Roshanara, Dunwoodie crepe, Kasha combinations, flannel and so on.

When Her Reward?

Whoever conceived the idea of bandaging the eyes of Justice had a marvelous anticipation of modern conditions!

With her scales ever ready to apportion equally to all, she has weighed many of us in the balance and found us wanting.

She is aptly termed the "Blind Goddess" and it is well she is so.

Could she but for a day behold the base ends to which her principles have been dragged, SHAME would be her portion.

But there'll come a day of reckoning—what then?

New method said to be instant

THE photographs here illustrate the way to treat a cold for quick relief as indicated by modern medicine. And of combating the coming of "flu" and pneumonia. A new way to curb a cold. You use at night and feel a different person the next day.

This method, which embodies thoroughly new principles, eliminates drug taking in many cases. Its whole use is external. No matter how clogged your head and chest, this will afford astonishing relief—and, above all, quickly. Many physicians, both in the United States and Europe, today widely endorse the principles on which it acts.

It is now available to the public, at most drug stores, under the name of Congesto-Rub. You can obtain it in small jars for the home at very moderate price. Because it is highly medicinal, it combats at last in a "rub" Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Influenza, Tonsilitis, Congestion and similar disorders, it completely supplants poultices, old-time "rubs," etc., although used in much the same way.

If your own druggist cannot supply you, send coupon below with 50c (stamps or currency) for large jar, postpaid. Users are requested, however, to ask for Congesto-Rub at drug store before sending for supply by mail.

KINLOCH BUILDING CONSIDERED FOR TICKET OFFICES

Old Telephone Structure and Site at Tenth and Locust Streets Sold to Syndicate.

J. C. SANDERS HEADS GROUP OF BUYERS

Chicago Interests Reopen Negotiations for Purchase of Hotel Jefferson Building.

By Berry Moore.

Notable of the week's transactions in the real estate field was the sale of the Kinloch building and site at the northwest corner of Tenth and Locust streets by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., to the Sanders-Kinloch Syndicate, headed by J. C. Sanders, president of the American Foundry Co., with plans for five additional stories as was told exclusively in yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

The building formerly was occupied by the telephone exchange and offices of the Kinloch Telephone Co., which was absorbed by the Bell. Dod G. Gibson, mining engineer, handled the negotiations on behalf of the Bell company. Jones, Hocker, Sullivan and Angert, attorneys, drew the papers.

The building is six stories in height, occupying a site with 124½ feet on Locust and 104 feet on Tenth street. It comprises approximately 15,000 square feet. The four upper floors are occupied and have been retained by the Bell Co. under a lease running until 1930 at the option of the lessee.

A proposal has been made to convert the first and second floors for the downtown ticket offices of the railroads now occupying quarters in the building at the southeast corner of Broadway and Locust. The Stix warehouse adjoining on Tenth street, also is embraced in the plan for the ticket offices.

Meeting Set for Tomorrow.

A meeting in this connection will be held tomorrow at the office of J. E. Hannigan, chairman of the Southwestern Association of Passenger lines.

The Bell Co. now has its central exchange and training school for operators in the upper four floors. of the building. The second floor is occupied by a lunch room and the ground floor by stores.

Associated with Sanders in the syndicate are C. L. Gray, who is building the Broadview Hotel in East St. Louis, and C. R. Crockwell, Omaha, Neb., contractor. The consideration was not disclosed.

The transaction promises to reawaken speculation in this part of the city, according to real estate men.

With the sale of the present Federal Building block, now virtually decided upon by the Government, the future of this block is now visualized with a huge department store or an office building which would benefit Locust street as well as Olive.

Chicago interests are negotiating again for the purchase of the Hotel Jefferson. Under the tentative plan being considered by tentative plan being considered by Manager Lyman T. Hay and his associates and by Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., the prospective new owners, which it is understood have large resources, will renovate the present structure and build a 12-story addition to the hotel, which was announced in January, 1926. This addition will contain 300 rooms, increasing the capacity of the hotel to 800 rooms.

Hotel Built for World's Fair.

The hotel, which is owned by the Jefferson Hotel Co., of which Hay is president, was promoted and built in 1903 by a syndicate of which Wade was the moving spirit, in order to provide for visitors to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. It was financed primarily with a loan from the Mercantile Trust Co.

The hotel company formerly owned the northeast corner of Thirteenth and Locust streets which was purchased at the instance of Festus J. Wade by the Roxana Petroleum Co. as a site for the new Shell Building. Coincident with the sale to the Roxana company, the hotel company acquired the southeast corner of Thirteenth and St. Charles streets, from the Mutual Realty Co. through the Mercantile Trust Co., as a site for a 12-story addition to the Jefferson.

The new quarters in the Pennant Building will be used as display rooms and for offices. Asbestos and magnesia products for pipe and boiler insulation, asbestos shingles, and asbestos felt asphalt for flat roofs, are the chief products of the company

The local display and warerooms have occupied five floors of the building at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Olive streets for 12 years, but the business in this territory, including Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, and half of Illinois, required increased facilities.

DICKMANN CLOSES THREE GRAND BOULEVARD LEASES

Closing of long-term leases on ground floor space in the building at the northwest corner of Grand boulevard and Laclede avenue featured a week of unusual activity in which deals totaling approximately $67,800 were completed by the Joseph F. Dickmann Real Estate Co.

Three leases on this prominent up-town corner were made by the firm, one to W. L. Clucas & Co., plumbing contractors, who will occupy the corner known as 1 North Grand boulevard, one to the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. of Detroit, which leased 5 and 7 North Grand boulevard and the third to the Metropolitan Realty Co., which will take over the space at 3 North Grand boulevard. The Dickmann company represented the lessees as well as the owners in these negotiations.

The company hopes to have the alterations made and the department opened by Feb 15.

NEW $100,000 GARAGE NEARING COMPLETION

Structure at Twenty-Third and Pine Owned and to Be Operated by Negro.

A two-story reinforced concrete and brick garage and gas service station is nearing completion for W. M. Harvey & Sons, at a cost of about $100,000. The building is 100 by 125 feet, fronting 125 feet on Twenty-third street and 100 feet on Pine street. It contains parking space for 100 cars on the ground floor and about 85 cars on the second floor, having a combined area of 37,500 square feet.

The foundation is made strong enough to accommodate another story when more parking space is needed.

Harvey says he believes his is the largest garage owned by a Negro in the United States. Craig & Co. are the architects.

The new garage will enhance the beauty of the area in and about Twenty-third street at Pine.

For several years Harvey worked as a chauffeur for St. Louis families then turned to the taxi business only to relinquish his carrier service to become a garage owner.

The new garage will be open to the public for service on or about Feb. 2.

The site was selected by Harvey because of its proximity to the downtown section and the demand for garage service.

HANAN SHOE CO. LEASES FRISCO BUILDING SPACE

The Hanan Shoe Co. has concluded negotiations for a 15-year lease on a part of the first floor of the Frisco Building at 906-908 Olive street, containing approximately 3600 feet of floor space, with a 32-foot front on Olive street.

The premises now are occupied by Cantoni's Restaurant, who will retain a space on the Ninth street side, and the Smee & Henderson Cigar Co., which will surrender about one-half their present Olive street quarters in order to permit the shoe company to install a new front. The St. Louis store at 722 Olive street is under the management of F. H. Maxted.

Isaac T. Cook & Co., Inc., represented all three tenants in the negotiations, as well as the Paul Brown Investment Co., owners of the Frisco Building.

EDWARD MAYS JOINS STAFF OF CONTINENTAL LIFE

The Continental Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis recently has added to its staff Edward Mays as vice president. This appointment is a result of the steadily increasing business of the company and the importance which the investment department has acquired with the growing income. Mays, who has been a director of the company for several years, and who has a broad understanding of finance and of St. Louis real estate values, will devote his attention largely to the Continental's investments in St. Louis real estate mortgages, which are given an important place, particularly in the direction of loans to home builders.

Edmund P. Melson, president of the company, states that the confidence shown by life insurance companies in real estate values is evidenced by the aggregate of real estate mortgage loans by all the life insurance companies for 1925, which was $4,799,486 — more than double what it was for the year 1920—and more than double the total premium receipts of all companies in 1925.

Melson states that the Continental, which has experienced a remarkable growth since the present management was installed in 1922, continued to advance during 1926, registering an increase of 11 per cent in total amount of insurance in force, and of 14 per cent in total assets. The company operates in 36 States.

HYDE INCIDENT LIKELY TO PLAGUE SENATE FURTHER

State Insurance Commissioner Suggests Fire Companies Inspired Attack on Him.

LIKELY TO REOPEN CLOSED INCIDENT

Certain Democratic Senators Counted On to Block Any Attempt to Defeat Confirmation.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—Confirmation by the Senate of Ben C. Hyde, State Superintendent of Insurance, virtually agreed upon by Democratic Senators, is again in doubt as a result of propaganda emanating from sources close to Hyde that the recent Senate inquiry into the circumstances of Hyde's acceptance of a $2500 fee from the International Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis was at the instance of fire and liability insurance companies.

While none of the influential Democratic Senators will discuss the subject publicly in the absence of Senator Haymes of Springfield, chairman of the Committee on Insurance, who introduced the resolution, yet privately they expressed much resentment toward Hyde. Their position, as stated by one of them, is that Hyde, through his spokesman on the floor of the Senate, Senator Ralph of St. Louis County, had in effect charged Senator Haymes and those acting with him of insincerity. Senator Haymes is in Springfield, where he was called Friday by illness in his family.

The situation now is that the Hyde incident, considered closed yesterday, may be reopened and an inquiry instituted in the possible activities by life insurance interests in Hyde's behalf and the part they may have had in circulating the propaganda, which was not confined to Ralph's speech on the floor of the Senate yesterday.

Influx of Insurance Men.

Just before Hyde's reply to the Senate resolution of inquiry was presented, a number of representatives of life insurance companies appeared in Jefferson City, among them former Attorney-General F. W. McAllister, counsel for the Kansas City Life Insurance Co., Floyd E. Jacobs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1924, employed by Hyde in a suit to force a reduction in fire insurance rates, and Walter K. Chorn, former State Superintendent of Insurance, associated in the practice of law with Charles Howell, head of the reciprocal insurance interests in Missouri, and organizer of the Sentinel Life Insurance Co. of Kansas City, of which Hyde's brother, the former Governor, is president. Former Gov. Hyde also was in Jefferson City.

The Democrats, even before Hyde delivered his reply, had come to the conclusion there was little in the International case to justify refusal to confirm Hyde's confirmation. From their own investigations they had satisfied themselves that in accepting such fee Hyde was supported by 15-year-old opinion from the Attorney-General, and had merely followed a custom of his office. They took the position that while the construction placed on the law by Hyde and his predecessors was wrong, yet in the circumstances he was in rather a strong position.

Senator Wammack on the Senate floor said the construction of the law by the Superintendent of Insurance was "immoral and against public policy," but there was no intention of carrying the matter any further.

May Try to Block Confirmation.

In view of the developments, it is almost certain the subject will be reopened and there will be at least one more day of discussion of it in the Senate.

It may or may not be carried to the extent of attempting to block Hyde's confirmation. If that should be tried there would be brought into active life a slumbering discord among the Democrats themselves and while the Senate organization among Democrats could control the caucus there is doubt that some Democratic Senators would enter the caucus.

Senators Casey of Kansas City, Kinney and Brogan of St. Louis, Buford of Ellington, Donnelly of Lebanon and probably Searcy of Birch Tree, could probably be counted upon to hold out, and without them there would be no chance of preventing Hyde's confirmation.

Since Casey was defeated by Senator Cave for president pro tem at the organization of the Senate it has been known that Democratic harmony in the body depended solely upon whether there arose any question of sufficient importance for the group of outsiders to make a stand.

Donnelly's Fur Ruffled.

Donnelly almost brought the matter to a head when he refused to accept the position of chairman of the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence after Cave had caused the creation of a separate committee on criminal code to handle the bills for reformation of criminal procedure. Donnelly said that action took from the Criminal Jurisprudence committee all important legislation and he would not have the chairmanship.

Cave sought to smooth this over by ignoring Donnelly's refusal to serve hoping that in time he would change his mind. But so far—and the Legislature has been in session a month—Donnelly has not called a meeting of the committee and several days ago refused to call one to take up bills in which one of the Senators was interested. It is probably that regardless of what may develop in the Hyde matter, Cave this week will name a new chairman in Donnelly's place.

Lieut.-Gov. Bennett, Republican president of the Senate, outgeneraled the Democrats yesterday. After Senator Ralph (Republican) had completed his defense of Hyde only one Democratic Senator having spoken, Bennett quickly sounded the gavel and announced passage to another order of business, that of introduction of bills. Immediately he recognized a Republican Senator in that order of business. Senator Whitecotton, Senator McCawley and Senator Cave all Democrats, had expected to talk on Hyde but all were so completely taken by surprise that they neither sought recognition, nor sought to revert to the former order.

GIVEN 10 DAYS FOR FAILING TO COMPLY WITH INJUNCTION

John M. Nimocks Has Failed to Report to Sheriff Since Penalty Was Imposed.

John M. Nimocks, who was fined $200 and sentenced to serve 10 days in jail for contempt of court by Circuit Judge Ittner last week, has written to the Post-Dispatch to correct a published statement that the sentence was imposed because he failed to turn over books and records of the Ideal Investment Co., a Negro real estate concern, to Wilson Dawson, who asserts he is president. The record shows that the contempt order grew out of Nimock's failure to comply with an injunction preventing him from collecting rents belonging to the company and interfering with tenants.

A previous citation, which the Post-Dispatch erroneously confused with the present motion, charged that Nimocks failed to surrender certain records as ordered by court five years ago. Nimocks asserts he fully complied with that order, for which the court records show a receipt. He was ousted from the presidency of the company Oct. 4, 1921, but he claims he was reinstated last August following a reorganization at which 80 per cent of the shareholders participated. He was not present when the contempt penalty was imposed and the Sheriff is waiting for him to come in. He was said to have been in Chicago.

MORE CIRCUIT JUDGES FOR ST. LOUIS DISCUSSED

Members of Bench Give Tacit Approval to Three Additional to Handle Increased Litigation.

Legislation for increasing the number of Circuit Judges in St. Louis from 16 to 19, in order to cope with the volume of court business, now lagging a year behind, was discussed at a joint session yesterday of committees of the circuit bench and the St. Louis Bar Association. The judges gave tacit approval to the proposition but felt they ought not take leadership in fostering it.

The Bar Association intends to ask the Legislature for a number of measures, and will discuss these at a meeting at St. Louis University tomorrow evening. The Judges suggested at yesterday's meeting, and the bar committee concurred, that assignments to the Court of Domestic Relations bench, which are generally unwelcome, should be for terms fixed by the general session of the bench rather than the two years now required by law.

Another suggestion approved was that appointments of Circuit Judges to unexpired terms by the Governor be for the remaining duration of the term, rather than till the next election. There was discussion, but no action, about relieving judges of the necessity of asking defendants pleading guilty whether they have consulted with counsel or friends. The judges feel this caution tends to encourage delays and perversions of justice.

Judge Calhoun, chairman and Judge Killoren, Hall, Rosskopf and Frey comprise the Legislative committee of the bench, and the bar association group which met with them comprised Ernest A. Green, president; Oliver T. Remmers, Fred L. English and James A. Garstang.

FUNERAL OF DR. G. W. BATES

Services Will Be Held at Lexington, Mo., Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Dr. George W. Bates of Lexington, Mo., who died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law, Dr. Frank L. Davis, 6132 Westminster place, will be held tomorrow at Lexington. Burial will be in the family lot at Bates City, Mo., which was named after Dr. Bates' father.

Dr. Bates was 74 years old and was visiting his daughter and son-in-law when he was stricken with acute heart disease, from which he had suffered for a number of years. In recent years Dr. Bates had given up medical practice and become active in Democratic politics. He served as County Clerk and as Collector for Lafayette County. He is survived by six children.

CONVICTED SLAYER'S LIFE HANGS ON PUNCTUATION

Whether Jury Put Comma or Semi-Colon in Verdict to Decide Death or Life Imprisonment

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 29.—The life of Salvatore Merra hangs on a matter of punctuation. With Salvatore Rannelli, both of Newark, he was tried for the murder of a Public Service Railway Co. paymaster, and the jury brought in a verdict as follows:

"We find the defendant Salvatore Merra, guilty of murder in the first degree, and the defendant, Salvatore Rannelli guilty of murder in the first degree and recommend life imprisonment." Merra was sentenced to die in the electric chair. His counsel, Senator Alexander Simpson, contended the recommendation applied to both, because the court clerk's record showed only a comma between the first part and the second part of the verdict.

Judge Walter Van Riper today certified to the Court of Errors and Appeals that the stenographer's record showed a semicolon thus making the recommendation for life imprisonment apply to the second prisoner and not the first.

FEE OF TAX COLLECTOR'S ATTORNEY ATTACKED IN SUIT

Counsel for Defendant in Clayton Circuit Court Assert $3 Charge Is Unjustified.

A motion was filed by the defendant in a tax suit in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday which, if upheld, may cost Walter F. Stahlhuth of Maplewood, attorney for Collector Rudder of St. Louis County, a considerable sum in fees.

A. G. McGaskill, of 6637 Waterman avenue, sued for $682 alleged delinquent personal taxes for 1923-25, and costs, including a $3 fee for Stahlhuth, is the defendant. His attorneys, John L. Mooney and George Barnett, asked the Court to strike out the $3 fee, holding it unjustified, inasmuch as the Collector's lawyer gets 10 per cent of judgments rendered.

Stahlhuth has filed about 20,000 suits for personal taxes, claiming the fee in each. He received $62,000 in fees last month, but he said last night this was all he had gotten for four years' services, except a small fee in November.

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOLISM SET RECORD UNDER DRY ACT

Metropolitan Life Forecasts by 1928 a Rate as High as in Worst Pre-War Year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—More deaths from alcoholism in 1926 than in any year since 1917 were recorded among the 17,000,000 policy holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., says a report made public today. If the present trend continues, the report says, the death rate from alcoholism will be as great by 1928 as in the worst of the pre-war years.

For 1926 the company's figures showed a percentage of 3.7 a 100,000 as against 3 a 100,000 for 1925. The 1926 rate was six times as high as that of 1920, when the record low rate was established.

CLEANING AND PRESSING PRICE INCREASED FROM $1 TO $1.50

Recently Organized Tailors' Union With 500 Members Working for Higher Wages.

Prices for cleaning and pressing suits were increased from $1 to $1.50 Monday by many of the cleaning and pressing companies operating their own plants. The charge for pressing increased from 35 to 50 cents.

The Cleaners' Dyers and Pressers' Union was organized recently here to obtain increased wages for the workers and to obtain an eight-hour day. Approximately one-third of the 1500 tailors in St. Louis are said to have joined. The St. Louis Wholesale Dyers and Cleaners' Association has recognized the new organization.

LONDON HIPPODROME CIRCUS DISBANDS AT ST. JOSEPH, MO.

St. Louisans Hold $981 of Its Manager's Checks Marked "Insufficient Funds."

The London Hippodrome Circus, which closed a week's run at the Coliseum Jan. 23, was disbanded at St. Joseph, Mo., last night after another unsuccessful week. All future bookings were canceled, including a week's engagement in Kansas City scheduled to begin tomorrow.

After the circus left St. Louis five checks totaling $981, made out by R. M. Harvey, manager of the troupe, chiefly for food and lodging for its employes, came back marked "insufficient funds." The St. Louis appearance was sponsored by Alhambra Grotto.

ON $3,000,000 OPERA TOUR

Chicago Civic Company of 300 Has 1750 Trunks, 29 Baggage Cars.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—With 1750 trunks and 29 special baggage cars filled with scenery and paraphernalia—as much impedimenta and equipment as "The World's Greatest Show"—the Chicago Civic Opera Company left for the East tonight aboard two special trains for a seven-week tour, which will include St. Louis.

After the curtain descended tonight on the last performance of the season here, the company's personnel of 300 left for Boston to present 18 operas in two weeks after which it will visit 15 other cities. The scenery, wardrobe and properties comprising the productions on the 1927 tour represent an investment of more than $3,000,000, while the cost of transporting the personnel will total $117,000. Excess baggage, transfer and labor charges alone, the company estimates, will amount to more than $172,000.

FORMER ST. LOUIS WOMAN KILLED IN FLORIDA AUTO CRASH

Riding With Deputy Sheriff Who Said He Was Pursuing Liquor Runners.

Funeral services for Mrs. Pearl Jane Roy, 37 years old, formerly of St. Louis, who was killed last Thursday when an automobile in which she was riding overturned near Delray, Fla., will be held here this week.

Funeral arrangements, which await the arrival of the body, will be made by Manley J. Morton, 4140 Shaw avenue, a brother. According to Morton, Mrs. Roy went to Florida some years ago and operated a tea shop at Lantana until the shop was destroyed with other buildings by the storm last year. She had lived recently at Lake Worth.

Mrs. Roy was killed when a machine, in which she was riding with Ivan Rousseau, a Deputy Sheriff, overturned while traveling 65 miles an hour on Ocean Road. Rousseau, who escaped serious injury, said he was chasing another automobile, which he suspected of being a liquor running car, when his machine struck a pile of sand.

New U. S. Prosecutor for Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—George Q. Johnson is being favorably considered by President Coolidge for Federal District Attorney at Chicago, to succeed Edwin A. Olson, whose term expired recently. The President is expected to name a successor to Olson soon.

CHURCHES TO AID IN SMOKE ABATEMENT

Nearly 100 Organizations Have Requests for Speakers to Explain Details.

Smoke Abatement Week, under auspices of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League, began yesterday and will continue till next Saturday. It has two principal features—short addresses on the problem before civic, commercial and social organizations, and an exhibit at the Women's National Exposition in the Coliseum, which opened yesterday.

Nearly 100 churches and organizations have requested speakers. Among these groups are: Junior Chamber of Commerce, Advertising Club, Sales Managers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, Tercentenary Shakespeare Society, Town Club, Cosmopolitan Club, Hospital Social Service Association, Men's Club of Jewish Orphans' Home, Disabled American Veterans of the World War and Manchester - Cheltenham Improvement Association.

New Members Sought.

At the exposition the exhibit of the league, which includes furnaces and boilers with which economical and smokeless firing methods will be demonstrated, there will be a sketch presented daily at 2:15 and 7:15 p. m. There will be frequent illustrated talks and motion pictures also. Bad effects of smoke will be shown in various ways.

The league is seeking members to support its work, and who will pledge themselves to reduce smoke of their own homes and to ask friends to aid the movement. Honorary membership is $100, sustaining membership $25, contributing membership $5 and associate membership $1. The league has a furnace-firing school at Hodiamont avenue and Olive Street road.

League Makes Appeal.

In a statement explaining that Smoke Abatement Week was designed to crystallize public sentiment for reduction of the smoke nuisance into definite action, the league said:

"Smoke abatement is a civic problem depending for its success very largely upon the degree of co-operation given by the individual citizen. Every citizen should be interested in making St. Louis a cleaner and healthier city. Smoke abatement has an economic and esthetic appeal as well as a health appeal. To reduce smoke from the chimney of his home or the stack of his factory should be a civic duty that every man owes to himself and the city he makes his home. This week affords an opportunity for those interested in the smoke problem to study methods of smoke abatement. It will furnish an opportunity to translate sentiment for smoke abatement into real action."

Inside Stories of Southern Illinois Gang War

The Birger "mob's" version of their two-year murderous feud with the Shelton "outfit" in the course of which six men were slain and a peace officer and his wife mysteriously abducted.

Told by "Art" Newman

Carl Birger's Chief Lieutenant, and Amplified by Two of His Pals

"ART" NEWMAN

Charlie Birger and "Art" Newman are to be the Federal Government's chief witnesses in the trial of the Shelton brothers—Earl, Carl and Bernie—for the Collinsville mail robbery beginning in Quincy tomorrow.

"The war is over," says "Art," who has joined the Law against the men who swore to kill him and to kill whom he did his very best, and so, he says, he doesn't mind telling the public all he knows about it.

How the war between the rival rum runners started, plots and counterplots, ambuscades and assassinations; the killing of Constable Caesar Cagle, Mayor "Joe" Adams, "Wild Bill" Holland, "Casey" Jones, and "High Pocket" McQuay; how the reward for "bumping off" Glenn Young was collected when that famous gunman was still alive; how "Big Sadie's" name was used to finally trap the Sheltons; shaking down moonshiners, blowing up stills, and the "sticking up" of craps games; these, and many other episodes are covered in the narrative.

Set to the Genuine Clarkadota Fig

WHICH IS PRACTICALLY SEEDLESS AND SKINLESS. Located in RIVERSIDE COUNTY, 21 miles from the CITY OF RIVERSIDE, a POPULATION of SIXTY THOUSAND, which has three CONTINENTAL RAILROADS running through. The SANTA FE running through the ROMOLA VALLEY and THROUGH THOUSANDS OF ACRES of our FIG PROPERTY and TOWN of ROMOLAND, which is owned, developed and operated by the PACIFIC DEVELOPING CO. of LOS ANGELES. ASSETS over $1,000,000. References DUN and BRADSTREET. STOP and THINK for FIVE MINUTES—think of SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, the place the whole world have their EYES on, where some day you want to live. A SPOT the ALMIGHTY GOD made for HUMANITY to SEEK and enjoy at all times of the year, as SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has an ALL-YEAR-ROUND CLIMATE, the place the GLORIOUS SUN shines upon in MIDWINTER, where ROSES are in full bloom on NEW YEAR'S DAY. Think what you can have in this wonderful land of SUNSHINE. 1 acre or more at $1250 per ACRE, with only $520 down, remainder $730, paid at $11.50 per month until paid. EACH ACRE having 280 CLARKADOTA FIG TREES, which WE TAKE CARE of for 3 YEARS FREE in cultivating, irrigating, pruning, hoeing, harrowing, disking and in every way, turning over to the purchaser or owner at the end of 3 years 280 bearing fig trees. After that the owner can take care of his own, if he chooses; if not, the PACIFIC DEVELOPMENT CO. will continue on in CULTIVATING, IRRIGATING, PRUNING, PICKING, PRESERVING, CANNING and MARKETING for 25% of the net profits of the fruit, the owner receiving 75%. It is estimated an acre will net $2000 a year and up. THINK! That is more than the average working man makes when he works every month in the year. FIGURE THE INTEREST on your $1250 investment. $2000 a year is 160%, [illegible] as much as you like. Why not use your BRAINS and own a few of these INCOME ACRES? This is an opportunity you probably will never have again—to own property taken care of by a company of this kind, being cared for after 3 years on a percentage basis. No VACANCIES, no INSURANCE, no DEPRECIATION, as a fig tree will live for HUNDREDS of years and bear always. Fig trees never bloom, therefore no pest, no fumigating, spraying or disease. THIS is YOUR OPPORTUNITY to secure a piece of MOTHER EARTH with INCOME and INDEPENDENCE on a five-acre tract in SUNNY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, and when you are ready to go out you will have a place to go and something to live upon, and those who don't want to go can't invest in anything better for profit, as this is one of the best and safest ever put before the buying public. FREE ROUND TRIP TICKET, good for nine MONTHS, to every purchaser of five acres. You are invited to see moving picture of property, sample figs and get further particulars, then if you feel you want to purchase one or more acres, I will be pleased to sell you any amount you want, and I know you will thank me for giving you this opportunity in this wonderful investment and to be one of the thousands who have purchased our property. 773 ARE GRADUATED FROM HIGH SCHOOLS

Soldan Has Largest Class, With 170, and Beaumont the Smallest, With 87.

Diplomas of graduation from the public high schools last week were awarded to 773 boys and girls.

The graduates were distributed as follows: Central High, [illegible]; Cleveland, [illegible]; Beaumont, 87; Roosevelt, 141; Soldan, 170; Sumner (Negro), 95. Commencement exercises also were held at Harris Teachers' College and the college for Negro teachers at Sumner.

Central, which has been conducting classes for the last year in the building formerly used as Yeatman High, will continue there for at least another semester. Its own building, the oldest existing high school building in the city, at Grand boulevard and Windsor place, is undergoing repairs. It is believed that Central may return there next autumn. A proposal to abandon the structure as a senior high school was defeated by alumni of Central, which was the first high school west of the Mississippi River.

Exercises at High Schools.

The commencement exercise of Central was held Friday evening at the Beaumont auditorium, with presentation of diplomas by Henry Helfer of the Board of Education. Other high school exercises were in their own auditorium.

Soldan's was Thursday morning. Mrs. Elias Michael, board member, made the chief address. Beaumont's was Thursday afternoon, with an address by Robert E. Lee and presentation of diplomas by Henry F. Fahrenkrog, member of the board.

Richard Murphy of the board addressed the Roosevelt High graduation gathering Thursday evening. It was announced that the highest scholastic average of this class was made by Miss Natalie Walewski. At Cleveland High Thursday evening Emil J. Barth of the board presented the diplomas.

Second terms of the night schools, which offer a wide variety of instruction for adults who were compelled to leave school early, and others, begin this week. Enrollment will be tomorrow night at the six high schools and Banneker (Negro) School, and Tuesday night at Beaumont, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Soldan, Franklin Intermediate, McKinley Intermediate and Lincoln (Negro) Schools. Sessions are from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. either on Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday. Admission is free to all persons more than 14 years old not enrolled in the day schools.

MAN KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO, DRIVER FLEES FROM SCENE

Arthur Fettkether, 27, Suffering From Skull Fracture and Alcoholism at Hospital.

An automobile whose driver failed to stop struck Arthur Fettkether, 27 years old, a paperhanger, of 1423 North Broadway, in front of 1736 North Broadway, early last night. At City Hospital it was said Fettkether was suffering from a fracture of the nose, abrasions of the face and alcoholism.

Crossing Broadway at Duchouquette street last evening, John Miller, [illegible] years old, of 518 Ann avenue, was hit by a car driven by Henry Nolte of [illegible] East Prairie avenue, and suffered a possible skull fracture, lacerated scalp and abrasions of the left hand.

GERMANS REJECT TWO NAMED FOR CABINET

All but Herr Graef, Monarchist, and Dr. Hergt Given Coalition Seats.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—President Von Hindenburg has confirmed the coalition Cabinet of Chancellor Marx, with the exception of Walther Graef, Nationalist, as Minister of Justice, and Dr. Hergt, Nationalist, as Minister of the Interior. Negotiations are going on between the Chancellor and the Nationalists and other coalition parties, but the President does not expect a solution of the problem caused by the two disputed portfolios until Monday, when a meeting of the Nationalist members of the Reichstag will be held.

In the meantime, Herr Graef has refused to renounce his right to the portfolio of Justice, and the Nationalist leaders have communicated this fact to Dr. Marx.

Strong opposition developed as soon as it became known that Herr Graef had been selected for a Cabinet post, as he was known as an ultra-Nationalist and an advocate of a monarchistic dictatorship. When the circumstances were presented to President Von Hindenburg, the President readily acceded to the request withholding Herr Graef's commission.

Indications in the press comments on the new Cabinet are that nobody is satisfied. The Nationalists fear that their constituents will not understand their about-face; the People's party sees its traditional liberalism endangered, while the Democratic and Left organs promises a fight to the end against the Government.

The Centrists, under the leadership of former Chancellor Wirth, branded Graef's nomination as a "provocation," and Dr. Wirth stated publicly that he would vote against the Government. There was also heavy opposition in the left wing of the People's Party to the reactionary character of the Nationalist nominees.

NEW KIND OF TALKING MOVIE USES VIBRATING LIGHT RAY

General Electric Co. Demonstrates Its Process Based on Hoxie Pallophotophone.

By the Associated Press.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—A new and different process for making talking motion pictures was demonstrated in a theater here today by officers of the General Electric Co. The demonstration was in two forms. In one the sound-recording apparatus was merged with the motion picture camera and both the audible and the visible were imprinted simultaneously on the film. In the other, the incidental music for one of the latest "first-run" films was recorded on an undeveloped print of the feature picture.

The new process, called by its inventors the "photophone," is a combination of the motion picture projector and the pallophotophone, a device invented by Dr. C. A. Hoxie of the General Electric Co.'s research staff. The pallophotophone makes a photographic print by means of a vibrating beam of light on the strip of film. When run through the reproducing machine, the vibrating beam of light retranslates the photographic sound record into audibility. The sound record in the projecting machine is amplified by a loud speaker to any degree desired.

By means of synchronized motors, the incidental music accompanying the first-run picture in the theater at New York was placed upon the picture film in exactly the proper relation. This was shown by two incidents of the action of the picture. In one place the sound of a blow was timed exactly with the motion on the screen; later, the crack of a pistol was simultaneous with the burst of smoke from the weapon.

The process demonstrated today represents the fruition of more than six years of continuous research and experiment.

SEES CAR STOLEN, CALLS POLICE AND GETS IT BACK

R. O. Elliott Pursues in Another Auto; Three Men Put Under Arrest.

"My car has been stolen, and there go the fellows that took it."

This cry of a man who dashed into Newstead Avenue Police Station last night sent Capt. Loepker and three patrolmen running around the corner and east in Laclede avenue in pursuit of a slowly moving Ford coupe. The Captain, with drawn revolver, hopped on one running board and two of the patrolmen on the other. They arrested three young men in the machine. One of these, who said he was Joseph Potts, 18 years old, of 3572A South Vandeventer avenue, admitted stealing the car, the Captain says, while the others declared Potts had picked them up afterwards.

The car belonged to Robert C. Elliott of 2144A Yale avenue, Maplewood, who was visiting at 4221 Norfolk avenue and saw it being driven away from there. He pursued it across Newstead avenue in a passing machine.

Cloak Model Killed Herself.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—After an autopsy today on the body of Marion Hunt, cloak model, found dead yesterday on the porch of her sister's home, it was declared the young woman committed suicide. Miss Hunt was found huddled on the porch. A bullet wound in her temple was stained with powder. A pistol with an empty chamber lay beside her.

OPEN VERDICT IN MURDER OF FORMER SALOON EMPLOYE

Fred Schnelle Was Killed by Unseen Assailant When Playing Solitaire at Home.

No clew has been found to the murder of Fred Schnelle, 38 years old, of 1029 Tillie avenue, shot to death last Saturday night as he sat in the kitchen of his home playing solitaire. A Coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of homicide.

His widow, Vera, and his sister-in-law, Miss Nellie Kirk, who were in the house when he was killed, testified that two shots came through the glass panel of the kitchen door, fired by someone who stood in the darkness outside. Schnelle formerly worked at a saloon and was discharged after a Federal raid.

50 PER CENT RISE IN STATE INCOME TAX IS PROPOSED

Baker Administration Also Favors Doubling Corporation Levy — Democrat Offers Bills.

$3,300,000 MORE PROVIDED ANNUALLY

Unpopularity of Tobacco and Amusement Assessments Proposal Brings Switch in Party Plans.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—The Baker administration, abandoned by nearly all the Republican leaders in the Legislature in its plan to obtain additional revenue by nuisance taxes on tobacco and on admissions to amusements, is about ready to switch from that scheme to a plan to increase the corporation franchise tax and the State income tax in an effort to obtain approximately $3,000,000 additional annual revenue.

The plan under consideration is to restore the two taxes to their rate basis before they were reduced in 1921 by the Hyde administration. If carried out the proposal would increase the corporation franchise rate from 50 cents to $1 on each $1000 of capital and surplus of all corporations and would increase the State income rate from 1 to 1½ per cent.

Bills proposing both increases were introduced in the House today by D. L. Bales of Shannon County, a Democrat. Bales does not represent the administration and declared he put the bills in without any suggestion or pressure from administration sources. However, the administration undoubtedly would be willing to support Bales' measures, having the additional leverage of pointing to the fact that they were introduced by a Democrat. Bales said he put the measures in because he believed the State needed more revenue for support of the schools and government activities.

On the basis of revenue receipts under the present rate, the increase would mean approximately $1,500,000 additional from the corporation franchise tax and $1,800,000 additional from the income tax.

Nuisance Tax Unpopular.

The very widespread unpopularity of the nuisance tax proposal has been evident since the opening of the Legislature and it has been apparent for several weeks that the Governor's proposal would have little chance of passage. The defeat of the bills virtually became certain Thursday night at a public hearing before the House Ways and Means Committee. Although the committee reported the bills favorably yesterday, private information from within the committee was to the effect that they were sent to the floor of the House merely as a compliment to the Governor and that a majority of the committee was opposed to them.

The need for additional State funds is real and is recognized by the Democrats in control of the Senate, but they have taken a stand against any increase of taxes in any manner this year. In their opposition to the proposed nuisance taxes, they felt themselves on very safe ground because they could foresee the general opposition to them. They are not so certain there will be as much public objection to the alternative.

Generally speaking the Democrats look to the rural sections of the State for support and neither the corporation franchise tax nor the income tax will arouse very much resentment there because both, for the most part, are paid by St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and two or three other cities.

Governor Criticised Privately.

Statisticians have compiled statements of the losses in revenue which resulted in the reduction of there taxes at $7,653,850 for the corporation franchise tax and $8,301,855 for the income tax in the five years since the rates were changed, or nearly $16,000,000. The loss averaged more than $3,000,000 a year. They have figured that by restoring the old rates, this amount can be added.

While the funds to be obtained in this manner would not equal the $4,700,000, it had been estimated the nuisance taxes would produce, the administration is faced with the virtual necessity of taking a chance on that or being forced to get along for two years on present rates of revenue.

While it is doubtful that any force the administration might have put behind its program would have brought success, Republicans in both Senate and House are disposed to charge up the collapse to the Governor's failure to assume forceful leadership. They do not criticise him publicly, but privately they say the Governor seemed to think all he had to do was to introduce the bills and that the Legislature would adopt the measures merely because he said he wanted them.

Of course, there is a good deal of buncombe about executive leadership. There rarely have been any fine points about it in Missouri, where it usually has consisted of nothing more than a trading of jobs, pardons and other executive favors for votes for bills in which the Governor was interested. A Governor considered a clever leader in the popular mind usually has had little right to the title of statesman. He has been merely a good business man, striking the best bargain he could with Legislators who wanted to distribute patronage.

This is a system which works well at the first Legislature of a Governor's term of office. Then he has all the State patronage at his command and is in a strategic position, but by the second Legislature and this is the second of Gov. Baker's term, all the jobs have been distributed and there is little the Governor has to offer.

Freer Than Most Governors.

As a matter of fact, Gov. Baker has been freer than most Governors within recent years of criticism for trading patronage and pardons and paroles for influence in the Legislature. He has been extremely strict on pardons and paroles, and even two years ago he made his personal and political obligations paramount to his hope for his legislative program by distribution of jobs.

With his nuisance tax program gone by the boards, it now appears that his only hope of obtaining sufficient funds to avoid virtual bankruptcy for the State in the last half of his administration lies in the attempt to boost the corporation franchise and income taxes.

It is by no means sure the Democratic Senate would let these measures go through, but he will have more chance with them than with the others.

MEXICAN TREASURY CHIEF REPORTED TO HAVE RESIGNED

Pani Said to be Coming to U. S.; Oil Firms Elated at Granting of Injunction.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—Foreign oil interests at Tampico are said to be much elated at the success of the Trans-Continental Oil Co. in obtaining "definite amparo," or injunction, from the District Court at Villa Cuauhtemoc, Vera Cruz. It is understood that the company has obtained what amounts to a permanent order against the operation of the new Mexican oil law until the Supreme Court gives a final decision on the constitutionality of the law.

The Government is making no comment on reports that Secretary of the Treasury Alberto J. Pani, has resigned. Rumors persist that Pani soon will go to Los Angeles to visit his family and thereafter may proceed to New York and Washington to confer with financial and governmental authorities concerning the Mexican situation.

If Pani's reported resignation is accepted, it will be widely construed here as a victory for Minister of Industry Luis Marones, Pani and Marones having differed considerably within the Cabinet on the policies that the Calles Government should pursue.

SENATE BALLOT BOX SEIZURE ORDER WILL BE RESISTED

Allegheny County, Pa., to Insist They Be Kept for Local Prosecutions.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29.—Any effort by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee to seize six Allegheny County ballot boxes, now held as evidence for prosecution of alleged election frauds, will be contested by District Attorney Gardner.

Commenting today on the expected visit of David Barry, Senate Sergeant-at-Arms, to arrange for removal of the 1400 odd ballot boxes to Washington, Gardner said the records of the six districts were needed here in the prosecution of 32 persons recommended for indictment by the grand jury on charges of violating the election laws. He said he expected to confer with the Government representatives on the subject on their arrival here.

The Allegheny County ballot boxes were ordered seized and removed to Washington for inspection by the Senate Committee on its investigation of the Pennsylvania senatorial election.

ELECTRICITY TO REPLACE GAS ON KINGSHIGHWAY VIADUCT

New System Will Be Installed as Soon as the Weather Permits.

Replacing of gas lighting on the Kingshighway viaduct with an electric system, which will add 7800 candle-power to the illumination, will be started when the weather permits, Director of Public Utilities Pritchard announced yesterday. The concrete posts on the balustrade, now used as gas standards, will be utilized as electric light posts.

Gas lighting equipment also will be replaced by electric on each of the following streets: Southwest avenue, between Kingshighway and Macklind avenue; Loughborough avenue, from Gravois to Field avenue; Delor street, from Grand Kingshighway to Gravois, and West Florissant avenue, from Kingshighway Northwest to the city limits. Electric standards also will be erected on Delmar boulevard at the Wabash Railroad crossing.

SENATE VOTE ON THREE CRUISER BILL DEFERRED

King, Democrat, Joins With G. O. P. Leader in Opposing Appropriation Now.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Senate failed to reach a vote today on the three-cruiser amendment to the naval supply bill, adjourning with supporters of the proposal, which is at odds with President Coolidge's recommendations, predicting its adoption, probably Monday.

During debate today, one Democrat, King of Utah, joined with Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, in urging that no funds be appropriated for additional light cruisers until the President has full opportunity to attempt the bringing about of another arms conference.

The pending amendment would provide $1,200,000 to start work on the three remaining hulls authorized in 1924.

Pleading for abandonment for any program which might be construed abroad as evidence of bad faith on the part of the United States in connection with further disarmament Senator Curtis urged its rejection in the interest of world peace.

The President, he said, had not counseled abandonment of the 1924 building program but had urged only that no additional hulls be laid down until efforts of the administration looking to another arms conference had been brought to fruition.

Senator King said it would be "nothing short of criminal" for the Senate to do anything that might defeat the President's disarmament plans, and added: "Some of the Senators who oppose the President on this measure will be hiding under his coat tails when an election comes."

After several Democrats, among them Harrison of Mississippi, had questioned Senators Hale and Curtis as to just what the President had in mind with regard to further disarmament, Senator Caraway (Dem.) of Arkansas, interjected:

"I wish you gentlemen who speak for the President would get together and agree what the President had in mind. One of you says he thinks one thing and the other says he doesn't think anything."

This remark was made after Hale had declared he believed the President looked to Geneva for the next move toward another arms conference, and Curtis had said Mr. Coolidge clearly had indicated he was attempting to bring about another meeting similar to the Washington conference.

DEMOCRATS TO SELECT 4 FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Plan to Pick Candidates for All Vacancies at Meeting Friday.

The Democratic City Committee will meet Friday night to select four candidates for the four vacancies in the Board of Education, to be filled in the election of April 5. The committee has proceeded thus far with the idea of making nominations for all four positions, naming two men and two women, and expecting the Republican City Committee to do the same.

The Republican Committee, however, will have it in its power to return to the former bi-partisan traditions of the Board elections, by indorsing two of the Democratic selections and placing them on the Republican ticket, with two Republicans. Even with the election of two Democrats to the Board, the Republicans would have a majority. The members retiring this spring are all Republicans, being Stephen Wagner, president of the board; Henry F. Fahrenkrog, Myrt A. Rollins and Mrs. Catherine Bush. Wagner and Rollins say them will be candidates for re-election, but Fahrenkrog says he does not intend to run again.

Chairman Remmers of the Republican City Committee said he personally would favor electing some Democrats to the board, as he favors the big-partisan plan. The present law provides for the naming of Board of Education candidates by petition, and petitions will be circulated by the Democratic organization in behalf of the candidates indorsed at Friday night's meeting.

The School Patrons' Alliance and Citizens' Board Committee is expected to take action in favor of returning to the choice of a bi-partisan board, by some form of arrangement between the two parties. The desire of the organizations is to keep the schools out of politics, so far as possible.

In the election of four members for 6-year terms in 1925, party lines were not drawn, and two Democrats, John C. Tobin and Richard Murphy, were elected, with Mrs. Elias Michael and Emil J. Barth. Rollins was elected for a 2-year term. Mrs. Michael, Tobin and Rollins were indorsed by the Citizens' School Board Committee, and Barth and Rollins were backed by the patrons' organization.

DR. MEYER WIENER SAILS FOR EUROPE TO SISTER'S BEDSIDE

Hurrying to the bedside of his sister, who is seriously ill, Dr. Meyer Wiener, eye specialist in the Carleton Building, sailed for Europe at noon yesterday on the steamship La France, according to dispatches from New York. To avoid delay, he arranged with Representative John J. Cochran at Washington for a passport to be delivered to him in New York when he arrived there yesterday morning.

At Dr. Wiener's home, 4609 Pershing avenue, it was stated that he departed Friday.

REHEARING SOUGHT IN LOTTERY RULING

Gentry, Admitting Error in Emerson Case, Says Supreme Court Also Made Mistake.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—Attorney-General Gentry yesterday filed a motion in Supreme Court for a rehearing of the Court's recent decision, transferring to the St. Louis Court of Appeals the case of William R. Emerson of St. Louis, convicted of aiding in establishing a lottery.

Emerson was president of the defunct Maulding Co., which operated "furniture clubs," with a plan of weekly drawings by which it was possible to win $55 worth of furniture before completing the 55 weekly payments of $1 required by the club contract.

He was tried before a jury in Circuit Judge Frey's Court, charged with establishing a lottery and assisting in establishing a lottery. The first charge was dismissed on a demurrer, but Emerson was convicted on the second charge and sentenced to 12 months in jail.

He appealed. The Supreme Court held that the jail sentence was permissible only on the first charge, and that a fine of $1000 was the maximum punishment on the second charge. Holding that he had been convicted only of a misdemeanor, and not of a felony, it referred his appeal to the St. Louis Court of Appeals for further consideration.

In the Attorney-General's motion for a rehearing, he argues, in effect, that the Supreme Court made a mistake, after the Attorney-General's office had made a mistake in its brief.

The brief stated that Emerson was charged with violations of Sections 3562 and 3563 of the revised statutes. The first section involves a felony and the second a misdemeanor. The motion for rehearing now contends that both counts were under 3562—and therefore Emerson was convicted of a felony, and the jail sentence should stand.

"I find you guilty

SHERIFF GALLIGAN'S Own Story of His Four Years' War With the Ku Klux Klan "IN BLOODY WILLIAMSON"

In a Narrative Punctuated With the Crash of Firearms, the Former Illinois Peace Officer Tells How Liquor Raids by Klan Grew Into a Deadly Feud

By GEORGE GALLIGAN

(Copyright, 1927. All rights reserved.)

WHEN I took office, December, 1922, Williamson County, Illinois, was still in a highly troubled state as an aftermath of the Lester Strip Mine riot. As my readers will recall, the Lester Strip Mine, which was midway between Herrin and Marion, the county seat of Williamson County, had been operated on a nonunion basis and, as feeling grew up against its operation in the community, armed guards had been retained to guard the workings of the mine.

It was inevitable that the guards, professional gunmen, as they were, should perpetrate many outrages upon the union miners and other citizens of Williamson County. It was inevitable, too, that in such a strong union community there should be a very bitter feeling against these strikebreakers, whom the miners naturally conceived as taking the very bread from their mouths.

Without going into the merits of the action of the perpetrators of the Strip Mine Massacre I will simply recite the plain fact that in the summer of 1921 the Strip Mine was surrounded, the guards of the nonunion men were taken from it, and 21 men, having been marched across country to the Herrin Cemetery, were killed in that vicinity by the enraged mob which had dragged them forth.

In connection with the trouble at the Lester Strip Mine, it is interesting to note that S. Glenn Young, who was later to become the very center of the klan strength in Williamson County, was one of the guards at the Lester Strip Mine prior to the mine riot. Strangely enough, I have been told by Ora Thomas, a mine union official, who later became my chief deputy, that he himself ordered Young and one or two others of the Lester guards away from the Strip Mine prior to the riot and himself conducted them from the county.

This action of Thomas, although probably inspired only by a desire to remove the strikebreakers from the county, certainly saved the life of Young, who would have been killed with the rest in the next day or two. I will always believe that this encounter of Young and Thomas was as big a factor as any in fostering the bitter enmity between them in subsequent days when Young was the klan leader and Thomas the outstanding figure in the antiklan forces.

Up to the time of the Lester Strip Mine trouble, Williamson County had not come into the notoriety which now gives it the universally popular title, "Bloody Williamson." For years past, it is true, there had been recurrent feuds in the county's history, but they had never come to such proportions as to split communities wide open as did the trouble that began with the mine riot.

Williamson County, by reason of its natural resources, should rank as one of the most prosperous districts in the State of Illinois. It is a fairly good agricultural region, has an abundance of coal resources, and its mines are favored with splendid natural physical conditions. The coal ranks

Tries to Marry His Daughter to His Wife's Son

And Now the French Courts Will Try to Untangle the Snarl in the Family of the Handsome Tenor Muratore.

Mlle. Marceline Rouvier, prima ballerina of the Paris Opera.

Lina Cavalieri.

PARIS.

A SENSATIONAL case of alleged abduction is coming up in the French courts in a few days.

A former prima ballerina, or chief ballet dancer, of the Paris Opera, named Mademoiselle Marceline Rouvier, has filed a suit against Lucien Muratore, the famous tenor, which reveals a stirring romance.

Nineteen years ago Muratore and Mademoiselle Rouvier fell passionately in love with each other.

She was only 20 then, and the best-looking ballet dancer at the Opera, while Muratore, who was tenor at the Opera Comique, was just starting his great career.

Before they knew it they had a baby named Ariane—a beautiful girl who is now the cause of an extraordinary tangle.

"He promised to marry me and give the child his name just as soon as his reputation was made," the mother sobs in her little apartment in the Montmartre quarter of Paris.

"A few months after Ariane was born Lina Cavalieri invited us to her magnificent chauteau near Paris to spend a few days and before we left I discovered that Lina and Lucien had fallen in love with each other.

"He freely confessed that he was tired of me, and eventually he married Lina."

Mademoiselle Rouvier gave Ariane an excellent education and when Lucien and Lina returned from America after the war she filed a suit against him for the child's support and was allowed 300 francs a month, which was $60 at the time.

In 1924 the great tenor saw his beautiful young daughter for the first time in many years and, the latent father love welling up in him, he went before the French courts and legally recognized her as his daughter.

Ariane began to visit Muratore and Cavalieri, who had been married in 1914, and her mother allowed Cavalieri to take her on a visit to Italy in the early spring of 1926.

"She was a changed girl when she returned home," Mademoiselle Rouvier declares.

"The child who was devoted to her studies had succumbed to her father's charms and Cavalieri's magnificent jewels, and had become a woman of the world.

"The only thing she thinks about now is pleasure, and she wants to spend her life dancing and having a good time."

In spite of her deception Mademoiselle Rouvier allowed her to go to Rome a second time with Cavalieri in June and a little while later Muratore, who was managing his wife's beauty shop in Paris, informed her that he had arranged a marriage for his daughter.

WHEN he married Cavalieri the tenor had recognized the former's son, Alexander Cavalieri, aged 35, an Italian flying officer, as his own son in order to give him a name, although Alexander was born long before Muratore ever knew the sweet Italian song bird.

"I am going to marry Ariane to Alexander," he told Mademoiselle Rouvier casually one day.

The mother was furious because she had arranged another marriage for her daughter and in November she persuaded the Paris courts to annul Muratore's legal recognition of paternity, as he was still married to Madame Beriza of the Opera Comique when Ariane was born, although he was separated from her. Under French law a married man cannot recognize a child born in adultery, and the court set aside the recognition he had made in 1924.

AS THE court thereby stripped him of any authority over his daughter, Mademoiselle Rouvier demanded that he order Ariane to return to her.

Ariane is now in Rome with Cavalieri and Muratore alleges that she remains there of her own free will.

"I cannot go before the Italian courts and charge her with abduction," the mother says.

"She is a warm friend of Mussolini and for that reason the Italian courts would favor her."

Mademoiselle Rouvier alleges that Muratore wishes to arrange this match because he and Lina quarrel bitterly, but as it is to the material interest of both Lina and Lucien to remain together they believe that the marriage of their children would be a sort of binding tie.

In any case, Ariane cannot legally marry Alexander—it is uncertain if she really wishes to marry him—as French law forbids French children under 21 to marry without the consent of their parents, and Ariane was only 19 on Jan. 29, 1927.

After the Paris court annulled Muratore's recognition of paternity the mother demanded that he and Lina bring her daughter back to her home.

"She is unwilling to return," Muratore insisted and the mother thereupon filed a suit charging him with "rapt de l'enfant" which means abduction or kidnaping, and the case will come up this month.

"I suppose a lot of people will say that this is just another case of a ballet girl who slipped," said Mademoiselle Rouvier the other day.

"Some will blame me for not forcing Lucien to marry me, but I idolized him so much in those days that I would have laid down my life for him if he had asked it. He has a charm that no woman can resist.

"And others will blame me for the selfish purpose of wanting my daughter to live with me in my modest little home instead of letting her lead a life of gaiety and luxury in the palace of the wealthy diva who is now her father's wife.

"But will they have the heart to criticise me when they know the whole truth about my tragedy?

"I KNOW that a ballet dancer should have no heart. She should be all legs and stiff toes and very little brains. Her smile should be glued on no matter how her heart is crying. If she loves a man and lives with him seven full years outside the law, she should be delighted, if there is a baby, to have someone come along and take care of it.

"I suppose that is what the world says, but how could I go on dancing and smiling at the Opera every night with the torturing thought in my heart that the rich woman who took Lucien away from me now wanted to take my girl, too, and marry her to her son?

"And that is why I filed the charge of abduction. I must talk to her and point out the dangers of the path she is following. When she returns I will simply say to her:

"Ariane, do you want to go to your father or stay with me?

"I will look into her beautiful eyes and try to put all my heart into mine so that she can see all the aching and misery of it. And if she says the awful words I dread, I will hide my sorrow and simply tell her that under the French law she cannot defy me and become Ariane Muratore and a stepdaughter of Lina Cavalieri, but that she is, and must remain, no matter where she goes, the daughter of Marceline Rouvier, prima ballerina, for two more years."

Mademoiselle Rouvier became a pupil of the ballet at the Opera at the age of seven and, although she is 41 now, she is still there.

She had just become a star at the age of 20 when Muratore, who was a few years older, sped across the operatic firmament and dazzled the ballet dancer and a lot of other women besides.

They fell in love, but Muratore was unable to marry her then because he was married to Madame Beriza and was unable to get a divorce for various reasons. The baby was born in January, 1908, but when he finally got his divorce some months later another woman had entered on the scene.

"Lucien and I had been ideal lovers, and we intended to marry as soon as he was firmly established as a grand opera singer with an international reputation," she continued with tears in her eyes.

"Then one day Lina Cavalieri, the beautiful Italian opera singer, came to our cozy little apartment and stayed for dinner. She had wonderful jewels that Prince Dolgouruki had given her in Russia, and she told some fascinating stories about her adventures and conquests in that country.

"At that time Lina lived in a handsome chateau at Vallan Goujard near Paris, which the prince had also given her. She invited us to come and live with her for a few weeks, and when Lucien insisted that it would be an insult for us to refuse we packed our baby, baggage and servants and went out there.

"It was only a short trip from Paris, and we could motor into town for our work in less than an hour.

"THE chateau was charming, but I soon noticed that Lucien and Lina loved each other and they made no secret of it. Lucien telling me frankly that he was tired of me. I was miserable, but my baby and my work at the Opera saved me when I thought of suicide. One night I danced alone, in the Faust ballet. Lucien sang Faust and Lina Cavalieri occupied my personal seat in the orchestra.

"All through my solo dance the hot tears streamed down my face, but I smiled right through, smiled as if this was the happiest day of my life, smiled even when I curtsied before the great Faust, whose eyes watched me indifferently.

"When the war broke out Muratore had to join the regiment at Marseilles, his home city.

"He did not remain long with the colors, however, for the business of war did not agree with his voice. Something went wrong with his vocal cords and he came back to Paris.

"Lina Cavalieri had obtained for him the permission to go and sing in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other American cities. When he reached New York his voice was better than ever, and his successes were reported in all the Paris papers.

"Muratore and Cavalieri were duly married before they left Paris. At that time Muratore legally recognized Cavalieri's son, Alexander Cavalieri, as his own. It is to him they want to marry my Ariane, Muratore's real daughter, who was six years old when he and Cavalieri went to America. All through the war Muratore never communicated with his little daughter.

"'I don't like him, anyway,' my Ariane would say, 'because he did not go to war with the other soldiers.'

"'But he will do more for France by singing the "Mairseillaise."' I would explain to Ariane, 'and when he comes back he will surely get the Legion of Honor.'

"This prediction came true subsequently, but my explanations could not soothe Ariane.

"Muratore suddenly decided to legally recognize his daughter. More and more my little girl, who was then 16 and doing well in her music and studies, came under the influence of the Muratore charm. No woman could ever resist him.

"In self-defense I obtained the annulment of this legal recognition.

"But even then I made the mistake of my life. When Ariane begged me to let her travel with Cavalieri to Italy I consented, hoping that my girl's heart would never give me up. I received no word from her in 19 days, and the few letters she wrote later were cold and distant in tone.

"WHEN she returned to me Ariane was a changed girl. She thought of nothing but amusement. Her music and painting were forgotten. She was completely under the spell of the wealth of Lina Cavalieri and the charm of her father.

"I wanted Ariane to make use of her wonderful talents and become an artist well able to support herself, but the attraction of pleasure was too much for her.

"Last June she slept for the last time in my house. Her father's persuasive charm and the constant display of the Cavalieri jewels had weaned Ariane from her mother's love and lured her to Italy.

"Of course, my Ariane, like any young girl when pleasure winks, fell into his arms, and said: 'Ah, papa.' She went with Cavalieri to Rome, and Muratore notified me in a casual way that he had decided to marry Ariane to Captain Alexander Cavalieri Muratore, of the Italian Flying Corps.

"In this manner he expected to reinstate Ariane to the position she should occupy as his daughter, he said, and give her the name of Muratore, which was rightfully hers.

"This may seem like a logical solution to some people, but I, the child's mother, do not think so.

"When my little girl comes back from Italy with Lina Cavalieri, I shall go to the Gare de Lyon to meet them. Muratore will be there, too, I suppose. Perhaps I won't have a chance to ask Ariane if she wants to go with her father instead of coming home with me.

"It is such a terrible question to ask a child. I think my voice would fail me. It would be so awful to hear her say: 'No, mother, I must go with my father.'

"And yet it must be done, even if my heart breaks under this last cruel blow of destiny."

The hearing will be a great Parisian event, as both Lina and Lucien will probably appear in court.

The great tenor has been managing his wife's beauty shop in Paris for the past few months while Cavalieri and Ariane traveled through Italy, but he is going to sing in Monte Carlo this winter. He has been singing very little for four years on account of a breakdown in New York, although he says that he has now recovered and that his voice is good as ever.

The Rise and Fall of AD BERTIG

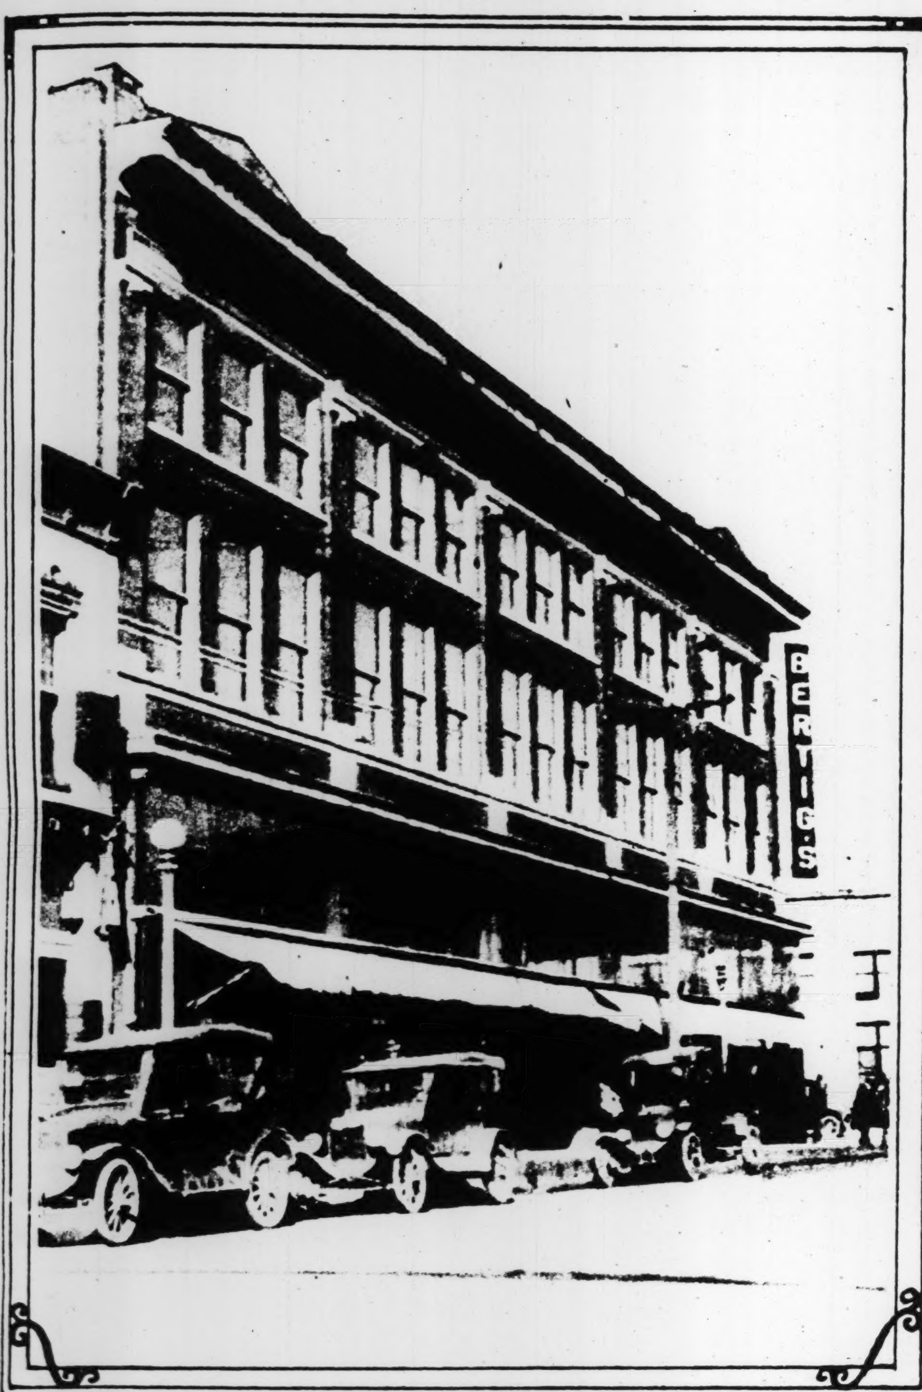
The Boy Who Once Carried a Peddler's Pack Came to Dominate the Town of Paragould, Arkansas, But Now Only His Name, High on a Water Tank, Remains, for His Career Was Crowned With Disaster.



The Bertig Department Store.

PARAGOULD, Arkansas.

IT WAS a day of disappointment, the day in 1870 that Ad Bertig came from his home across the sea to this land of promise. The ship that had brought him spewed him from its steerage, penniless. The relative who was to have met him was not at the dock to greet him. He slept that night in Trinity Churchyard, with his bundle of scant possessions as his pillow.

The years brought fortune to Ad Bertig. The world called him a merchant prince. His name, lifted high above a city's housetops, betokened his dominance of its commerce. He had wide dominion.

Disaster came, and tragedy, and now the edifice of success reared by the genius who began as a penniless immigrant boy is crumbling.

In Austria, where Ad Bertig was born, tales almost past belief were told about the opportunities that America offered. As a boy he heard them, and they shaped his purposes. He would go to America and make his fortune there, such fortune as he was capable of visioning.

He was 18 years old when he came across and found no one waiting for him at the dock. Somebody staked him to a nickel for the ferry and there was hospitality for the night among the Trinity tombs.

Next day he found lodging with a countryman who was willing to take a chance. Fortunately for him, America was in the throes of an approaching presidential election and a job was to be had, hawking the chromos of the candidates. He knew no English, but friends he found at the lodging place taught him the few words that he would need in the picture-selling business, and how to make change, which he learned quickly, and he prospered sufficiently to pay for his lodging and supply his simple needs.

He was told that many of his countrymen had gone to Arkansas and by all accounts had prospered there, so he made his way to Little Rock and found there a job as dishwasher in a restaurant, with free meals as his chief compensation.

HE MIGHT in time have become the owner of the place but for an untoward occurrence. Handling a stack of dishes his unskilled hands slipped and the crockery fell to the floor with a crash. His awkwardness before this had evoked such ire on the proprietor's part that he did not tarry to ascertain the boss' reaction to the calamity of shattered dishes. He ran out the back way, leaving his hat and his coat and his job, ending a dish-washing career that was full of promise.

He worked at this and that, anything, so long as it did not involve the handling of dishes, for which, his misadventure had taught him, he had no talent.

One of the jobs to which he turned his hand brought him to the attention of the late John Fletcher, a man of substance, who noted his eagerness and industry and questioned him concerning his ambitions. These, it appeared, were quite definite. He wanted to be a peddler. There was money in that business; he believed. As soon as he had saved enough to buy a stock of goods he would start out with his pack on his back and the making of his fortune would only be a matter of time.

The stake that he needed was very small, as money was measured by the man of substance. He offered to back young Mr. Bertig in the peddling business.

So the young merchant set forth, walking the highways, carrying his pack, extolling the merits of his merchandise, never taking no for an answer, returning and settling with his backer, starting out again with stock bought with his earnings—a capitalist now.

IT WAS only a step from peddling to store ownership for one who had the gift, and as Ad Bertig peddled he was always looking for a place to go into business. The hamlet of Ozark, in the Arkansas Ozarks, was decided upon, and there he opened a little store. Prospering, the village was soon too small for him, and he went to Walnut Ridge and opened a larger store. One or two other moves and then the just-beginning town of Paragould attracted his attention. It was in the early '80s and the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railroads, converging, had crossed each other's tracks here, a conjunction which, in the judgment of Ad Bertig, meant that here a city would grow and here a merchant might make a fortune.

It was a small store that he started, for Paragould was a small place then, but the town grew and the business grew. There came a time when he needed a helper in his expansion and he brought here his brother, Saul, who had been conducting a small business at Gainesville. Bertig Bros. was the new firm name.

The business grew and grew, culminating about 10 years ago in the erection of a large department store, three stories high and covering nearly half of a city block. It was spoken of far and wide through Northeastern Arkansas as "Bertig's massive department store," and massive it was, and is, compared to the other business houses of the town, out of proportion, indeed, to the size of the town which it dominates.

Dominate it did by its proportions and location, as Ad Bertig had come to dominate the commercial and financial life of the community.

Symbol of the dominance of the man and his business was the water tank that was erected above the roof of the department store to serve its needs. Hoisted high above the store, it overtopped every other structure in the town. Bearing on its sides the magic word BERTIG, it was, and is, the first thing seen as the town is approached by rail or highway, and the last thing seen by all who, departing, cast a backward look.

It was a name which in these later years had come to have a greater than local significance. When Ad Bertig had achieved all that could be achieved as Paragould's "merchant prince," he set about enlarging his domain.

Stores were established at Marmaduke, Piggott and Blytheville, Ark., and Cardwell, Mo., land companies were organized here and at other places and holdings of a thousand acres acquired, in Arkansas and Missouri and cotton gins were operated in a dozen places.

In the early stages of this expansion Ad Bertig had obtained control of the Paragould Trust Company, through which he largely financed his undertakings, borrowing heavily when he had need on the collateral of his numerous companies.

AS LONG as these companies were prospering, as they seemed to be, the transactions did not cause anxiety. When, however, two or three off years in cotton entailed heavy losses, the wisdom of the heavy loans was questioned by some whose money was invested in the trust company.

With increasing years and failing health Bertig had latterly been giving less than his usual personal attention to business. His son, Joe, took over a large part of the management. Particularly of the department store.

It may be doubted whether Joe Bertig, whatever his abilities, could ever have commanded the confidence that Ad Bertig had enjoyed. Joe had never peddled with a pack on his back. He had not climbed the merchandising ladder. He was only a rich man's son, exposed to the disparagement which cavilers visit upon rich men's sons.

JOE had ideas about how his father's business should be run. He put some of them into effect. Maybe they helped. Maybe not. Maybe the great business which Ad Bertig had erected, with its many ramifications, was too topheavy to withstand the blow of cotton losses.

There were rumors from time to time that the Bertigs were in trouble, but nobody knew where these arose or what foundation they had.

A crisis was approaching for Ad Bertig. He was 74 years old and the hand that had guided his affairs was partially palsied. He could not see his way through. He contemplated bankruptcy proceedings, but he could not bring himself to face that. There was a way that to him seemed better.

So far as has been made known, he did not intimate to anyone that he was contemplating escape from a situation that he did not have the fortitude to face. His manner did not betray him the last Saturday afternoon, Dec. 11, that he spent at the store. His oversight was not lessened. He greeted friends cordially.

At the end of the day he closed his desk and went home. The next morning his neighbor, W. C. Hasty, came over and they sat and talked a while. Bertig was in bathrobe and slippers. His wife was preparing his bath.

Hasty went away and Bertig went into another room. He did not come when his wife called him. She went to look for him and found him lying on the floor. She called Dr. J. A. Dillman, who happened to be next door, calling upon Saul Bertig. He came quickly. He saw what Mrs. Bertig, in her agitation, had not seen, a revolver lying there, partly under the edge of the man's bathrobe. He covered it.

Ad Bertig's heart continued to beat a few minutes and then it stopped.

Dr. C. A. Hardesty came and the two physicians, finding themselves unexpectedly the custodians of a serious situation, considered their course. Ad Bertig, whose life had been pivotal in the commercial and financial affairs of the community, was dead. He had killed himself. Financial reverses probably were the cause. If the word went forth that he had killed himself there would be something like a panic. Probably there would be runs on the banks. Other business enterprises might be affected.

He had shot himself in the mouth. The bullet had emerged at the back of his head. It was easy to conceal the cause of death. Nobody need know, for a time at least. After a while, perhaps, the truth could be told without harm.

No inquest was necessary, as inquests are not held in Arkansas if attending physicians attest the cause of death and there is no suspicion of foul play.

It was necessary only to have the co-operation of the undertaker. R. L. Mitchell, who prepared the body for burial, kept the secret. Apoplexy was given as the cause of death.

AD BERTIG was a Jew, but he had been liberal to the Gentile churches. He and his brother Saul had paid for the lighting installation of the new $150,000 Methodist Church, lately completed. The Jews of Paragould have no place of worship. The official board of the Methodist Church offered that church for the obsequies.

This church is so large that Ad Bertig, visiting it shortly after it was completed, expressed doubt whether the auditorium ever would be filled. It was filled for Ad Bertig's funeral. Sixteen hundred people were seated and hundreds stood in the aisles. Other hundreds were unable to get in and stood outside. Nobody except the two doctors and the undertaker knew that the town's greatest merchant had killed himself.

It was a simple service. Eulogies were spoken by Rabbi Thurman of St. Louis and the Rev. James B. Evans, former pastor of the church, who had removed to Morrilton, but came back for the funeral. A brief Masonic ritual followed. There was no music except the soft tones of the organ. All business places in the town by proclamation of Mayor Craig were closed during the funeral.

Ad Bertig was buried at Linwood Cemetery here, where he had said that he wanted to be buried.

As the days passed the suspicion fed by rumor grew that Ad Bertig had killed himself. The doctors and undertaker, questioned, were evasive. The suspicion became a conviction, but still there was no confirmation. Not until almost a month after the man's death, when Dr. Dillman sent the certificate of death to the Registrar of Vital Statistics at Little Rock, was it officially known.

In the meantime, Bank Commissioner Rainwater, examining the Paragould Trust Co., found that $155,000 had been loaned to various Bertig enterprises. He filed an application for a receiver for several of the Bertig companies, including the department store, and M. F. Block was appointed. The trust company closed its doors. Two other banks, in other towns, affected by the situation, had to close. All of the Bertig enterprises were later brought into the receivership. The receiver suspended all of them except the department store. That is still being operated.

There are assets of $2,000,000, the receiver says. He hopes they can be conserved and the disaster minimized. Paragould and the country about in Arkansas and Missouri anxiously await the outcome. Some condemn Ad Bertig. Some condone

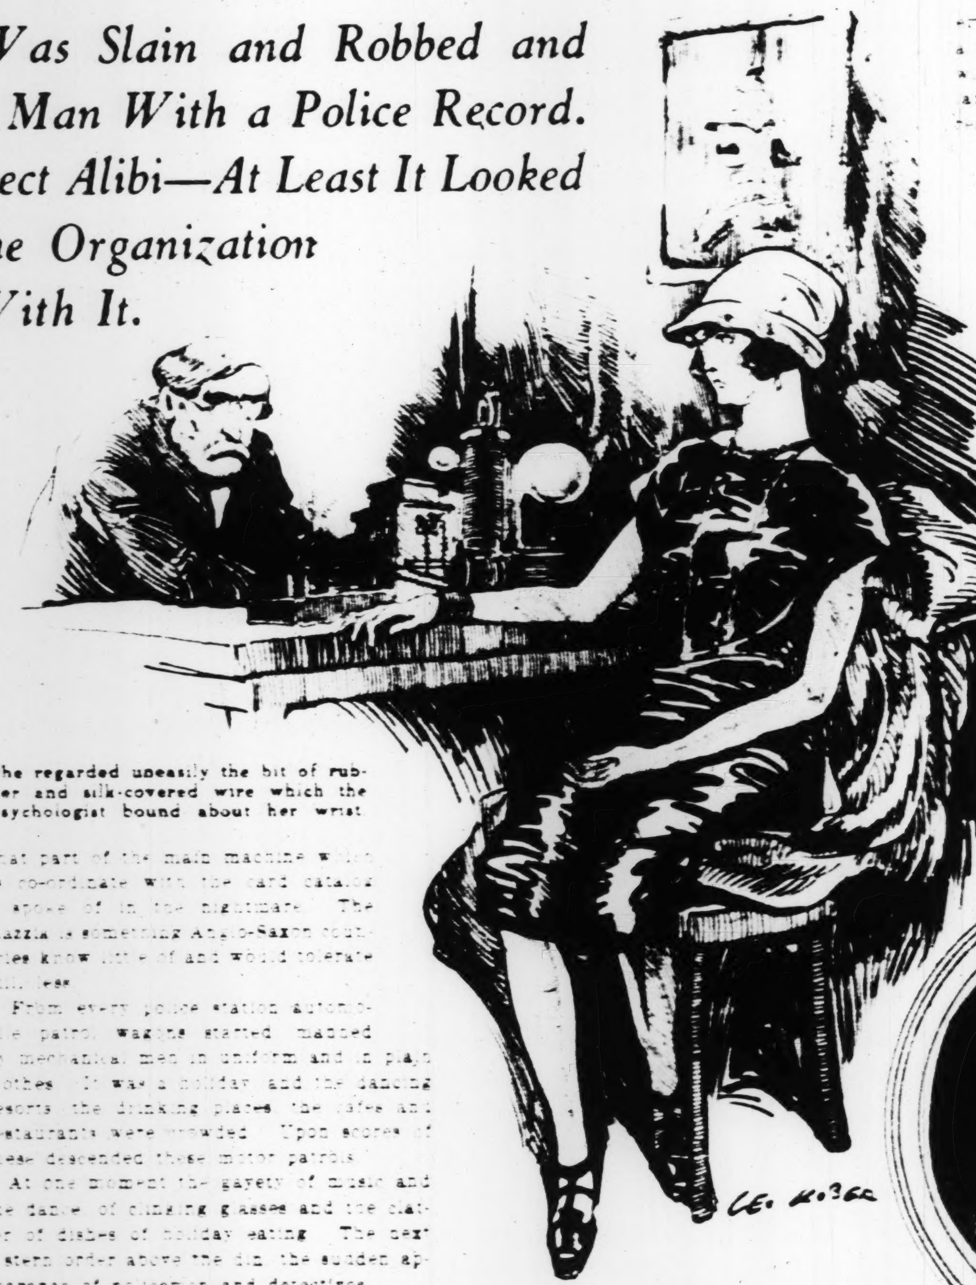
The Berlin Crime Machine Gets Its Man

Master Man Hunters—IV.

A Church Treasurer Was Slain and Robbed and the Trail Led to a Man With a Police Record. But He Had a Perfect Alibi—At Least It Looked Perfect Until the Organization Got Through With It.

The fourth of the World's Master Man Hunter series, which follows herewith, deals with the Berlin Police Department, which is distinguished by its Teutonic thoroughness. When a crime is committed in its jurisdiction the criminal is pursued not merely by men but by a machine—a machine so relentless and exhaustive that it rarely fails in its purpose.

Mr. Gollomb tells with fascinating detail the story of a typical case—that of Rudolph Stenghal, the church treasurer, who was found murdered in his bedroom.



She regarded uneasily the bit of rubber and silk-covered wire which the psychologist bound about her wrist.

By JOSEPH GOLLOMB

IF I were an habitual criminal, no matter how clever at deceiving detectives, I might some time dream the following nightmare: I would dream I am being hunted not by human beings but by a machine. This machine uses mechanical men whose very cut of beard and hair of the head, whose walk and talk is prescribed by military regulations, out of whom every bit of individuality has been drilled, who move not singly but as military squads, who individually do not know what they are doing, but who fit like cogs in a machine as delicate as clockwork, but with the force of a stone crusher.

The main part of the machine is a catalog. On millions upon millions of cards of that catalog is recorded a detailed history of every man, woman and child in the country to within half an hour of my nightmare.

Of such is the machine that hunts criminals in Berlin.

Let us study this machine at work on a case.

Rudolph Stenghal was treasurer of a fashionable church in Berlin. At a special evening service one Sunday night a considerable collection was taken up for the purpose of building an additional chapel. Stenghal, carrying a satchel containing this collection, which amounted to several thousand dollars, was accompanied to his home by a few of his friends and the "undersexton," a strong youth by the name of Philip.

At the door to his bachelor apartment home Stenghal's friends and Philip, having seen him and the funds safe, as they thought, bade him good night and went to their several homes.

Stenghal lived alone with only an old family man-servant, Otto, who slept at the other end of his roomy bachelor apartment. When Otto went to wake his master next morning, his knock at the bedroom door was not answered. The servant tried the door and found it locked.

Otto forced the door open and saw Stenghal on his bed in a welter of bloody bedclothes, his throat cut. The small, old-fashioned safe in which Stenghal kept his valuables was out in the middle of the floor, its steel door blown off, its contents gone.

OTTO ran to the telephone, blundered some time in getting the police and finally managed to make himself understood. Within five minutes of the time he got a few words across the telephone a squad of Berlin detectives under a Detective-Sergeant leaped into an automobile patrol and was rolling to the home of Rudolph Stenghal. These are the "mechanical men" of the Berlin machine. These men act according to regulation at all times. Even the cut of their hair and beard is prescribed.

The mechanical men arrived at the home of Stenghal, did the things detectives of other cities do under the circumstances, looked for fingerprints and other clews and made a careful study of how the criminals had forced their way into the house, killed Stenghal, and blew open the safe. Then the Sergeant of the squad stepped to the telephone and reported to headquarters the outstanding findings in a sort of code.

Mode of entry was described as "No. 17 AE." Mode of killing as "No. 23a, razor." Mode of blowing safe open as "No. 14bis, nitroglycerine." And so on.

There did not seem to be a detail of the crime that was not already cataloged at detective headquarters and known by number and symbol to Sergeants of squads of mechanical men.

Even as these details were coming in an operator at a switchboard in the huge headquarters building in the Alexanderplatz clicked out in Morse code a terse command to all police stations at once.

It set whirling the wheels of the Razzia, that part of the main machine which is co-ordinate with the card catalog I spoke of in the nightmare. The Razzia is something Anglo-Saxon countries know little of and would tolerate still less.

From every police station automobile patrol wagons started, manned by mechanical men in uniform and in plain clothes. It was a holiday, and the dancing resorts, the drinking places, the cafes and restaurants were crowded. Upon scores of these descended these motor patrols.

At one moment the gayety of music and the dance, of clinking glasses and the clatter of dishes of holiday eating. The next a stern order above the din, the sudden appearance of policemen and detectives.

But there is little or no panic, for German crowds are used to the Razzia, or wholesale searches without warrant.

Let us look on at the Razzia on that particular day as it worked at Luna Park, a dance resort for working folk.

At the very climax of a frenetic fox-trot arrived the Razzia. The dancers heard the bark of a command. The orchestra stopped. The dancers confusedly tried to find out what had happened. Then a Detective Sergeant, with hair of the head and the beard trimmed in accordance with military instructions, rasped out:

"Everybody line up for examination of papers!"

At several of the doors arose scuffles as some persons tried to slip out of the place but were caught and held.

THEN a line of those present filed past in orderly manner, each showing his or her police card. If the date and stamp showed that the bearer, like a good German citizen, had complied with regulations and reported to the police and supplied them with the latest information about himself or herself, that person was allowed to pass out of the place.

But at the end of an hour and a half, sixty-three persons were detained, then bundled into a line of waiting motor patrol wagons and hustled to the great, bleak structure on Alexanderplatz where is housed that main part of Berlin's man-hunting machine, the Meldwesen. The great majority of those brought along from Luna Park were in the toils because police cards were not up to date, or they had none at all.

But seven of the men and women held owed their detention to the fact that they fitted into "Categories 12AK and 7AK," as the instructions clicked out by the tickers in police stations read.

The Meldwesen is a card catalog. Every man, woman and child in Germany, native and foreigner, has a card—or should have—with the police of whatever city he or she happens to be in. If for some reason there is no such card and a Razzia scoops the unfortunate individual into its net, that individual is not likely to repeat the omission again.

Punishments ranging from a reprimand to fines and imprisonment for neglect to register await the suspect. For suspected such a person at once becomes. "If you have not registered," the police argue, "it means you have something to conceal. Now let's see what that something is."

And they put the individual's name into the maw of that machine of card catalogs. The Berlin Meldwesen covers only the City of Berlin. One would imagine a rather huge steel cabinet would house that catalog. Only in a dream or nightmare, however, could one see the proportions of that "cabinet" as it really is. When I saw it last a few months ago the cards for the letter T alone required twelve rooms to house them; the letter S twenty-one rooms.

Each one of these cards covers an individual who is or was in Berlin since the inception of the catalog. On that card is registered, say of Carl Schmidt, honest citizen, the following information: His first and family names, nicknames if any, father's, mother's, brothers' and sisters' names with the number of the card of each of these as found in the Meldwesen, date of Carl's birth, religion, pastor, what kindergarten, school and college he attended, various occupations he engaged in, with names of employers, his various changes of residence, names of business and other associates, name of wife, her parents, children, if any, nearest other kin, records of travel, cities, hotels stopped at, remarks of any other kind the police consider interesting in his case. Cross references to any of the names mentioned on his card with an exhaustive record for each will shed still more light on Carl Schmidt.

Downstairs in the basement sits Dr. Hans Schneikert, a scholarly looking little man, a Ph. D. and one of the world's greatest authorities on handwriting. He is not one of the mechanical men of the machine but is one of its engineers, one of the comparatively small number of men who direct the machine and who make up in initiative and brains, scholarship and breadth and depth of culture for the many mere figures they command. He has a machine of his own that works together with the Meldwesen.

It consists of a vast catalog of newspaper clippings so arranged that the moment a crime is brought to his notice he lays his hands on a folio of newspaper clippings from all over the country and elsewhere, all dealing with crimes similarly committed.

Into the big card catalog machine went the names of all those caught in the Razzia as well as the names of all persons having anything at all to do with the murdered Rudolph Stenghal.

Into the Meldwesen too went eight men who had been brought along in the Razzia because they fitted into "categories 12AK and 7AK." These two categories covered safe-blowing with nitroglycerine, as was done with the Stenghal safe, and also "church thefts." It was found, however, that in each case the men had perfect alibis and they were allowed to go free.

BUT in Dr. Schneikert's Kriminal-Archiv, which corresponds to the "Criminal Registry Office" of Scotland Yard, were found the cards and newspaper clippings of nine men who had blown up safes with nitro-glycerine after cutting the throats of those on guard. Of these six were executed, two were awaiting death and one was still a fugitive at liberty.

His card in the Meldwesen gave more than fifteen names of relations, associates and enemies. A close watch was instantly placed over everyone of these and instructions given to bring in three of them after observation for a certain time.

Meanwhile a special "Murder Commission" was organized at Police Headquarters to deal with the Stenghal case. It happens that a special commission is appointed for each murder. But usually there is a standing "commission" already at work specializing in one crime or another. There are 29 regular commissions.

On the Stenghal Murder Commission were included three members of the regular "Commission on Church Thefts," a police surgeon, a photographer, two members of the "Commission on Safe-Blowing Burglaries" and a psychologist.

The man who was found in Dr. Schneikert's Kriminal-Archiv to have previously cut a man's throat and then blown his safe open with nitroglycerine, and who was still at large, was known as Hans Kriftel. The already active hunt for him was redoubled.

The Stenghal Commission ordered brought before them Johann G. Kriftel, known to be an enemy of Hans. Johann G., the enemy, was questioned without much pressure, as it was known he would be glad to help capture Kriftel. He had not much to offer, however. He did tell the commission that he had a sweetheart with whom he was rumored to be hiding in Schoenberg, a Berlin district.

Police found Lena S., the sweetheart, but no Kriftel. She was brought to Police Headquarters, then questioned. She refused to help the police. She was ready to go to prison rather than betray Hans. Besides, she protested, "I really don't know where he is."

The psychologist of the Stenghal Commission then excused the other members of his group and addressed himself to Lena along a vastly different line.

"Listen, Lena," he said. "You may be willing to go to prison rather than send your sweetheart there. But here is something else I insist on your doing. I call off a word to you. Immediately on hearing it you must utter the first word that comes to your mind."

A Berlin policeman.

Lena puzzled over the ultimatum, but saw no danger in the experiment. If it was some sort of trap, she told herself, she would fool the man by calling off some word other than the one that first occurred to her.

WHAT she did not know was that she was being put through the now famous "word association test," a contribution which the science of psychology has made to police arsenals, and that the psychologist on the Stenghal Commission was one of the experts in that line of examination.

Before him was a split-second watch mounted on a device which also connected with wires to another device which registered the speed of the heartbeat. Lena regarded uneasily the bit of rubber and silk-covered wire which the psychologist bound about her wrist where her pulse beat. But not having much knowledge of modern science Lena put it down to a bit of flummery merely to impress her.

"Now ready!" called the psychologist. "Silk."

"Waist," called Lena promptly.

"Garden."

"Pretty," responded Lena. She saw no reason to guard against such innocent words and responded quickly with whatever word came to her mind first. In this way the psychologist got her average reaction time.

Then he called: "Hide." There sprang to her mind her hidden lover and she shut her lips tight. The next instant she realized that it was still better to think of a word that would throw the psychologist off the scent. It took her some seconds to think of a word farthest from her real thought. "City," she said finally.

The psychologist noted that it had taken her three times as long as the reaction time for the other words, noted too the sudden and rapid increase of her heartbeat as registered by the dial of his device, interpreted the workings of her mind and decided that if "city" was the word she finally gave, "country" was perhaps the one she hid from him.

Rapidly he went through a list of prepared words and got her reactions, noting down her words, time of reaction, heartbeat and expression of face.

"That will do now, Lena," he said. "I will add only this. If you want to give up your lover to us the surest way for you to do it will be to try to warn him."

He said this with much bluster and theatricality.

LENA in her much simpler way was doing some psychological analyzing herself. She had not meant to warn her lover, fearing exactly the thing this man was threatening. But his bluster now reassured her. If he had to threaten and assume a thundercloud expression it must mean that the police were really helpless before her and that it was not so very dangerous a business to warn her lover. She decided to chance it anyway.

Which was exactly what the psychologist had meant her to think.

Lena went home. She knew better than to go in person to warn her lover. But from a neighbor's home in the same house she cautiously telephoned to a certain house in a small village an hour from Berlin. She might just as well have gone straight to the hiding place of her lover. For the police had canvassed what telephones there were in the house and tapped the wires.

Even while Lena was talking over the telephone other wires were humming with activity. From a police station nearest her lover's hiding place there rolled an automobile patrol wagon with a squad of "mechanical men" under a Detective-Sergeant. A mile from a certain house the squad got out and scattered, but on foot converged on that house. At a signal six detectives burst into the cottage with revolvers drawn.

They found Lena's lover bandaged in bed, being tended by a country doctor.

"Come along!" the Detective Sergeant ordered.

Lena's lover, Hans Kriftel, looked up surlily.

"What have I done?" he muttered.

"You murdered Herr Rudolph Stenghal!" the Detective Sergeant told him. "Dress!"

Over Kriftel's face came a look of relief. "Doctor," he said to the physician, "when did you set my broken leg?"

"Two weeks ago today," the medical man said, alarmed at the whole proceeding.

"And how often have you tended me since then?" Kriftel went on.

"Twice every day."

"And could I have possibly gone to Berlin five days ago, broken into a house and murdered a man without your knowing of it?" Kriftel insisted.

"Ridiculous! You never stirred out of this house since your leg was broken."

THE police were astounded. And a thorough investigation of both the doctor and the case he was tending convinced the police that Kriftel had a perfect alibi.

It looked to the Detective Sergeant as though his superiors at Police Headquarters had psychologized themselves into a sort of blind alley. But he was only a Sergeant of a squad of mechanical men, taught to let his superiors do the thinking. He reported back to Berlin by telephone. His superiors did not seem to be downcast.

"Bring him in, broken leg and all," came the order. "And bring along the railroad station master. But don't use him as a prisoner."

Meanwhile headquarters had another bit of work for someone to do. In any other police system this would have been assigned almost to any detective. But it had just enough complexity about it to be a bit beyond a mechanical man. So one of the higher officials in the detective service had to do it.

For another part of the man-hunting machine had almost automatically produced a powerful link leading to the Stenghal murderers. Immediately after the first survey of the murder and robbery there had gone out a circular order to all members of the church where the contribution was taken up the night of the crime. This order instructed all contributors of money bills to the church collection to trace back as many bills as possible until the serial numbers were secured. In two days forty-two numbers of bills of middling-sized denominations were secured.

A paragraph giving these numbers was printed in the Deutsche Nachrichten, the daily newspapers issued by the Berlin police, whose circulation is strictly limited to police. This newspaper was also sent to neighboring cities and instructed all police to look for bills bearing the numbers printed in that paragraph and to report instantly by telephone when one of them had been traced.

AN HOUR before Kriftel was arrested a telephone message reached Berlin Police Headquarters. Five minutes later one of the highest detective officials was dressing up as a Bavarian sportsman, in knee-length "shorts," velvet jacket, little Alpine cap with the brush of a chamois in the band.

From the office he was whirled to the railroad station, where he took the train for Dresden, where he was met at the station by several other men attired as Bavarian sportsmen. The whole group then went to an old Bavarian inn on the bridge in the heart of the old city. For 10 hours at a stretch that group drank, ate and sang in that inn.

Then toward midnight a man came in quietly and sat down in a corner by himself. He was a huge deep-chested fellow with low forehead and deep-set little eyes which glittered with quiet but wolfish intensity. The "Bavarian" group gave him a chance to quaff several steins of Muenchener brew. Then one of them himself a giant, rose and walked unsteadily over to him, stein in hand.

"You're Fritz Stuben, my schoolmate!" he addressed the man. "Drink with me!"

The other shook his head. "I'm not."

"Oh, yes you are!" insisted the other. "If you say you're not, you're a churl! Isn't he, comrades?"

The quiet man did not answer. But his eyes warned the other. True to his role of drunken man, however, the other badgered "Stuben" until he growled:

"Away from here or I'll"—his hand gripped the handle of the heavy stein.

"Oh, so," the drunkard cried truculently, "So you will attack me, eh? Comrades!"

As if by magic several policemen appeared on the scene.

"I want this man arrested!" the drunkard roared, pointing at the big fellow, who had not spoken a word in all this tumult, but whose look of readiness as he stood there with his hands in his pockets put the "Bavarians" keenly on edge. At the word "arrested" his face went white and his arm twitched as if he were about to whip it out of his pocket and shoot.

Then a quick thought checked the movement. It came out later what that thought was. When a man is hunted for a major crime, hunted with the thoroughness of a German police hunt, confinement in jail for a minor offense in another city is not such a bad hiding place, this man decided.

"Oh, all right," he grumbled, his voice deep in his chest.

THEN, before he could resist, steel was snapped about his wrists and a rope whisked about his legs. It was only then that he noticed how changed was the expression on the supposedly drunk "Bavariana." Whereat the prisoner's powerful body leaped convulsively, broke from his captor's hands, threshed about on the floor, put up a terrific struggle. But it was too late.

He was trussed up, thrown into a patrol wagon, taken to the railroad station and thence by train to Berlin. Arrived at police headquarters he was faced by the station master at the village where Kriftel was captured.

"Did you see this man visit your town?" the station master was asked. The latter nodded.

The prisoner was then faced by Philip, the young "under-sexton" of the church of which the murdered man was treasurer.

"Was this the man who made your acquaintance in the Kaiserhof Cafe and was so interested in everything concerning your church?"

Philip shamefacedly identified the stranger who had so completely pumped him and obtained from him the information that a collection would be taken on a certain night.

Then the prisoner was taken down into the basement of the great police headquarters building. Here the guards were dismissed and only three chiefs and one towering brute of a detective were left with the prisoner. The sullen captive waited impassively for whatever was forthcoming.

The door from the corridor was opened and two men rolled in an invalid's chair, with Kriftel nursing his still unmended leg. Four pairs of eyes eagerly regarded the look that should pass between the two prisoners the moment they saw each other. But they had two hardened criminals to deal with, with their necks in danger of the noose. Not the slightest flicker of a look appeared on the face of either.

"Come, come, which of you will speak first and perhaps save his neck thereby?" snapped one of the chiefs.

Not a word.

Whereupon one of the detective chiefs drew a deep breath.

"All right, then, we shall make you speak."

THE "third degree" is an institution not unknown to some degree with any police. But with the German police it reaches a systematic, relentless, ruthless, irresistible power unequaled anywhere else.

Scarcely anything of the technique of "sweating" ever leaks out of that basement room in the Berlin Police Headquarters. But the results become public in the confessions that save the Berlin courts so much trouble at the trials of the most stubborn prisoners.

In the Stenghal case, 40 hours after the detective chief said to his two prisoners:

"Then we shall make you speak," Kriftel spoke. He told of breaking his leg in the dark of his cellar, of the thought that came to him how a broken leg would be a perfect alibi if he could get somebody else to execute a robbery he would plan.

He told of writing to his former partner in burglary, Colemacher, to come to him; of the details they had worked out together for robbing Stenghal; how Colemacher had broken into the house through a skylight while Otto and Stenghal were at church; how Colemacher had told him later of the struggle Stenghal had put up; how he had slit Stenghal's throat to keep him from arousing anyone.

As the older criminal, shaken by 40 hours of unremitting pressure, spoke, the other regarded him with only a red-eyed stare. Then he, too, spoke:

"Since you have sent me to the gallows I'll take you along for company!"

He made his threat good by involving Kriftel in another murder.

But the real agency that brought these two men to their end was not human. At least it was as little human as a machine can be, born of the German genius for machinery and operated by mechanical men of whom little more is demanded than to move like perfect cogs.

ROMANS REAPPEAR IN Modern Americans

Chancellor Hadley of Washington University Sees Parallels Between Certain Aspects of Ancient and Contemporary Civilization That Extend Even to the Physical Appearance of Public Men in the Two Periods.

Chancellor Herbert S. Hadley.

Judge W. C. Hook and a bust of Julius Caesar.

By M. W. CHILDS

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

FIVE years ago Herbert S. Hadley, Chancellor of Washington University and former Governor of Missouri, published an historical study, "Rome and the World Today." Like many another historian before him Chancellor Hadley found striking parallels between the civilization of Rome and that of the present age.

Not only did he find similarities in the manner and methods of government but he discovered, as well, similarities between the faces of the leaders of the Roman era and those of the present age, Roman noses and lofty foreheads on Federal Judges and Congressmen.

For five years, bearing these similarities in mind, he has observed the trend of politics and the tendencies of modern education as well as the life on the campus about him. Now Chancellor Hadley has come to a new conclusion.

The statesmen of the present day, he believes, are of different caliber. They resemble neither the leaders of Rome nor those of the last political generation in America. It is on the university campus that Chancellor Hadley now professes to see some traces of the greatness that was Rome. It is from the younger generation that he expects an era of statesmanship that may rival the past, statesmanship that will combine modern scientific knowledge with the skill of the old statecraft.

Chancellor Hadley places the scientist in the front rank of the world today. Men of talent, genius even, have not sought out the public forum but the laboratory.

"I found," he said, in the course of an interview in which he summed up the results of five years of reflection, "when comparing the two civilizations—Rome and the world today—a marked resemblance between men in public life in our age and those who laid the foundations of Roman civilization. This similarity was so marked that it was often possible to draw individual comparisons.

"There was, for example, U. S. Circuit Judge William C. Hook. Judge Hook might have posed for a bust of Julius Caesar, so striking was the resemblance.

"STILL another example is Elihu Root and the statue of Augustus, the first Emperor, in his robes of a Senator. This is marked. Yet another example is John Kennish, who was a State Supreme Court Judge in Missouri in 1911-1912 and Pompey the Great, general and statesman.

"Close study of Roman coins and busts in comparison with photographs would reveal, I believe, that the list of individuals might be greatly increased. I have known many bankers and heads of great financial institutions who bore marked resemblance to the powerful and wise Agrippa.

"The distinguishing characteristics of all these faces were a good forehead, high and straight, receding only slightly, a long, well-proportioned nose, a sensitive mouth and a rather thin face. The faces of the leaders of both ages were distinctly intellectual.

"The ancient Romans resulted from the same process of blending as did the English and the Americans of today. Strength of mind was the predominant characteristic. It is also true that if we could remove steam and electricity, the physical conditions of the present age would be very much the same as those of the Roman era.

"Nor is it as far fetched as it first seems to compare the careers of the statesmen of the two periods. The careers of Augustus, of Julius Caesar and of Pompey were more spectacular than those of the statesmen of the past generation, but in reality they achieved no more solid and lasting benefits for civilization than did, for example, Elihu Root.

"Not as a general in the field, welding together an empire, nor as a dictator with almost imperial power did Root work out his destiny. His contributions to civilization were made through the processes of the laws of a democracy and it is well known that democracy does not entrust great power to individual leaders.

"Leaders in a democracy must work out their careers through the medium of the popular will. The democracy of the present day does not make the full use of its leaders that it might. There is the spectacle of a Roosevelt dying of a broken heart because he could not achieve what he held to be for the highest good.

"IN THIS we may see a reason for the decline of present day statesmanship. The history of the first 50, 75, even 100 years of the United States is the history of an aristocratic republic. Just as the Roman leaders, during the Republic, generals, statesmen and senators, were chosen from the aristocratic families of Rome so were the statesmen of the last generation chosen from the oldest and most distinguished families. These old families were rooted in a strong and noble concept of government. When they took office, they held definite ideals of government which they maintained unswervingly, regardless of popular clamour.

"The same situation does not exist today. We see the working of a representative democracy in which the leaders are attuned to hear the slightest expression of the slightest whim of the voters on whom they are dependent for office. There can be little real doubt that the quality of statesmen in the present day has declined. It sometimes seems to me that we have government by denunciation.

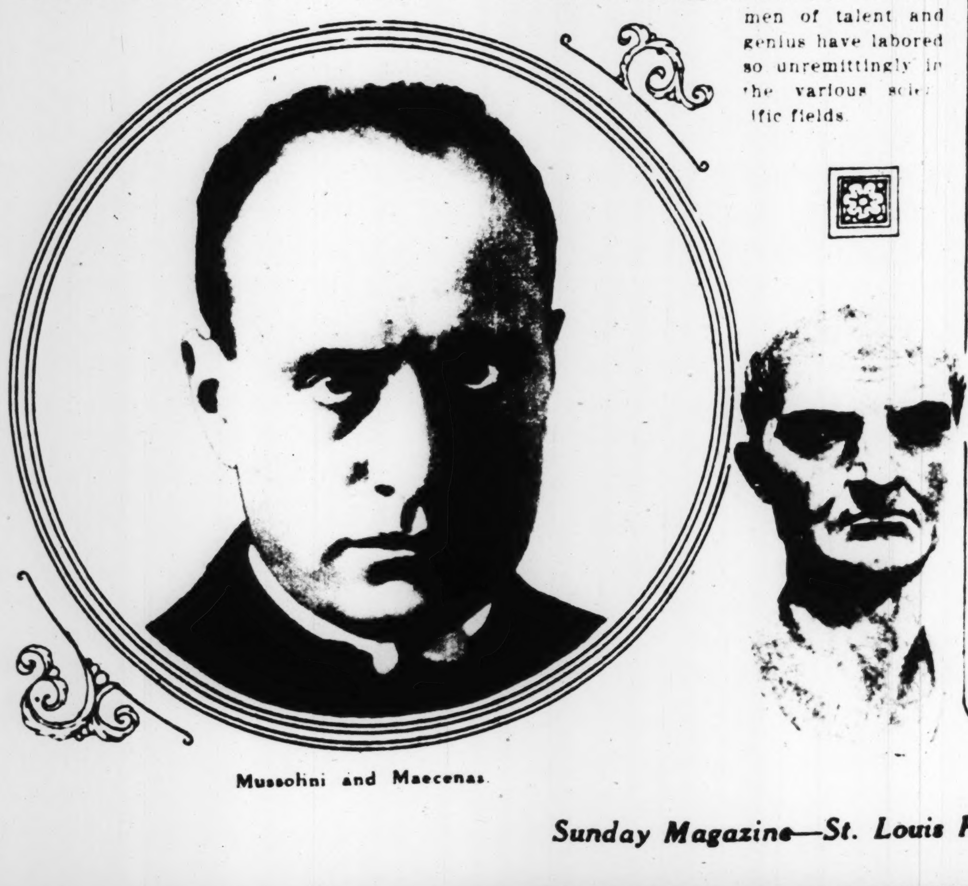
"The leaders of the present day would seem to me to be the scientists. Roman civilization advanced so far, established a system of law, courts, governmental institutions, an empire, but there could be no assurance of the permanency of these institutions. We seem to have reached the same stage.

"In the past two decades the men of greatest talent and ability have not gone into public life. They have sought, instead, careers in science or in business. There have been innumerable contributions to science, while statecraft has lagged.

"There was no statesman large enough to seize the opportunity that existed in this country after the war. There was a chance to lead the nations of the world away from war, away from the old tribal methods of settling disputes, toward a new concept of arbitration.

"Despite the many just criticisms that have been leveled against his methods, Mussolini seems to me one of the few statesmen of power and ability in modern life. His methods have seemed oppressive, but it is often necessary to use rigorous measures in restoring order and preserving a complex social system. Just so, many of the methods of Augustus seemed at first to be oppressive. In this connection it is interesting to note the resemblance between Mussolini and photographs of the bust of Maecenas.

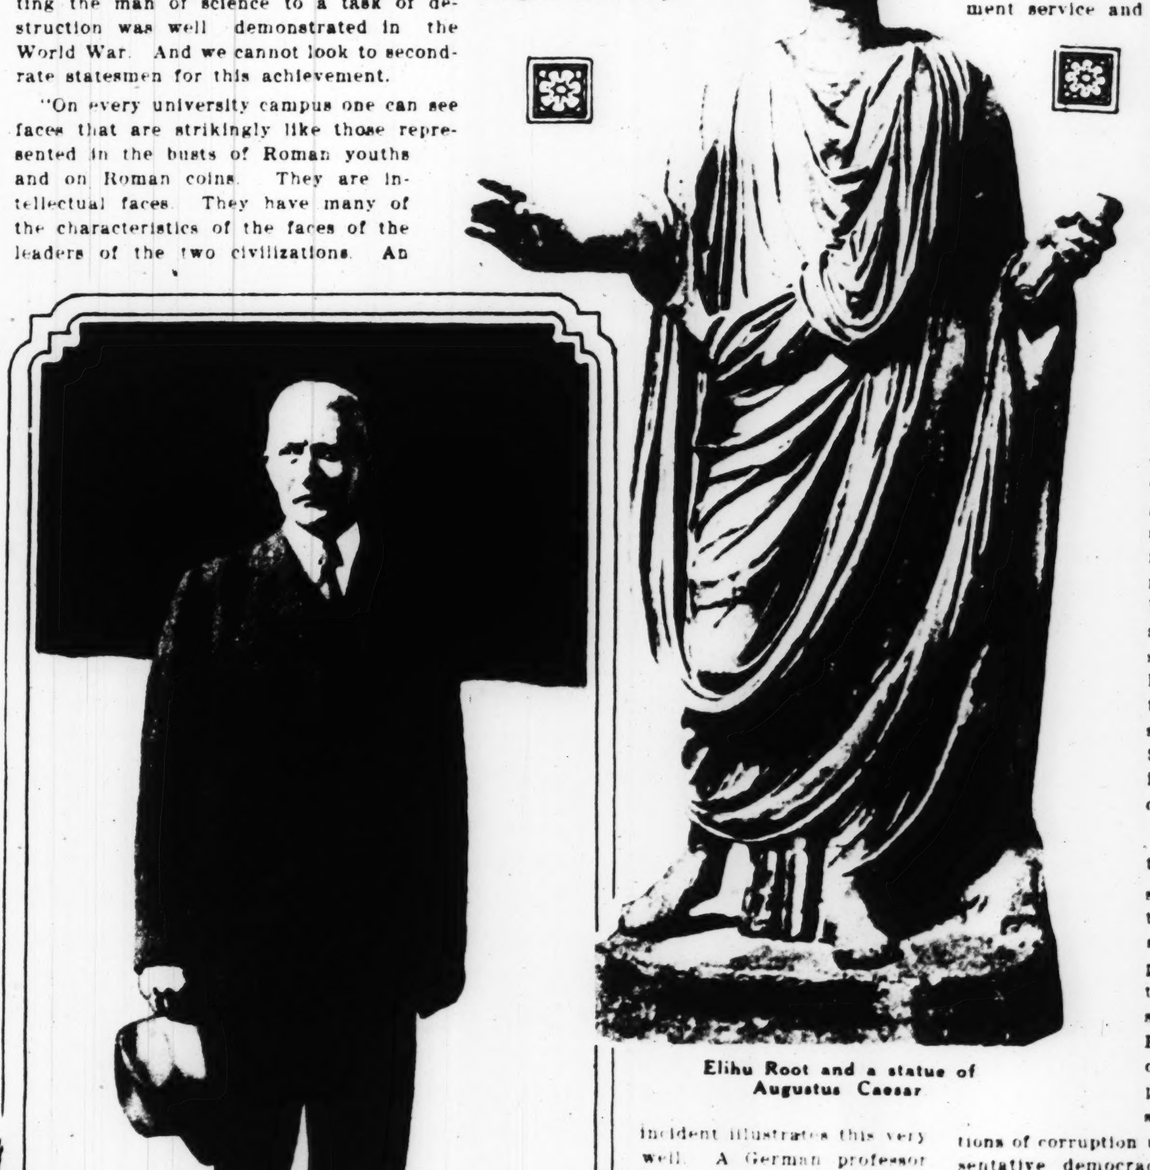
"PARTLY because Roman statecraft declined, Rome and the Empire dwindled away. But the Roman world had no scientists to ward off disease and famine. Perhaps it is as well that our men of talent and genius have labored so unremittingly in the various scientific fields.



Mussolini and Maecenas

"But it is to the statesmen that we must look for a solution of the problem of war. The statesmen must turn the energies and passions of men into channels that are creative and not destructive. The havoc of setting the man of science to a task of destruction was well demonstrated in the World War. And we cannot look to second-rate statesmen for this achievement.

"On every university campus one can see faces that are strikingly like those represented in the busts of Roman youths and on Roman coins. They are intellectual faces. They have many of the characteristics of the faces of the leaders of the two civilizations. An incident illustrates this very well. A German professor at the University of Colorado, where I was once professor of law, noted, in passing a bookshop, a photograph of the bust of a young boy. He thought it was a picture of a bust of my older son, and stepped in to inquire. He found it to be a picture of the bust of the young Augustus.



Elihu Root and a statue of Augustus Caesar

"It is to this new type of thoughtful, serious young man and young woman, too, for certain of our college girls bear no slight resemblance to the representations which we have of the noblest Roman women—that I look for a solution of the problems of statecraft that vex the present day world. Many of these young men and young women are electing to study the modern science of statesmanship.

"Moreover, universities throughout the nation are coming to regard the science of government as of the highest importance. For example, at Washington University we have five full professors in the social sciences. Each professor takes a section of the freshman class, and thus every freshman receives a year's instruction in history, economics and the science of government.

"A new attitude in this respect is also found among an increasing number of students. One direct testimony to this is the audiences we have had for three debates on governmental questions that have been held this year. It was necessary to hold one of these debates in the field house so great was the interest.

"A SIGNIFICANT development in the direction of this tendency is the Robert Brookings Graduate School of Economics and Government in Washington. This school was established with two purposes in mind, training men for government service and equipping them to teach the science of government to others. Fifty to sixty students who already have their Master's degree are admitted. They spend from two to three years in study at this school. Many of them go directly into Government departments in Washington when they secure their Doctor of Philosophy degree. Others return to their homes to play important parts in local government.

"The changed attitude—scientific knowledge enlisted in the service of government—can be seen in many Government departments already. Under Root and Roosevelt the consular service was put on a civil service basis. The results have fully justified expectations. I have in mind several young men from St. Louis who are making rapid strides in the consular service.

"Consequently, although it sometimes seems that we are merely training a number of skilled athletes to take part in great athletic contests, I believe there is some cause for optimism. Beneath the superficial cynicism that so often prevails today as the result of sensational revelations of corruption under our system of representative democracy, great work for the future of statecraft is going quietly forward.

"Perhaps we have some slight reason to hope for as great progress in statesmanship from this rising generation as the present generation of scientific men have given us in every field of science. An Augustus, or a Maecenas, or an Agrippa, with the scientific knowledge of the modern professor of sociology and government would be of inestimable value. Without the waste and destruction of disastrous wars and aside from the claims of personal ambition, such a man, or men, would be able to stabilize our civilization as no other civilization has ever been stabilized."

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

AS all readers of newspapers in the United States know, Williamson County, Illinois, has for the last four years been the scene of a minor war, between the members of the Ku Klux Klan and their allies on the one hand, on the other the sheriff, his deputies and such of the citizens as came to his aid, occasionally supplemented by the State militia. In the last five years, 41 people have met violent deaths in this war, besides 11 killed in subsequent gang feuds. The wounded were few in number, due largely to the excellent marksmanship displayed on both sides. Detachments of State troops have been sent to the county nine times, and have stayed as long as six weeks.

Because of this, the county has acquired an evil reputation, and has been falsely understood by the country at large. It is one of the richest counties in the rich State of Illinois. Its population is largely of American Colonial stock. The admixture of later immigrants was only 8 [illegible] per cent of the total in 1920, and is smaller now. The county's dark history since the Civil War puzzles even its closest students. The ordinary processes of law fell into disrepute, the sheriff's work was narrowed to almost nothing and the people reverted to the primitive rules of defense known in the days when Illinois was the far frontier. Machine guns were brought in and the county went on a war footing.

Sheriff Galligan has written for publication in a book his version of the troubles of the last four years. From the manuscript of that book the following chapters have been taken.

AN INTRODUCTION TO GEORGE GALLIGAN

By JACK WILKINSON

IN the year 1922 George Galligan, a Republican, was elected Sheriff of Williamson Coun by the largest majority ever given to any candidate for that office." At the time of h election Galligan was a mine official and, prior to his acting in official capacity, had d the ordinary manual work of a coal miner for many years. His career as a coal mi interspersed with short periods of service as deputy sheriff, also as a city policeman of Galligan was a member of more than one fraternal order, an avowed believer in trade and generally considered to be intelligent, conservative in action, and affable in manne

At the time of his election there was an outstanding element of controversy as to th and demerits of the massacre arising out of the now famous Lester Strip Mine troubl gave to Williamson the name of "Bloody." There was an acute division of opinion matter in the whole of Williamson County and, while many of the more prominent were partial to the cause of trade unionism, yet they had a burning desire to escutcheon of Williamson County. On the other hand, the more radical element union miners felt that the strip mine tragedy was somewhat of a blessing to their It was due to this tide of opinion and desire that Galligan rode into office with h whelming majority, but subsequent events proved that the division of opinion as to the and demerits of the Lester Strip Mine trouble became more intensified as time went division of opinion became more marked. Ultimately coupling itself with the "Wet and issue, these two elements of controversy soon became fertile soil for the organ the Ku Klux Klan, which organization quickly widened the breach between the already tions in Williamson County. George Galligan was the choice of the majority to Sheriff in the hope that he would ameliorate this situation.

Galligan was born in the mining town of Scranton, Kansas, in the year 1887. His f a coal miner, died a year later, leaving a widow and four children to eke out their existence. George went to an elementary school until he reached the age of 11 y which age he went to work in the coal mines of Scranton. He continued to work mines at his birthplace until he reached the age of 16 years, at which time his mother he, with the other members of their family, moved to Williamson County, Illinois. Ga again resumed his occupation in the mines at Herrin—he followed this occupation unt was elected Sheriff in 1922.

Galligan is a Protestant in faith, a Mason, an Elk, and a member of the Knights Pythias—always an ardent fraternal worker.

After having received such an endorsement to act as the chief officer of the law in county, it was only natural for him to presume that he would receive the co-operation the citizens of Williamson County in the discharge of the duties of his office. As to h he received such co-operation is left for the conception of the readers. Galligan acted Sheriff of Williamson County against the desire and opposition of the Ku Klux Klan. T klan openly organized in Williamson County immediately after he took the oath of off

Governor Len Small of Illinois, who, to say the least, never co-operated with Galli called George to a conference in the City of Springfield, on February 5, 1925. Th participating in the conference were Governor Len Small, Attorney-General Oscar Carlstr Adjutant-General Carlos Black, klan members of the Williamson County Board of Supe visors, George Galligan, and Galligan's one lone friend in the conference—City Judge R. Fowler of Marion.

The conference was called at the request of the klan members of the Williamson Count Board of Supervisors, Galligan being accused as being the firebrand of the trouble in the county. The klansmen wanted George to resign on full pay. After much discussion, and in order to prove that there was no truth in the allegations, Galligan entered into an agr ment with all parties present to leave the county for a vacation on full pay.

In the absence of any charge in an open court of law, Galligan, by agreement, exil himself in the earnest but vain hope that peace, tranquillity and prosperity would return to h home county, heralded the world over as "Bloody Williamson."

Galligan kept the faith as to his agreement, the klan violated theirs, the old of terror still prevailed, lives were lost, homes dynamited. After a 90-day vacation and abatement of crime in Williamson County, Galligan went to Springfield. There he infor the Governor that he was going to return to Williamson County and resume his duties Sheriff. Governor Small immediately put out a statement to the effect that he had his hands of George Galligan.

high in heat units and there are exceptionally good railroad facilities for transporting it to industrial sections. Williamson County has good schools and fine churches of virtually every denomination. In it fraternal orders are strong and have built many fine lodge buildings. Everybody who visits the district is surprised to find that, just like other communities, it has fine residences and churches, up-to-date hotels and schools, and busy business sections.

This, I know, does not fit the idea of the outside world, which seems to have an illusion that the town of Herrin is typical of the Wild West mining camp—a collection of wooden hovels and unpaved streets, a dirty, drunken, disheveled populace, who have rats and rattlesnakes as pets, and who drink carbolic acid for a beverage, a veritable incubator for murderers and gangsters, the dirtiest sink of iniquity in the United States. While I am visualized as an unprincipled, murderous Sheriff, supported by a gang of cutthroats, who would have caused Captain Kidd to appear as a model Sunday school teacher and who had Nero as their patron saint.

Williamson County has been a recipient of much adverse publicity, and not without reason. The Williamson County that I have portrayed was the county of the early part of 1922. It is true our beautiful buildings and residences still stand, that we still have our abundant resources. But, in the words of Poe, it is "The glory that was Greece." In the language employed by Lothrop Stoddard in his "The Rising Tide of Color": "If America is not true to her own soul, she will inevitably lose it and the brightest star that has appeared since Hellas will fall like a meteor from the human sky, its brilliant radiance fading into night."

MY SUCCESSOR, Mr. Oren Coleman, a university graduate and an admitted student of economics, said in effect and with truth that our real estate values had dropped 50 per cent as a result of internal strife; that insurance companies were considering withdrawing from our county; that outside people did not want to purchase our farm land or invest in our industries, and that we had to put ourselves right with the outside world to regain its confidence. I have myself preached this doctrine, notably in this story, much of which was written some nine months prior to Mr. Coleman's election. However correct he and I may be in this estimate, the fact remains that there can be no effect without a cause. My successor and I may differ as to the cause that produced the moral, social, and economic effects to be seen in Williamson County, and particularly in Herrin.

What was that cause?

Herrin, the largest and most prosperous town in our county, with beautiful churches, schools, residences and fraternal buildings was, prior to 1922, a happy, joyous, neighborly community, free from strife, prosperous, filled with ambition, its stores the winners of national prizes for window dressing, a splendid example of unity and co-operation. Today Herrin is a community of broken hearts and divided families, of divisions in church and fraternal membership. Its property values are depreciated. It is enveloped with debt, and each of us, its citizens, view our former lifelong friends with suspicion and an ever-ready trigger finger.

These conditions I lay chiefly to the operation of the Ku Klux Klan, which stole quietly into Williamson County about four years ago, and found there a fallow field for the planting of its iniquitous doctrines. In the hullabaloo caused by the Strip Mine riot only a few were aware of its arrival. A few months later it had developed the velocity of a hurricane and the madness of a maniac. By the early summer of 1923 no man's life, no man's business, no man's job was safe unless he belonged to the Invisible Empire.

S. GLENN YOUNG, returning with the organization of the klan and accompanied by a gang of thugs from other communities, soon lashed the community into a fury. Social moorings which had withstood the strain of the World War suddenly snapped. In a short time Williamson County was a field of chaos, lighted only by the glare of the fiery cross. Preachers seem to have mistaken the fiery cross for "The Cross of Him Who died on the crest of a Syrian hill for the salvation of the race." Yes, the wounds are still fresh, the sores are still open; not until a new generation matures in Williamson County will we fully recover from this orgy of hate. It will take a decade to repair the moral and economic damage inflicted alone by the klan policy of deception and brutality, a fact that is indelibly impressed on all who knew the Williamson County of 1921 and who followed her bloody trail until now.

Even the gang wars that followed the rule of the klan are but an echo of the klan warfare. S. Glenn Young brought the first machine gun into Williamson County and offered the armed resistance of the mob against the duly elected authorities of law and order. Later in my story I shall tell of the fate of most of the men of his bodyguard, the nucleus of the force which professed to be working only for law and order. I shall tell how ultimately they came into the toils of the law for such crimes as robbery with a gun, rape and murder.

RETURNING to the narration of my own career, I found when I took office that there was enough work on hand to keep busy many more men than I had at my disposal. The Circuit Court docket was very crowded, criminal and civil cases, for which my deputies had to serve all the legal processes. There was much disorder in the county, which required the attention of peace officers. The mine riot trials were beginning and for them I had to furnish a courtroom bailiff and at least one deputy to keep the juries in charge. In addition to this, there were scores of witnesses to be summoned from all parts of the county. Besides that, I had to have a man in charge of the jail at Marion, which was then quite crowded, as it was during all of my administration.

To perform all these duties I had a force which consisted of one office deputy and two field deputies, at a salary of $150 each a month. Out of my own salary, only $2400 a year, I had to pay a turnkey from my own funds. With this short force available, I found myself daily acting as courtroom bailiff during the mine riot trial, a duty which is performed normally by a deputy regularly assigned to that task. It is not to be wondered at, then, that we had very little time to perform the police duties attaching to the Sheriff's office.

In spite of that fact, I found time during the early months of my office—before the klan trouble broke out—to make frequent liquor raids and, during the first three months of that time, I seized 76 stills.

I managed also to participate in the solution of a $22,000 mail robbery, in which I was able to show, I think, that my men and I could perform police duty in an efficient manner when we were allowed to do so. The time to which I refer was the holdup of a mail shipment carrying the payroll of a mine at Pittsburg, Illinois. Immediately after the robbery my deputy, Hezzie Byrn, and I got to work on the case in co-operation with Postoffice Inspectors. We worked for three days and nights without even taking off our shoes to rest and we recovered $19,800 of the loot. We captured the three bandits alive and all of them had begun serving their terms in Leavenworth Penitentiary within eleven days after the hold-up.

That was in the crowded days of the mine riot trials. I often wonder how my little force and I stood up under the strain, doing our office and courtroom work by day and working in the slushy winter weather by night capturing stills and liquor and bringing in the bootleggers while the good folks snored in their warm beds.

Even then, however, it was a physical impossibility for me and my small force to clean up the county or to stop 1 per cent of the bootlegging, gambling and other lawlessness there. It was in the continuation of the lawless conditions in the county, however, that the klan professed to find a reason for its opposition to me. Whether it was just to expect me to perform extensive police duty under the conditions I have set forth I shall leave to my readers to judge.

The Ku Klux Klan, I have since learned, was organized in Williamson County a short time after the mine riots and I have been told on reliable authority that its chief purpose was to work in a secret manner toward the conviction of the men charged with the mine massacre murders. This attitude of the klan growing out of an antagonism to organized labor was partially confirmed later as far as I was concerned by the fact that it hired S. Glenn Young, a strikebreaker and opponent of organized labor, as its instrument for raiding bootlegging joints in Williamson County.

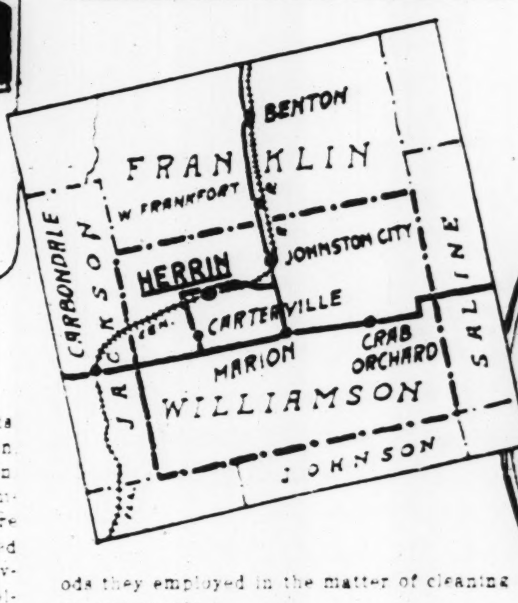
Where Caesar Cagle was killed, on Cherry street, in Herrin.



AFTER I went into office the Protestant ministers of the county became almost a unit in fostering the organization of the Ku Klux Klan. From the time that I took office the ministers had shown a radical antagonism toward me, seemingly being unwilling to admit that any act of mine was good. This antagonism had previously shown itself in the election, where I was fought tooth and nail by the ministers, who knew that I was a wet and not in sympathy with prohibition.

The most radical of these ministers was the Rev. P. R. Glotfelty, pastor of the Methodist Church at Herrin, who began to use me and my acts as the subject of his sermons. Glotfelty is an extremist in his views on prohibition. Consequently, he was exactly opposed to me from that viewpoint. On one occasion, at the height of the liquor raids by Glenn Young and his followers, he stood in the pulpit of his church and in his evening sermon declared that Williamson County must be cleaned up of the liquor traffic even though the streets ran with blood. At this time he stated that Father Senese had declared his intentions of building a new Catholic church. Glotfelty stated that all of the principal members of Father Senese's congregation were bootleggers and that Glenn Young would have them all in jail before even the foundation of the Catholic church was laid. However, as my readers well know, since that statement was made Glenn Young is dead. Father Senese has built his new church, which, by the way, is one of the most beautiful structures in Southern Illinois. The Rev. Glotfelty is made mention of in connection with other matters in the later part of my story and I will not now dwell further on this militant character.

Other Protestant ministers, who were loud in their denunciation of me and my acts were Revs. Storey, Lee and Green of Herrin and the Revs. Carlton and Laird of Marion, besides one or two others in smaller communities. All of these mentioned were strongly in favor of prohibition and fostered klan activities as a medium of cleanup, giving their support to Young and his followers and portraying Young to be a modern Moses.

AS TO the original personnel of the Williamson County klan, it comprised a number of prominent citizens and business men who had proclaimed themselves to be in favor of fixing responsibility for the horrible atrocities of the Lester Strip Mine riot and in favor of law enforcement, particularly that of the prohibition law. I believe that these persons were high in motive and honest in their intentions, but it was a remarkable surprise to me how they would rally to the aid of Glenn Young whenever he got in the toils of the law. Jake Pfeffer, a merchant in Marion and a Jew, was one of Young's bondsmen. While I do not admit the soundness of klan reasoning or the legality of the methods employed by them to enforce law, yet I am willing to admit that the rallying together of these men gave a tone of respectability and honest intention to the klan organization.

The trouble of it all was that the klan kleagle was out for membership and the succulent initiation fees, and he soon embroiled the klan membership with a predominance of the radical and riffraff element, with the result that the good people who had joined the klan deserted its ranks in large numbers. By their so doing they left a dangerous organization without a balance or restraining guidance.

After the failure of the courts to convict any of the union miners for the murders in the Lester Strip Mine trouble, and this despite all klan efforts to secure such convictions, the klan then turned its activities and undivided attention to the matter of a liquor cleanup. Their actions in this matter soon revealed a lack of scruple in the methods they employed in the matter of cleaning up our county.

Despite the secession of many of the more prominent business men, the klan quickly increased in number and sympathizers and to such an extent that they gained political control. They were successful in electing almost the entire Board of Supervisors, with Exalted Cyclops Sam Stearns as its chairman, George Bell, a klansman, as Coroner, and Arlie O. Boswell, a klansman, as State's Attorney. In fact, they captured all of the major offices in our county, with the exception of the office of Sheriff, which I already held. This was my first apprisal of the seriousness of the political program on the part of the klan. They also elected another klansman, Wallace A. Bandy, as a member of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature.

After Bandy's election he came to me and told me that in the event I desired to again run for office of any kind in the county it would be better for me to join the klan, line up and be a regular fellow with them and then my election to any future office would be assured. I told Bandy that he could go to hell, that if my future political career was dependent upon my alignment with the klan, then my political demise was inevitable.

THE primary objects of the klan were first publicly exposed in a law-enforcement meeting promoted by klan kleagles and held on January 18, 1923. This was the first real outward evidence of the birth of the klan in our midst. Its growth to a state of maturity was quickly fostered by the desire of some of our citizens to convict union miners in the matter of the Lester Strip Mine murders. In this connection the klansmen made evident their desire for the control of jury men so as to make certain such convictions. The after growth of the organization progressed with surp rapidity, and on May 26 they held first public initiation in the cowpast Exalted Cyclops Sam Stearns, at whi tiation the klan added considerable stre to their numbers.

A person does not have to draw on imagination or presumption to conjecture as to the temperament that afterwards prevailed in the ranks of the klan, and it was only a natural sequence that retaliation would ensue.

prompting the County Board of Supervisors met on September 14, summoned me to appear before them, and demanded that I conduct a county-wide cleanup.

I then stated to them that I would act on any information filed through the proper channels and with proper process; that I would go with any of the members of the board to any place in the county where liquor was sold; that prior to our going to such places they could procure the warrants, withhold from me all knowledge as to the location of such places until it was decided by them we should make the raids, and that they should hold the warrants until such time as we actually jointly started on such raids.

PERMIT me now to introduce formally S. Glenn Young, a former prohibition agent, then a strikebreaker, now the leader of the cleanup campaign of the Ku Klux Klan in Williamson County. Bitter as I may be, in my memories and comments as to the character and actions of Young, I must give credit to him for his genius in the matter of organization.

Despite all of his brutalness, he was a shrewd student of the psychology that appealed to the baser intuitions of his followers. A clever actor, with a maintained self-control, he soon surrounded himself with a personal bodyguard, drilled them in approved military fashion, taught them how to be quick on the draw and couple this action with the look of determination on their countenances.

Young formerly had been a Federal prohibition agent, but was ultimately dismissed from the Internal Revenue Bureau service on December 10, 1920. His dismissal from this service followed his shooting and killing a man named Luke Vokovich at Madison, Illinois, on November 6, 1920, at which time he had accompanied a peace officer to make a raid on the premises occupied by Vokovich.

Young acted as a strikebreaker on the Illinois Central Railroad system during a shopmen's strike at New Orleans. He had had previous experience in this line of employment. Young was discharged at the order of the chief special agent of the Illinois Central Railroad because he was deemed an unfit character even to act as a strikebreaker and guard of nonunion men. Prior to Young's coming to Williamson County, at the behest of the klan, his career had been adventurous and spectacular.

But can anyone conceive of a strikebreaker being a peacemaker in a well-organized union community?

Young must have been a frequent subject of reincarnation, as he testified in open court on different occasions that he was born in the states of South Carolina, Kansas and Kentucky.

The new organization of the klan, with Young, a deputy constable, as its leader, soon got down to business. On December 22, 1923, the first big liquor raids took place, resulting in 187 arrests. These raids were a foretaste of atrocities which grew as the klan increased in power and which atrocities afterwards caused many sincere members of the klan to leave the order. Young soon became master of Herrin and Bloody Williamson, openly displaying his guns in strutting the streets with his organized bodyguards.

ONE of Young's chief lieutenants in Herrin was a klan Constable named Caesar Cagle, who was responsible for the death of the only Catholic killed in Williamson County during the klan trouble. Cagle had accused this man, Frank Zigmont, of manufacturing and selling liquor. He tried to exact a monthly tribute from Zigmont. When this man refused to pay the tribute, a raiding party of klansmen, led by Cagle, went to Zigmont's house and shot him in the back.

He died instantly from a volley of shots and Caesar Cagle and four other klansmen were afterwards indicted for this dastardly tragedy.

Young was a professional agitator. He had to make some pretense and even a showing of activity as to a cleanup, but if the liquor traffic was entirely eliminated then Young's presence in Williamson County was no longer necessary.

January 8, 1924, saw the first visit of troops to Williamson County. This visit was a culmination of the klan's lawless regime and was brought about by reason of Young committing a brutal assault on Paul Corder, a merchant at Marion.

After the troops vacated Williamson County it was not long until Young again rallied his forces and recommenced his lawless raiding. His second batch of raids took place on January 19, 1924, at which time Young caused the arrest of sixty-six persons.

CAN anyone conceive of any condition arising that would warrant the shooting up of a hospital full of patients? Yet, while we condemned the inhuman Hun for firing on the Red Cross flag, these so-called 100-per-cent Americans did this. Approximately 200 shots were fired into the hospital where patients were lying in a critical condition. Why was this done?

On February 7, 1924, I was informed, by an official of a railroad company, that the klan had ordered a special train, of ten coaches, to be spotted in Johnston City, on the night of February 9, to be afterwards taken to Herrin. The purpose of using the train was to collect an armed force of klansmen, and clean out the ones that the klan deemed to be undesirable citizens. Such conduct cannot be upheld by any honest proponent of law and order, in face of the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution, regardless of any offense that any of these so-called undesirables may have committed.

On February 7 I was in telephonic communication with Adjutant-General Black, and he asked about the situation. Upon my telling him of the incident of the ordering of the train, he asked me what steps I had taken to prevent any disorder. I asked his advice as to procedure, and he advised that I immediately deputize a sufficient force of special deputies to cope with such situation as might arise.

Result of an Investigation Made by the Post-Dispatch in February, 1925

AN investigation of the disorders at Herrin was made by Carlos Hurd, a Post-Dispatch representative, in February, 1925, at which time 14 men had been shot to death within the space of a year in factional fights. The object was to disclose the facts of the situation and to learn who supported the klan.

The investigator found that the fight led by the Ku Klux Klan at Herrin had not been a religious or racial affair, but a campaign to "clean up" the town by stopping the open sale of liquor. The campaign had been successful, and the sale had been stopped at all of the 30 or more places.

The liquor raiders, mostly klansmen, never wore disguises. Private citizens and some of them business men, they were led on their raids by constables. They invariably went armed.

The law-abiding element of the community had backed the raiding and closing of public liquor joints, but the raiding of homes had caused more division of sentiment. Personal and political feuds growing out of the klan's clean-up program had resulted in five gun fights.

Some citizens of standing felt that the cleansing of Herrin was worth all it had cost. Others felt that the price had been too high.

Klansmen said that Sheriff Galligan of Williamson County had been doing nothing to correct conditions which had grown intolerable. Others said that Galligan had been doing what he could until antagonized by the klan's aggressive program and the personality of its paid raid-conductor, S. Glenn Young. The appointment as Deputy Sheriff of Ora Thomas, who had served a jail term for violating the liquor law, further antagonized the klansmen against Galligan.

On the night of February 8 I convened a meeting of between 80 and 90 men at the Rome Club Hall in Herrin, in line with the suggestion of Adjutant-General Black. Upon convening the meeting I proceeded to explain to the men the purpose for which they had been called together, that I was not commissioning them for the purpose of creating any disorder, but for the purpose of the preservation of peace and orderly process of law.

WHILE in the act of my going through this explanation, two klan policemen, John Ford, Chief of Herrin police, and Harold Crane, policeman, rushed up to the doorway of the hall with drawn guns.

Someone shouted, "The klan are coming." Under the circumstances, this in itself was a battle cry. I, along with Deputy Sheriff John Layman, rushed to the top of the stairway of the hall, the crowd followed. We were confronted by these two policemen with drawn guns. Each had two guns. Layman and I were talking to the policemen when a shot was fired. Layman received a bullet in his back.

Someone in the crowd shouted that Ford had shot Layman, the crowd became infuriated and threatened the lives of the two policemen. The police begged that their lives be spared, and I immediately remonstrated with the crowd and prevailed upon them not to do violence to these men.

Ora Thomas and three or four others took Layman to the hospital to receive medical attention. Seeing that the crowd was still infuriated over the shooting of Layman, I immediately commandeered an automobile and took the two policemen to Marion for their protection. Upon arriving at the county jail I received word that there was going to be an attempt made to get these men out of my hands. I then, immediately, rushed them over to Murphysboro, the county seat of Jackson County, an adjoining county. While I was in Murphysboro the shooting up of the hospital in Herrin took place.

After Layman was taken to the hospital a crowd of people congregated on the streets. The news had been passed around as to the shooting of Layman, sentiment against this was getting more tense. About 20 minutes later Caesar Cagle, a klan Constable, was shot while on the street in front of the Jefferson Hotel. He, too, was taken to the hospital; he died about five minutes after his arrival there.

After Cagle's body had been taken to the undertaking parlor Glenn Young was called to Herrin from Marion, at which city he was then residing. Young at once gathered his gang together, in armed force, and they rushed to the hospital. Ora Thomas and others were there in attendance on Layman. There was about 10, or probably 15, of Layman's friends in the hospital at the time Young's gang arrived. Young's force numbered from 200 to 300 men, all armed, mostly with shotguns, some with machine guns.

Young had sent a spy in advance to ascertain the room in which Layman was located. Upon the armed force arriving at the hospital, Young and three others went to the door and demanded of Dr. J. T. Black that he turn Ora Thomas and his men out of the hospital, Young saying that if this was done he and his men would leave and let the hospital alone. Dr. Black, knowing he would just send Thomas and his friends to their death, refused to comply with the request of Young. After further argument, Dr. Black closed the door, with Young on the outside. At this time, Layman was on the operating table.

In a few minutes after the argument referred to, Young's force commenced firing at the hospital, using machine guns and rifles. Twenty-two shots were fired into the operating room alone, where Layman lay on the operating table. Layman was forced to get off the table, in his bleeding condition, and lay on the floor, for protection, until the shooting had subsided. Shots were fired into all other parts of the building during this shameful siege.

FROM this time on, Dr. Black was made a special object of klan hatred. Every time the least trouble arose, they would rush to the hospital and beat up Dr. Black, or throw him in jail. The hospital became such a frequent scene of this that persons who were friendly disposed to the doctor were afraid to send their relatives there for treatment, and naturally the klan would not send their friends there for treatment.

Thus they broke Dr. Black, in spirit and financially—Dr. Black, a humanitarian, Mason, an Elk and charitable worker, whose only acts had been those of kindness. I am told that much of the shooting on this occasion was done from the Masonic Temple, at which place I am a member.

On the morning of February 9th I left Murphysboro, after taking there the two klan policemen for safekeeping. I was driving back to Marion in an automobile and upon reaching Carbondale, in Jackson County, was stopped by the city police there; taken into custody by them, and was told that I was held at the request of the city police of Herrin, on a charge of murdering Caesar Cagle, the warrant being issued, at Young's instigation, by a klansman, Abe Hicks, Police Magistrate at Herrin. (Incidentally, Hicks afterwards was convicted in the Federal Court in East St. Louis, on a charge of impersonating a Federal officer, during a klan raid. Former Judge English took his sentence under advisement, where it stands at the time of writing.)

I had got up from a sickbed to go to Herrin and try and offset the whole trouble. When I arrived in Murphysboro I was too sick to travel back to Herrin that night; two Deputy Sheriffs at the Murphysboro jail made up a bed for me, and persuaded me to spend the night there.

After my arrest in Carbondale, I was held there until a band of seventy or eighty klansmen came over from Herrin; was then taken to the city jail in Herrin although I was in a fevered condition at the time.

Upon arriving at the city hall I was taken before Young who had taken to himself without warrant the prerogatives of Chief of Police and Police Judge. Young was sitting in the Judge's chair when I was brought before him. He wore his characteristic flat-brimmed hat and his pearl-handled automatics were in holsters at his hips. The room and the stairway leading to the second floor were jammed with armed klansmen through whom I was led.

"I find you guilty of the murder of Caesar Cagle," Young said as I was brought before him. And he ordered me thrown into the jail downstairs.

I WAS thrown into a cell; threatened and cursed by klansmen. I asked one of them, a brother Knight of Pythias, to go and get me some fever medicine; the only reply I got from him was, "You will not need fever medicine by the time we get through with you." Several times during the time that I was in the cell, my tormentors would come to me and say, "We ought to go in and kill him."

During my incarceration at Herrin, two young fellows, who had seen service overseas, were thrown into jail; they were put in the run-a-round; there compelled to lay on the cold cement floor with a newspaper for a bed. They were also subjected to vile abuse. I asked them what was the charge against them; they told me that they did not know. All they had done was to say something, in public, derogatory to the klan. Not satisfied with their verbal abuse, our tormentors shut off the heat; this in spite of the bitter cold wintry weather.

After having laid in the city jail at Herrin, without medical attention, from Saturday morning until five p. m. Sunday, February 10th, I was taken out of the Herrin jail and put in an automobile. Three carloads of klansmen, armed to the teeth, took me to Urbana Jail—as they said, for safe keeping. At this time Herrin was under military occupancy; the troops having been sent there at my request.

Despite my weak condition, my captors drove all through the night; we arrived at the county jail at Urbana at 5 a. m. on Monday morning, February 11. There I was again thrown into jail; my tormentors having subjected me to the most vile abuse, and threats, during the whole of the drive from Herrin to Urbana.

I laid in jail in Urbana until Wednesday, February 13. Shortly before noon of that day I was taken into custody by the Coroner of Williamson County, who was accompanied by troops. The Coroner was acting under the orders of the State's Attorney, for me to appear before the Coroner's jury, which was then in session at Herrin, sitting in the inquest as to the killing of Cagle. However, I was taken to Marion; there released, due to the fact that I had no knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the killing of Cagle.

AT THIS time Glenn Young was acting as the (self-constituted) Chief of Police at Herrin; he was not even a legal resident there at that time, or even of Williamson County. In all, some 40 men were arrested for the killing of Cagle.

These arrests included Mayor Anderson, also Mr. A. T. Pace, the former Mayor of Herrin and foreman of the Coroner's jury that was sitting on the Cagle inquest. Pace was arrested by Young on this trumped up charge to prevent him sitting on the jury. Pace was at a meeting of the Herrin School Board at the time Cagle was shot. Young held Pace in custody until the officer in charge of the troops ordered Young to release him.

Out of all the arrests I have mentioned, only two men were indicted for the killing of Cagle; this in spite of the fact that Jackie Rowe, the State's chief witness, a klansman, testified to the State's Attorney that he was mistaken in the identity of the two men, that the two men indicted were not the two men who did the killing. Cagle's father spoke in open court; he pleaded for peace in an earnest, tearful manner and asked for the release of these two men, on the grounds that there was no evidence to convict them.

Until now, I have not been indicted or tried on the charge of killing Caesar Cagle. The whole affair of my arrest on this charge was without grounds of merit or justice.

CHILDREN CRY FOR

Fletcher's CASTORIA

The Young Mother.

The ills of infants and children should be so well known to the youngest of mothers that a reminder or a repetition of the symptoms of illness seems unnecessary, yet there are some mothers who overlook a feverish condition, a little colic, or a disposition to be irritable. If not corrected they may lead to serious sickness. And to correct them, to bring Baby back to its happy self, is so easy by the use of Castoria—a medicine prepared just for infants and children. It will regulate the bowels (not force them), aid digestion and so bring quiet and rest.

Fletcher's Castoria has been doing this for over 30 years; regulating the stomach and bowels of infants and children. It has replaced the nauseating Castor Oil, so-called Soothing Syrups, poisonous Paregoric and other vicious concoctions in the homes of true and honest mothers—mothers who love their children.

Those mothers will give their babies foods and medicines especially prepared for infants and children.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

More Scandal.

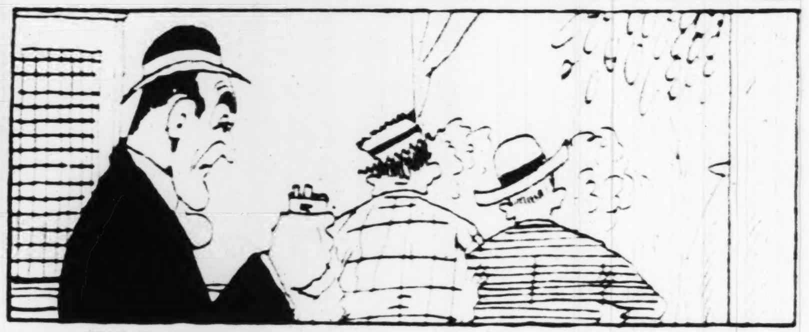
Lamley's Weakness.
Great Cigarette Mystery.



TO THE EDITOR:

Now that baseball seems to of stepped into the limelight out of season and nearly every paper you pick up gives honorable mention to some different old pal of mine as a crook, it looks like I was released from all obligations to silence in regards to a few scandals that I happen to know of myself. Some of them brings in the names of ballplayers already involved while others are about athletes who were famous before Judge Landis got his first boyish bob.

Amongst those in the last named class was the case of Frank Schulte and Heine Zimmermann and the incident occurred outside of baseball. We was all setting in a poker game one night and Heine was kind of young and tender and I forget who opened the pot but somebody did it for one dollar with one pair and Heine stayed and when it come around to Frank he boosted it a dollar.

The fella that had opened dropped out, but Heine boosted back and Frank boosted him and Heine called. Heine drawed one card to a four-straight and made it. Frank stood pat. Heine bet a dollar and Frank raised him and Heine raised back. Frank boosted again and Heine called. Heine showed down his straight and Frank showed him a full house.

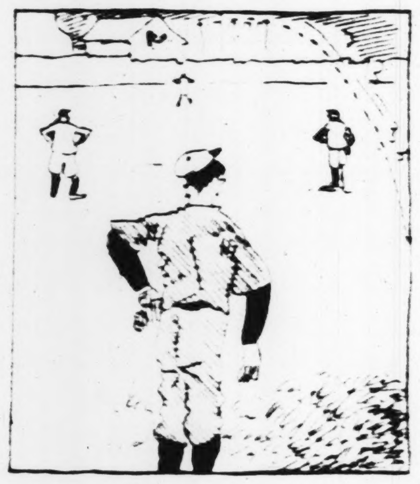
Several remarks were hurled at the great Zim, such as "You poor So-and-So!" and "What and the hell!" and he was finally taunted into the following explanation: "I thought he might of had a flush or somethin'." This case, so far as I know, was never investigated by the National Commission.

ANOTHER case which I can vouch for involves Harry Lumley, not so recently of Brooklyn, and Ed Reulbach of those same old Cubs. As you older devils may recall, Harry had a habit of driving baseballs into the next school district. You may not know that Ed was not only a great mechanical pitcher but was quite a student of opposing batsmen. Well, the Cubs were making a tour of the East and Ed was indulging in one of his wild spells and Manager Chance ordered him to go over in the forenoon to whatever park the club was scheduled to play at and spend two or three hours practicing control.

Well, we came to Brooklyn and Harry Lumley went on a birthday party one night and when he showed up for batting practice the next morning he wasn't at hardly what you might call his best. However he took part in the practice and Big Ed helped improve himself and the Brooklyn batsmen by working against them for quite a while. When he joined his own club after lunch he was jubilant and confided to his mates that he had discovered Lumley's weakness. "He can't," said Ed, "hit a low ball on the inside."

Ed didn't pitch against Brooklyn in that series, but a few weeks later the Brooklyn club visited Chicago and with Reulbach working and one Brooklyn runner on base in the first inning up came Lumley and his weakness. Two children named Shapiro took the ball home to their father who sold it to a friend living next door for 50 cents named Goldberg who liked to get out in the street evenings and play catch. This case was hushed up voluntarily by we newspaper boys.

AND here is another incident just as true as the two recorded above and it reflects on Frank Schulte's honor but I am going to tell it without asking his permission. Mordecai Brown, who lots of us always thought was just as good a pitcher as Matty or anybody else, was finally sold down the river from Chicago to Cincinnati.



The Cubs went down there to play and Brownie pitched against them. As I recall it he wasn't having a very good day but that doesn't make any difference. What matters is that the pennant race was all settled. Well, Frank liked his base hits but he also liked Brownie (as who didn't?).

Brownie got in the hole, three and two on Frank, and the next ball cut the heart of the plate.

"Gosh," said Frank afterwards, "It was hard not to take a crack at that one!"

I will close this editorial with a brief about Cracker Schalk and Cocky Collins, two of the boys mentioned in Swede Risberg's recent world almanac. One night they asked me for a cigarette and I handed them a package containing five. When they gave me back the package it contained only two cigarettes.

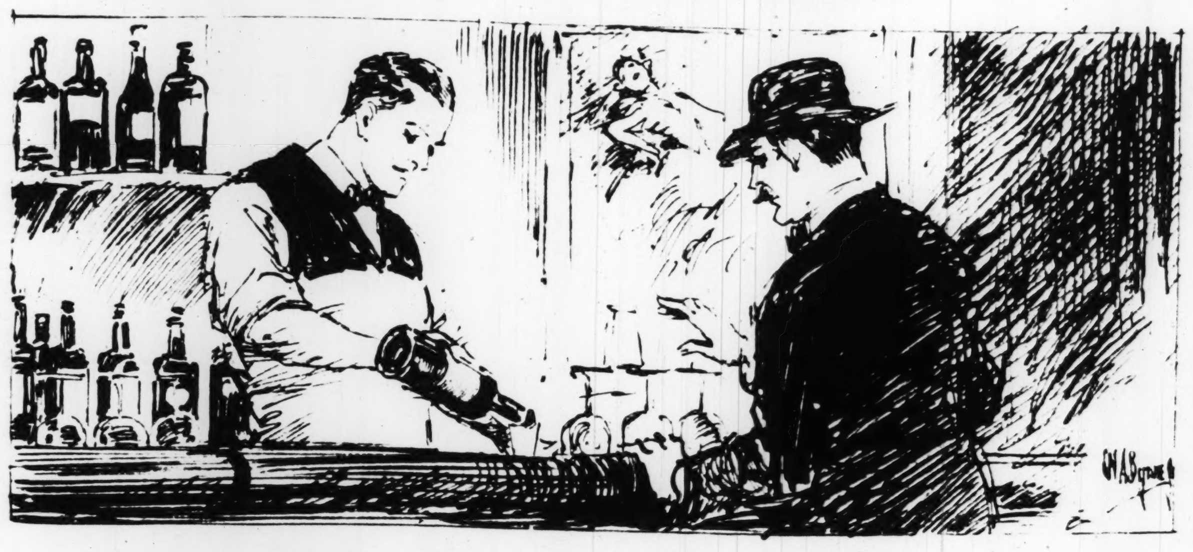
A New Distillery King Appears in Canada



H. C. Hatch Who Started in His Father's Small Saloon Now Heads Two Important New Companies as Profits in the Public Thirst Revive.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

TORONTO.

ONTARIO, which voted "wet" a few weeks ago, evidently thinks it can make money out of its thirst.

A few days ago a new firm, Hiram Walker's Limited, purchased the famous old distillery business of Hiram Walker & Sons and gave the public a chance to subscribe for 160,000 shares, a minority interest in the new company. Possibly never in the history of local stock exchanges has there been a more popular issue. It was subscribed ten times over.

On the first day the shares were publicly traded in they went to a premium of 35 per cent, overshadowing the sensational advances in mining stocks, in which hectic speculation is continuing.

It ought not to be assumed that it is the new market that Ontario will offer when it gets rid of prohibition, probably about May 1 next, that is the sole basis for faith in distillery investments. Three years ago, when there was no real prospect that Ontario would ever be anything but bone dry, the same interests which now have purchased Hiram Walker's purchased the equally well-known distillery business of Gooderham & Worts. Stock in that company was disbursed privately at prices which ran from $50 to $70 a share. So profitable did the business prove that there was shortly a split of shares, ten new shares for one old, and the new shares are now selling at nearly $50 a share—nearly ten times the price of the original issue. And this profit accrued when Ontario was nominally dry. Ostensibly, the only market for Gooderham & Worts' potable products has hitherto been outside Ontario. What proportion went to the dry United States is not known. Now that the home market is to be reopened these shares have resumed their advance.

THE same thing is happening with other Canadian shares. There was recently a public issue of shares in Seagram's distillery, which has turned out profitably. Investors are also being offered various issues in brewery companies. The stage is all set for an orgy of speculation in liquor stocks rivaling that of a gold boom.

At the head of the two important new companies as president is a new Napoleon of finance. His name is H. C. Hatch, 43 years old, who got his training in his father's modest saloon in Belleville, in pre-war, pre-prohibition days. Fifteen years ago, when he was 28, he set up in business for himself with a liquor store in the little town of Whitby. When he emptied the till after the first day's business it contained just $8.40. Today his holdings in the two distilleries he heads are estimated to be worth at least $15,000,000.

The romance of Hatch's career must not be confused with that of the numerous gentry, many of them foreigners, who have waxed wealthy in the same period in Canada and the United States through the illicit operations of bootlegging. Hatch's operations have been above board and within the law.

HE STARTED in the liquor business because it was the only business he knew. When conditions got difficult he found a way around, profiting by the readiness with which others were willing to step out. His persistence is now reaping a harvest.

Even his first venture in Whitby showed his ability. He bought his business for $2500, built it up, and was able to sell it within 18 months for $14,000.

With a little ready capital, he invaded Toronto, but there prohibition overtook him and he was lucky to get out with his capital intact.

Ontario's first prohibition law did not prohibit imports, and within two days Hatch was in business in Montreal serving his Toronto customers, just as before, except that he made deliveries by mail order. This proved to be a real profitable venture, and before Ontario prohibited liquor imports Hatch had a fortune he could have retired on, had he not had the blood of an adventurer in his veins.

Shut out from selling liquor in his native province, Hatch turned to manufacturing, which was still legal. At that time all the distilleries, with their domestic market shut off, were in a slough of despond. The future seemed to hold no hope. At Belleville, Hatch's native town, was Corby's distillery, with which Hatch was familiar. It was going through the motions of continuing business, with an output of 500 gallons a month. Hatch bought stock in Corby's, got appointed general manager, found a market for the output in foreign countries and within a year or two had the production up to 50,000 gallons a month, an increase of a hundred fold.

FROM Corby's Hatch stepped to Gooderham & Worts, and now to Hiram Walker's. The former saloon keeper's son, at the age of 43, is easily the king of distillers in Canada. His career rivals that of the great English and Scotch distillers, many of whom sit in the House of Lords and have been otherwise greatly honored.

Hiram Walker's and Gooderham & Worts are much the largest distilleries in Canada and are only excelled as producers by a half-dozen of the 150 distilleries in the United Kingdom. They are both historic institutions. The Gooderham family in Toronto, now in its third and fourth and fifth generations, and all out of distilling, is found in nearly every line of business. (The distillery founder had ten sons.)

Hiram Walker & Sons have been in business at Walkersville, on the Detroit River, directly across from Detroit, since 1858. The Walkers, originally Americans, remained so, though they made "Canadian Club" famous around the world. The recent purchase of the business by Canadians reverses the process of absorption of Canadian plants by Americans which has recently been in evidence.

One of the assets of Hiram Walker & Sons taken over by the new firm is 4,000,000 gallons of whisky and spirits, probably one of the largest stocks in the world, and no doubt helping to popularize the recent stock issue with the investing public.

From Prince to Pauper to Prince Once More

BUDAPEST.

PRINCE ABDUL KADIR, one of the sons of the late Sultan of Turky, who was known as "Abdul the Damned," has received an unexpected fortune of $1,000,000 when almost starving.

The adventures of Prince Abdul Kadir in Budapest are as thrilling as any story that has ever come out of the East. The prince, a young man with exotic tastes, ran the whole gamut of experience which leads from wealth to poverty—and back again—in a couple of years.

One moment he lounged in a rose-clad bower watching his houris dance for him, and the next he begged a meal from his one-time friends. Then fortune smiled again and the prince strode through the Hungarian capital distributing largesse.

The prince arrived here two years ago accompanied by two wives, a eunuch, a Negro, professional dancing men and women, and a band of musicians. The son of the Sultan gave out gold with both hands. He gave his friends pensions which he paid faithfully and promptly every month.

The wives, the Negro and the eunuch were installed in a marble palace overlooking the Danube, but the prince secured apartments elsewhere. Then he fell in love with a young dancer in a cabaret and contracted a morganatic marriage, and brought his bride to a villa in the fashionable quarter of Budapest, known as the "Hill of Roses." The jewellers, the furriers, the dressmakers and the antique dealers of the city regarded the prince as a sure source of a permanent income, and they sent goods to his establishments and never sent a bill until later.

One day the bills came in. They came by every post, and also by hand. The Prince was overwhelmed with bills, and then the moneylenders came, and last of all came the bailiffs who sold the wonderful carpets, the jewels and the furs, the costly hangings and tapestries. Even the gold lace uniform of the Negro was put up for auction.

Creditors tried to remove and sell a carpet the prince had taken away from the palace of "Abdul the Damned," but Prince Kadir actually fought to retain possession—and won. The prince then turned to his friends for assistance, but they cut him in the street, and the woman whom he had made his morganatic wife had him thrown down the marble steps of the rose-covered villa.

They refused to serve him in the cabarets where he had once been an honored guest, and on one occasion he had to give his cuff-links in return for a bottle of champagne.

Prince Abdul Kadir was now on the verge of starvation, although he possessed property in Paris, Nice, Salonika and Athens, but all his property had been sequestrated during the war, and by orders of Mustapha Kemal himself, no descendant of the Osman family was to be allowed ever to recover any property in Turkish territory again. This applies to rich lands in the neighborhood of Mosul.

The prince, after trying to obtain a post in the band in a Budapest cafe, in despair wrote for help to the League of Nations, but before that august body dealt with the matter the prince received a letter from a Salonika bank saying the Greek Government had cancelled the sequestration of the Salonika property, and that they held the sum of $1,000,000 at his disposal.

What a night for Budapest!

Modern Gallahad Seeks Grail

CHICAGO.

THERE is nothing holy about the holy grail, according to A. C. L. Brown, professor of English at Northwestern University. Prof. Brown says the grail never existed at all, but had its origin in a heathen myth, which may have emanated from ancient Ireland, the birthplace of many weird fairy tales.

To satisfy his own mind and clear up the point, he will go to Dublin to search for it in ancient Gaelic manuscripts. Even if it is nothing but a myth, it is important enough to find.

During the last 20 years Prof. Brown has devoted a major portion of his spare time to reading everything available upon the subject—stories in old French, English, old German and Latin and has established his own opinion in the matter.

"I hope it will be understood that my theory has no quarrel with religion," he said today. "I do not challenge the contention that there was, and may still exist somewhere, a sacred chalice used by Christ at the last supper. My subject is the holy grail, a name for the mysterious thing sought by the Knights of Arthur's round table in some 400 or 500 stories by a great number of writers.

"Almost always that grail has been treated as a vessel, sacred in the Christian sense. But I do not believe such a view is logical when the origin of the story as we know it is considered. The holy grail came into literature quite suddenly in the twelfth century—just about the time when the pope proclaimed the dogma of trans-substantiation. Naturally there was great public interest then in the subject of the sacred chalice.

"To that era a man named Chrestien gave a story of a knight, Percivale, of Arthur's table. This knight went to a strange castle, was greeted by a mysterious king and was seated at the royal table. While he was there a broken sword, a lance that bled and a dazzling 'grail' were shown him. A beautiful girl bore the grail, bringing it to the table at every course. The next day when the knight awoke, the castle was deserted. Afterward he tried in vain to find it again.

"Why a girl? Women do not touch the chalices of the Roman Catholic mass. And why was it brought out at every course? My idea is that the story grew out of even an older myth."

MORE TREASURES FROM KING TUT'S ANCIENT TOMB

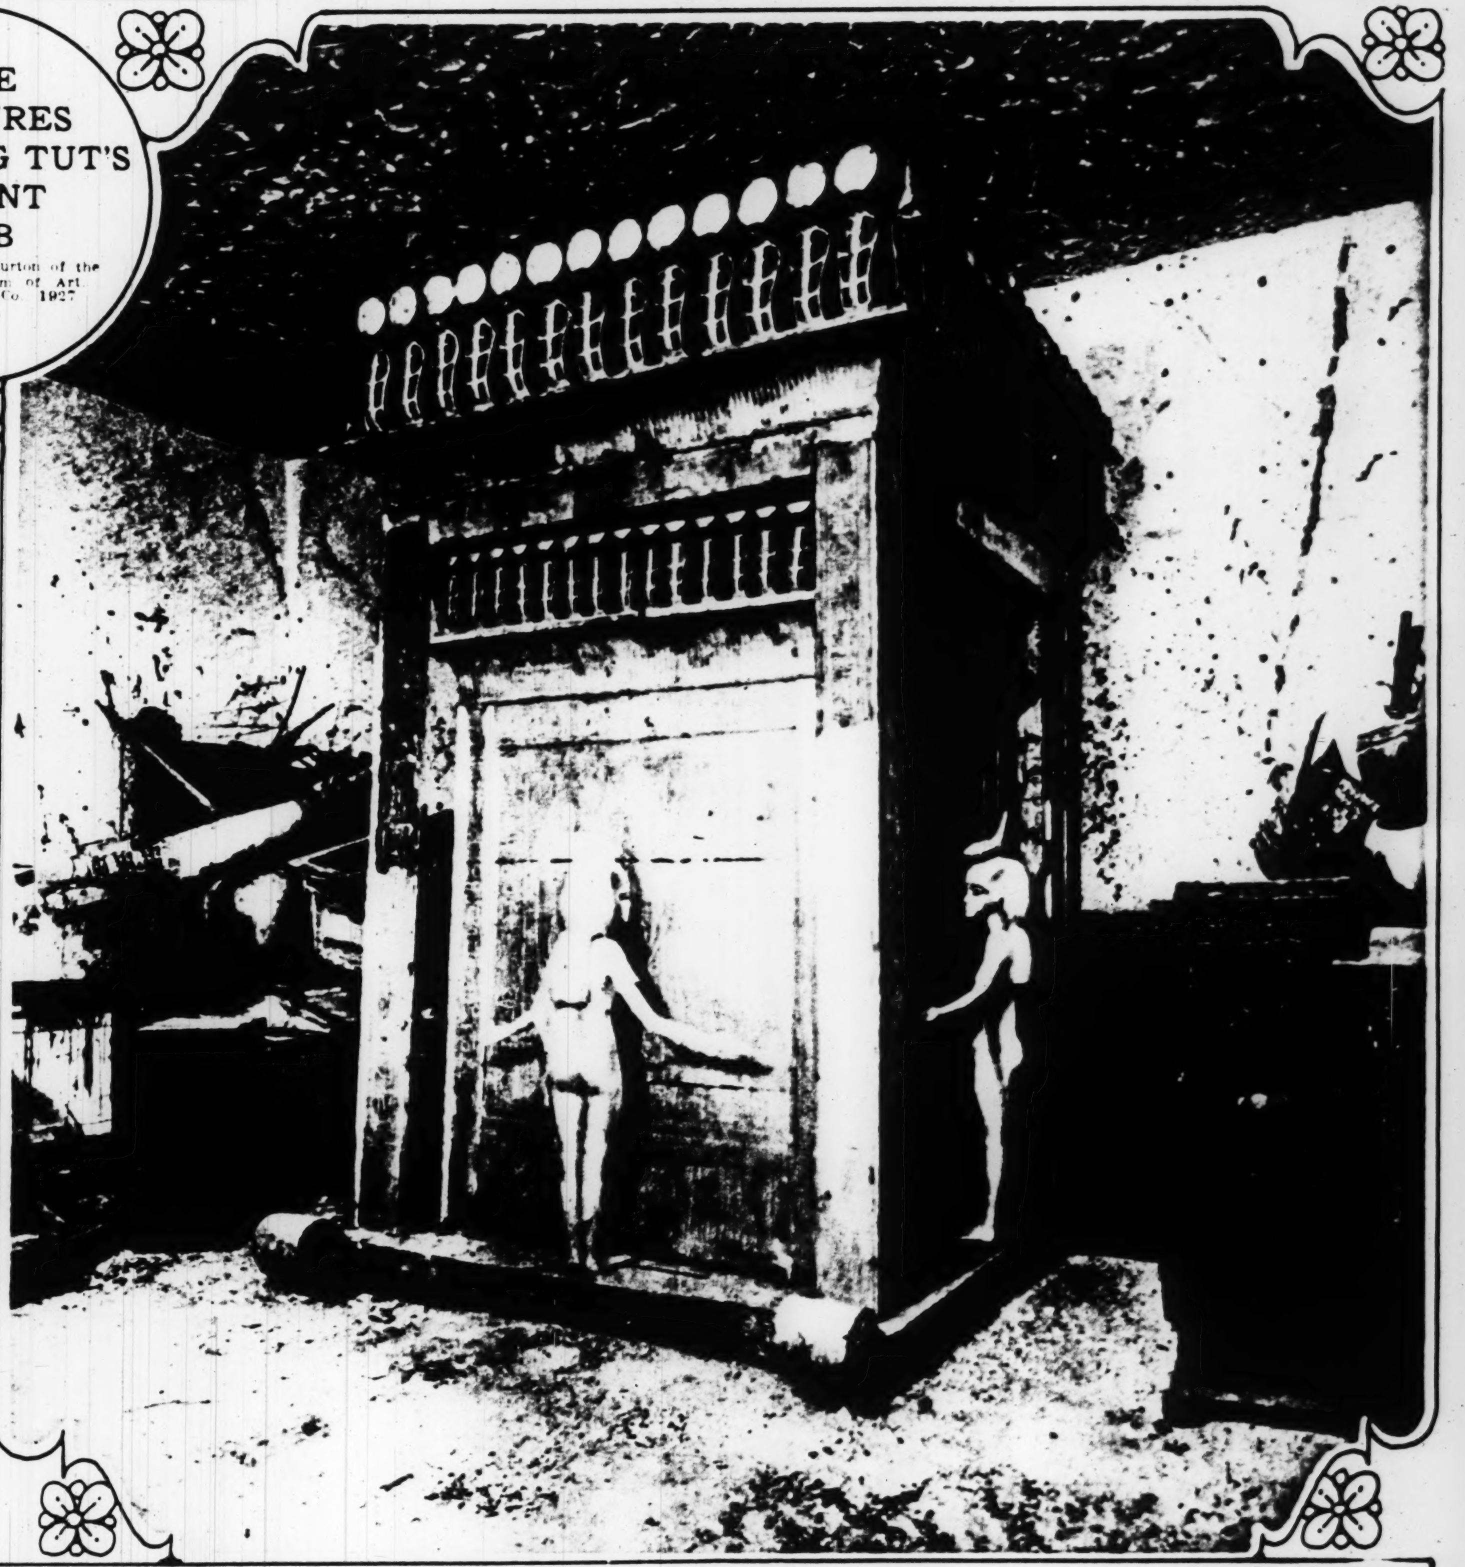
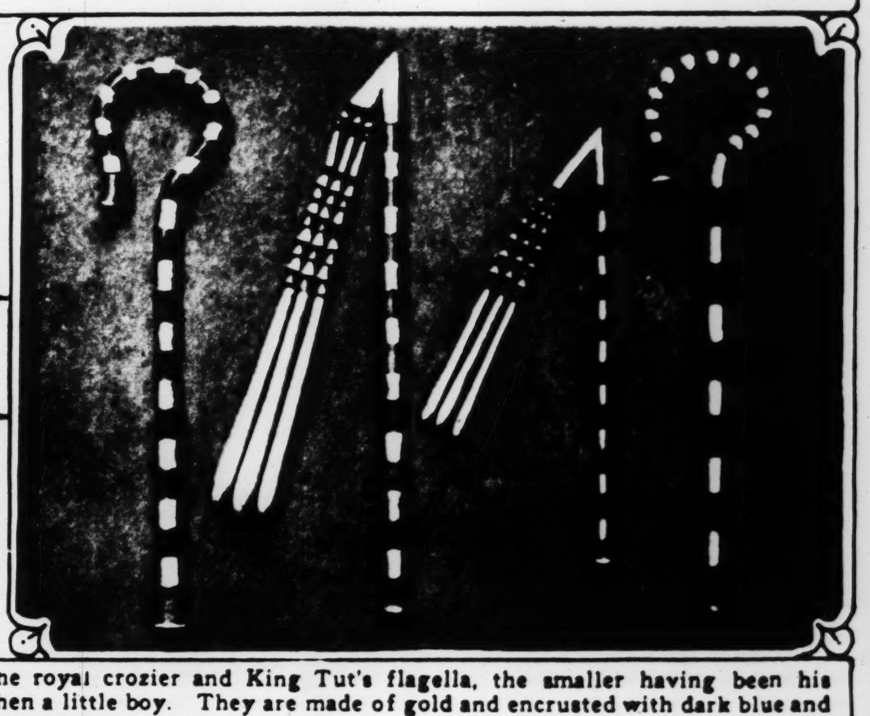
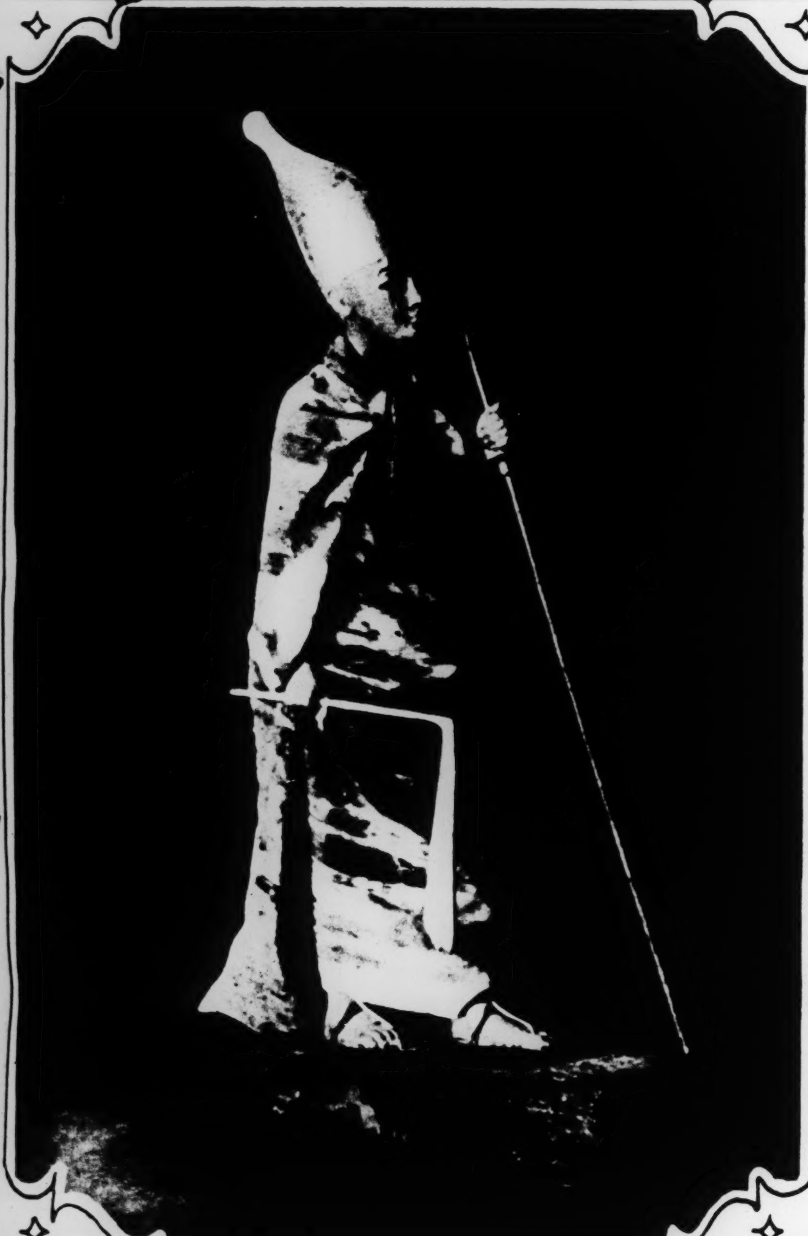
In the inmost recess of the storeroom of the burial place of Tut-Ankh-Amen were found many of the personal belongings of the Egyptian ruler. Above picture shows one of several model ships, with furled sails and rigging exactly as they were left some 2500 years ago. In the black chest to the right were found a number of statuettes.



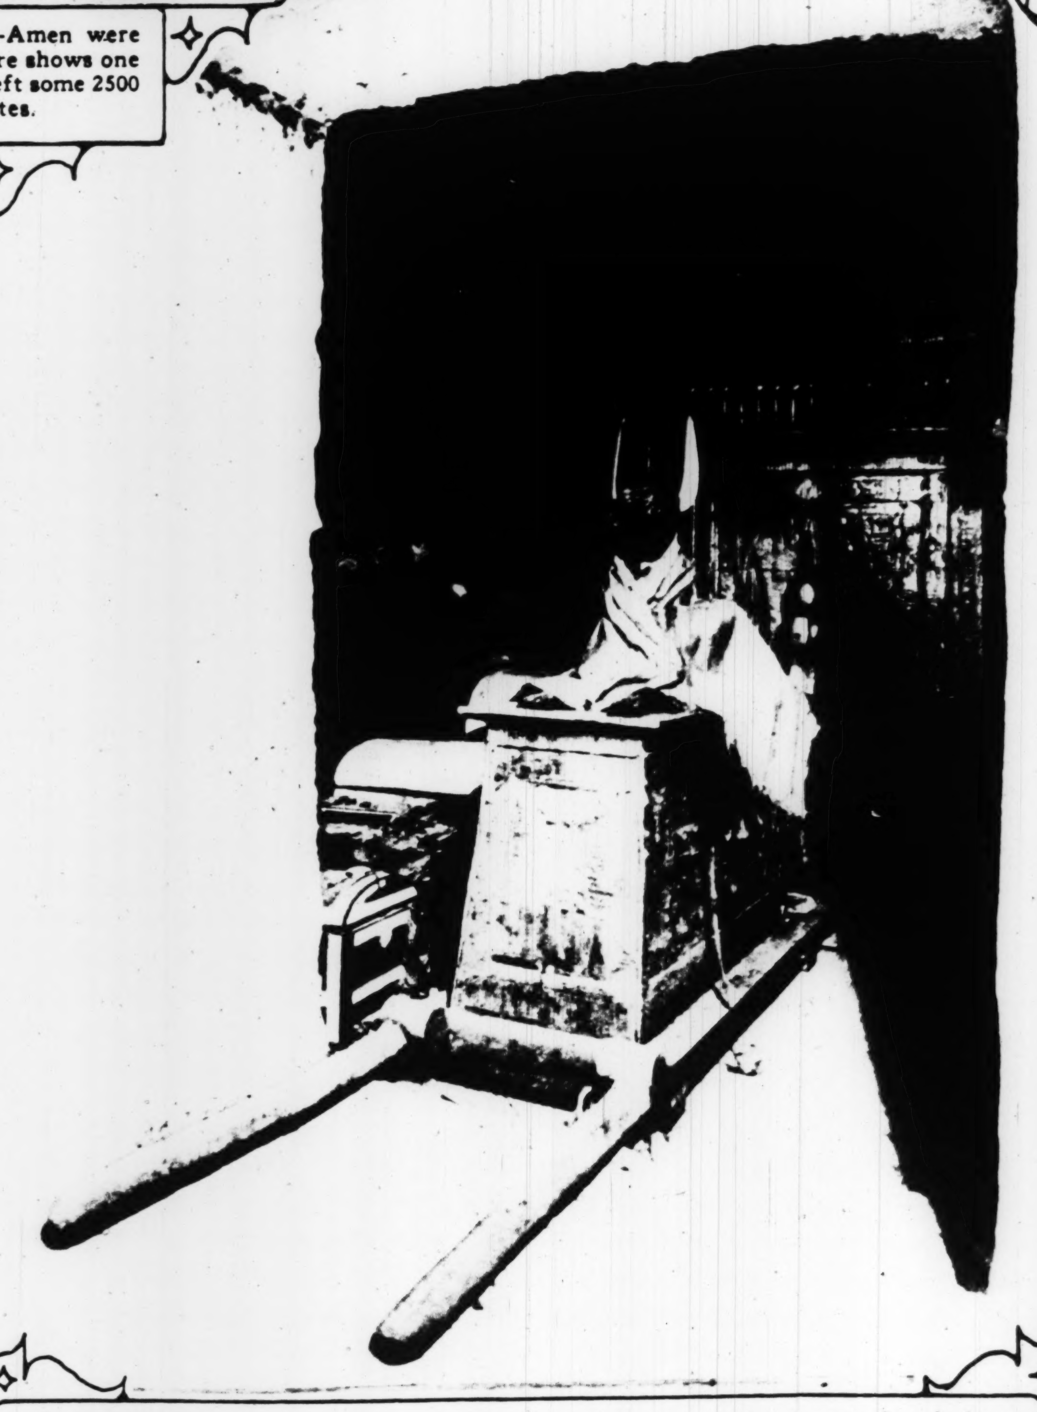
The canopic shrine of the King. This contained the jars in which were placed the viscera of the monarch. It is of gold (gesso-gilt) surmounted by glittering solar cobras. On each of the four sides are free-standing statuettes of the goddesses Isis, Nepthys, Neith and Selkit.



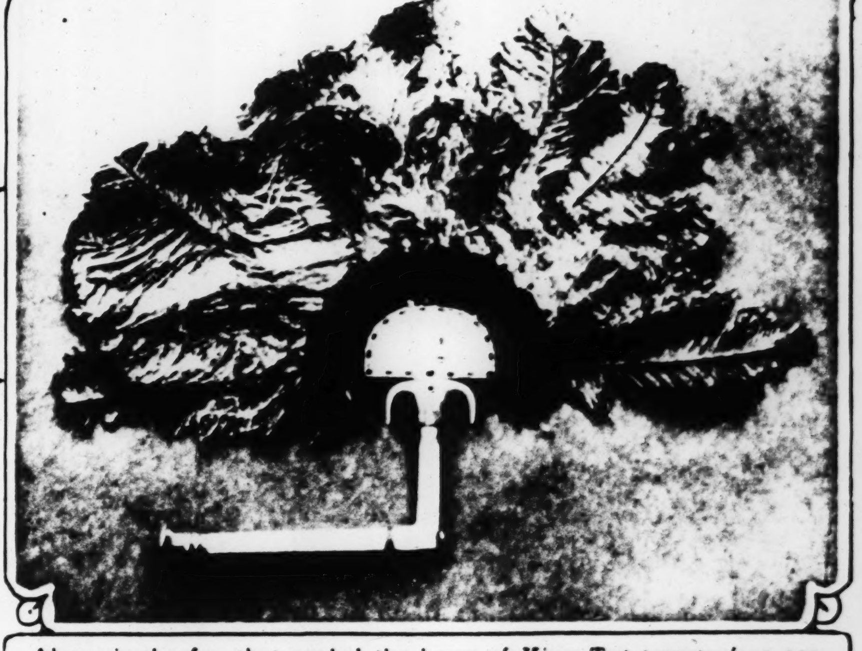
The royal crozier and King Tut's flagella, the smaller having been his when a little boy. They are made of gold and encrusted with dark blue and black glass.



A statue of King Tut himself, of wooden gesso-gilt, draped in linen and holding the staff and flagellum, symbols of the mastery of upper and lower Egypt.



This guarded the inner recess. In the distance is seen the shrine reproduced above. The effigy is that of Anubis, vigilant deity who watches over the dead, and who takes for himself the form of a black jackal.



Above is the fan that cooled the brow of King Tut twenty-five centuries ago, with ostrich feathers practically untouched by time, as it was found in the storeroom of the King's tomb. The handle is of ivory, inlaid with different pigments, encircled with gold bands and a knob of lapsis lazuli. It was found in one of the treasure chests.

MISS ANNE MORGAN

is one of the most prominent women of America. Handsome, and distinguished, her personality is marked by great vitality and enthusiasm. She displays the same genius for organization which was the gift of her celebrated father, the late J. P. Morgan.

MISS ANNE MORGAN
gives these Creams a new importance

MISS Anne Morgan's life has been largely devoted to the interests of women. This distinguished daughter of a great American financier, is now devoting her energies to the erection of a new club house for business and professional women—to be the largest and finest of its kind.

"The women who are my friends," says Miss Morgan, "whether their interests be in business, professional or social activities, desire always that their complexions be clear and vigorous. So many achieve this end by following the Pond's method that I should like to see the dressing-rooms of our new Club House of the American Woman's Association equipped with Pond's Two Creams."

ACCORDINGLY, when the new club house opens, jars of Pond's Cold and Vanishing Creams will be part of the equipment of the dressing-rooms for the use of guests and members.

Pond's Cold Cream is light, fragrant, and effectual for deep cleansing of the skin's delicate tissues. Pond's Vanishing Cream adds a new and softer finish, serves as a smooth base for powder and protects the skin from soot and weather.

Try these two delightful creams for the care of your own skin. The Pond's Extract Company, 131 Hudson Street, New York City.

3 SHELTON BROTHERS O TRIAL; COUR UNDER GUAR

Testimony in $15,000 C linsville Mail Robbe Case Begun After Jury Selected Quickly.

BIRGER AND NEWMAN ARE THEIR ACCUSE

Three Alleged Mail Robbe Face Same Judge W Sent 'Dinty' Colbeck a Aids to Prison.

By a Staff Correspondent of t Post-Dispatch.

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 31.—T Birger and the Shelton gangs m on a new battleground here toda The scene has shifted from hard roads of Southern Illinois the Federal Building at Quin and a Federal indictment ing Carl, Earl and Bernie with the $15,000 Collinsville robbery of Jan. 27, 1925, has planted the submachine gun as most dangerous weapon Birger his men have against the

The testimony began at ernoon session after opposing outlined the case, the being been selected quick in forenoon, under circumstances [illegible] with those in "Dinty" Colbeck and eight [illegible] the very backbone gang at St. Louis [illegible] in November [illegible] mail robbery [illegible]

There is the same Judge on bench—the hard-riding legally port Louis FitzHenry. There is same United States Marshal, soft-voiced James E. McClure, the same force of deputies guarded the Eganites.

A final touch of similarit found in the list of Governm witnesses which includes names of Charlie Birger and associate, Art Newman. Time when they and the Sheltons common cause against the Ku Klan in Williamson County was after the break between ger and the Sheltons that they came Government witn against their erstwhile fri just as Ray Renard took the ness stand in the same court more than two years ago ag his former associates in the gang.

Government Opens Case.

In his opening statement to jury, District Attorney Provin serted he would prove that three brothers committed the linsville robbery. He declared would show that they had "nu ous conferences in which planned the crime;" that they in "their saloon" in East St. on the morning of the robbery tween 4 and 5 a. m.; that they between 6 and 7 a. m., about hour before the robbery; that returned to the saloon afterw and then went to Harrisburg, w the loot was divided.

"I want to say that this case nothing to do with any pri feuds that any of the Governm witnesses may have with the fendants," Provine said in clo "I want it clearly understood their testimony is applicable to the crime for which they ar ing tried."

Each Person Searched and Q tioned by Deputies.

The courtroom was elabor guarded. J. E. Dressendorfer, Deputy United States Marshal doing the precautions he too the Egan gang trial. At the of the one stairway to the floor of the Federal Building, deputies searched and questi each person who sought to cend. At the head of the the process was repeated by more deputies, while in and the building more deputies detailed to doors and windo in the courtroom, while worked "under cover" in hote bies and elsewhere on the for any sort of a plot to timate or intimidate witne defendants.

Seats in the courtroom filled with veniremen, and a few spectators when FitzHenry took the bench crier called order at 10 a. m. about 25 spectators succe running the gauntlet of marshals during the morni sion and in the afternoon men and three women — the defendants—were in the tators' section.
